WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND.

W. L. W. Seabrook, - Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 23, 1897.

The acceptance of the Portfolio of State by Senator Sherman will cause a vacancy in the Senate from and after the 4th of March, to be filled by Governor Bushnell, of Ohio. The name of Mr. M. M. Hanna, who, as chairman of the Republican National Committee, so ably conducted the Presidential campaign on the part of the Republicans, is mentioned in connection with the place. Governor Bushnell, it is said, also has senatorial aspirations; but the sentiment of Ohio Republicans is evidently strongly in favor of Mr. Hanna, and, certainly, the party all over the country would be gratified by his appointment. It is generally believed that the Governor will act in accordance with the general desire and appoint Mr. Hanna. He could not make a better selection.

To attempt to present to the reader an idea of the contents of the Tribune Almanac for 1897 is as difficult as to enumerate all the topics of general interest the American people talked about in 1896 and are going to talk about in 1897. What is it that you may wish to know in a political or statistical way? In some shape or other you will find it in this admirable and accurate compendium of facts, politics and figures. There are certain standard tables of latest statistics and election returns which everyone expects in an almanac. The Tribune Almanac has them all, and, in addition, a variety of concise statements, summing up the past year's history in important matters, such as the Venezuelan dispute, the Cuban Revolution, President Cleveland's bond issues, the censure of Mr. Bayard, and so on. For accuracy, completeness and thorough comprehension of what the American people need in the way of data for ready reference, The Tribune Almanac has always been standard and has no superior. Price, 25 cents a copy. No where else can so much valuable information be found at such trifling cost.

A telegram from Guthrie, the capital of Oklahoma, states that hundreds of divoce decrees on the court records of that territory are about to be cancelled because those who secured the divorces slipped away without paying the costs. According to a provision of the territorial statute no decree of divorce is valid until the costs of the proceeding are paid. Parties in default who have remarried have been guilty of bigamy. The provision is exceedingly reprehensible. It smacks of a public trade in divorces for the purpose of putting fees into the territorial treasury. But the whole divorce business, as conducted in Oklahoma and in some of the States, is a crime against the sacredness of the marriage tie. Many of the old States, including Maryland, are too lax, also, either in the law, or in the practice of granting divorces. The public conscience should be awakened on the subject and compel legislation which would make divorce more difficult. Cannot Congress deal with the matter in the territories and put an end by national statute to the disgrace of such proceedings as is indicated by the story from Oklahoma.

KEEP UP THE OPPOSITION.

There is an apparent lull in the operations of the free silverites and some people suppose the sentiment is dying out and that the cause will be abandoned by the Democratic wing of the aggregation which supported Bryan for the Presidency. Mr. Bryan's thousand-dollar-a-night lecture on the subject has fallen very flat. It is said, even by some of his friends, to be full of stale and dreary platitudes, and that some of those who paid fifty cents to hear it, at Atlanta, Ga., where it was first delivered, would have paid as much more if they could have retired, decently, before it was half over. The silver kings, however, have too much at stake to permit their cause to lapse, without further effort, and there are too many Democratic politicians in the country who have staked their political future on the issue, to assume its abandonment. It is possible that conditions may arise that will render futile all efforts to renew the conflict under circumstances as promising as those with which the Bryan campaign was inaugurated; but that cannot be taken for granted, and, as the 16 to 1 theory is not, and from all appearance never will be, less a heresy than it was then, the fight against it must be kept up.

The six and a half million votes cast for Bryan, if they expressed the honest views of every elector who cast such a vote, would show a division of sentiment on the subject so nearly equal that the promoters of the silver cause might well be encouraged to keep up the battle. It is well known, however, that party regularity gave Mr. Bryan many a vote that would not have been cast for him if the voter had expected his election. We know of some Maryland Democrats who were moved by the considerations named to vote against their convictions on the subject, and we have heard of many more in other States. In thus voting they lent moral and material support to a cause in conflict with their best judgment, and made a renewal of the contest a possibility. They ought to make an effort at once to undo the harm wrought by their votes, by announcing their determination to abandon the regular organization, if it shall persist in making the free coinage of money of less value than its face an issue. But, whether they are prepared to take that step, or not, the more than seven millions of voters who cast their ballots against the monstrous heresy, should not abate a jot or tittle of their hostility to it. Its acceptance by the people would be the greatest calamity that has ever befallen this county, and there should be no indifference or diminution of resistance to it on the part of any of its opponents, no matter what their party affiliations may be.

SENATOR PRITCHARD'S RE-ELECTION.

The re-election of Senator Pritchard, of North Carolina, is likely to have a very important bearing on tariff legislation in Congress. Senator Pritchard is a Republican and his re-election comes in the nature of a surprise. When the Populists and Republicans of North Carolina combined and defeated the Democrats, two United States Senators were elected by the Legislature, one for a full term and the other to fill an unexpired term for two years. The Republicans conceded the full term to the Populists, with the understanding that the latter would assist in re-electing the Republican chosen for the unexpired term. Messrs. Butler and Pritchard were chosen. Subsequent events made it more than doubtful whether the Populists would keep faith with their former allies, and the pronounced opposition of Senator Butler to Mr. Pritchard's re-election seemed to destroy all expectation of that event. Nevertheless, it is the unexpected that has happened in this case, and Mr. Pritchard goes back to the Senate. It is believed his re-election will assure the passage of a tariff bill, framed in accordance with the principle of equitable and necessary protection to American industries and labor. The event has occasioned great rejoicing among the Republicans at Washington and throughout the country.

