WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND.

W. L. W. Seabrook - Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1895.

Ex-Speaker Reed, in a speech in the House of Representatives, on Tuesday, went to the root of our financial difficulties when he said, "if the party in power had provided sufficient revenue there would have been no trouble." Existing difficulties may be temporarily overcome by borrowing gold on government bonds, but permanent relief will not be realized until the public revenues are made ample to meet public expenditures.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii, is in custody, charged with having been actively identified with the recent attempt of the monarchists to overthrow the Republic and restore her crown. The conspiracy was shortlived and the leaders were soon captured. Some of those implicated in the movement are British subjects. The little Republic, from the information thus far received, will not deal very leniently with the conspirators, its intention being to try them by court martial and probably shoot those most prominently engaged as leaders in the outbreak. The ex-queen, probably for the purpose of courting levity at the hands of the government, has voluntarily resigned all claims to the crown for herself and heirs, and has taken the oath of allegiance to the Republic. A considerable amount of arms and amunition were found in her residence.

Secretary Carlisle now estimates that the surplus revenues of the government for the calendar year 1895 will be $22,564,033. As a beginning the receipts for January, which were expected to be unusually large on account of extraordinary withdrawals of woolen goods from bond, show a deficit of $6,719,047. Mr. Carlisle is more apt than accurate in making estimates of this character. His Treasury statement in December, 1893, predicted a deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1893, of $28,000,000. Large as that sum was, it fell far short of the reality. The deficit reached $70,000,000. Mr. Carlisle and Senator Gorman do not agree in opinion as to the revenues for the current calendar year, the latter boldly declaring that a deficit will result under existing laws. The optimistic views of Mr. Carlisle are, at best, but guesses, against which experience, thus far, interposes the gravest doubt of their realization. A uniform monthly deficit for more than a year gives a singular basis upon which to predicate the prediction of a future surplus.

Mr. Reed Substitutes a Bill.

Ex-Speaker Thos. B. Reed has offered a bill in the House of Representatives which, it is said, may rally sufficient support for its passage. Section one of the bill authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue 3 per cent. bonds payable after five years, similar to the bonds under the resumption act

It is substantially similar to Mr. Sherman's bill introduced in the Senate.

Section 2 embodies the new phase introduced by Mr. Reed, and is as follows: "That to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to pay the current expenses of the government so long as the current revenues shall be deficient, he is authorized and required, from time to time, in his discretion, to issue, sell and dispose of at not less than par, such an amount of certificates of indebtedness of the denomination of $25, $50 and $100, or any multiple thereof, as may be needed for that purpose, bearing not to exceed 3 per cent. interest per annum, payable semi-annually and redeemable at the pleasure of the government, in coin, after two years from their date, with like qualities, privileges and exemption provided in the act approved January 14, 1875. The Secretary may, at his discretion, sell and dispose of the same for not less than an equal amount of lawful money of the United States and at designated depositories of the United States and at such post offices as he may select, and the Secretary shall use the proceeds thereof for the purpose provided for in this section and for none other." This bill was offered as a substitute to what was known as the Springer Bill, on Thursday, and was voted down by the Democrats. The Springer bill, which is the third bill proposed by the administration, was then defeated by a vote of 133 to 161.

William J. Hasson, charged with the murder of his wife, Catharine Hasson, October 4th, 1894, by cutting her throat with a knife, at their residence, No. 1709 Maryland avenue, Baltimore, was convicted in the criminal court of that city, on Saturday last, of murder in the second degree. If guilty at all Hasson committed a cold-blooded murder and his crime was in the first degree. Some doubt of his guilt in the minds of jurors must have led to a compromise verdict, which, while probably inconsistent with the law, may have prevented an entire miscarriage of justice. Verdicts of this character are not altogether uncommon. They might be avoided if, along with verdicts of guilty, in capital cases, juries could name the penalty to be imposed.

The will of Mrs. Mary Bankert, late of Hanover, Pa., bequeaths $1,000 for the erection of a monument, $200 to the Mt. Olivet Cemetery Association of Hanover, for the preservation of the burial lot of herself and father in good condition, $100 to John Myers (now deceased), $100 in trust for the child of Charles Myers. The remainder of her estate is to be divided among the children of John Rebert the nephews and niece of the deceased.

Williard Haugh, of Frederick, was arrested at Hanover, Pa., on Monday afternoon and lodged in the county jail at York, charged with forging the names of his father, John E. Haugh, and John E. Hargett to a note at the Farmers' and Mechanics' National Bank of Frederick. The note was for $200, which Haugh secured from the bank. Haugh is charged with other forgeries amounting to about $1,200

The Income Tax.

Mr. Edward Koontz, of Frederick, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, has furnished us the following summary of prominent points in the income tax law.

"Whilst the law only imposes a tax of two per cent. on the gains, profits and incomes on the excess derived over and above $4,000; yet it requires all persons of lawful age, having an annual income of $3,500 or more in this collection district, to make a return to the collector of the internal revenue.

