A Crisis.

A grave monetary question confronts the Treasury Department. It has hitherto been considered necessary to maintain a gold reserve of not less than $100,000,000 for the redemption of coin certificates. Exports of gold have reduced the amount in the Treasury to about that limit. Three methods of meeting the emergency are open: First, to sell gold bonds, as authorized by law; secondly, to draw on the $100,000,000 reserve, and lastly to pay out silver alone on demands for coin. Secretary Carlisle is said to favor the last method. Each has its advocates and all are open to objection. It is feared, however, that the refusal to pay out gold will speedily result in a premium on the precious metal, and so destroy the parity of gold and silver which the government is endeavoring to maintain. Mr. Cleveland, it is said, favors the selling of bonds, the policy which, it is understood, would have been pursued by the Harrison administration in a similar crisis. Whatever may be done, however, can be but a temporary expedient. The Democratic triumph last November has caused a condition of uncertainty in the business of the country that should be speedily allayed by definite legislative action. A special session of Congress should be called and, if we are to have free trade substituted for protection, let it come without delay and its evil consequences be promptly experienced, so that the remedy may be as promptly applied by the people. And by all means let a stop be put to the effort of this country alone to maintain a bi-metalic standard, or let the people know that the Democratic party is hopelessly wedded to the schemes of the silverites.

Shall It Be Regulars or "Kickers"?

Read between the lines the articles of the Advocate and other Democratic journals in this State in relation to the duty of the President, in making appointments, to consult the party representatives in the Senate and House, and to confer official patronage on regular party workers, indicate grave apprehension that "kickers" are likely to receive greater recognition at the hands of the Executive than may be good for the bosses and the machine. It is an open secret that the relations between the dictator of the party in Maryland and Mr. Cleveland are not of the most cordial character. The breach may be widened by a distribution of the federal patronage inconsistent with the wishes of the party's recognized autocrat. Such a result would be gall and wormwood to the feelings of the faithful, but it is, nevertheless, not altogether an impossibility. The first office of importance to be filled is that of Collector of Internal Revenue, and Mr. Laird, of Montgomery county, at present Commissioner of Land Office, appointed by Gov. Brown, it is said may carry off the prize. Mr. Laird, as a member of the Legislature, displayed entirely too much independence of character to suit the party managers. He is, however, recognized as capable and honest, very essential qualities in a public officer, and his appointment would be a good one, even if not perfectly satisfactory to the dominant element of his party in the State. It remains to be seen whether Mr. Cleveland will have the grit to nominate him and others of his class to prominent stations, or will be warned by the apparently concerted advice of the regular party press in the State, if not by its covert threats, to avoid an unpleasant conflict.

A Blundering Policy.

Mr. Cleveland's first administration was not distinguished for its vigorous and efficient foreign policy, and there are imminent signs of a repetition of its blundering characteristics during his present term. The Hawaiian question, which President Harrison had left in a condition for prompt and easy settlement by the Senate, has been grossly muddled by the withdrawal of the Treaty of Annexation from the consideration of that body, and the appointment of a personal commissioner to Hawaii, by the President, and his investiture with plenary powers in the premises. He has already signalized his authority by hauling down the American flag and thus inviting an effort on the part of the deposed queen to recover her authority and overthrow the Provisional government which had made overtures for annexation to the United States. Japan, it is said, wants the Sandwich Islands, and has been emboldened by Mr. Cleveland's dilly-dally policy to conspire, with the connivance of England, for its acquisition. Their possession by this country is desirable and will ultimately be accomplished, even if we have to fight for it. But when it is considered that by the action of President Harrison's administration they might have become our's for the taking, the blundering stupidity that has brought into existence and multiplied difficulties where none existed before, becomes all the more striking. Mr. Cleveland is displaying a lamentable lack of statesmanship as well as patriotism in the matter. His course is only to be accounted for by the supposition that he could not brook the easy and successful issue of the question provided by his predecessor, and that his overweening egotism has led to unnecessary and foolish complications.

The United States Senate has adjourned without having taken action on the resolution to investigate the case of Senator Roach, of North Dakota. That gentleman finally stated that it was his desire that the proposed inquiry should be made, but that he had refrained from saying so by the advice of friends. His Democratic associates in the Senate, however, were very careful not to yield to his request, and the resolution of inquiry went over till the regular session.

This is a sort of Nancy Hanks administration. It has broken the record in the number of removals and appointments made between March 4th and this date.

"My Commissioner."