U. S. Senators Elected.

During the past week United States Senators have been elected in a number of the States as follows:

New York.—Thomas C. Platt, Republican.

Pennsylvania.—Boies Penrose, Republican.

Delaware.—R. R. Kenney, Free Silver Democrat.

Illinois.—William E. Mason, Republican.

New Hampshire.—John H. Gallinger, Republican, re-elected.

Indiana.—Charles Warren Fairbanks, Republican.

Arkansas.—James K. Jones, Free Silver Democrat, re elected.

Missouri.—George G. Vest, Free Silver Democrat, re-elected.

Colorado.—Henry M. Teller, classed as a free Silver Republican, re elected. Mr. Teller's election was unanimous, all the members voting for him.

North Dakota.—Henry C. Hansbrough, Republican, re elected.

Nevada.—John P. Jones, Populist—formerly Republican, re-elected.

North Carolina.—Jeter C. Pritchard, Republican, re-elected.

Connecticut.—Orville B. Platt, Republican, re-elected.

In the case of the Delaware Senator, it is said another effort will be made to seat Mr. Dupont, who undoubtedly received a majority of the legal votes in the legislature of that State. The president of the State Senate became Governor on the death of the Governor elected by the people. After his inauguration as Governor he returned to the Senate and voted against Mr. Dupont, causing a tie. Without his vote Mr. Dupont had one majority on joint ballot. The exigencies of politics led the Populists and Democrats in the U. S. Senate to combine against his admission, but a strong effort will be made, it is said, to reconsider that action. At this time Delaware has a dual Legislature, and the body which is denominated the "rump" has elected J. Edward Addicks, Republican, to succeed Senator Higgins.

HEALTH OFFICERS' CONFERENCE.

The State Board of Health, with the co-operation of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, is about to invite all the Health officers in the State to a conference in Baltimore.

They are arranging an attractive program, and hope to call out the interest of the press, the school authorities, the local Boards of Health and the medical profession throughout the State.

The conference will occupy two days, holding two sessions each day, a morning session from 11 A. M. to 3 P. M., and an evening session from 8 P. M. to 10 P. M. There will be no dry discussions, and no ultra-scientific papers. There will be many microscopes, plenty of apparatus, abundant laboratory supplies, and a corps of demonstrators who will give every man in attendance an opportunity to see and examine for himself all things displayed. All the latest knowledge upon the subjects treated will be fully illustrated.

One session will be devoted to a demonstration of the pathology and bacteriology of typhoid fever. The bacillus of this disease will be shown growing in various articles of food and drink. The newly discovered reaction between typhoid bacilius and typhoid blood will be shown, and the privilege offered to each man present to make the test with his own hands.

The bacteriology of drinking water will be illustrated, particularly the methods leading to the detection of bacillus coli communis.

Another session will be given to the bacteriology of Diphtheria. Experiments will be made with the toxin and anti toxin of diphtheria. This exhibit will be as full and interesting as that upon typhoid fever.

At one session an expert upon Vital Statistics will address the conference, and there will be a general discussion of Funeral Laws.

Much interest has been elicited, and about 25 delegates have already been named. Several counties have promised 2 delegates, and one county, Montgomery, will send 7 delegates; at least 3 delegates are desired from Carroll county.

Mrs. Irwin, who was indicted as accessory to the murder of her husband, James Irwin, of Charles county, was tried in the criminal court of Baltimore, this week, and acquitted. Matthews, who has been convicted and sentenced to death for the murder, refused to testify against the woman and outside of his knowledge there was nothing but strong suspicion against her. Gov. Lowndes has fixed March 12th as the date for Matthews' execution.

It is reasonably certain that Gen. Alger, of Michigan, is to be Secretary of War. Names have been given for all the other Cabinet portfolios, but, as changes may be made, need not be repeated. There is, however, no Maryland man among them.

Governor Lowndes, of Maryland, attended the Philadelphia charity ball

In loving remembrance of JOHN GARNER, who departed this life January 19th, 1896.

Oh! how many lonely hours,
I have passed since thou art gone,
But the Lord has been my comfort,
And in Him my faith is strong.
Brighter, fairer, far than living,
With no trace of woe, or pain,
Robed in everlasting beauty
Shall I see thee once again.

BY HIS WIFE.

Just one year ago we laid thee
In thy silent house of clay;
Fondly hoping in our bosom
We shall meet thee, "some sweet day."
Sweet hope, we shall meet in the morning;
When the clouds have drifted by;
And long shall we stay in that country,
For like angels we never shall die.

BY HIS DAUGHTER, JENNIE E. KOLB.

Fondly we cherish the mem'ry of one
Whom God has saw fit to remove,
In the evening of life, to his beautiful home,
Where we'll meet if we all faithful prove.

In New Windsor, January 14th, 1897, D. N. Burgoon, in the 52nd year of his age.

Home is not home, for father's not there,
Angels have taken him out of our care;
Dark is his room and empty his chair,
He's gone to that home so peaceful and fair.
Gone, and the seasons to come and to go,
Wreathing his grave in blossom and snow,
Snow on his bosom that sheltered us, now
Cruel and cold are the dark hours he sow.
Sleep father, sleep, thy toils are o'er;
Sweet be thy rest so oft needed before;
Well have we loved you, but God loved you more;
He's called you away to that bright happy shore.
