A woman claiming to be a resident of Thurmont, Frederick county, was in this city one of the early days of this week begging. She claimed to have a sick husband and a large family of small children. Buckingham, of this city, on Monday night, who found them wandering about the town, and learned that they were endeavoring to get to their homes. They left the college Monday morning and had made their way a mile or two down the railroad toward Baltimore by nightfall. They then waited till the Union Bridge accommodation train, Capt. Thornton Wright, conductor, came along, and, boarding it, arrived in this city soon after eight o'clock. It is said they intended to board the night freight train to Baltimore. Officer Buckingham turned them over to Sheriff Arnold for safe-keeping, and they spent the night in his apartments at the county jail. President Purnell, of the college, was informed of their whereabouts, and sent for them on Tuesday morning, and they were returned to his care. They were all lads of tender years, Badey, the oldest, being thirteen; Lursliow, eleven, and Dillon only in his tenth year.

Egg Statistics.

The sudden decline in the price of eggs last week occasioned heavy losses to the hucksters in this county, immense quantities having been gathered at eighteen cents per dozen, shipped to Baltimore and sold at an average of about 11 cents. The quantity shipped from Westminster Station alone was 15,060 dozen, on which a loss of upwards of $1,000 was sustained by the shippers.

Nothwithstanding the severity of the winter the egg product has been very prolific, and, until the sudden drop last week, good prices were realized, making their production quite profitable.

Mr. J. Hoffman Fuss, of this city, has thirty hens which produced 102½ dozen eggs from November 1st, 1894, till March 19th, 1895. Of these the quantity sold realized $23.36. Mr. Fuss kept an account of the cost of feed during the time, which amounted to $8.18, leaving a very nice margin of profit.

Mr. Ezra M. Bish has 175 hens from which he gathered 135 dozen eggs in January, selling at an average of 20 cents; February 147 dozen, average 25 cents; March 1st to 21st, 152 dozen, average 13 cents. The lowest price realized since January 1st was 10 cents and the highest 29 cents per dozen.

Mr. Austin H. Yingling has 150 hens which laid 1375 dozen eggs from March 1st, 1894, to March 1st, 1895. The prices at which they were sold averaged 12 cents per dozen. In the month of March, 1894, the product was 2,750 eggs.

An Old Fire Bucket.

Westminster Fire Engine and Hose Company No. 1 has sent to the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association of Baltimore, an interesting souvenir in the shape of an old fire bucket. The old bucket, which was used when the Westminster company was organized in 1879, has been repainted a bright green. Painted on the bucket in yellow letters are the names of the following survivors of organizers of the company: Messrs. Charles T. Holloway, organizer; E. J. Lawyer, F. K. Herr, C. V. Wantz, O. D. Gilbert, J. C. Mobley, W. H. Bell, Jr., J. H. Mitten, John E. Eckenrode and D. S. Gehr. The bucket will be presented to the Association at its next meeting in April, when it will be placed among the old fire relics in the rooms, 105 North Frederick street.

A Remarkable Trio.

Mr. Abraham Price, a genial, well known and popular salesman in the hardware store of Messrs. Babylon & Gilbert, of this city, enjoys the distinction of being one of three brothers who were born on the same day and are all living. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Price, at present and for the last thirty years residents of the sixth district of Baltimore county. The triplets were born on the 12th of March, 1860, near Jefferson, York county, Pa., and were healthy, vigorous babes. Either from veneration for the great Bible characters, or moved by a quaint sense of humor, the boys were given the patriarchial names of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, in the order of their births. Abraham, as already stated, resides in this city; Isaac is a citizen of Phœnix, Baltimore county, and has been for the last ten or fifteen years an efficient teacher in the public schools, and Jacob lives in Baltimore and pursues the occupation of a painter.

Abraham and Jacob are so nearly alike in personal appearance that their most intimate friends find it difficult to tell which is which. This similarity has existed since their childhood, and was an endless puzzle and perplexity to their teachers when they were school boys and to the members of the family also. So marked and striking is the resemblance that Abraham laughingly says he may have been Jacob originally and an exchange somehow have been made of their names when they were infants While this is hardly probable, many humorous incidents have occurred through their personal likeness to each other. Jacob, while visiting Abraham in this city several years ago, was accosted by a lady who knew the latter well and supposed it was he. She could not account for the strangeness of his demeanor and lack of knowledge about herself, and seemed puzzled and perplexed, even after she was made acquainted with the real state of the case.

The likeness between these two brothers extends to their size and motions. Isaac, however, apart from a well defined family likeness, does not resemble them in a marked degree. He is of smaller size, and differs from them very much in general appearance. The brothers are all married, Mr. Abraham Price to a daughter of Ex-Steward of the Alms House and Ex-Councilman, J. J. Koller, of this city. They have three children. Mr. Price says that in all his family connections, as far as he knows, there is not another case of triple or even dual births.

