The Carroll County Senatorship.

The death of Hon. Pinkney J. Bennett leaves a vacancy in the State Senate which must be filled at a special election to be called by the Governor. There appears to be some difference of opinion as to the time when the Governor can take official cognizance of the vacancy and set a day for an election to fill it. Some hold that he may do so without delay, while others well versed in the law believe that he cannot receive official notification of the existence of the vacancy until the Senate shall have been convened. But whatever may be the conclusion of the Executive on that point there is no doubt that an election must be held if the county is to be represented in the Senate. The question of candidates is already being considered and there seems to be but one opinion among the Republicans. Dr. J. J. Weaver, Jr., will receive the nomination if he will consent to accept it. Among the Democrats, the names of a number of gentlemen have been mentioned in connection with the nomination, among them Dr. J. W. Hering, Dr. J. H. Billingslea, Mr. John E. Masenheimer and Mr. J. Oliver Wadlow.

Great interest will centre in the contest, as upon its result may depend the complexion of the next Senate, and the election will probably be as exciting as any ever held in this county.

Not the Cause of It.

The Advocate attributes the partial Democratic defeat in Carroll county "mostly to the influence of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company and the bribery of democrats to stay at home." It is said that "a poor excuse is better than none," but in this case the reason assigned by the Advocate for the result is so wide of the mark as to be without any value whatever. If there is any portion of the county in which Baltimore and Ohio influence should tell on the vote it is that lying adjacent to the railroad. The districts so situated in this county are Mt. Airy and Freedom, and between them they show no Republican gain. The Republicans gain in Mt. Airy and lose in Freedom. If railroad influence was exerted at all, it was a very small factor in determining the result.

If Democrats were bribed to stay at home they must have been purchased at a very small figure. The Republicans didn't have more than money enough for legitimate campaign expenses and certainly had no corruption fund. Their candidates were men who looked upon bribery as an unmixed evil, if not a grave crime. On the other hand some of those prominent on the Democratic ticket openly boasted of the effective use they made of money in corrupting voters. It is extremely probable that the amount of money expended by the Democrats was more than ten times greater than that of the Republicans. The Advocate must try again if it desires to assign the actual cause of the Democratic defeat.

A Colored Judge vs. Mixed Schools.

While the Democrats of Maryland, during the recent political campaign in this State, were loudly accusing the Republicans with an intention, if victorious at the polls, to introduce mixed schools, their brethren in Albany, N. Y., were actually running a colored man for Judge of the Recorder's Court of that City. And what is more they elected him by a majority of two thousand. His name is James C. Matthews, and he is the same man who was appointed Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia by President Cleveland during his first administration. The office to which he has been elected carries with it the powers of a Supreme Court Judge, in New York, and is the highest judicial station to which a colored man has ever been elevated in this country. The event is a vivid illustration of the hypocrisy of the Maryland Democrats who attempted to arouse hostility to the Republican party by the mixed school accusation. The Republicans in Maryland have simply insisted upon the legal right of colored men to cast their ballots and have them properly counted. No sensible man has ever credited the charge that Maryland Republicans favor mixed schools. It would be just as preposterous to say that Maryland Democrats are in favor of colored judges, because their brethren of Albany have elevated a colored man to the bench, as it is to charge the Republicans of Maryland with an intention to open white public schools to colored pupils, because there are mixed schools in Pennsylvania. It was clearly shown, during the campaign, that schools of that character were of Democratic origin, and the election of Matthews at Albany proves, beyond question, that the Democrats of that section are not "touchy" on the subject of negro equality. After this, Maryland Democrats should keep forever silent on the subject.

Baltimore's Official Vote.

The official vote of Baltimore, for State officers, at the recent election, was as follows:

The new Colonial Hotel at Gettysburg took fire at 2.35 o'clock Sunday morning, and was consumed with all the furniture.

The U. S. Senatorship.

The question of the election of a United States Senator to succeed Mr. Charles H. Gibson, whose term will expire March 4th, 1897, is being agitated among the Republicans, who have a large majority on joint ballot in the Legislature and will elect the Senator for the following term, at the session beginning in January. The statute, known as the "Eastern Shore Law," provides that one of the Maryland Senators shall always be chosen from that section, and the law, absurd and unjust as it is, has always been observed. In 1867 it was temporarily repealed when Gov. Swann was elected Senator in fulfillment of a previous bargain or contract between him and the leading representatives of the Democratic party. As soon as he was chosen the law was re-enacted. For reasons which need not be repeated, Mr. Swann declined the office and Gen. Geo. Vickers, of the Eastern Shore, was subsequently elected, after Ex-Gov. Philip F. Thomas had been chosen by the Legislature and rejected by the Senate. Since that period the law has been rigidly observed, but the Republicans appear to be strongly inclined to repudiate or repeal it. If ignored and a be Senator chosen from the Western Shore, the law will be no bar to his admission to the Senate, as that body would require nothing but his proper certificate.

