the navy, as not only honorable, but sir, as being very liberal and friendly, from the date of my report of the battle at Sackett's Harbor to the present hour. The troops under my command have always been disposed of so as to meet your views to the extent of my power and authority; and as far as was consistent with the rights and the honor of the army.

Your information appears very incorrect as to the situation of the army previous to the arrival of reinforcements with Lt. Gen. Drummond. From the ninth of July to the 24th the whole country was in our power from St. George to Burlington Heights; and could the army have been supplied with provisions from the depots provided on the shores of Lake Ontario, we should not have doubted our ability (without reinforcements or additional guns) to carry the heights; when we could have returned upon forts George and Niagara, or advanced upon Kingston, (as might have been thought most adviseable) with the co-operation of the fleet.

You speak of responsibility. I do not desire you, or any man, to be responsible for me. I have endeavored to execute the orders given to me; success has not attended my endeavors; but I humbly trust in Heaven that the honor of the brave men entrusted to my command has been, and will be preserved let what may happen.

It will be very difficult to retire from fort Erie, pressed as the remains of my gallant little army are, by a superior force of the enemy.—But no other alternative will be left us, unless reinforcements speedily arrive. The militia are coming in in very considerable numbers, but it is not yet ascertained, how many of them will cross. The secretary has given me to understand, that Gen. Izard would move to the St. Lawrence, with a view of attacking Kingston, should he and you deem that measure adviseable.) Should you decide otherwise, that Gen. Izard would come with, or send to me a reinforcement of from 2 to 3000 men.

I have not heard from Gen. Izard and begin to apprehend that something has occurred to retard or prevent his movement. I will thank you for any information you can give me on this subject.

I am, sir, with great consideration and respect your obedient servant, J. BROWN.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 18.

FROM BERMUDA.

Arrived, at this port on Sunday last, the Spanish schr. Don Francisco Roberra, eleven days from Bermuda—she was bound to Amelia Island, but put into this port in distress having lost her anchors and cables on the 14th inst. off Tybee. Came passengers in the Don Francisco, Mr. James L. Saunders surgeon of the late private armed schr. Pike, of Balt. which was lost off our bar on the 25th Aug. last—Also, Mr. Dennis Cook, surgeon of the late privateer Yankee Lass of Bristol, R. I. captain Cyrus Store, captured in the schooner Jane, Augusti Riveire, taken in the schr. St. Ann from Hayti, and Mr Samuel Brown.

Mr. James L. Saunders with whom we have conversed, informs us that the day before he sailed, a vessel arrived at Bermuda from England, bringing intelligence that war with Spain and Great Britain was momently expected, in consequence of some improper conduct by the Spaniards towards lord Wellington—In Bermuda it was talked of as a thing certain.

Mr S. states that there are not more than 250 troops at Bermuda, which were left to guard the dockyard, the harbor was the Morgiana sloop of war, the whole having sailed from that place for the Chesapeake. Five days after leaving Bermuda fell in with the British frigate Æolus, in company with twelve vessels, ships, brigs, and schooners loaded with flour, &c. taken from Alexandria. The convoy and frigate were bound for Bermuda.

The American prisoners in Bermuda are treated in a shameful manner, the provisions they receive being scanty and of the worst kind. For the information of their friends and relations we publish a list of them which has been got in our possession.

AMERICAN AND Commercial Daily Advertiser.

BALTIMORE: Thursday, Oct. 27.

The conflagration at Washington, the surrender of Alexandria, and the attack on Baltimore, have afforded a variety of reports, circumstances, and remarks, differing in the narrative, but all tending to the same conclusion—Among the number of anecdotes which have come to our ears, we select the following, as it contributes to develope the intentions of the enemy, and as we had it from a gentleman on whose veracity we place entire confidence.

After the affair of Bladensburg, and the ever memorable conflagration of the noble edifices at Washington, which has disgraced two nations, the one for perpetrating, the other for permitting, so barbarous an act, a person who was taken prisoner by the enemy, had an opportunity of an unreserved conversation with a British Officer—The latter said, that they (the British army) had restored a King to France, another to Spain, and had given another to Naples; and they came with the intention of giving a King to America—Proud of their achievements at Washington, he further said, that they intended next to take Baltimore, and keep it as a military station; they would then proceed, by the way of Philadelphia, and take New-York, which was also to be a military post for their fleets and armies—The Officer had no sort of doubt in the capture of Philadelphia, as he considered it as another Alexandria, ready to surrender at discretion, but he thought there might be some resistance at New York.

It is now reduced to a certainty, that the late movements and attacks of the enemy were a series of operations concerted to harrass us in different quarters, nearly at the same time—The attack upon Baltimore and Plattsburg were made on the same day—but his "demonstrat ons" have been fortunately frustrated at both places, and he has gone to Halifax, and from hence to Bermuda, to concert "new demonstrations of pillage and devastation"—If Admiral Cochrane shall meet Lord Hill at the latter place, we must expect their combined force either here or at New-York, perhaps at both, as it is now known, that their great aim is to obtain possession of them, and to hold them as permanent military stations.——Be it our business and duty, assiduously to prepare for their reception, and again frustrate the barbarous "demonstrations" of the inveterate foe.

FROM THE ENEMY.

The Flag of Truce which left here on Sunday last returned this morning. The enemy's squadron was left at Sharp's Island after sun set yesterday, consisting of the Dragon, 74, Commodore Barrie, (now commanding officer in the Chesapeake) the Brune and Melpomene frigates, 2 bomb ships, (with about 400 troops,) and 2 schrs. tenders.

The private armed schr. York, of this port, has sent in the British brig Harvest, from Newfoundland for Poole, laden with fish.

The schr. Decatur, Montgomery, of this port from Charleston for France, was spoken 29th of Aug. in lat. 44, long. 66.

