Our Melrose correspondent calls attention to the sad case of Mr. Charles T. Zepp, of that place, who for 25 years has been unable to walk or talk, but who enjoys reading and would be delighted to receive gifts of papers or magazines at any time. He wants, however, to have what our correspondent call "a letter party," on the occasion of his birthday, which will occur on the 19th inst., meaning, as we interpret it, simply a cheerful, hope-inspiring, pleasant letter from each person who will kindly remember him on the day named. We hope the readers of the SENTINEL will respond to the appeal, not only with letters, but with more substantial tokens of sympathy.

The store of Mr. Jacob Bixler, Pennsylvania avenue, this city, was burglarized about 2 o'clock Monday morning, making, it is said, the sixth time within fourteen years. An entrance was obtained through a second story window, to reach which a number of store-boxes were piled one upon another. An attempt was made to bore through a shutter of the storeroom, but it was lined with sheet iron and the effort failed. Mr. Bixler did not discover the burglary till he entered the store in the morning, when he found that about fifty dollars worth of clothing had been taken. The money drawer and desk had been opened, but the burglars obtained no money as Mr. Bixler does not leave any cash in the store at night. No noise was heard by Mr. Bixler or his family during the night, except the barking of his dog, which occurred several times. The robbers escaped with their booty.

The Benevolent and Aid Society of St. Paul's Reformed Church met at the residence of Mrs. Henry B. Albaugh, on Tuesday evening last. The meeting was opened by the pastor with Divine services, consisting of the Confession of Faith and prayer. After the reports of the collecting committee, and a short address by the pastor, the remainder of the evening was spent in the enjoyment of music and social intercourse. The following program had been prepared by the committee appointed for this purpose: Instrumental music, Miss Carrie Brown; reading, by Miss Clara Bankert; instrumental music, Miss Carrie Gehr; reading, Miss Norma Gilbert; vocal music, Miss Belle Orndorff; reading, Mrs. Sallie Royer; instrumental music, Mr. Klem; vocal music, Miss Ida Snyder. A Chicago Letter.

The following letter from Mr. E. O. Grimes, a well known business man of this city, now visiting the World's Fair, is a chatty contribution to the epistolary tendency naturally awakened by a view of the "greatest show on earth." The writer modestly refrains from description of the wonderful sights of which so much has been heard, but, from the free and breezy style of his letter, we have no doubt he could tell about what he is seeing in a very interesting manner. The communication was written to a business friend here and was not intended for publication. The writer will be surprised to see it in print:

COLUMBIAN HOTELS, CHICAGO, ILLS,
SEPTEMBER 30TH, 1893.

My Dear Friend.—We arrived at about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Had a safe and rather pleasant trip. We are comfortably quartered at the above Hotel. Spent part of yesterday and all of to-day at the Fair, which is I think truly, the greatest show on earth. I have looked and looked until my eye balls ached and I don't known that I have seen anything to speak of comparatively. If we expect to see the half I guess you may not look for us for at least several weeks. Just now can't say when we will leave for home, (or at least what day.) I have so much to see and interest me that I have almost forgotten all about home. This has been a terrible day on the grounds. It commenced raining last night and continued all day. We went right through the rain and did good work and lots of it. I find charges of every kind rather moderate. We have good board and beds. Lodging is 75 cents each, and meals good at 25 cents. The crowd is immense and yet we have plenty of room. Mr. T. and family are here and he is trying to get all he can for his money. He is good company and very kindly met us at Grand Crossing. Will try to hear Mr. Moody preach tomorrow and will tell you about it when I see you. Tell Senator Bennett to come right along and by no means to miss this great show. Tell him that I say that the Pennsylvania Railroad is a good comfortable road and I think a safe one to travel on. Every attention is given for the comfort of passengers. I won't attempt to describe magnitude, grandeur, &c., of the Fair—in fact it can't be done by a hayseed like me. I make the Maryland Building my headquarters and now and then meet some I know.

I am yours, E. O. GRIMES.

Elliott-Wampler.