Undoubtedly the law has been thus far observed through fear of the consequences of its repeal upon the vote of the Eastern Shore counties. It is generally supposed that such action would be very unpopular in that portion of the State, and might cost the party taking it a good many votes. The Democrats, with their former great majorities and an apparent interminable lease of power, were afraid to undertake it. From a mere partisan standpoint, it might seem to be very bad politics. But, moved by a sense of equity and justice the Republicans now seem to be seriously contemplating it. The population of the State, by the census of 1890, was 1,042,390, of whom 858,370 were residents of the Western Shore, and 184,010 of the Eastern Shore. The law therefore makes one-sixth of the people of the State equal, for senatorial representation, to the other five-sixths. Men are generally loath to surrender power, but the inhabitants of the Eastern Shore must be fully aware of the inequality and injustice of the law in this case. In fact, the basis of the law is pernicious. It might, at some period, be deemed advisable to select both Senaters from the Eastern Shore, but, if the law were held as controlling, that could not be done, as under it one of them must be taken from the Western Shore, as it is termed. The repeal of the law would give both sections equal rights in the matter.

It remains to be seen whether the Republican party is prepared to deal with the subject as presented in this aspect. The names of numerous prominent citizens of both sections have been mentioned in connection with the succession to Mr. Gibson, and Hon. George L. Wellington, it is said, has formally announced his candidacy for the position.

If it shall be determined to elect a citizen of the Western Shore, Mr. Wellington has peculiar claims to preference in the matter. He is a strong man intellectually, an orator of no mean ability, and, in the recent campaign, exhibited executive qualities of a high order, combined with purity of purpose and integrity of character. We say this without any purpose to commit the SENTINEL to the support of his candidacy, but simply as a just tribute to the man under whose skillful leadership the recent great victory was won.

For the SENTINEL.

The York Wall-Paper Company's factories, at York, Pa., were destroyed by fire on Tuesday, entailing a loss of upwards of $200,000, the building and machinery having been valued at that sum, in addition to which $20 000 worth of patterns and fifteen or twenty carloads of of finished paper were destroyed. There was an insurance of $100,000 on the plant. The fire was of incendiary origin and started on the third floor of the main factory. A previous attempt to fire the property had been made last week.

Wiliam Sherman, a window cleaner in the employ of the Pullman Company, at Chicago, was arrested on Tuesday, for threatening to kill either Geo. W. Pullman, or John B. Griffin, or both of them. Griffin is the manager of the Pullman Building. Sherman is insane. He was instigated to kill Pullman and Griffin by a woman fortune-teller, who is in custody. Sherman says he would have carried his purpose into effect on Tuesday, but could not make up his mind which man to kill first.

THE CENTURY FOR THE COMING YEAR.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE celebrates its quarter-centennial in its November issue with an "Anniversary Number." In honor of the occasion it dons a new dress of type, with new headings, etc., and it appears in a new and artistic cover. Although The Century has reached an age unusual among American magazines, it continues to show the youthful vigor and enterprise that have always characterized it. The programme that has been arranged for the coming year contains a number of interesting features. Much has already been written concerning Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel, "Sir George Tressady," which has been secured for its pages. There was a very spirited bidding for this novel on the part of several prominent publishers, with the result that the author will probably realize from the serial and book of rights of it one of the largest sums that has yet been given for a work of fiction in the English language. The story describes life in an English country-house, and also touches somewhat upon industrial questions. It begins in the November number with an account of an English parliamentary election. It will be the leading feature in fiction for the coming twelve months, other and shorter novels being contributed by W. D. Howells, F. Hopkinson Smith, Mary Hallock Foote, and Amelia E. Barr. There will also be contributions from Mark Twain and Rudyard Kipling (the latter furnishing to the Christmas Century one of the most powerful stories he has ever written); a series of articles on the great naval engagements of Nelson, by Captain Alfred T. Mahan, author of "Influence of Sea Power upon History"; three brilliant articles on Rome, contributed by Marion Crawford, and superbly illustrated by Castaigne, who made the famous World's Fair pictures in The Century; a series of articles by George Kennan, author of "Siberia and the Exile System," on the Mountains and the Mountaineers of the Eastern Caucasus, describing a little-known people; articles by Henry M. Stanley and the late E. J. Glave on Africa; a series of papers on "The Administration of the Cities of the United States," by Dr. Albert Shaw. The Century will also contain during the year a great number of papers on art subjects, richly illustrated.

Prof. Sloane's "Life of Napoleon," with its wealth of illustration, will reach its most interesting part,—the rise of the conqueror to the height of his power, and his final overthrow and exile. In order that new subscribers may obtain the whole of this monumental work, the publishers have made a rate of $5.00, for which one can have a year's subscription from November, '95, and all of the numbers for the past twelve months, from the beginning of Prof. Sloane's history.

ST. NICHOLAS IN 1896.