Triplets are rare and rarer still is their attainment of maturity, and Mr. Price is curious to know whether there is another case within the knowledge of any person in this State.

Death of Mr. David Reese.

Mr. David Reese, a prominent citizen and well known farmer of Westminster district, died at his home at Meadow Branch, of disease of the heart, at 3 o'clock on Sunday morning last in the seventieth year of his age. Mr. Reese was plain and unostentatious in manner, but possessed superior intillegence and was one of the best informed men in the county. He was a careful reader and intelligent thinker and a man of independent action. He early adopted opinions that at the time were at variance with the views of most of the citizens around him, and these opinions led him to cast one of the few votes for President Lincoln in this county, in 1860. He lived to see his views adopted by a large number of his fellow-citizens and himself remained an earnest and consistent Republican until his death. Some years ago he consented to run as a candidate on the Republican ticket for County Commissioner, but he had no political aspirations, and was averse to the use of his name in that connection.

Mr. Reese leaves a widow, two sons and seven daughters. Two of his daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Jennie Reese, were among the graduates in a large class at Western Maryland College two years ago, and stood first and second, respectively, in the order of their graduation. Elizabeth spent a year in special study at the Chicago University, and is now a member of the faculty of Western Maryland College, and teacher of the French and German languages. Mr. Jno. R. Reese, a prominent and wealthy farmer of Owings Mills, is a brother of the deceased.

Funeral services were held at Benjamin's Lutheran Church on Tuesday afternoon and were largely attended. Rev. S. A. Diehl, pastor of the church, conducted the services and preached the funeral sermon. The remains were interred in Benjamin's Cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Ezra Brown, Jos. Price, Uriah Babylon, Levi Black, Samuel Hughes and Jacob M. Fitze.

New Telephone Company Incorporated.

The Western Maryland Telephone Company of Carroll County was incorporated on Wednesday, with Messrs. Pinkney J. Bennett, Charles E. Fink, A. H. Huber, Chas. H. Vanderford, J. Milton Reifsnider, Jos. W. Smith, Samuel Roop, H. S. Roberts, Theo. F. Englar, Granville S. Haines, Dr. Jos. T. Hering, and Fred. D. Miller as incorporators. The first five mentioned were named as directors for the first year. They met on Wednesday night and organized by electing State Senator Pinkney J. Bennett, president; State's Attorney Chas. E. Fink, vice-president; J. Milton Reifsnider, Esq., secretary and treasurer; Mr. R. B. Hazlett, general manager.

The capital stock of the company is $10,000, and will all, no doubt, be promptly taken. The company will proceed to construct lines to the several towns and villages heretofore mentioned in this connection. The purpose now is to introduce long distance telephones and connect them with a metallic circuit which will make the service perfect. The rental for instruments will be only $18 per annum. The high character of the incorporators is a guarantee that the company means business and will fulfill its promises.

For the SENTINEL.

Mrs. Elizabeth Zile, wife of the late David Zile, died at her residence near Winfield, on Wednesday, aged 77 years. She had been a great sufferer for 41 years, and bore her affliction with christian fortitude and when the end came it was very peaceful and serene. She died trusting in Jesus. She leaves four grown sons, namely, Messrs. Edward A. Zile, Howard M. Zile, David H. Zile, James W. Zile. Funeral services were held at 1 P. M., Saturday afternoon, at Ebenezer M. E. Church.

ANOTHER JAIL DELIVERY.
Joseph Cost Recaptured.

Joseph Cost, Chas. Wells' companion in his escape from the jail of this county in December last, escaped again, in company with two other prisoners, Harry C. Mort and John Baumgardner, between two and three o'clock on Tuesday morning. The escape was made through a hole bored in the floor of the cell in which Robert Gillette, alias John Wolfe, one of the Pikesville robbers, who was shot by John Valentine, January 23rd, after the burglary of Evans' store at Carrollton, is confined. Baumgardner was confined in the jail for selling liquor at a camp-meeting without license. His incarceration was due to his default in the payment of a fine of $300, and he had already served three months and a-half, although the local law prescribes a term of only three months' imprisonment upon such default. There appears, however, to be some conflict between the local and the general laws on the subject, and his prompt discharge was prevented by this technicality. His case was under consideration, however, and, in the meantime, his imprisonment was only nominal, and he was employed to wait on Gillette, who is still confined to bed with his wounded leg.

