
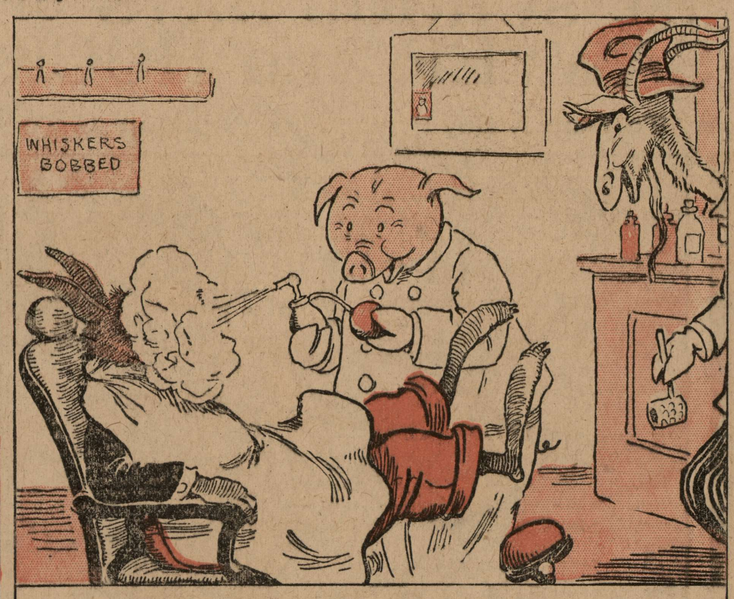
Uncle Wiggily's Adventures

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate. Trade-Mark Registered.

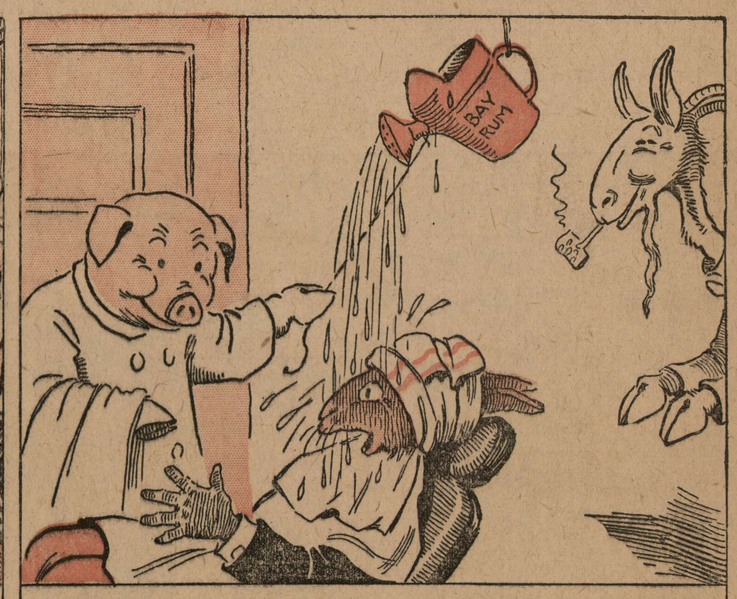
HIPPITY HOP TO THE BARBER SHOP, WENT UNCLE WIGGILY LONGEARS. AND WHEN THE BAD CHAPS ENTERED HE JUST GAVE THEM THREE LOUD CHEERS!

Text by HOWARD R. GARIS
Author of the Famous UNCLE WIGGILY BEDTIME STORIES
Pictured by LANG CAMPBELL

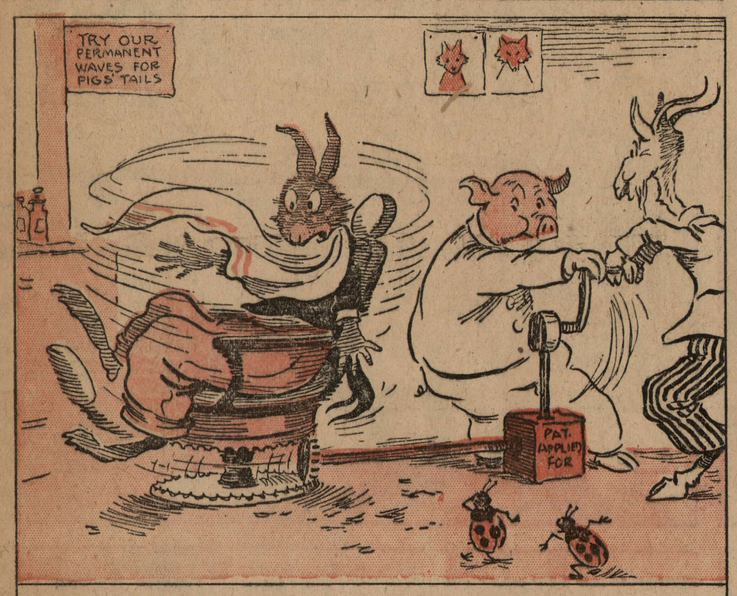
1. "Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" grunted Mr. Twistytail, the pig barber gentleman one day as the bunny passed his shop with Uncle Butter the goat. "Come in!" The rabbit uncle wanted to know why he should go in. "Because you need a hair cut and shave!" grunted the pig. "Do I, Uncle Butter?" asked the bunny. "Your hair is long and so are your whiskers," bleated the goat. "Better get fixed up a bit."