For almost quarter of a century—for twenty two years, to be exact—ST. NICHOLAS MAGAZINE has been bearing its welcome messages each month to the young people of the land. It began existence in 1873, consolidating with it in its early years all of the leading children's periodicals of that day, "The Little Corporal," "Children's Hour," "The School-Day Magazine," and "Our Young Folks" among them. The last children's magazine to be merged in St. Nicholas was "Wide Awake," which was purchased and consolidated with it only a few years ago. It has been fortunate in securing contributions for its pages from the leading writers and artists of the language, while it has given to its readers many works that have become imperishable classics in juvenile literature. St. Nicholas has had for many years a large circulation in Europe, and it is said to be read by many royal children. When the children of the Prince of Wales' family were young the Prince took six copies for his household, and the present Crown Prince of Italy grew up a constant reader of St. Nicholas.

The magazine is a help to those that have the care and up-bringing of children, in that it is full of brightness and interest and tends to cultivate high aspirations, without being "preachy" and prosy and lugging in too apparent moralizing. Its readers are always loyal to it, and they will be glad to learn what has been provided for their delectation during the coming year. The leading feature will be a delightful series of letters written to young people from Samoa by Robert Louis Stevenson. These describe the picturesque life of the lamented romancer in his island home, and give interesting portraits of his native retainers. Rudyard Kipling, whose first Jungle Stories appeared in St. Nicholas, will write for it in 1896, and James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet, will contribute a delightful poem, "The Dream March of the Children," to the Christmas number. The serial stories represent several favorite names. "The Swordmaker's Son" is a story of boy-life in Palestine at the time of the founding of Christianity. It is written by W. O. Stoddard, whose carefull study of the history of the times and whose travels over the scenes of the story have enabled him to present vividly the local coloring. "The Prize Cup" is one of J. T. Trowbridge's best stories. Albert Sterns, whose "Chris and the Wonderful Lamp" was one of the great successes of the past year, has written another story that promises much. In "Sindbad, Smith & Co." he has again gone to "The Arabian Nights" for inspiration. An American boy enters into partnership with the greatest of sea-faring adventurers, Sindbad, and the fun and the complications that this brings about can be imagined. These are but a few of the features. During the coming year $1,000 will be given in prizes. Full particulars concerning it will be found in the November number.

Not long before his death the poet Longfellow told Hezekiah Butterworth one evening in his library how he came to write "The Psalm of Life," "The Bridge," "Excelsior," "Hiawatha," "The Old Clock on the Stairs," and some of his other great poems. Mr. Butterworth has now embodied the evening's talk in an article on "How Longfellow Wrote His Best-known Poems," which the Ladies' Home Journal will publish in its next number.

Among the good things announced for the Christmas number of Harper's Magazine are the first chapters of Brisesis, a new novel by William Black. In the same number will be found the opening paper in Caspar W. Whitney's account of his journey on snow-shoes to the Barren Grounds of British North America, in pursuit of big game; a brilliant description of Caracas, The Parish of South America, by Richard Harding Davis; a comedy by William Dean Howells; five short stories, and eighty illustrations, including a frontispiece in color.

The November issues of Harper's Weekly will contain articles on the following subjects: Opening of the Carnegie Library at Pittsburg; the Horse Show, with illustrations by Frederic Remington, Wenzel and Klepper—comments by Caspar W. Whitney; the coming musical season in New York, by W. J. Henderson and Owen Wister; the Atlanta Exposition, with illustrations by W. A. Rogers; the Marlborough-Vanderbilt Wedding; Viscount Wolseley and British War Office Reform; the New York Portrait Show, handsomely illustrated; and additional papers in the valuable Public School series.

One of the most expensive books ever published will be "The Life of Christ," soon to be issued at Tours, France. It will have nearly four hundred illustrations reproduced in color from the paintings by James Tissot, upon the production of which the artist has been engaged for the past ten years. The first twenty copies of the book will sell for $1000 each, and the remaining copies, 990 in all, for $300 each. The publishers ask no less than $12 for a single specimen illustration. By a special concession from the artist and publishers to the Century, that magazine will be enabled to produce twelve of the choicest of these pictures in its Christmas number.

MY PRICES RANGE FROM 12c. TO 30c. PUT ON WALL. GILT 20c. TO 25c. ALL PAPER 8 YARDS LONG

These are not living prices. You may say how do I live. I have no rent to run a store and fuel, &c., and do all of my own work. I don't pay any hands one year to do three months' work in season. This is a chance to get papering done cheap. Take advantage while you have a chance. I will do as before, done by me. I can give the best references in the county.

Guarantee All Work

There has been a great deal said about me being a scab workman, but it was only said by those who can't compete with me in price and workmanship and who are afraid of me—never by a party that I did work for. Write for sample and price, or I will come to see you in person and tell you what your job will cost. I can be found 300 yards from the limit of Westminster on the Littlestown turnpike.

Thankful for past favors,
Very Respectfully,

A LETTER.

I find that many people are of the erroneous opinion that the office of STATE'S ATTORNEY will prevent me from attending to any other legal business than that pertaining to said office. I therefore adopt this method of informing my clients and friends that, EXCEPT IN CRIMINAL CASES, I am as free as an other attorney to attend to any legal business that may be entrusted to me.
