at Ghent, the war, will, meanwhile, be on the part of this country, prosecuted with the utmost vigor. It is probable that the rumour of lord Hill's being appointed to the command of the forces in Scotland was the foundation of the inaccurate statements which have been made on this subject.

The great Expedition sailed!

PLYMOUTH, SEPT. 19.—Sailed yesterday, his majesty's ships Bedford, Norge, Dover, Alceste, Belle Poule, Hdray, Fox, Gorgon, Ulysses, Beacephalus, Niobe, and Portia with the Norfolk, transports. The above ships constitute the expedition to AMERICA, and most of them are full of troops. Among the regiments embarked are the 4th, 44th, 93d and 95th of foot; a brigade of artillery and rocket brigade are with them.

The Valiant of 74 guns, capt. Madge, which had been nominated to take out lord Hill to America, and was fitted up with Congreve's guns, is altered in her destination. She is now going to the Brazils, with the Duncan of 74 guns, to convey the Royal family of Portugal from Rio Janeiro to Lisbon.

LIVERPOOL, SEPT. 22.

The Emperor of Russia was expected to set out from St. Petersburgh on the 12th, and to arrive at Vienna about the 26th. It was currently reported at Vienna, that the Archduke Charles was to be married to the Duchess of Oldenburgh—His Imperial Highness has returned to the capital from Egra. It appears that he has been on a visit to the Archduchess at that place, where it was supposed she would remain until the meeting of Congress.

Parliament will meet for the dispatch of business on or about the 10th of November.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.

Adjutant general's office,
Philadelphia, Nov. 19, 1814.

GENERAL ORDERS.

The practice of officers and men in the service, writing, or otherwise communicating any thing in relation to the strength, the movements, or destination of their corps, of any part of the army, except to their commanding officers, is unmilitary, and often times injurious to the service—is is positively forbidden. Such communications find their way into the newpapers, and many of our newspapers find their way to the enemy, who is well known to be more adroit in profiting by our blunders, than by his own prowess. Contractors, agents, sutlers, and all followers of the army, are cautioned against violating this order.

(Signed) EDMUND P. GAINES,
Major general commanding.
J. N. BARKER,
Assistant Adjutant general.

EASTON, (Md.) Nov. 19.

In consequence of the capture of the Packet sloop Messenger, (Capt. Vickers,) on the 11th inst. a flag of Truce was obtained from Brig. General Benson, for the purpose of obtaining the Ransom of the Sloop and release of the Passengers.

We are sorry to say that the object of the truce was only in part effected. They would not listen to the ransom of the sloop on any terms and the following will shew how far they will consent to the release of prisoners.

List of Prisoners released, who were captured in the sloop Messenger, on the 11th inst. and sent to Easton, in the flag schooner Superior, capt. Auld, where they arrived on the 17th, viz.

Mrs. Edith Dawson and her 2 Children.
Miss Harriet W. Day,
Miss Susan M'Glaughlin,
Miss Issabella Prince,
James Cockayne, non-combatant.
Joseph Spencer, ditto being a Teacher in a public Seminary,
Negroes Ned and Kitty.

Prisoners released who were captured in other vessels and put on board the prize sloop Messenger:

Miss Elizabeth Frazier, of Dorchester,
Doctor Travers, of ditto over 45,
Mrs. Brown, of New-York, put on board the Flag Schooner, from the Dragon 74.

Prisoners detained as Militia men, captured in the sloop:

Robert Spencer, of Easton,
Samuel Holmes, of do.
Henry L. Clark, of Baltimore,
William Broomwell, of Easton.

Note—Mrs. Broomwell and Mrs. Johns her mother, continued on board the Commodore's ship with Mr. Broomwell, through choice with an expectation of obtaining his release.

Prisoners detained, who were captured in other vessels and put on board the sloop:

Charles Egeleston and James Frazier, of Dorchester, militia men.

Easton, 12th Nov. 1814.