"These returns must also be made by all guardians, trustees, executors, administrators, agents, receivers and all persons or corporations acting in any fiduciary capacity, who reside or do business in this collection district, of the amount of the income of any minor or person for whom they act.

"Corporations are required to pay two per cent. on net profits and special forms will be furnished them on application.

"All the forms must be correctly filled up and returned to Collector Vandiver on or before the first Monday in March next.

"The first taxable year is the year of 1894, and the taxes are computed on the taxable income received last year, from the first day of January to the thirty-first day of December, both days included.

"The taxes are due and payable on or before the first day of July, 1895.

"Failure of persons or corporations to receive the proper forms, or the failure to receive any notice that the proper forms should be filled up and returned to the collector's office, or that any act enjoined by law should be complied with, is not deemed a valid excuse for not making such returns, or not complying with the provisions of law in the time and manner prescribed and will not prevent or reduce the penalties imposed by law for such failure or neglect."

Applications for blanks can be made to Mr. Koontz, at Frederick, or to Collector Vandiver, Baltimore.

NEXT WEEK AT

HARRIS'S ACADEMY OF MUSIC BALTIMORE.

"Rush City" the new Davis & Keogh production, belongs to a new classification of entertainments. It may be denominated a spectacular musical farce. With all the features of a farce comedy, it has also certain incidents that require great pictorial display and involve the use of mechanical accessories. One of these is the cyclone which tears up "Rush City," the Oklahoma boom town, by the roots, as it were, and deposits it on top of "Cactusville," another Oklahoma metropolis.

Lillian Nordica, Soprani; Mons. Jean de Reszke, Sig. Francesco Tamagno, tenori; Sig. Campinari, Sig. Vaschetti and M. Victor Maurel, baritoni; Mons. A. Castlemary and Mons. Pol Plancon, bassi. THE TRIBUNE ALMANAC FOR 1895.

Among the annual Almanacs which are put into print at this season of the year, The New York Tribune Almanac must be rated as easily the first. The New York Sun (Dem.) praises it as an exceedingly valuable and accurate book of reference, and, on the other hand calls its principal rival a "book of popular *mis*information." Although emanating from the office of the most aggresive Republican newspaper of the United States, The Tribune Almanac is absolutely devoid of partisanship. The Tribune's "arithmetic man" who figures up majorities the night after election, lays aside his political affiliations when he comes to work upon the Almanac. Accuracy, fairness and completeness are the watchwords then, and the result is seen in the wide distribution of The Tribune Almanac all over the United States, and its use by Democrats, Populists and Republicans alike. The number for 1895, which has just come to us, has brought its election returns, statistics and general information up to date, and is the largest and most complete number ever issued. The price is only 25 cents a copy, although now a volume of 380 pages. It was 25 cents a copy, even in the early Forties, when it began its career as a little document of 60 pages.

CONAN DOYLE ON AMERICA.

Conan Doyle's impressions of the literary phases of American life are to be contained in an article to appear in the next issue of The Ladies' Home Journal. The article was originally intended to be the novelist's impressions of American women, but this plan was altered and the article to be printed in the Journal will give Dr. Doyle's ideas of "Literary Aspects of America."

AN OPEN LETTER.

WESTMINSTER, April 10, 1890.

Mr. Jos. B. Boyle:

Dear Sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very troublesome cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but temporary relief. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough, and through a friend was induced to try your Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost instant relief, but a permanent cure. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am,

Truly yours,
EDWARD LYNCH.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

1895.

Foremost of American Weeklies.

Circulation 168,000 Copies a Week.

First to rally from the overwhelming defeat of 1892, THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE patiently labored for two years to awaken the sleeping judgment of the Nation. Possessing an enormous circulation, equipped with a staff of competent and honest students of public questions, and itself having no object to serve except the welfare of the masses upon the farms and in the shops, scorning lies and sensational appeals, and satisfied merely to place the truth before its readers, THE TRIBUNE has sent to half a million earnest and reflecting people, weekly, a budget of honest facts, sensible arguments and friendly suggestions which have at last borne fruit in the elections of 1894. The work of the people is, however, only half done. It is necessary in 1896 to place in the Chair which Grover Cleveland has not adorned, a constructive statesman of the Republican faith. To this task THE TRIBUNE now addresses itself, and invites the support of every American citizen who desires a return of the "good old times."

Roswell G. Horr, ex-Congressman from Michigan, but now of New York City, will continue to discuss Tariff, Currency, Coinage and Labor questions in THE TRIBUNE. By all odds the most witty, earnest and well-informed speaker upon the stump, he is every year sent by THE TRIBUNE to aid the local campaigns in every part of the country. He keeps in constant touch with the people, knows their wants, and addresses himself in THE TRIBUNE directly to the thoughts which are in their minds, and makes himself understood. He will gladly answer questions, asked in good faith, by readers.

All the regular features of THE TRIBUNE will be continued. For Western readers, a special array of Western news is supplied. For Eastern readers an Eastern edition is printed.

