Committee of Relief

The Committee having discovered that considerable inconvenience has arisen in the receipt of Clothing for the poor, in consequence of their Warehouse not always being kept open—in order to obviate which, Clothing of every description, particularly old carpets, blankets, all kinds of wearing apparel, either for children or grown persons, and indeed all articles that can contribute towards keeping out cold, will hereafter be thankfully received at the following places to wit:—the store of Luke Tiernan, Market, between Light & Charles streets; the store of William W. Taylor, in Market, second door above Howard street; the store of John M'Clure, in Market, second door above Calvert street, and the store of Wm. Ross, in Market street, corner of Market space, whence they will be carefully distributed to such as are now suffering for want of them, and of such there are numbers.
Those persons having articles of the kind to spare, can never appropriate them to a better purpose—they are therefore earnestly requested to forward them as soon as possible to either of the above places of deposit.
