Balt. June 20, 1810.

Mr. Noah Ridgely,

Sir—My daughter, Sarah Coleman, aged about thirteen years, has been from her infancy greatly afflicted with a distressing cough, which her friends were very fearful would terminate in some fatal disease. A bottle of your Lee's Elixir was procured from you, and given according to the directions. She had taken it but a few days before she found great relief; and strange as it may appear, less than half a bottle entirely removed this tormenting cough —she has not had the least return of it since, although it is now been several months. This excellent medicine has in all probability, (thro' the blessings of Divine Providence) been the means of prolonging her days, and perhaps the saving her life. The high opinion I have of your Lee's Elixir, as a most valuable medicine has induced me to send you this certificate, you are at liberty to make it as public as possible for the benefit of others.

Yours with respect.
