Westminster Lowndes Club.

A Lowndes Republican Club has been formed in this city and already numbers over two hundred members. It has secured Odd Fellows' Hall as its place of meeting, and will occupy it every MONDAY EVENING until the election. The meetings will be open to the public, and addresses will be made on the current topics of the campaign, on each occasion, by able speakers. At the meeting on Monday evening next Dr. J. J. Weaver, Jr., the Republican candidate for State Senator will be the chief speaker. Let him have a rousing reception. He will amply demonstrate his ability to properly represent the county in the Upper House of the Legislature.

The Advocate boasts of a reduction of $75,324 in the county debt in twenty-eight years, under Democratic administration, but it neglects to tell its readers that about twice the amount named was levied for that specific purpose.

The ten or fifteen thousand names fraudulently placed upon the lists of registered voters in Baltimore, are either assumed by or are the genuine cognomens of the lowest class of people—ward heelers, bar-room loafers, hoodlums and the like, and each one of them is expected to exercise as much voting power as ten to twenty reputable citizens.

The Democrats in Maryland who intend to vote for Mr. Lowndes realize that there is a very broad distinction between the Democratic party and the bosses who nominated the Democratic ticket. The Democratic party had nothing to do with the nomination of Mr. Hurst, except as Messrs. Gorman and Rasin are recognized as Democracy incarnate. A vote for Mr. Hurst is simply an endorsement of the autocratic power of these bosses.

The additions to the list of registered voters in Baltimore, this year, aggregate about 26,000. This is 15,000 more than in any other revision year, and amounts to about twenty-five per cent. of the entire registered vote of the city. It is perfectly preposterous to assume that the voting population of Baltimore has increased to that extent in a single year. A large part of the extra 15,000 can be set down to fraudulent registration, perpetrated by the agents of the ring, with the connivance of the president of the Board of Election Supervisors whom Gov. Brown has declined to remove.

The Advocate, in commenting on the proceedings of the Republican county convention says: "There was not much management displayed in nominating the ticket." This remark is apparently intended as adverse criticism, but may be fairly regarded in an exactly opposite light. The convention, unlike that held by the Democrats two weeks earlier, was not "managed" at all. The nominations were not made in accordance with a previously arranged slate and delegates, in voting, exercised their own free will and judgment. The nominations made by acclamation were those in which a single name was presented for the consideration of the convention. Every delegate was absolutely free to put any person for whom he desired to vote in nomination and no effort was made on the part of anybody to prevent such action. It was, emphatically, a people's convention.

Some Plain Facts Repeated.

Many facts to the discredit of the party in power in Maryland, which must be held responsible for the acts of the bosses who have controlled it, have been recalled in these columns and by the Republican and Independent Democratic press of the State and the public speakers who are discussing the issues of the present campaign, but frequently as the attention of the public has been called to them they will bear repeating. The people of the State are suffering under an intolerable tyranny and the tyrants are endeavoring to perpetuate their power by appeals to party prejudices and the evil passions thereby engendered, and unless the people rise above these unworthy considerations and cast off the yoke of their masters, the shackles of their servitude will remain unbroken. This is fact number one. It may be denied, but its existence rests on authority that can hardly be rejected by the element of the Democratic party in Carroll county which controlled its conventions last year and this. The following is an extract from the resolutions of the convention of 1894 admitting the fact asserted.

"We further repudiate Gorman methods and Gormanism in this State, that denies to the people the right to control their own affairs and are undemocratic, unpatriotic and if allowed to be continued will result in disaster to the party."

The convention of September 16th, 1895, admitted the continuance of the conditions above repudiated, and its members, by resolutions unanimously adopted, declared that they were "not unmindful that they (the nominees) are tainted with bossism to the extent of their being repudiated by many of our most worthy fellow citizens, Democrats," and further, that "we greet our fellow-citizens of the Democracy, county and State, with no excuse for this, their power, being usurped, and their rights shamelessly set aside." In the language quoted there is an unqualified confession that the Democrat who shall cast his ballot for John E. Hurst for Governor, will vote for a candidate who is not the nominee of the party, nor the party's choice for that high station. Comment on such a fact seems superfluous. The people who repudiated Gorman methods and Gormanism in 1894 are the people who admit their continued supremacy in 1895. How can any self-respecting Democrat, with such a confession on his lips, vote for John E. Hurst? No wonder there is within the ranks of the most consistent and faithful party men a stupendous revolt against this tyranny.

But there are other facts which should be kept constantly in mind by the people. One of these is the course of the boss controlled Democratic party in regard to the question of reassessment and equitable taxation. The inequality of taxation in this State has been an admitted fact for years, and it is a fact that in 1887 the Democratic party recognized this condition and by its State convention—which, however, was only a creature of the bosses—promised the people a reassessment and relief from the injustice under which they were suffering.

