CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, and Feverishness. Thus the child is rendered healthy and its sleep natural. Castoria contains no Morphine or other narcotic property.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 South Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"From personal knowledge and observation I can say that Castoria is an excellent medicine for children, acting as a laxative and relieving the pent up bowels and general system very much. Many mothers have told me of its excellent effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"For several years I have recommended 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach."
CARLOS MARTYN, D. D., New York City.

FERTILIZER
For the Farmer.
Reduced in Price,
Quality Maintained.

From 35 to 38 bushels of wheat per acre and a "rousing crop of grass in the bargain," by the use of Zell's Fertilizers.

For sixteen years I have been selling Zell's Fertilizers and the equally famous Chemical Co. of Canton's Fertilizers, with a steady increasing demand for them. This, with the most flattering testimonials that could here be produced, if we had space, from many of the most progressive farmers in Carroll and adjoining counties, and the much reduced price for which these goods are offered for the season of 1895, should convince the farmers that they cannot do better elsewhere. We will not be undersold by the same quality of goods. I have but little expense in the sale of these Fertilizers and therefore can sell on small margin. Should I not call on you personally, just come, prepared to load your wagon, to the Machinery Building of J. Q. Stitely, Westminster, Md., or to the Warehouse of the subscriber at Union Mills, Md.; or at the Warehouse of Fink & Weikert, Littlestown, Pa.; or at C. Crumrine's, Melrose, Md.

AN AUTUM IDYL.

A sunny calm upon the moorland lies,
Shadowed by fleecy clouds that lightly pass,
Peaceful beneath the mellow Autum skies
Save for the whir of wings among the grass

And one that idly lies upon the swad,
Thinks, as the wailing partridge cry he hears,
How the beloved diciple of our Lord
At Ephesus grew old and white with years.

He who has learned upon his Master's breast.
He who had watched beside him to the end,
Let a tame partridge on his bosom rest,
The plaything of his age, his daily friend.

And unto one that chided thus he spoke:
"A gift from God the bird to me is sent;
The ox would chafe it always under yoke;
The bow were broken if 'twere always bent."

For School-Girls.

From Harper's Round Table.

If I were a girl again, and could go to school, I would be careful, at least I think I would be careful, not to lose any time. Yours is foundation-work, and it is very important that this should be, because the habits of care and diligence you are forming in your class-rooms will help you through your whole lives. It is really less what you study than the way you study it which is the main thing to be considered now.

A girl at school cannot, of course, always be provided with every appliance for her work, but, as a rule she ought to have her own books, her own pads, pencils, ink-eraser, crayons, drawing-paper, penknife, and whatever else she needs in order to do her work, so that she is under no necessity to borrow from her friends. What would you think of a carpenter who came to your house without tools, and would have to ask the loan of some? or a doctor who forgot his prescription-book or his medicines, and had to lose time and pains until he could send around to an acquaintance and procure others, while his patient was waiting to be relieved? Have your tools, girls, and keep them in order, and, if you must sometimes lend, exact a speedy return, politely and gently, but firmly, for we must sometimes insist on our rights, and then just as firmly resolve not to borrow unless the circumstances are exceptional. Have you own tools.

School-books should be laid aside as you leave them for other and more advanced books, neither given away nor parted with out of the family, though you may allow a younger sister or brother to use them, if you choose. By-and-by you may be glad to have your school-books to refer to, and you will find that they are as useful as much larger volumes, and easier to keep at hand; they have been prepared by learned and thoughtful experts, and have the advantage of being carefully condensed. After your school-life is over you will very much enjoy the possession of a shelf full of text-books, once your daily companions.

About the Dairy.

All churns and other vessels for milk or cream must be kept scrupulously clean. They should first be rinsed in cold or tepid water, to which a little washing soda or borax has been added to improve the cleansing properties. They should then be washed with warm water, thoroughly steamed or scalded with water boiling hot, after which they should be inverted and exposed to sun and air until next needed. Soap should not be used about dairy utensils. If a trace of it is left, the taste of the milk would be injured. A brush is much preferred to a cloth in the cleaning of dairy utensils.

Wooden dairy utensils are not to be recommended, as they are very difficult to keep sweet. Tin is the best material, because it is so readily cleansed. Block tin should be used as much as possible, so as to avoid seams, which hold the dirt and particles of matter. All milk vessels should have as few crevices as possible, and should be of such shape as to be readily cleansed in every part. To this end the cans should be wide-mouthed. Where milk is to stand a long time glass or stoneware is to be preferred to tin. Any wooden utensils or vessels should be scalded, cooled, and dipped in cold water before using. Small wooden utensils should be kept constantly in cold water.

The same care which is bestowed on the utensils is necessary to the dairy itself. The house must be kept scrupulously clean, inside and out, and the air perfectly pure. Any milk spilled must be immediately wiped up and not allowed to sour and taint the room. Where there are closed drains running from the dairy they should be flushed out daily with hot water and occasionally with a strong solution of concentrated lye. Soap and whitewash will aid greatly in maintaining the air perfectly pure and fit for the aeration of milk.

Have any of the readers of this column tried the following plan of ridding the kitchen and dining-room of flies: Take a small stove shovel, heat it red hot and pour on it a few drops of carbolic acid, having previously closed all the doors and windows. In a few minutes open the room and the flies will be found to have entirely disappeared. Only a faint odor of the fumes of carbolic acid will remain, which will serve to prevent the flies again congregating.