The enemy have been committing some depredations in Dorchester county, Md. On the 18th inst. 7 or 8 barges, and as many boats, loaded with men, under Com. Barrie, from a ship and brig, went into Choptank river, proceeded to a farm belonging to the Rev. Dr. Kemp of Baltimore, committed some depredations in plundering stock of all kinds, and carried off a Mr. Hubbard. Com. Barrie stated that it was his intention to take off every man he could get—and he further stated that Lord Hill was expected in the Chesapeake in a few days, with a large force, when another attack would be made on Baltimore.

Commodore PERRY has arrived in this city, with his family. Baltimore will be favored with his talents and exertions in its future defences against an Enemy who has made one "demonstration" in which he was compelled to retire with loss and disgrace.

Patriot.

A fine looking company of dragoons from Rockbridge Co. Va. completely armed and equipped, passed through this town on Sunday last. They are part of the force destined for service in the 10th military district.

FOR THE AMERICAN

THE PARTY-WRITERS.

Gentlemen—When party writers use a language entitling their strictures to a reciprocity of respectful attention, their motives are less suspected, and their arguments may be freely tolerated: because they may, without abuse, be fairly refuted; or ought, in justice, to have their intended effect.

In the Telegraph of this morning, (Wednesday) is an editorial article which does not contain on its face, the evidence of that acrimony so objectionable and pernicious in some party-pieces. But whether it constitutes proof of no small blunder in controversy, I shall leave your readers to judge, after citing two or three of the incongruous items.

It is a favorite theme with many of the gentlemen of the opposition, to dwell upon the pretended fact, that no administration man has any talents, either literary or as a statesman. This is when a party writer has in view particularly the importance of appearing superior to his opponents. At another time, when charges of a more serious kind are to be substantiated, such as bad motives, a want of moral rectitude, why then in pressing other arguments, the want of talents is forgotten, or their actual possession is even presumed, and pressed into the service for the laudable purpose of shewing that the Administration are "more knaves than fools"—that they intentionally act wrong.

Thus the Telegraph evidences no small zeal and industry to shew, that Mr. Madison very ingeniously labored to embroil Russia and France against England, in the question of Neutral Rights. Now if Mr. M. did very ingeniously and cunningly contrive, and very zealously and with great ability labor to effect this junction of interest against a nation who he said, or thought, or "pretended" had infringed those rights; how, in the name of decent consistency, does it come about that this same able, zealous, ingenious and cunning Mr. Madison is a mere dolt, and without any sort of talents? I ask for information. Please request the Caricaturist to solve this mystery.

A LOOKER-ON.

From the Democratic Herald.

PRIVATEERS.

In confirmation of what we already expressed on this subject, that the true and effectual way of annoying the enemy with private armed vessels, was to burn, sink and destroy, and not to pretend to man any prizes; we take the cruize of the Prince of Neufchatel, which vessel in a cruize of little more than 8 months, took 16 prizes from the enemy, the most of which she scuttled or destroyed. Two only did she man, yet these two fell again into their hands. The Harmony, from Greenock, with a cargo of dry goods, (presumed to be valuable) was manned with the hopes of of getting her into the United States, and three days after was re-captured by the enemy before their eyes. We are decidedly of opinion, that the administration of our country ought immediately to take this subject into consideration—make an absolute law, that no vessel captured from the enemy, shall be manned, or attempted to be sent into the United States, but shall in every instance be destroyed, and that no prisoners taken, shall be given up. The government should also immediately offer such encouragement to privateers, that a great stimulus would be given to the enterprize. A bounty on every prisoner brought in, and 25 per cent on the value of property destroyed, which should be ascertained by invoices, and inventories, cockits, &c. and a tax immediately raised for this express purpose. More injury, we are assured, would be done the enemy in one twelve-month, than the history of the world could furnish an example of, in all the wars she has hitherto waged. A subject of this nature will surely excite attention—It is a weapon we have already too long neglected.

Query—If one private armed vessel could destroy, in a cruize of 100 days, 15 sail of the enemy's merchantmen, how many could 10 destroy in a year?—Answer, 5,475. Supposing them, upon an average, worth only 10,000 dollars each, would be 54,750,000 dollars. Supposing them to average 200 tons each, would be 1,095,000 tons lost to the enemy. Supposing them navigated with an average of 20 men each, would be 109,500 men made prisoners of war.

Will not this excite attention?

Charleston, Oct. 19.—Arr. schr. Elizabeth, Grace, Washington, N. C. 6 days. Put into C. Fear and left there on Friday last. A schr from Halifax, laden with salmon and herrings, prize to a letter of marque out of Wilmington, arrived there on Thursday. A brig under American colors went into Cape Fear on Friday evening. On Saturday evening, between Capes Fear and Romain, spoke a schr. fr. this port, bound to N. Carolina, who informed that they had the night before seen two British ships of war.

Also three masted boat Beaufort Packet, Parker, Savannah and Beaufort.

DANCING.

Mr. B. Brunelot's, academy will commence on Tuesday next the first day of November at his Assembly room No. 3, Commerce street. Having experienced great difficulty in collecting the hard earned reward of his labours, Mr. B. B. has resolved not to take any scholars in future, unless paid in advance, and in consideration of this and the dullness of the times, he will reduce his price. A very long experience in teaching, improved by the aid of the great masters with whom Mr. B. B has practised in his profession in his late voyage to Paris, is the best recommendation he can offer to a well discerning public. His method is both simple and certain, his attention and punctuality unremitting, and the progress of the pupil rapid.

Private tuition as usual, and the Practising Balls in due time, of which notice shall be given. For further particulars apply at the Assembly Room from 9 to 12 A. M and from 3 to 9 P. M.