SIR—The Sloop Messenger, a Packet boat has been captured by one of the barges, belonging to your squadron, with several respectable inhabitants of Talbot county, and I am sorry to learn that these passengers have not been set on shore, many of them being Ladies It is hoped there will be no difficulty in releasing them immediately. Mr. Clement Vickers, a highly respectable citizen of this county, industriously laboring for the support and advancement of his family, must sustain in the capture of his vessel, a loss that will reduce him to the greatest difficulty and inconvenience, unless he can ransom her at some moderate sum, the usages of war justify and recommend such a proceedure in as much as the spirit of the practice of civilized nations, in a state of war enjoins them to conduct it in such a manner as to make its unavoidable course produce as little private individual calamity as possible. I have granted a flag under the conduct of Major Meredith, for the purpose of obtaining an immediate restoration of the captives to their friends and to give to the owners of the property taken an opportunity of ransoming it according to the usages of war.

I have the honor to be, your hum. servt.
P. BENSON, B. G.
of Md. Militia.

To the Commander of his Britannic Majesty's Squadron, now lying in the Chesapeake Bay.

His Majesty's Ship Dragon, off Tangiers, 1th Nov. 1814.

SIR—In reply to your letter of the 12th inst. just received from Major Meridith, I am to acquaint you that such of the American prisoners as were captured on the 11th inst. in the Messenger, whose age, exclude them from Militia service are herewith set at liberty together with the Ladies, Children, &c.

I am to acquaint you that it is contrary to my instructions to ransom any vessel or property captured from the enemy.

I am sorry it is not in my power to parole the Prisoners named in the margin* but my orders forbid my entering into any arrangement for the release or exchange of prisoners except on the principle of receiving man for man, on such terms it will afford me great pleasure to be enabled to restore these gentlemen to their friends for any British subjects you may send me.

I have the honor to be Sir,
Your obedient humble servt.
ROBT. BARRIE, Captain and Senior Officer.

To Brigadier Gen. Benson.

AMERICAN COCK-BOATS.

If any thing were necessary to convince those who wish to see our national affairs conducted with spirit, on the watery element, and to confound those who wish to see our national affairs *mis*managed, the utility of sending upon the ocean a number of fast-sailing, well-armed vessels, and carrying the war to the doors of the enemy, is fully confirmed by the late accounts from England, where a few American privateers have spread terror and dismay among the merchants of "the fast anchored Isle."—From Glasgow to London, they are in a state of alarm; and the Gentlemen of Lloyd's are very angry with their Admiralty Lords, for not defending commerce with their "thousand ships of war."

The Factionists—"his Lordship's friends"—to the Eastward, don't seem pleased with this sort of warfare.—They sneeringly ask, "What use is to be made of Jones's cock-boats; and why not bring out our three noble 74's?"—Every day's experience shews the utility of these cock-boats; and, before a very distant day, it is hoped, the American Republic will have a sufficiency of 74's to meet the enemy with equal numbers and superior skill.

Besides the known valor of our seamen, we have another and very recent proof of the admirable skill and expedition of our ship carpenters.—At Boston, the other day, the brig Reindeer, of 400 tons burthen, and pierced for 22 guns, was built, coppered, and launched, in 35 days!—A brig to be called the Avon, is laid on the same stocks, and is to be finished in 18 working days.

The Steam Boat which left here yesterday afternoon returned at 9 o'clock last night, in consequence of speaking a sloop below Hawkins's Point putting back, who informed, that she was off Magothy at 2 o'clock, when the fog cleared away, discovered a brig a short distance from her, and saw her take two bay craft—also discovered a fire off Kent Point, supposed vessels burning.

The New-York Flotilla is actively engaged in protecting the Sound trade, and inward bound vessels at the Hook.

Worthy of Imitation.

The Ladies of Charleston have made a donation to the State troops, on duty at that place, of 700 shirts. One Lady in particular (whose name should have been mentioned) contributed one hundred towards that number. Such was the Heaven-born benevolence and patriotism which characterised that amiable sex during the revolutionary war; and happy are we that some of their daughters are following their illustrious example. Norfolk Her.

THE ENEMY.