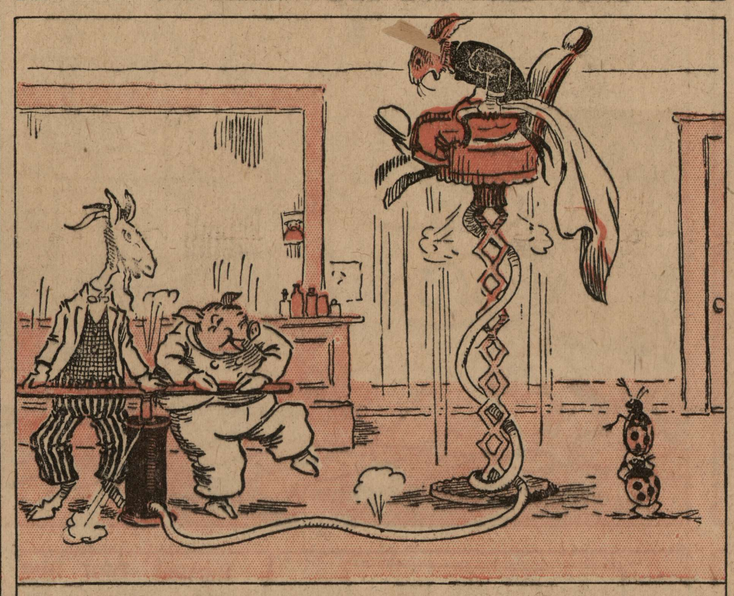
2. Uncle Wiggily took his place in the barber pig's chair. "I'm glad this isn't the dentist's," said Uncle Wiggily with a chuckle. And just then, when his mouth was open to laugh, Mr.. Twistytail began to spray a lot of perfume over the bunny. "Hi! What's the idead of that?" cried the rabbit, gasping for breath. "This is my new way of giving your whiskers a bath!" laughed the pig. "It's good for you! Be still!"



3. After the pig barber had sprayed the bunny with nice smelling perfumed water, he wrapped some towels around Mr. Longears and said: "Now shut your eyes!" Uncle Wiggily closed his eyes. The pig barber pulled a string, there was a clicking sound and from the ceiling down poured a shower of bay rum. "Gurgle google!" cried the bunny, opening his eyes. "What's this?" "My hair tonic shower!" said the pig.



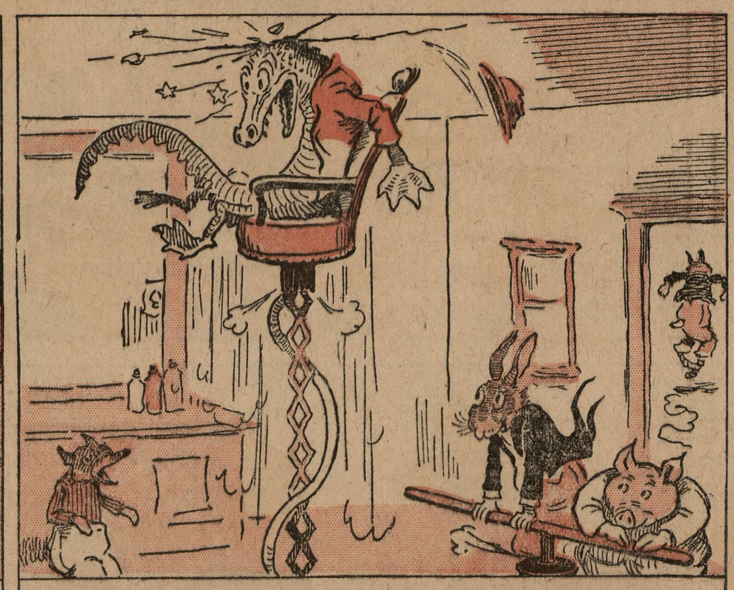
4. "Whew! I thought I was swimming down at Asbury Park!" gasped Uncle Wiggily, when he could catch his breath. "Are you nearly done, Mr. Twistytail?" The pig said there was more to come. "Help me turn this crank, Uncle Butter," he grunted. Before Uncle Wiggily could jump from the chair, he felt himself being twirled about like a merry-go-'round. "This will dry you!" grunted the pig barber.