It has generally been supposed that any person sent abroad on business relating to the interests of the government, goes as its accredited agent, whether as ambassador, minister, consul, or what not, and at least with some constitutional and legal warrant to perform the trust assigned him. The case of Mr. Blount, of Georgia, so-called commissioner, appointed by Mr. Cleveland to investigate the affairs of Hawaii, appears to be an exception to the rule and to the law. The United States is legally represented at Honolulu by a minister, constitutionally appointed and confirmed, who is charged with the duty of keeping his government thoroughly informed concerning all questions relating to the Hawaiian government and the status of its relations to our own country. The constitution confers no authority on the President to supersede a minister to a foreign country in the discharge of his official functions by the appointment of a personal commissioner. And yet that is exactly what Mr. Cleveland has done in this case. Mr. Blount is introduced to President Dole of Hawaii by a letter in which he, Mr. Blount, is named by Mr. Cleveland as "my special commissioner." The letter of introduction referred to is as follows:

I have made choice of James H. Blount, one of our distinguished citizens, as my special Commissioner to visit the Hawaiian Islands to make a report to me concerning the present status of affairs in that country.

He is well informed of our sincere desire to cultivate and maintain to the fullest extent the friendship which so long existed between the two countries, and in all matters affecting relations with the government of the Hawaiian Islands his authority is paramount. My knowledge of his high character and ability gives me entire confidence that he would use every endeavor to advance the interests and prosperity of both governments and render himself acceptable to Your Excellency.

To say the least of it, this is a remarkable proceeding. Every reasonable source of information was open to the President. Every act in relation to the change in the form of government of Hawaii had been made known to our government by proper authority The new government had been recognized by the United States and a treaty of annexation arranged and submitted to the Senate for consideration. That body was prepared to discuss the subject intelligently and upon its merits, and there is scarcely a doubt that the treaty would have been adopted and that Hawaii would belong to the United States to-day if Mr. Cleveland had not interposed and prevented further proceedings. The treaty was recalled and Mr. Blount appointed "my special commissioner" to investigate and report the status of Hawaiian affairs. His first act in that investigation, as stated elsewhere, was to haul down the American flag.

The withdrawal of the treaty we believe was an egregious blunder, but it was legally done. It cannot be said, however, that the appointment of Mr. Blount was authorized by the constitution, at least, and hardly, we think by statute. He was invested by the President with extraordinary powers and practically placed above the United States minister, the highest constitutional agent of the government at a foreign court. The powers of the President in making appointments are thus defined by the constitution:

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senate concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls. But the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

It can hardly be claimed that an officer, personal or otherwise, who performs functions equivalent, if not superior, to those of a minister, is inferior to a consul, and yet all officers of the latter grade and above must be appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The appointment of Mr. Blount, therefore, seems to have been an act of usurpation, deserving prompt and effective condemnation. It is the province of the President to execute, not make, the laws and he should be kept rigidly within the limit of his constitutional authority in this as well as in everything else.

One of the first acts of Mr. Cleveland's Commissioner to Hawaii, Mr. Blount, was to lower the American flag, which had been raised over the government building by United States Minister Stevens, with the concurrence of the authorities of the Provisional Government. The act, as might have been expected, has provoked a great deal of severe criticism in this country, in which Democrats as well as Republicans have indulged. The Democratic Senators, however, were unwilling to have the matter brought home to Mr. Cleveland, where it properly belongs, and when a resolution was offered, requesting the President to inform the Senate by whose authority the flag was hauled down, action was prevented by an objection from Mr. Gorman, and the special session having ended the following day the inquiry was deferred. But the people understand where the blame of the humiliating act should be placed and the Senate cannot relieve Mr. Cleveland of the responsibility by shirking an inquiry.

President Cleveland has appointed Chief Judge Richard H. Alvey, of the Maryland Court of Appeals, to be Chief Judge of the new United States Appellate Court of the District of Columbia. The compliment to Judge Alvey is well deserved. His ability and legal attainments are of the highest order, and by his elevation to the chief place on the bench of the new court Maryland loses her ablest jurist. Judge Alvey is sixty-seven years old, but he is in vigorous health and will probably be able to retain his judgeship a decade of years or more.

The elections throughout Illinois on Tuesday were mainly on the saloon and anti-saloon question and the wets had the best of it. In a few places the strife was between the two political parties. Galena, Ottawa, Minonk and Decatur went Democratic. Paris, Peoria and Belvidere went solidly Republican. Freeport has a new Republican mayor and the Independent ticket triumphed in Alton.