On Thursday morning last, in St. Helena sound, the schooner Nancy from this port for Charleston, with a cargo of salt, &c. was captured by three of the enemy's barges and set fire to. The crew made their escape. Five sail were off St. Helena at the time. A frigate and brig were standing in for our bar yesterday morning. Sav. Rep.

AMERICAN MARINE LIST.

SALEM, NOV. 18.

The privateer Grand Turk, N. Green, commander, from a cruise of 103 days, with 44 of her ship's company and 50 prisoners, arrived at ———, last evening. She has made 13 captures, 8 of which were manned and ordered for southern ports, burnt 4, and delivered up I to the prisoners as a cartel. She has boarded 36 vessels on her cruise, among which Sept. 3, lat. 40 43, long 11 25, British brig Speculator, fr. Lauzarotte for London, cargo of barilla, which had been captured 14th August by the privateer Grampus, of Baltimore, and made a cartel of, with 83 prisoners—supplied her with bread and water of which they were in great want, being on allowance. Sept. 30th, lat. 41 16, long. 9 30, boarded the privateer sch. Syren, Daniels, 25 days from New-York, on a cruize She had made two prizes one a sloop, laden with salt, the other the brig Sir John Sherbrooke. The G. Turk has goods to the amount of about 20,000 dollars on board, and a considerable quantity of raisons, taken out of her prize the Cossack.

The following is a list of the captures made by the Grand Turk; the day after sailing from Portland captured the fishing schooner Pink, (formerly of Chatham) prize to the British privateer Lively, burnt her; Aug. 9th captured British brig Brothers, Raleigh, from St Johns for Liverpool, cargo lumber burnt her; Aug. 16th captured British brig Charlotte, from Antigua, cargo sugar, coffee, rum, &c. (captured and arrived at Halifax.)

Sept. 5th, lat, 49, long. 7, captured Swedish brig Johannes, fr. Lisbon for Plymouth, Eng. cargo rum and bread, belonging to the British government, ordered her for the U. S. 7th, paroled 40 prisoners and put them on board a neutral vessel. Same day, fell in with a British sloop of war in disguise, and after a short skirmish made sail and left her. 15th, lat. 45, long. 10, captured British brig Melzrade, fr. Malta for Falmouth, with a small cargo, took out some guns, &c. and let her go. 19th, lat. 47. long. 7, captured British brig Betsey, from Trieste for Hamburg, with a cargo invoiced at 30,000 sterling; ordered her for the U. S. 28th, lat. 42 1-2, long 12, captured British brig Baltic, from Gallipoli for Brisiol, cargo 145 tons oil, ordered her for the U. S. Oct. 17, lat. 38, long. 7, captured British brig Cossack, (arrived at Salem,) took from her a considerable quantity of fruit, &c. Same day, captured British brig Three Williams, from Newfoundland for the streights, cargo 1990 quintals fish, ordered her for the U. S.

Nov. 7th on Grand Bank, captured British sch. Georgiana, from Martinique for Newfoundland, cargo rum and sugar, took some of her latter article on board, and ordered her in. She is a fine vessel and sails remarkably fast. Nov. 8th W. of the Grand Bank, captured British brig Robert, Stewart, from Prince Edwards Island for London, cargo lumber burnt her. 14th captured British sch. Bird, (formerly of Salem,) cargo fish, &c. ordered her in. Next day captured British sch. Cammerce, from Newfoundland for Barbadoes destroyed her.

RECOMMENDATION.

Extract of a letter from R. G. Hite, Esq. Adjutant General of the 10th Military Division, to the Author, in reply to a note in which was enclosed a copy of the "Manual Exercise."

"BALTIMORE, Nov. 19, 1814.

"Your 'Manual Exercise,' in the form it now appears before me, I think is calculated to be of use to those who will give it a perusal, with a view to acquire a knowledge of the Manual. It might, in my opinion, be made of more extensive utility, by being circulated in its present shape among the non commissioned officers of the army, as the system of military discipline which will soon make its appearance, for the government of our ranks will be too voluminous and too costly for their means and for the little time (while in camp) that they have to devote to improvement by reading

R. G. HITE."