Rev. Mortimer Cochell Elliott, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Miss Carrie Pearre Wampler, daughter of William A. Wampler, Esq., of this city, were married at the parsonage of the Westminster M. P. Church, at 5 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, 4th inst. It was a quiet but pretty wedding. The parlor was darkened and the marriage took place by gaslight. Only the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties were present. The bride wore white silk, with gloves and slippers to match, and carried Marechal Neil roses. The groom wore the conventional black, with Prince Albert coat. Mrs. I. E. Pearson played the wedding march. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. A. D. Melvin. Subsequently the bride changed her wedding gown for a handsome traveling costume of black cloth. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left by the fast mail train an hour after the wedding, for their future home at Parkersburg, where a reception will be given them by the congregation of the Methodist Protestant Church, of which the groom is pastor, on Friday evening. The bridal presents were numerous and handsome, and included silverware, linens, and a handsome china tea-set from the groom's mother.

Fatal Accident.

On Friday afternoon of last week a little girl named Stella Sherman, aged 10 years, was fatally injured near Middleburg, by falling from and being dragged by a horse. She was riding one of Mr. Jacob Beck's plow horses from the field when the animal became frightened and threw her. Her foot caught in the gears and she was struck by the horse's hoofs as he ran, until after going an eighth of a mile he jumped over some partially lowered bars, with one of which the child's head came in contact, tearing off the scalp. She was otherwise badly injured and died on Saturday. Her funeral took place on Sunday.

After the above was in type we received from a correspondent at Union Bridge an account of the accident corresponding substantially with it, but giving the name of the child as Sarah Blanche Sherman, and stating that since her father's death she had lived with Mr. and Mrs. Beck, who had taken her as their own. The account states also that the accident occurred on Thursday and her death on Friday, and gives her age as 10 years 5 months and 11 days.

The following residents of this city and county will leave Westminster, for a visit to the World's Fair, by the 9.11 A. M. train, this, Saturday, morning and at Baltimore will take a special car leaving at 11.10, A. M., over the Pennsylvania Railroad, for Chicago: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, Mrs. Levi N. We will state in connection with what has been published in regard to the death of Mr. Lewis H. Greenwood, that on the 28th of last month his remains were interred in the Greenwood Cemetery, near New Windsor. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. T. J. Cross, of New Windsor. Rev. John Ensor, M. K. Cross and Elder Wm. H. Franklin also took part in the services. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. John H. Stem, Augustus Brown, Thomas Barnes, Jesse Stuller, Jesse Butler and George Cushing; undertaker, Richard Pickett, of Winfield. The congregation of relatives and friends was quite large. Last April Mr. Greenwood moved from New Windsor district to the farm formerly owned by Mr. David Cover but, now by Mr. Horatio Zile. Mr. Greenwood was unmarried and did not leave a will; consequently the proceeds of his estate will go to his sister Mrs. Gorsuch, now living in Washington, D. C., she being the only heir. There will be sale of his personal property in a few days.

On last Saturday afternoon the George Ward property, near Dennings, was offered at public sale. Mrs. Mary Kiler became the purchaser at $325.

Mr. John N. Harman, father of Miss Maggie Harman, of our town, died in Astoria, Fulton county, Ill., September 8th, 1893. Mr. Harman was formerly a resident of Frizellburg, and was in the 77th year of his age.

Of the sick of our town some are improving slowly, while others are at a standstill. Some others are complaining, but it cannot be determined yet whether it is typhoid fever or not. The cause of all our trouble in this line is supposed to come from the neglected tanyard that has been idle for several years. Work has been begun to renovate and put in order the yard. If the cause lies there it is hoped that the disease may be stopped. Typhoid fever does not belong here in our town, which has been free from it almost entirely for the past fifty years.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph Englar, of Linwood, W. M. R. R., will regret to learn that he has found it necessary to put himself under treatment at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. He was operated on this week we learn, very successfully. We hope the time will be short before we can greet him again at his nice home and place of business.

A nice rain came on Wednesday to gladden the hearts of all.
