NOTICE.

Those persons who are in arrears to the subscriber for the county Levy for 1813, are hereby warned that his Deputies will proceed to enforce the payment agreeably to law, immediately.

To have neglected this measure until this time, would have betrayed a represensible partiality on the part of the Collector, as it respected others, who have long since discharged their accounts; and unless prepared to advance the deficiency thence arising from private means, it would have been highly uujust towards the creditors of the County; but this seeming indulgence was caused solely by the difficulties consequent on the approach of the British forces, and such as would now avoid compulsory process, are respectfully invited to call at the office, St. Paul's lane, without delay

VENTRILOQUISM.

Of all the extraordinary talents which Nature in her unequal distributions sometimes gives to man, none is perhaps more wonderful than Ventriloquism

Mr. HASIN, from Georgia, has the honor to inform the Ladies and Gentlemen of Baltimore that he possesses this truly wonderful power which enables him to mimick exactly the voice of another, and so modify the sound that it shall appear to come from what quarter and distance he pleases without changing place. In order to gratify the liberal and enlightened citizens of Baltimore, Mr. H. has taken Mr. Mallet's large and commodious Juvenile Assembly Room in South Charles street, where on Monday Evening next he will display this wonderful talent in the following manner:

Any two of the audience (either Ladies or Gentlemen) who may please to give Mr. H. a specimen of their voice by pronouncing two or three words so that he can catch their tones, he will immediately take a position at one end of the room, and without changing his place will speak a dialogue of considerable length, the sounds appearing to come from the opposite end, (70 feet distance) and spoken in the voices of the said ladies or gentlemen, and so exactly imitated that their most intimate acquaintance cannot perceive the slightest variation.

Any lady or gentleman putting a question to Mr. H. will immediately receive an answer from him without changing his place, which will appear to be spoken at the shoulder or in the ear of the person who put the question, and exactly in the same tone of voice with which it was asked.

Mr H will amuse the ladies by imitating, without changing his place, the prattling of an infant, the sound appearing as though they actually came from an infant in their arms.

Mr. H will also amuse the gentlemen by imitating, without changing his place, the mewing of a kitten, and the yelping of a cur, the sounds appearing to come from their pockets, and so natural that they will thrust in their hands to feel for the supposed animals.

Without moving from his place Mr H will whisper in the ear of any of the audience who may desire it Without changing his place Mr. H. will utter a variety of sounds, such as deep drawn sighs, heavy groans, peals of laughter, &c. which will appear to come from various directions and distances.

Mr H. will astonish the audience by uttering sounds inconceivably loud and terrific, which will appear to burst from the ceiling.

Mr. H. will conclude the evening's entertainment by imitating with the nicest precision the singing of a Canary Bird.

To prevent the room from being too much crowded, Mr. H. has limited the number of his tickets of admission to 500; they are to be had at Robinson's Circulating Library, No 96, Market street, and at the office of the American. Price one dollar each. Performance to commence at 6 o'clock on Monday evening next.
