Mr. Wm. H. Westaway, a well known traveling salesman, spent a few days at his home in this vicinity, and cast his vote on Tuesday, the first time in a number of years.

We are feeling happy since the election. Our Democratic friends have gotten over their dismay and are rejoicing with us.

Concerning this exciting event, it is said that, previous to its occurrence, Jesse, who is a tiller of the soil, prevailed upon his eldest son, who is a scribe in the temple where justice is sometimes dispensed, to take pictures representing a mixed school of the descendants of Ham and of fair-skinned Anglo-Saxon children, and to go among the people and say: "Look how it is in Republican Pennsylvania; and this is how it will be here if Maryland goes for Lowndes. Do you want your children to go to school with niggers?" But the people hearkened not to the words of Jacob, because they said: "This is only the same old scare-crow, and we know it is only a sham." And they voted for Lowndes and elected him. But nobody fears the mixed schools against which Jacob warned them.

On Wednesday, October 30th, we were startled by the announcement that Miss E. Jane Sell, third daughter of Henry and Eliza Sell, was dead. Although that dread disease, consumption, was making rapid inroad, which was noticeable for some time, her death was rather sudden, and unexpected. She was a quiet, unassuming and industrious young lady. In early life she connected herself with the Reformed Church, and remained a consistent member to the day of her death. But she will not again join with us in prayers and praises in our earthly sanctuary, but by and by in God's Kingdom, if we should prove faithful, we will with her swell that mighty chorus of thanksgiving and praise, for we sorrow not as those who have no hope. Does not Revelation assure us of a Resurrection and whisper the sweet promise of Immortality. Her burial took place on Friday morning, 1st inst., at Baust Church, in presence of a large and sorrowing congregation of relatives and friends. Rev. K. O. Spessard improved the sad occasion from Phil., 1st chap. and 21st v., "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." The pall-bearers were: Clint. Foglesong, Jonas Heltabridle, Arthur Master, Ed. Winters, Pius Sponsler and Ed. Dotro.

Mr. Ned Rohrbaugh is critically ill, with no hope of his recovery, from blood poisoning, occasioned by injuries to one of his fingers. On Tuesday of last week, while butchering, the finger was caught in the meat cutter and badly torn and mashed. He continued at work and drove to Baltimore the next day. His injuries became very painful and by Friday night his suffering became so intense that Dr. Preston was called to see him. Blood poisoning had set, in however, and at this writing the brain is involved and all hope is abandoned. Great sympathy is felt for the sufferer, who is a highly esteemed citizen. Later.—Mr. Rohrbaugh died Wednesday afternoon. He was 29 years old and leaves a widow and two small children. There is a feeling of gratification expressed over the result of Tuesday's election as far as the result in the State and Baltimore city is concerned, not only by by the Republicans, but by the members of all parties who have the interest of clean politics at heart. The victory is an acknowledged triumph of political freedom and honest government over bossism and corruption.

A somewhat serious accident occurred on the Hooksville road near town, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Thomas Alban and another young man were engaged in a running race on a part of the road which is used for that purpose. About the middle of the course the horse which Mr. Alban was riding fell, presumably from exhaustion, throwing the rider with great force to the ground upon his head and face. Mr. Alban received a severe scalp wound besides sustaining a number of bruises in other parts of the body and scarring his face badly. He was taken to the office of Dr. R. C. Wells, who dressed his wounds. His condition is not considered critical. The horse killed itself in the fall.

Mr. John Hosler, a brakeman on the Western Md. R. R., was killed at Miller's Station Tuesday night. The freight engine was sent at once to this place and returned with Dr. Robert F. Wells. The result of the injury was so great that death resulted before medical attention could be given. Mr. Hosler had been in the employ of the company two years. He was married and lived at Thomasville, Pa.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers have recently perfected an ingenious cure for dyspepsia. Their Digestive Cordial consists of a food already digested and a digester of food happily combined.

The importance of this invention will be appreciated when we realize what a proportion of the community are victims of some form of stomach trouble. Thousands of pale, thin people have little inclination to eat, and what they do eat causes them pain and distress.

This digestive cordial of the Shakers corrects any stomach derangement at once. It makes thin people plump. Every one will be greatly interested to read the little book which has been placed in the hands of druggists for free distribution.

What is LAXOL? Nothing but Castor Oil made as palatable as honey. Children like it.

Mr. Henry Linn died here on Thursday of last week, at the advanced age of eighty-four years. Mr. Linn was never married. He lived with his sister, who survives him. His funeral was held here on Saturday, Rev. A. Bateman, of Taneytown, officiating. Interment at Emmittsburg.

Mrs. Eliza Hesson, wife of Daniel Hesson, died on Sunday night. Mrs. Hesson was in bad health for some time, but the cause of her death was heart trouble. She was an earnest christian lady, an active member of the U. B. Church and always ready to do her duty in Church, Sunday School, Young People's meeting, and wherever help was needed. She was also very liberal in giving to church purposes. At the time of her death she was one of the vice-presidents of the W. C. T. U. of this place, president of the Mite Society in the U. B. Church, and the teacher of a class of little girls in the sabbath school. She leaves a husband, three daughters and two sons. Her children are all married. Funeral services on Wednesday. Interment in the U. B. burying ground.

Our town is to be favored next Monday, November 11th, with the celebrated Merry Makers, at Odd Fellows' Hall; justly called Merry Makers because they give you an evening of constant enjoyment. Her acting in the Burglar is far ahead of many of the old time professionals. Eugene Elsworth needs no introduction. He has played all the principal comedy rolls with Kerr, Barrette, Roland Reed and many others. The company having an off night are playing here simply as a fill in date, and have made the extremely low prices of 15 cts. for school children, adults 25, 35 and 50 cents. Reserved seats at Boyle's Drug store, now on sale.

The members of the Westminster Dramatic Company desire to repudiate the statement which has been made that its performances are given for the benefit of a gentleman who until recently was a member of the organization. The primary object of this company was to establish a fund for a charitable purpose, and, except when publicly stated to the contrary, it will continue its performances for the benefit of that fund.