The main floor of the jail is divided into two parts, separated by a heavy-grated iron door. The first apartment is entered by a similar door directly from the hallway of the sheriff's living rooms. On each side of this apartment, which is simply a large hall, or corrider, is a cell, and Gillette is confined in that on the right. Cost and Mort were in the other and main part of the jail, which contains cells opening from galleries on each side. Gillette's room is immediately over the jail pantry, from which a door opens into the kitchen. Baumgardner, being at liberty, secured an auger belonging to the sheriff, which, it is said, was smuggled into Gillette's room in a new bed tick. He then purloined the key to the door leading into that part of the jail in which Cost and Mort were confined Since Cost was arrested by Constable James P. Carter, and returned to the jail on the 11th of January, he was locked up in his cell every night until Monday, when the precaution was neglected. The neglect was promptly turned to account and Baumgardner opened the door referred to and gave Cost and Mort access to Gillette's cell. Then the trio had fair sailing in their effort to escape. They bored out an aperture in the floor 11 by 12 inches in size, squeezed through to the pantry below and walked out through the kitchen into the open air. Before leaving they stole $3 from a fellow-prisoner who had just been committed on some trifling charge. They also tied a rope around Gillette's wounded leg and dropped it through the hole into the pantry, threatening, if he gave an alarm, to pull the leg off. This proceeding was very probably a sham, and was done to protect Gillette against the appearance of complicity in their escape.

Cost's career of crime is too well known to need recital again. Mort was brought here from Ogle county, Ills., as has been heretofore related in the SENTINEL, for obtaining money on a forged note from Mr. George H. Birnie, banker, of Taneytown.

Cost is now described to be 5 feet 10 inches high, with dark hair and short dark mustache, and weighing 165 to 170 pounds. Mort is quite a young man, with fair complexion, light hair, full face and high forehead. He is 5 feet 8 inches high and weighs 165 pounds. Baumgardner is 5 feet 10 inches high, has a smooth face, light hair and a small fuzzy mustache, and weighs 165 to 170 pounds.

Joseph Cost's freedom was short lived. He was recaptured about half-past six o'clock Wednesday evening, on the Nicodemus road about four hundred yards below Bird Hill, by Messrs. John Davis and Ellsworth Gardiner. These gentlemen, one of whom was on horseback and the other on foot, met Cost on the road. They saw him approaching and were led to suspect his identity by the description they had read of him. They were entirely unarmed, but after a moment's consultation decided to make an effort to arrest the fugitive. Divining their intention he started to run, but upon a peremptory command halted and they then informed him that he answered the description of a man they were directed to arrest. They took him first to the store of Mr. A. T. Buckingham in Bird Hill and then brought him to this city and turned him over to the custody of Sheriff Arnold, who will see that he does not escape again. Cost was evidently making for his home in the southern part of the county, but it seems a little singular that he had gotten so short a distance on the way, as he had been out of jail forty hours when met by Messrs. Davis and Gardner. It is said he obtained something to eat at the residence of Mr. Wm. H. Coppersmith about noon, and was seen during the afternoon lurking in the neighborhood of the public schoolhouse at Bird Hill, by the school children. His arrest by unarmed men was a plucky undertaking, as he bears the reputation of a desperado. He protested that he wasn't Cost until he was recognized at the jail.

Union Bridge Items.

Roby, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eden Engleman, died at the home of his parents in this city, on Tuesday night, of typhoid fever, complicated with other diseases, at the age of 14 years, 6 months, 20 days. He was a bright intelligent boy and a favorite with all his associates. Young as he was he bore his sufferings with Christian fortitude and died like a little hero, ready to meet his Saviour. Funeral services were held in the M. E. Church South, this city, on Thursday afternoon, in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends, Rev. Dr. J. J. Murray, of the M. P. Church, officiating. The pall-bearers were: Walter Straw, Rowland Wolfe, Vernon Stem, Charles Gilbert; Mr. Frank Shriner undertaker. The remains were interred in Mountain View Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Engleman have the deep sympathy of the people of this entire community in their severe bereavement.

The remains of Mr. William Kelley, who died in Waynesboro, Pa., a few days ago, in his 80th year, and the remains of his wife, who died several years ago, were brought here on Tuesday and interred in Mountain View Cemetery. Mr. Kelley was at one time engaged in business and resided in this city. He leaves a son and a daughter, who reside in Waynesboro. Mr. Edward Kelley, of this city, is a brother of the deceased.

Carrollton Items.