It is the intention to make the paper especially helpful to farmers and mechanics. Each class has its separate department in THE TRIBUNE; and the new inventions of mechanics, who lack the means to exploit the product of their brains, are advertised free of charge in the hope of aiding them to find a purchaser or a partner.

The market reports of THE TRIBUNE, long acknowledged to be the best in the country, will maintain their old standard; and the usual variety of foreign news letters, essays upon home topics, book reviews, articles on chess and checkers, and miscellany will be presented every week. The editorial pages of the paper sum up the most important news of the day, with comments.

THE TRIBUNE also prints, for the ladies, the very latest fashions from Paris and London, and there is a department of "Answers to Questions," conducted by a capable writer, in which all the questions of the people on miscellaneous topics are carefully answered.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE is an incomparable paper for residents who live beyond the range of THE DAILY TRIBUNE, but find it necessary to keep in touch with the best thoughts and higher interests of the world at large.

A few premiums are offered to readers and club agents.

Any friend of THE TRIBUNE is cordially invited to send for sample copies and terms, and make up a club of subscribers. We would be especially pleased to see a large circle of readers in every workshop.

THE WEEKLY, $1; THE SEMI-WEEKLY, $2; THE DAILY TRIBUNE, $10 a year. THE TRIBUNE Almanac for 1895, ready in January, 25 cents a copy.

THE TRIBUNE, New York.

ST. NICHOLAS

FOR YOUNG FOLKS IN 1895.

EDITED BY MARY MAPES DODGE.

The greatest year in the history of this magazine, now without a rival in its field, is the one just closing. Plans for the coming year assure even greater success than in the past.

RUDYARD KIPLING

wrote his famous "Jungle Stories" for St. Nicholas, and it is a welcome announcement that these will be continued in 1895.

NAPOLEON FOR YOUNG READERS.

While the Century will have for its leading feature the new Life of the French Emperor by Prof. Sloane, one of the most popular of St. Nicholas writers takes the same character for his inspiration.

A BOY OF THE FIRST EMPIRE, BY ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS, is the story of a little lad from the streets of Paris (but of good family) who renders a service to Napoleon, and becomes one of his pages and finally an aide. He is with him at the most critical times of his life,—at the departure for Elba, in the glories of the life at Fontainebleau, and finally at Waterloo. The story glows with pageantry, and is a truthful and accurate account, based upon the best authorities and verified by the latest information, of the life of "the man of destiny." It is really a delightful story-history of Napoleon.

WEST POINT AND MAN-OF-WAR LIFE will receive attention, Lieutenant Putman writing of cadet life at the military academy, while Ensign Ellicott, of the flag-ship "Chicago," will describe the experience of our hardy seamen on the modern ships of war.

INSPIRING TALES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Theodore Roosevelt will write a series to be called "Hero-Tales from American History," recounting famous deeds of heroism about which young people ought to know. Prof. Brander Matthews will include in his entertaining papers on "The Great American Authors" accounts of the lives of Bryant, Emerson, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Whittier, Poe and Lowell. Stories of Famous Horses in history and mythology—Bucephalus, Napoleon's and Sheridan's horses, etc.—will be told by James Baldwin, author of "Stories from the Northern Myths." City Fire Departments will be treated, and there will be two or three papers on The Boys' Brigade. The Serial Stories are many. One called "Chris and the Wonderful Lamp" recounts the marvelous adventures of a modern boy who became the incidental purchaser of Aladdin's lamp and summoned the jinn while cleaning it. A delightful story of college girls, "The Three Freshmen," will appeal to every girl; and "Teddy and Carrots," James Otis's serial of newsboy life, will be read by every boy. A serial story by Francis Courtenay Baylor is one of the features.

PRICE of St. Nicholas is 25 cents a number or $3.00 a year. New subscriptions should begin with November, the first issue of the year. Subscribe through dealers, or remit by check, draft, or money-order to

Harper's Bazar

Elegant and exclusive designs for Out-door and Indoor Toilettes, drawn from Worth models by Sandoz and Chapuis, are an important feature. These appear every week, accompanied by minute descriptions and details. Our Paris Letter, by Katharine de Forest, is a weekly transcript of the latest styles and caprices in the mode. Under the head of New York Fashions, plain directions and full particulars are given as to shapes, fabrics, trimmings, and accessories of the costumes of well-dressed women. Children's Clothing receives practical attention. A fortnightly Pattern-sheet Supplement enables readers to cut and make their own gowns. The woman who takes HARPER'S BAZAR is prepared for every occasion in life, ceremonious or informal, where beautiful dress is requisite.

An American Serial, Doctor Warrick's Daughter, by Rebecca Harding Davis, a strong novel of American life, partly laid in Pennsylvania and partly in the far South, will occupy the last half of the year.

My Lady Nobody, an intensely exciting novel, by Maarten Maartens, author of "God's Fool," "The Greater Glory," etc., will begin the year.

Essays and Social Chats. To this department Spectator will contribute her charming papers on "What We are Doing" in New York society.

Answers to Correspondents. Questions receive the personal attention of the editor, and are answered at the earliest possible date after their receipt.

The Volumes of the BAZAR begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order.
