Washington College Sports

The Shoremen kept their record clean to date by adding three more victims to their slate during the past week.

Last Saturday on Kibler Field, a strong West Chester Club was defeated 7 to 3. On Tuesday the Mounts were barely nipped in an 8-7 ball game at Emmitsburg and the Western Maryland Terrors bobbled the ball all over the lot on Wednesday to give Kibler and his men a 7 to 2 win.

To-day the shoremen journey to Newark, Delaware, to meet their traditional rivals, the Blue Hens of the University of Delaware. These games are the most unpredictable contests of the year and are always hard fought battles. On Frazier Field, the Blue Hens are a dangerous aggregation capable of upsetting any team's applecart of victories. This year's Blue Hen nine is a good ball club and has turned in several impressive victories. They looked especially strong against Virginia Medical School and Drexel, not to mention several other clubs.

When these two clubs come together records mean nothing. It's that way in every sport that Washington College and Delaware engage in. A victory today is an absolute necessity for Washington to save its "face" against the Hens. The Hens are gradually gaining a feeling of superiority over Washington Clubs, and have reason to do so. There was a time when the Shoremen almost automatically registered victories in all sports over the Hens, but the last few years have seen Delaware gradually showing the Shoremen on the short end of scores in football, tennis and they even took our measure in one basketball contest this season. A victory over our highly touted ball club would give them more justification for a feeling of superiority.

Shoremen had difficulty in defeating Mount St. Mary's last Tuesday and if it were not for Maguire's great relief hurling job and Jim Bush's surprising power at the plate the game may have ended in a different way. Bush showed unexpected hitting by bagging two home runs for the Shoremen in four times at bat, and remains the best hitter on the club to date. He is in a hitting streak and just how long it will last no one knows but while it does the Shoremen will profit by it. Henry Maguire, saved the game when he went in in the ninth inning with the score 8-6 and runners on second and third, and retired the side after they scored but one run.

The contest against Western Maryland was greatly aided by six Terror errors and marred what would have been a good tight ball game. Jim Stevens, flashy Shoreman centerfielder, bagged himself a home run in this fray.

One of the pleasing aspects of the ball club to date has been its ability to score. In all games played they have hit the opposing pitchers hard enough to give their own pitchers a comfortable margin to work with. Fourteen runs against American U., six against Hortwick, seven against West Chester, eight against the Mounts and seven against the Terrors, shows that the pressure has not been on Washington pitchers too much to date. The club still cannot be labeled as a hard hitting aggregation but they get runs and that is what ball games are won on.

George Ekaitis' track team swamped Juniata College at Huntingdon, Pa., last Tuesday in a dual meet 84-48. Today Ekaitis is in Philadelphia with his entry in the Penn Relays—the mile relay of the Mason Dixon Conference. Hopes for gaining a victory in this event today are less than they have been for several seasons. Ekaitis does not anticipate a win in this event which Washington College lost last year after winning that race for three straight years.

Ekaitis is well satisfied with the way his team showed up against Juniata. The men piled up 84 points to their 48. He was especially pleased with the way his freshmen, Freemen, Sinclair, Yerkes, and Gale Steele showed up, and indeed the entire squad. One pleasant surprise came with Bill Roe's victory in the two mile race where he lapped his field and turned in his best recorded time.

The tennis team made the trip to Western Maryland and Mount St. Mary's and managed to win all the matches played against the Mounts—four. This is their best showing to date by far and who can tell—the dark horses may come through yet.

On the top floor one runs afoul of the Physics Department and Dr. Coop's weird and fascinating devices whereby water is made to run back up into the faucet from the sink, where you may talk over a beam of light, or see the vibrations of your own voice on an escilloscope. Here the spectator can operate an electric organ, whether or not he can reel off a tune. There will be a two-way radio for communication between the boy friend and the girl friend, a demonstration of measurement of axes in crystals by means of polarized light, and a ship-stabilizing gyroscope. Cosmic rays that strike our planet constantly from outside space will be counted and rendered visible.

The exhibits will remain in place Saturday for the benefit of visiting biology teachers of the State who are meeting in convention at Washington College, augmented by a number of displays brought by staff members of cooperating institutions.

Students, guides and demonstrators will be the members of the Society of Sciences of the College, many of whom are also assisting in the preparation and setting up of the exhibits.

BIOLOGISTS TO MEET AT COLLEGE TODAY

If at any time on Saturday, April 26, you chance to see a number of strangers prowling about town or campus, especially the more historic landmarks of Chestertown, the odds are they will be visiting biologists, anxious to see what the fabulous Eastern Shore looks like. It will be a new experience for many of them since this is the first time that Washington College has played host to the Annual Convention of Maryland Biology Teachers. Erection of the Dunning Science Hall has made possible holding of the Eighth Meeting in Chestertown, where a program of papers and entertainment has been prepared by the Committee in cooperation with Dr. Julian D. Corrington, the host on this occasion.

The program will open with registration at 10 A. M., followed by an address of welcome from President Gilbert Wilcox Mead in the Auditorium of Dunning Hall. Two speakers will hold forth between 11 and 1, when th essembly will repair to the Cain Gymnasium for a luncheon served by ladies of the Soldiers of the Cross.

Hospital Plan Adopted By Local Hospital

Plan is to be a success here."

Bills Paid In Full

When a Blue Cross member needs hospital care the hospital is required to render complete service. Upon leaving the hospital the patient is relieved of paying the bill or making credit arrangements. The hospital bills the Blue Cross office direct and receives immediate payment to cover the bill in full. There are no claims to file. Patient's bills are paid in-full regardless of cost.

Complete Service

By complete hospital service is meant: room and meals, operating room, anaesthesia, medications and dressings, laboratory examinations, X-Ray examinations, oxygen, serums and etc., and all other customery hospital services. Each person covered in the Blue Cross is eligible for 21 days care as a hospital bed-patient each contract year. There is no limit to the number of stays so long as the total days is no more than 21.

Dependents Included

Any one between the age 3 mos. and 65 yrs. is eligible for membership. But only group enrollments are made provided the necessary number within the group wish to subscribe at the same time. Employees in any place of business employing three or more people can request membership and be accepted. The small monthly payments are deducted from the wages by the employer and forwarded to the Blue Cross office. Subscribers dependents can be included and receive the same benefits.

Headquarters of H. Gayle Bourne, Shore Representative of the Blue Cross will be at the Kent and Queen Anne General Hospital and also at the American Legion Bldg. which acts as offices for the Hospital Enlargement Campaign. Mr. Bourne also has offices in the hospitals in Cambridge, Crisfield, Easton and Salisbury. In his absence Miss Skirven, Hospital Superintendent, and Mrs. Grace B. Maxwell, President of the Hospital Auxiliary will answer inquiries and make arrangements for him to contact interested employers or employed groups.