Mr. Blount, of Georgia, who hauled down the American flag from the government buildings in Hawaii, probably found it easy thus to degrade the emblem of his country's greatness. He fought against the flag in the war of secession.

Judge Jones and the Chief Judgeship.

The Washington correspondence of the Baltimore American of the 14th inst. contained the following paragraph:

"The first delegation to put in their appearance came from Howard county and had a brief interview with Senator Gorman. It consisted of Judge I. Thomas Jones, of the second judicial circuit; Joseph D. McGuire, state's attorney of Howard county, and Daniel Laffey, of Elkridge. Mr. Laffey wishes to distribute the mails during the next four years at the Elkridge postoffice. Judge Jones' visit, it is said, was for a different purpose. He desires to secure the nomination next fall of chief judge of the Fifth circuit, now held by appointment of the governor, by Judge Roberts, of Westminster, and came to talk the matter over with Senator Gorman. Mr. McGuire was along to back up Judge Jones. Incidentally, federal appointments in the several counties composing the district were talked over."

The publication of this statement elicited a card from Judge Jones to the American, which appeared on Monday, in which he says:

"The person who furnished the information upon which this statement, as far as it concerns me, was made, drew it almost entirely from his imagination. I was in Washington on the day named, and, in company with Mr. McGuire, did for a very few minutes see Senator Gorman in one of the public corridors of the Capitol. My being in Washington and at the Capitol was not for the purpose you indicate. Nothing was said in the interview you mention about the judgeship of this circuit, nor was anything designed to be said. It was not talked of, referred to, suggested or hinted at in any way whatever, and the statement as to my motives and purposes for being in Washington, and as to what was said and done by myself or any one concerning myself is absolutely devoid of truth."

This denial of Judge Jones is not inconsistent, however, with a prevalent rumor that he aspires to the nomination of the Democratic party for the chief judgeship of this circuit, as it will be observed that he confines the denial strictly to the alleged purport of his interview with Senator Gorman.

The war-ships of England, France Russia, Germany, Italy, Spain, the United States and other countries gathered at Hampton Roads, during the past week, preparatory to the great naval review, have made a scene of gaiety and interest rarely witnessed. Interesting rowing races took place on Wednesday between sailors of the different nationalities, and the blue jackets of the U. S. Ship San Francisco won easily against all competitors. There were four events and they were victorious in every instance.

Cyclones and Storms.

The deadly cyclone has been getting in its work in the West this week again. Tuesday afternoon a storm of this character passed three miles east of Osage, Kansas, doing great damage in its course. One woman was killed and a number of persons injured. On the morning of the same day a destructive storm passed through the region about Warsaw, Indiana. It cut a swath 200 yards wide through the country. The town of Gravelton, three miles northeast of Warsaw, was completely wrecked. The same day a fearful storm swept Fourche Valley, Arkansas. The town of Boles was almost entirely destroyed. The path of the storm was half a mile wide. A number of persons were killed and the bodies of several were hurled through the air more than half a mile by the force of the wind. Great damage was done and a number of persons killed at Osage City, Kansas, by a cyclone, on Wednesday. Osawatomie and Lyndon also experienced great damage from the storm.

Many people were killed and much property destroyed by a storm in Jasper and Clarke counties, Miss., on Wednesday. Wednesday night the crib of the water works and the house surmounting it, in the lake at Milwaukee, were swept away by the violence of the winds and waves, and sixteen men were drowned.

A large barn on the Snow Hill farm of Mr. John C. Bosley, in the fourth district of Baltimore county, near Shawan, was burnt Wednesday morning. The flames destroyed one hundred barrels of corn, fifty tons of straw, and unthreshed rye from about fifty acres of land, twenty to thirty sheep, a crrriage and farm machinery and implements. The loss is $5,000 upon which there are policies of insurance for $3,500. The origin of the fire is unknown.

No more the pleasant child is seen,
To please the parent's eye;
His sparkling eyes, no bright and keen,
Are viewing joys on high.

The flower that sweetly blooms to-day,
May fade and die to-morrow;
So earthly hopes do pass away
And leave behind them sorrow.

So did that lovely form decline,
While life was but a bud,
He now is in a higher clime
To rest in peace with God.

For Milton D. no tears need fall,
His home is now in Heaven
Where children meet, and God is all,
And every sin's forgiven

Rest sweetly on dear Darling.