It is a fact that the promise was broken and that not even a pretence of redeeming it was made.

It is a fact that in 1889 the bosses, through their convention, renewed the promise referred to and solemnly pledged the honor of the Democratic party to its fulfillment. The promise was again broken and the pledge, so solemnly made, violated upon one of the many pretexts in the use of which the bosses are consummate masters.

It is a fact that in 1891, with the usual effrontery, the bosses directed their tools in the State convention to assure the people there should be no future failure to enact a law to ascertain the amount and quality of taxable property in the State, and to impose upon the property, of every kind and description, an equitable share of the taxes exacted for the support of government. The people are familiar with the fact that the measure again failed, although a word from the bosses would have induced its adoption.

It is a fact that, with pledges of reassessment three times repudiated and the most sacred and solemn promises three times violated, the bosses had the assurance, in 1893, to put their ticket before the people upon the same grounds and to ask support for it upon the declaration that there could not possibly be further failure in granting them the law for which they were clamoring. Everybody knows the fate of the measure before the Legislature elected in that year. That body was Democratic by an overwhelming majority and the minority party was prepared to co-operate in passing the long promised law. But the bosses would not have it that way, and another violation of faith was scored against them. The result was materially promoted by a well known Baltimore merchant and millionaire, named John E. Hurst, who headed a committee and went to Annapolis in opposition to the law.

It is a fact that in this year of Grace, 1895, the bosses' State convention has again come forward with the old song: "We pledge the party to the enactment of a new assessment law;" but with scarcely disguised contempt for the people to whom the pledge is made, the leader of the opposition to last year's law is placed at the head of the ticket and the voters are asked to believe in the good faith of those who have four times deceived them, and to accept another promise that can be nullified by the will of one man, and that man with a record utterly hostile to its fulfillment.

It is a fact that the bosses and dictators, who have so often befooled the masses of their own party, are now appealing to partisan sentiment to save them and their cause from irretrievable overthrow.

It is a fact that the election of Mr. Hurst as Governor of the State will be an endorsement of the Gorman methods and Gormanism denounced by the Carroll county Democratic convention last year, because those methods were employed in placing his—Mr. Hurst's—name at the head of the ticket, and the Carroll county Democratic convention of September, 1895, has practically admitted it, in acknowledging that the ticket is tainted with bossism.

It may logically be inferred as a fact that, if the bosses shall be victorious under the banner of John E. Hurst, they may deny the rights of the people as heretofore and refuse a reassessment upon the theory that the people will have endorsed their previous record in the premises, and will again have referred the matter to their discretion. Culpability will not in that case rest with the bosses but with the Democratic journals and other influences invoked to deceive the people.

Many another fact showing the contempt of the bosses for the rights of the people, and for the laws of the State, might be recalled and arrayed against the men who have usurped authority and practically established a dictatorship, if not an absolute monarchy, over this commonwealth. The record is black with damning evidence against the usurpers and should not be expunged or forgotten.

Among these facts is one which was brought to the light of public condemnation by that eminent Democrat, Wm. T. Hamilton, who exposed the misappropriation of public money, and showed the tax-payers that hundreds of thousands of dollars, levied upon them for the purpose of liquidating indebtedness, as required by the constitution, had been diverted to other uses.

It is upon this fact that another fact, fraught with great injustice and wrong to the taxpayers still exists—the fact that after twenty-eight years of boss rule the burden of direct state taxation is practically undiminished and the lands and live stock, farming implements and furniture of the citizens still bears this odious and—if the State government had been properly administered—unnecessary burden.

Democrats and Republicans alike are suffering from this maladministration, and Democrats should unite with Republicans in inaugurating a new and better era in which the bosses shall be "relegated to the rear" and the people restored to the rights of which they have been robbed and which will be withheld from them as long as in the name of Democracy they vote to confirm the rule of their autocrats, Arthur P. Gorman and Isaac Freeman Rasin.

The Republican Meeting of Tuesday Night.

The Republican meeting at Odd Fellows' Hall, this city, on Tuesday night, was as successful a political demonstration as has ever been held in Westminster. No special effort was made to induce a large attendance, but the hall was utterly insufficient to accommodate all who desired to be present. But its success was not confined to numbers alone. In fact this was not, by any means, the most striking feature of the occasion. Perhaps the most noticeable thing about it was the marked attention paid the speakers by the large audience, who, eager to catch every word, preserved the most admirable order and, at the same time, evinced the greatest enthusiasm. The meeting began promptly at 8, and held until 11 o'clock, and during all that period hundreds of people stood in the aisles and crowded the entrance to the hall and remained standing without exhibiting the slightest restlessness to the very end. By this attentive attitude they paid the highest possible compliment to the speakers, who discussed the pending issues of the campaign with cogency, force and eloquence.