As John Poisel and Jacob Bollinger were driving in a cart, towards Carrollton Station, near the milldam, on Wednesday morning, the 11.30 train came along and frightened their horse, which turned around and ran into the dam. Mr. Poisel, who was holding him by the bit was dragged to the edge of the water, when he let go his hold. Mr. Bollinger was in the cart, and in his efforts to get out his foot was caught between two of the spokes. The horse continued going further into the dam, until he reached the middle, when Mr. Bollinger got his foot loose, and got out of the cart. He then held on to one of the wheels by his hand, but every time the horse made an effort to free himself, it took Mr. Bollinger under the water. The bystanders on the bank seeing that he was becoming very much exhausted threw him some planks, one of which he finally succeeded in getting under his arms, and thus was enabled to keep his head above water. Messrs. F. Friese, Wm. Long, Noah Long and Wm. Blizzard then swam out until they reached the plank, which he had hold of, and pushed it to shore, when the bystanders dragged Mr. Bollinger out in an unconscious condition. He was placed in a wagon and taken to the store of J. E. Evans, where he was stripped, warmed and rubbed thoroughly, and dry clothes procured, and before long was able to be removed to his home on the turnpike. Mr. Bollinger, being a very large man and weighing over 200 pounds, was unable to help himself much, and consequently was a heavy weight to handle. The horse and cart were recovered, after having been, in the water nearly two hours. The water is about fifteen feet deep.

[Mr. Bollinger is quite ill from his struggles and exposure in the water, which lasted about an hour. He is attended by Dr. Joseph T. Hering, of this city.—ED.]

A very quiet wedding was celebrated at the residence of Benjamin F. Croft, father of the groom, on Wednesday evening, March 20th. The contracting parties were Miss Rosa Seip, of Baltimore, and Mr. Charles Croft, of Carrollton. Rev. Emory Buhrman, of Wesley Chapel, officiated. Misses Estella Croft, sister of the groom, and Irena Davidson were bridesmaids. Messrs. Robert Croft, brother of the groom, and George Houck acted as ushers. The bride was handsomely attired in a costume of brown henrietta, trimmed in silk, with hat and gloves to match. The groom was neatly dressed in black. The wedding march was played by Mr. Frank Croft, brother of the groom. After the ceremony, a reception was held and refreshments, consisting of cake, confectionery &c., were served. Among those present were: Mr. Benjamin F. Croft and wife, Mr. Frank Snyder and wife, Mr. Wm. O. Martin and wife, Mr. John Croft and wife, Mrs. John E. Moving along among the current events of time and picking up the news we found an enjoyable occasion spent at the home of Rev. C. M. Eyster and family, by a company of invited guests, on Thursday evening last. The supper held in the room of Mrs. Julia M. Motter, by the members of Class No. 1, of Trinity Reformed Sunday School, was well patronized and proved a success, both socially and financially. The wares in the festival department found ready sale so that the class has an increase of 600 per cent. of their talent to report. They embrace this opportunity of thanking their friends for their kind patronage and also those special ones who so kindly contributed to the make up of both the supper and festival.

On Sunday morning the family of Mrs. E. W. Fuhrman on York street had quite a scare, when about finishing their breakfast. Mrs. H. A. Myers, who was quite unwell in her room up stairs, alarmed the family by loudly screaming that the chimney was on fire. They run to the third story and found the flames bursting through a pipe hole into the room; but by prompt action it was gotten under control without giving a public alarm.

Mr. Lamotte is arranging to move to Baltimore next week.

Mr. W. C. Stick was confined to his room last week with mumps, which affected him quite seriously. At this writing his condition is rather worse, with symptoms of fever. Mumps are quite prevalent not only in town, but in the surrounding neighborhood.

About 9.30 o'clock, Mrs. Myers was alarmed by the call, "hello," in a very low tone. Her husband had retired at an early hour and at the time of the occurrence was sound asleep. On notifying him he got up and listened for another call. Very soon a whistle was heard, and then Mr. Myers opened the window and asked what was wanted. In reply the intruder said: "Some of your cattle are fast in the wire fence." Mr. Myers was confident that the cattle were well secured with chains and answered that he had all his cattle in the barn. He then asked: "Who are you?" The reply was a question: "Is this the road that leads to Baltimore?" after answering yes, the party or parties went their way. Mr. Myers is a man who does not pasture his cattle in March, and if their object was to rob, they certainly lack experience in this line.

Shipley and daugher of Mr. Robert Wilson, of near this place, having been taken to the Maryland University Hospital in Baltimore to undergo a surgical operation. She died at that institution soon after the operation was performed. Mrs. Shipley was in the 43rd year of her age. The engine and machinery for the Melrose creamery were brought in from Intersection on Friday by the B. V. R. R. engine. We are now confident the creamery is a real enterprise. Mr. P. J. Geiman has about 300 chickens old and young, and he has recently kept an account of how many eggs they produced. In January 191 dozen were sold. In February 284 dozen. February 7th, the day of the blizzard, 141 eggs were laid, and fowls were not out of the house, as well as several other days. In 10 days in March 150 dozen were laid. During January and February, Mr. Geiman only kept a record of how many were sold, not counting those used, frozen or broken.
