Cheese Croquettes For A Tasty Lunch Dish

For a simple, light luncheon that will more than satisfy the hungriest person, cheese croquettes are ideal. Being very tasty, attractive in appearance and requiring little time to make, the housewife will like having this recipe:

CHEESE CROQUETTES

3 tablespoons tapioca
½ tablespoon salt
Dash of cayenne
⅛ teaspoon paprika
¾ teaspoon mustard
1 cup milk
½ cup grated cheese
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
Sifted crumbs
1 egg, beaten with—
3 tablespoons milk and—
Dash of salt

Combine dry ingredients and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow 3 to 5 minutes, stirring frequently.) Add chesee and parsley. Chill, mixture thickens as it cools. Shape into balls; flatten slightly, making depression in center of each. Roll in crumbs, dip in egg, then roll in crumbs. Fry in deep fat, 390 F., for 1 minute or until brown. Place jelly or stuffed olive in each depression. Makes 10 croquettes.

Butterscotch Pie An Added Treat

At ane time, pie was served only for luncheon—at least so the books on etiquette stated— but we're glad to say that now pie is served at all meals, even at breakfast in certain parts of the country. It's a man's dish in spite of it's delicateness. Here is just one of the hundreds of recipes:

1½ cups water
1½ cups brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ tablespoon butter
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons flour
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add water to brown sugar and bring to the boiling point in a double boiler. Mix together cornstarch, flour, salt and 2 tablespoons of sugar, add enough cold water and make a smooth paste. Add to the first mixture, bring to the boiling point and then cook over boiling water for 15 minutes or until it thickens. Beat egg yolks slightly, add cooked mixture and cook 1 minute. Add butter and flavoring. Bake a pie shell, fill with butterscotch custard until ¾ full, put in slow oven then pour in the rest and bake about 30 minutes or until a knife inserted in center of custard will come out clean. Let cool and cover with meringue.