The meeting was called to order by the editor of the SENTINEL and the following officers were chosen by a unanimous vote of the audience: President, Wm. A. Cunningham, of Westminster; Vice-Presidents, Dr. Clotworthy Birnie, of Taneytown; H. H. Brough, of Uniontown; H. Witt Shriver, of Myers; Lewis H. Knox, of Woolery's; Samuel L. Little, of Freedom; George Gummel, of Manchester; Grove A. Shipley and Dr. George E. Baughman, of Westminster; Charles H. Sapp, of Hampstead; Andrew P. Frizzell, of Franklin; J. Fred. Shorb, of Middleburg; Nathan H. Baile, of New Windsor; Wm. H. Morningstar, of Union Bridge; Walter R. Rudy, of Mt. Airy.

Mr. Cunningham, on taking the chair, made a neat and very appropriate speech, recalling his prophecy of success when presiding over the Baker meeting held in the same place last year, and renewing it for the pending election. After a thrilling campaign song by Prof. Herbert L. Edmonds and Capt. J. Frank Supplee, of Baltimore, the audience joining in the chorus with hearty enthusiasm, Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, the Republican candidate for Governor, was introduced and made the first speech of the evening. He spoke in a calm, even tone, without any attempt at oratory, but with such force and logic as cannot be successfully answered. In our limited space we cannot undertake even a concise review of his address, or of any of the speeches made during the evening. It can only be briefly said that he made a powerful plea for honest and fair elections, and pledged his most earnest efforts, if elected, to insure them. That he left no uncertain impression by his advocacy of such a reassessment of property as will cause every citizen to bear his just share of taxation. That he earnestly advocated the promotion of general education, the maintenance and development of the best possible system of free schools, with free books for the pupils. That he clearly pointed out the failure of the Democratic party, during its many years of power, under boss control, to measure up to public requirements in these respects, or to redeem its oft repeated pledges of a new assessment. He also forcibly presented the necessity for good roads for the convenience and interest of the farmers particularly. He made many good points which could not fail to count in his favor with the intelligent audience to whom he spoke, but in the limit of this account it is impossible to review them. It is needless to say that he received a most hearty and enthusiastic greeting, and made an exceedingly favorable impression upon all with whom he came in contact.

The other speakers of the evening were Robert P. Graham, Esq., the Republican candidate for Comptroller; Hon. Geo. L. Wellington, Congressman from the Sixth District and chairman of the Republican State Central Committee; Geo. R. Gaither, Jr., Esq., and Capt. J. Frank Supplee, of Baltimore, all of whom delighted the audience with their masterly analaysis of the existing conditions of the pending campaign, and the able manner in which they set forth the boss-ridden condition of the Democratic party of the State, and its repudiation of the most solemn and oft repeated pledges to afford the people relief from unequal and unjust taxation.

Capt. Supplee was the last speaker announced by the chair, and, though the hour was late, the audience remained undiminished and called upon him to continue when he announced that he was about to close. When he sat down a general exodus was looked for, but the people were not satisfied to go away without a word from their own honored county-man, Harry M. Clabaugh, Esq., the candidate for Attorney General, and called for him repeatedly. He responded in a short, but admirable speech and the meeting wound up with enthusiastic cheers for the ticket.

At intervals, during the evening, the audience was entertained and delighted with campaign songs, rendered in most attractive style by Prof. Edmonds and Capt. Supplee, both of whom are richly endowed and accomplished vocalists.

Some idea of the interest manifested may be gained from the fact that numbers of those present, who had twelve or fifteen miles to drive to their homes, remained until the meeting adjourned.

Gov. Brown's Decision.

Governor Brown reached a conclusion, or at least made his conclusion public, in the case of the charges against the Baltimore Supervisors of election, on Thursday. Stripped of all unnecessary verbiage it may be said in brief that he has found the innocent guilty and acquitted the guilty. Col. Jno. C. Holland, the Republican member of the Board, against whom there were no charges, is removed, because he did not do what a majority of the Board would not allow, and Dr. Cairnes is requested to resign because he allowed Capt. Blans to do as he pleased. Blans, the real culprit and wrong-doer remains to use his power in defrauding the voters of the due effect of their ballots, and in prostituting his office to the use and benefit of the ring.

The Governor's opinion is probably that of Attorney General Poe, with whom he took counsel, and who is one of the most trusted agents of the bosses.

