Remedial Use of Apples.

From North America Practitioner.

Chemically the apple is composed of vegetable fiber, albumen, sugar, gum chlorophyl, malic acid, gallic acid, lime, and much water. Furthermore, the German analysts say that the apple contains a larger percentage of phosphorus than any other fruit or vegetable. The phosphorus is admirably adapted for renewing the essential nervous matter—lecithin—of the brains and spinal cord. It is, perhaps, for the same reason, rudely understood, that old Scandinavian traditions represent the apple as the food of the gods, who, when they felt themselves to be growing feeble and infirm, resorted to this fruit, renewing their powers of mind and body. Also, the acids of the apple are of singular use for men of sedentary habits, whose livers are sluggish in action, those acids serving to eliminate from the body noxious matters, which, if retained, would make the brain heavy and dull, or bring about jaundice or skin eruptions and other allied troubles. Some such experience must have led to the custom of taking apple sauce with roast pork, rich goose, and like dishes. The malic acid of ripe apples, either raw or cooked, will neutralize any excess of chalky matters engendered by eating too much meat. It is also the fact that such ripe fruits as the apple [illegible] little time and no apparatus, for the cure of all except very severe cases of round shoulders, where braces are also sometimes a necessity: "1. Raise arms before your shoulder high, extend arms sidewise, throw head back, straighten head, move arms forward, lower arms, repeat ten times. 2. Stand erect, raise arms before you, rise on tip toes, then throw arms as far backward as possible, sink again on heels and drop arms to side, repeat ten times. 3. Raise arms with elbow bent shoulder high, bringing palms together in front of face, then with elbows still bent swing both arms vigorously backward as far as possible even with the shoulders, palms looking forward. This should be repeated several times, but as the position is somewhat fatiguing, rest or change of exercise may be made between the movements."

Another simple movement designed to bring about a correct position of the shoulder blades consists of holding a cane or wand in both hands, throwing the head back and carrying the stick from "above the head back and down the hips."

As the clothing, if too tight or unyielding about or over the shoulders, may help to produce round shoulders, both the under and outside waist should be comfortable and bands over the shoulder of garments made of elastic.

Among The Poultry.

It is our opinion that you will have a better potato crop next season if some of those "seed potatoes" you are saving are boiled and fed to the hens during the winter.

If the water dish is kept in the hen house have one that does not leak. Some houses are made damp by the amount of water that leaks out of the drinking vessel. Dry quarters are needed to give health and vigor to poultry.

We believe in fresh air for poultry, but it seems to us that the cold and melancholy winds that play around the tree tops just now must be a little too fresh for the good of those hens that are compelled, for lack of better shelter, to roost in them.

If your henhouse is small, its borders may be enlarged so as to give a sunning place for the hens this winter by building a shed. A north side and a roof will do if no more can be provided. Take some poles, make a frame and bank up and cover with straw and the deed is done.

Instead of cultivating too much land the true system of successful farming is to make an acre double its crop. To do so the manure and fertilizer should not be spread over a large surface. It does not pay to give a plant only half enough for its support, but rather to give it all that it needs, as will be the case when a small plot receives the manure. Economy of labor and a lessening of the cost in fertilizer, as well as large profits from an acre, will there be assured.

The depth to which the sun's rays penetrate water has been recently determined by the aid of photography. It has been found that at a depth of 553 feet the darkest was to all intents and purposes the same as that on a clear but moonless night. Sensitized plates exposed at this depth for a considerable length of time gave no evidence of light action.

Vain people are people of little knowledge.

The Century Magazine

IN 1894.

The Greatest of all the Magazines.

Two Thousand Pages of the best Literature, One Thousand Illustrations by the Greatest Artists of the World.

