don't think there is any better way of honoring our country than that."

What happened next Ann never could remember. It was just a confusion of faces and voices, people saying all sorts of things to her, Miss Bennett telling what a faithful pupil she had been, and the poor-house people cheering in their old, cracked voices; but through all she saw only Hilda, and felt only the firm clasp of her hand. And when she shrank back as Mr. Anderson gave her the flag, Hilda, with a sudden, quick motion threw it around her, and then the people nearly went wild, and cheered her and the flag together.

But of all that strange evening one thing shone out bright and clear. It was as Ann was leaving with the poorhouse people that suddenly Hilda, turning from her friends, ran after her.

"Ann," she called—"Ann!"

Ann turned obediently and waited. Hilda caught up with her, and stooping, pressed her soft red lips against the thin freckled face.

"Good-by, dear little Ann," she said.

RECENT DISCOVERIES IN PALESTINE.

The Quartely Statement of the Palestine Exploration Fund, in noticing some recent discoveries by the society's officers, says: "Dr. Bliss' excavations in the Tyropœon Valley have brought to light a very remarkable stone stairway, forming part of a road leading from the city past the Pool of Siloam. This stairway is 24 feet broad, and on its eastern side is a parapet, apparently constructed to prevent passengers falling over the scarp which exists there. The steps are thirty-four in number, so far as discovered. They are about 7 inches in height, and are arranged in a system of wide and narrow treads alternately the wide treads measuring between 4 feet and 5 feet in breath, and the narrow ones about 1½ feet. The stones composing these stairs are well jointed and finely polished by footwear. It is impossible not to be reminded by this important discovery of the statement in Nehemiah iii, 15, that Shallun repaired the gate of the fountain, the wall of the Pool of Siloam, by the King's Garden, 'and unto the stairs that go down from the city of David.' It is not suggested that these newly discovered stairs are identical with those mentioned in Nehemiah, but possibly they may be on the same site. Also another paved roadway leading down from the city has been discovered near the top of the hill a little east of David's Tomb, and apparently cautinous with the long street which runs through the city from the Damascus Gate and traverses the present Jewish quarters. In its width, in its curb on either side, in the size and appearance of its slabs, and in its inclination, this street resembles the one found in the Tyropœon Valley. Students of Jerusalem topography have long been of opinion that such a roadway existed in this situation. The main thoroughfares of a city are apt to remain in the same spot from age to age, and it has always been thought probable that the great central street of the Holy City was continued further south than the present wall. Of quite special interest is the rock tomb near the Tombs of the Kings described by Mr. Dickie. It is the only rock tomb with a vertical shaft which has yet been discovered in South Palestine."

There are bnt few farmers that know how many chicks they lose in a year. They set every hen that desires to hatch, a large number of chicks come out (but are never counted) and they are carefully attended to; but later in the season, when the farmer begins to inform himself regarding the number on hand he is surprised to find a large majority missing. Gone—the hawks, rats, crows, snakes and family cats have decimated them to a very few. Chicks should be raised on business principles. They should be so managed that the farmer knows how many were hatched, and if a single one is missing he should at once investigate the cause and endeavor to avoid further loss from that source. If this were done there would be more profit and poultry would pay.

An important find of skeletons of prehistoric people, supposed to be cliff dwellers, was made recently on Beaver Creek, Yavapai County, Ariz. The skeletons were laid out in orderly arrangement on natural shelves in the chalklike cliffs bordering the creek. There were about forty skeletons in all, and each was laid on a piece of matting. They were evidently of full-grovn people, but were very small in size and were in a remarkably good state of preservation.

Some one has aptly said there are three classes of people, those who always live within income, those who live up to it, and those who live beyond it. When hard times come two of these classes are apt to be in want. Besides that, there is also the temptation to run into debt, and that opens the way to dishonesty.

Let the grit given your fowls be sharp; it is teeth to them, literally.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP.

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere;
Like troubled spirits, here and there
The firelight shadows flattering go.
And as the shadows round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And softly from a farther room
Comes, "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And somehow, with that little prayer,
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thought goes back to distant years,
And lingers with the dear one there;
And, as I hear the child's Amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me.
Couched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.

Oh, for an hour in that dear place!
Oh, for the peace of that dear time!
Oh, for the childish trust sublime!
Oh, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone—
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."

—Eugene Field.

Wall Paper! Wall Paper!
I wish to call the attention of my friends and the public in general to the fact that I now am ready to show one of the Finest and Cheapest Lines of WALL PAPER ever exhibited in this county, bought direct from the factory, in full bundle lots, so you get it only from second hands, no two or three profits coming off it. Of course the consumer pays them all. Sam Jones says it takes a pointer pup nine days to get his eyes open. I have known some people to get their's open in fifteen minutes in a wall paper deal. They thought it was two pieces instead of one, and the border they did not understand, &c. That is always their plea. Remember I am the only paper hanger in the county that carries a stock and don't have the expense of running a store, therefore I have no opposition. If you think I can't save you money, come and see me and bring size of your room, or send size by mail and I will tell you what your job will cost, and send samples and convince you that Gladhill's is the place to save twenty-five cents on a dollar in wall paper.