The result must convince every fair minded man that the only remedy for the disgraceful condition of affairs in Maryland is the defeat of the ring candidates by a majority so overwhelming that it cannot be nullified by false registration, illegal voting and miscounting the ballots.

Mr. Gorman says Mr. Hurst is to be made Governor as John Lee Carroll was in 1875. That the ring is preparing to defeat the will of the people, as it was done on the occasion referred to, is perfectly manifest from the immense fraudulent registration in Baltimore. It remains for the honest Democrats of the counties and the city to say whether they will be parties to this fraud by voting for the ticket nominated by the bosses. That a great crime on the ballot is about to be attempted there can be no manner of doubt. The Democrat who knows this fact and yet votes for Mr. Hurst, simply lends his aid to promote the success of the crime and to perpetuate the power of the bosses who are its instigators.

Important elections will take place November 5th in the following twelve States: Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nebraska, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Virginia. In seven of these Legislatures will be elected which will elect Senators: Maryland, to succeed Senator Gibson; Mississippi, to succeed Senator George; Ohio, to succeed Senator Brice; Kentucky, to succeed Senator Blackburn; Iowa to succeed Senator Allison; Virginia to succeed Senator Daniel, and New York, which will elect 50 Senators, who will have a vote on the successor to Senator Hill. Utah will hold her first State election, and choose a Legislature to elect two Senators.

The pending election has degenerated on one side into a struggle of corrupt bosses for the perpetuation of their power over the hitherto dominant party and through it over the people of the State. Honest Democrats are as vitally interested in defeating these aims as are the Republicans of the State, and should lend their assistance to that end.

From our Regular Correspondent.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9th, 1895.

Democratic leaders are professing to make light of the unprecedented disaffection in their ranks, and continue to assert with a great show of confidence that most of those who are now sore will get back in the ranks before election day and vote the ticket. Nobody believes this save those who make the assertion. The Democrats who are going to vote for Lowndes this year are not the kind to change their minds at the last moment. You may gather some idea of the size and character of the great Democratic revolt in Baltimore city when I name some of those most prominent in it:

Hon. William Pinkney Whyte, ex-Governor, ex-United States Senator, ex-Mayor and ex-Attorney General of Maryland; for years styled the "Wheelhorse of Maryland Democracy."

Hon. R. T. Banks, ex-Mayor and ex-Register of Wills of Baltimore.

Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, president of the Maryland Confederate Society.

Col. Charles Marshall, military secretary to Gen. R. E. Lee, one of Baltimore's leading lawyers.

Capt. George H. Thomas, of St. Mary's county, a prominent ex-Confederate.

State Senator W. Cabell Bruce, of Baltimore, son-in-law of ex-Judge Fisher and a prominent young lawyer.

Rev. Father Edmund Didier, a well known Catholic clergyman.

Chas. D. Fisher, ex-president of the Corn and Flour Exchange and brother of Ex-Judge W. A. Fisher.

Joseph S. Huisler, a prominent lawyer and president of the Maryland Catholic Union.

Col. William A. Hanway, real estate dealer.

George T. Gambrill, member Corn and Flour Exchange.

William Keyser, ex-vice president B. & O. Railroad.

Martin Wagner, president Canton National Bank, and of the Martin Wagner Company, oyster and fruit packers.

Joseph P. Merryman and Davie S. Briscoe, well known lawyers.

Jacob S. Rosenthal, capitalist and lawyer.

W. B. Davidson, father of ex-Mayor Robert C. Davidson.

Dr. Bolling W. Barton, a prominent physician and brother of Mr. Randolph Barton.

J. H. Mayandier, of the Corn and Flour Exchange.

Being men of such prominence in the business, professional and political world, the above stand out clearly against the public horizon, and yet, these are, really, only straws showing the drift of the current of popular opinion. These have been life-long Democrats, and men of such prominence in their party that it means a great deal to break away now, even temporarily. There are thousands of other Democrats—men who have never taken a prominent part in party affairs, yet who have always voted the ticket—who, this year, will follow the example of the gentlemen named above and support Mr. Lowndes. This general revolt extends through all classes; it begins in the handsomely-equipped professional offices in the vicinity of the court house and runs through the busy mercantile establishments of Baltimore street and Hopkins Place, and perhaps is strongest of all in the great factories and workshops of South Baltimore. One large manufacturer recently had a canvass made of his 300 employees, most of whom were Democrats. He found exactly fifteen who will vote for Hurst. Of course, this proportion does not keep up all over the city, but it is an indication of the general state of affairs and leads one to believe that Mr. Lowndes' majority in Maryland will be larger than his friends now expect.

MARRIED.