THE program of the new volume of The Century Magazine, beginning with the November number, is one of rare interest to every reader of literature. The chief serial feature is A New Novel by Mark Twain. The most dramatic story ever written by America's greatest humorist. Like several of Mark Twain's stories, it has for its scene a steamboat town on the Mississippi River forty years ago. "Pudd'nhead Wilson," a hard-headed country lawyer, the hero of the story, furnishes much of the fun that one naturally expects to find in a work by the author of "The Innocents Abroad," but he appears in quite another light in the murder trial which forms the thrilling climax of the story. The plot introduces a novel and ingenious employment of science in the detection of crime, and the characters are well drawn and their every action is interesting. The Century will contain A Series of Superb Engravings of the Old Dutch Masters; articles on Hunting of Fierce Game; articles describing Artists' Adventures, by leading American artists, with their own illustrations; articles descriptive of Important Expeditions in all the great continents, including the adventures of two young Americans who traversed Asia on bicycles; a novel series on Tramping with Tramps; How a young man, disguised as a tramp, traveled over America and learned all the secrets of the "profession"; Important Papers on Music by the greatest living composers and musicians; Unpublished essays by James Russell Lowell; Short stories and novelettes by all the leading story writers, essays on timely subjects, humor and fun in the "Lighter Vein" department, etc., etc. The Great Christmas Number contains a sermon by Phillips Brooks, seven complete stories, a magnificent array of full-page engravings, a new picture of General Grant, letters from Edwin Booth, etc.

SEVEN MAGAZINES IN ONE!

St. Nicholas for Young Folks.

"Wide Awake" now Merged in It.

Enlarged by 200 Additional Pages in the Volume. Everything Illustrated.

OF all publications for boys and girls, St. Nicholas, conducted by Mary Mapes Dodge, is unquestionably the best. It has been praised by the press and the people of two continents. Its circulation is unprecedented among magazines for young folks. Beginning with the number for November, 1893, it is enlarged by the addition of about 200 pages in the volume, and for 1893-94 it will have the greatest program in its history, including A Natural History Series, brilliantly illustrated, describing the quadrupeds of North America in a popular way, by W. T. Hornaday, recently Chief Taxidermist of the U. S. National Museum; "Tom Sawyer Abroad," a Serial Story by Mark Twain, in which the great humorist's famous creations, "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn," visit the eastern hemisphere in a flying-machine; a series on American Authors, by Brander Matthews, setting forth in clear and simple form the main biographical facts and the chief literary qualities of famous men in American literature, including Irving, Cooper, Bryant, Hawthorne, Emerson, Lowell, etc.; Stories of India by Rudyard Kipling.

When Rudyard Kipling was a boy in India he used to read St. Nicholas, and now he takes his turn at bringing delight to the thousands of young folk who read it to-day. He has written for St. Nicholas a series of remarkable stories of boy and girl life in the jungle and with animals. "Recollections of Wild Life," by Dr. Charles Eastman, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, and a graduate of a white man's college (Dartmouth); a description of Indian life,—in camp and on the war-path,—from the inside. A novelty in literature. Papers on the Government. "How Money is Made" (the Mint), "How the Treasury is Guarded," "How the Government Promotes Ingenuity" (the Patent-Office), "The Dead-Letter Office," "With the West Point Cadets," "How Armies Talk to Each Other," "Life on a Man-of-War," etc. Serial Stories by Howard Pyle, Frances Courtenay Baylor, James Otis, Molly Elliot Seawell and The Author of "Lady Jane."

The Famous "Brownies," by Palmer Cox, will also be a feature of St. Nicholas.

Are you going to have St. Nicholas in your home in '94? New subscribers should begin with November. The price of St. Nicholas is $3.00 a year. Everything in it is illustrated. Subscribe through booksellers and newsdealers, or remit to the publishers by check, draft, money-or express-order. Don't miss the Christmas Number.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Bazar is a journal for the home. It gives the fullest and latest information about Fashions, and its numerous illustrations, Paris designs, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dressmaker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared to make its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its bright stories, amusing comedies, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is famous as a budget of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. The Serials for 1893 will be written by Walter Besant and Edna Lyall. Christine Terhune Herrick will furnish a practical series, entitled "At the Toilet." Grace King, Olive Thorne Miller, and Candace Wheeler will be frequent contributors. The work of women in the Columbian Exposition will be fully represented with many illustrations. T. W. Higginson, in "Women and Men," will please a cultivated audience.