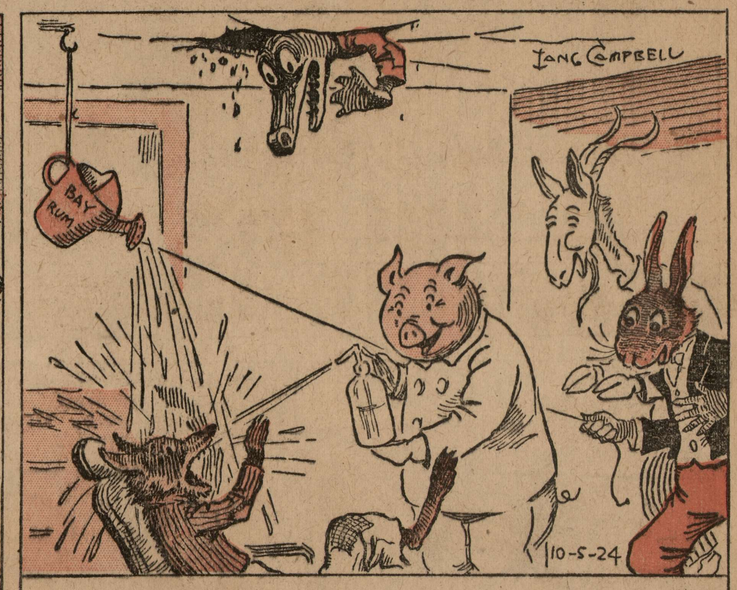
5. Uncle Wiggily whirled around in the chair so fast that soon he was dry. "But I feel dizzy and zizzie," he said faintly. "Haven't you shaved and hair cutted me enough, Mr. Barber? I want to go home!" The pig grunted: "Just a minute! Come on and help me, Uncle Butter!" There was a hissing of air as they worked the pump, and up, up went the bunny, as in an elevator. "What's this?" he cried.

6. "This is my new heart jiggler!" grunted the pig barber. "It makes you feel fine!" He pumped Uncle Wiggily up and down, until the bunny's whiskers were nicely curled and his fur had a permanent wave in it. "There, now you look much better!" said the pig barber. And then, all of a sudden, the Bob Cat, the Skillery Scallery Alligator and the Fox popped into the shop, crying: "Boo! Boo!"

7. Uncle Butter tried to run away, but the Squiggle Bugs clung to his tail, crying: "Come back and help Uncle Wiggily!" Before the Bob Cat could bite him, the bunny pushed the short-tailed chap into the chair. "Now I'll give you a ride!" cried Uncle Wiggily. He twirled the Bob Cat, making him feel very dizzy-izzie, while the pig and goat stood guard over the 'Gator and Fox. It was their turns next.



8. "Next!" cried Uncle Wiggily, as he twirled the chair extra fast and shot the Bob Cat out of the door, like playing crack the whip. "Take the Alligator!" bleated Uncle Butter. "I'll watch the Fox until it's his turn!" The Alligator was put in the chair, and then Uncle Wiggily and the pig pumped the chair up until it hit the ceiling with a bang. "Ouch!" gargled the 'Gator. "You hurt my nose! Gurra!"



9. Little cared Uncle Wiggily about the Alligator's nose. "Pump a little harder!" cried the bunny, and they shot the Alligator right up through the ceiling. "Now it's your turn, Mr .Fox!" cried the goat gentleman. The Fox was put in the chair. "He must have a good wash!" cried the rabbit, pulling the shower bath. And when the Fox was sprayed with many sprays he cried: "I'll be good! Let me go!"

And if the automobile doesn't get its shoes wet when it splashes in the mud puddle with the motor cycle, the next pictures and story will be about

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PUMPKIN PARTY.

© Maryland State Archives mdsa_sc3410_1_81-0278.jpg