Another Sea Serpent.

From Scientific American.

A great sea serpent was seen off the Jersey coast at Spring Lake, on Sunday afternoon, September 22, at 1.40 P. M. The testimony concerning the monster is well corroborated. It was seen by Lawyer Willard P. Shaw, a resident of Paterson, N. J., with offices in New York City. With him at the time was his wife, three children, and Miss Ella B. D. Salter, of Paterson. The serpent was also seen by Mr. Philip N. Jackson, another cottager at Spring Lake, who is secretary of the Newark Electric Light Company.

An excellent view was had through binoculars while it was passing directly opposite at a distance of not more than half a mile. The head was of a peculiar shape, quite unlike that of any creature Mr. Shaw had ever seen, and was as large around as a flour barrel, but longer. The nose and mouth resembled those of an alligator. There were no tentacles to be seen. The body was smooth and round, of dark color, and apparently destitute of fins. The monster was making its way to the south and skirting along the shore. Its movements seemed to be affected by a vertical undulation of the body. In the course of its progress it would throw itself out at full length on the surface and then sank its body beneath the water, while the head would be uplifted several feet above the waves. Many ships and schooners frequently pass on the ocean where the serpent was seen. From a knowledge of the size and speed of these, Mr. Shaw makes a conservative estimate of its length at 100 feet, and says that its speed certainly exceeded that of any vessel, and was in the neighborhood of 40 or 50 miles an hour. The serpent was followed with the glasses for six or seven minutes, when it disappeared in the distance to the south. The head was the last part that remained visible.

Owing to the lateness of the season, all the hotels along the coast are closed, and, as the afternoon was hot and sultry, few of the remaining cottagers were stirring. For these reasons, and owing to the short time that the monster remained in sight, there was no opportunity to call other witnesses.

A Little Heroine.

To the heroism of Gertie Anderson, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Anderson, of Grand Rapids, Minn., more than twenty people owe their lives. The child was picking berries along the Duluth, Mississippi and Northern Road, near Mahoning, when a special —, carrying Assistant Superintendent Ketchum, of the South Shore Road, and some of the Duluth, Mississippi and Northern officials passed. The train had not gone thirty yards when 200 feet of the track over which it had passed sank out of sight, nearly half of it being subsequently found in thirty-eight feet of water. The regular passenger was due in a short time, and the child, dropping her berries, darted down the track to a bend, around which the train would come. By standing on the track and swinging her sunbonnet she caused the engineer to bring the train to a halt. Had he gone thirty rods farther the train would have gone into the underground lake and not a person would have escaped.

To Supplant Tin Cans.

Cans made of paper pulp are being introduced to take the place of tin cans for containing all kinds of preserved products, says the New York Sun. The occasional cases of poisoning from canned goods are due to the contents becoming tainted through the cans not being airtight. Many millions of tin cans are used annually by canned goods factories in this country, and such cases of injury from tainted goods are comparatively rare, but because it is possible, through slight defects in the soldier or minute breaks in the cans, for such danger to result, the canners have been looking for a satisfactory substitute for tin. It is believed that this has at last been found in the paper pulp cans. They are oil proof as well as waterproof, will not expand or contract, and will stand as much rough usage in shipment as tin cans, and perhaps more.

ATTENTION FARMERS AND FRUIT GROWERS.

I have a fine assortment of Apple, Peach, Plum, Apricot, Pear and Cherry Trees, Blackberries, Raspberries, Japan Wineberries, Lucretia Dewberries, Juneberries, Asparagus, Currants, Gooseberries, H. P. Roses and Climbing Roses, and all kinds of Ornamental Trees, all in thrifty condition.

You can save a large per cent. by buying Home Grown Stock, getting it Healthier and Cheaper than by buying stock raised and sold by foreign agents.

My trees will be ready for delivery October 20, 1895.

Thanking my customers for their past patronage and hoping to have their future trade, I am, Respectfully,
