DISTINCT SWING TO DAVIS IS INDICATED EVERYWHERE—"STRAW VOTES" DISCREDITED

Claims And Predictions Of G. O. P. Newspapers And Propagandists For Coolidge So Contradictory And Confusing That No One Takes Them Seriously.

(From the Washington Correspondent of The Jeffersonian)

Notable among the political developments of the last ten days is the discounting of "straw votes" as a reflex of sentiment among voters. The Democratic National Committee has showed by analyzing the returns of the Literary Digest's polls and predictions in 1912 and 1916 that if these had been accurate, Taft and Hughes would have been overwhelmingly elected in those respective years. Wilson, of course, was elected both times.

Claims and predictions on the part of correspondents of partisan Republican newspapers and other propagandists for Coolidge have become so contradictory and confusing that no one is now taking them seriously. The fact is that in practically all communities in which La-Follette has acquired a following, even the local politicians, familiar as they ordinarily are with political conditions and tendencies, are un-

WHAT REPUBLICAN AND INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPERS THINK OF JOHN W. DAVIS.

"Nobody must minimize the appeal John W. Davis made to the people. He is one of the ablest and most outstanding men we have."—Des Moines Tribune (Republican).

"It can be said now that John W. Davis is the ablest Democratic living today and it's been a long time since the Democratic Party offered a stronger man to the electorate."—Sioux City Journal (Republican).

"Davis has ability. He has exceptional fitness for the White House. He is democratic. His is a proud record marked by evidences of great ability."—Philadelphia Public Ledger (Republican).

"There are few men in the United States as well fitted for the duties and responsibilities of the Presidency as Mr. Davis."—Manchester, N. H. Mirror (Republican).

"Mr. Davis can be relied on to take high ground and keep it."—Detroit News (Independent).

"John W. Davis is a man of unquestioned integrity and ability. Davis and Bryan make a good ticket, as good as ever nominated by the Democrats."—Portland, Ore., Telegram (Republican).

"Mr. Davis is a man of high character and excellent attainments, who has served his country worthily and whose standing as a lawyer and a citizen is not to be questioned."—Milwaukee Sentinel (Rep).

"John W. Davis is a man of high character and ability, of ducation, of distinguished ability and of emminence in his profession. His political career has been brief but notable."—Chicago Daily News (Independent).

"John W. Davis is equipped probably better equipped, than any other man to undertake to perform the duties of the Presidency."—Ohio State Journal (Republican).

"Rarely has the choice of the Democratic Party fallen upon a man so eminently fitted in national and international affairs as John W. Davis."—Albany N. Y. Knickerbocker Press (Republican).

"The two Democratic candidates, John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, are unexceptionable for personal character, and are men of demonstrated ability."—Christian Science Monitor (Ind.)

SHEA FOUND GUILTY

Towsonite Sentenced To 6 Months In "Cut" And $300 Fine.

James Shea, Jr., who resides at the corner of the York Road and Chesapeake avenue, Towson, was found guilty of selling liquor without a license and sentenced by Judge Duncan to six months in the House of Correction and to pay a fine of $300.

Four other cases are pending against Shea, and from intimations by his counsel all will be carried to the Court of Appeals.

ENTHUSIASTIC DEMOCRATIC MEETING HELD AT KINGSVILLE.

An enthusiastic Democratic mass meeting was held on Tuesday night at Kingsville. J. Fletcher H. Gorsuch, Jr., presided. Stirring addresses were delivered by Congressman Millard E. Tydings, W. Trickett Giles and Elmer R. Haile. The meeting was largely attended.

AUTO VANDALS ACTIVE

Farmers Complain That Some Even Milk Their Cows.

Some county farmers, especially those lying on well-paved highways, never know when they go to bed whether they will have to do their milking and gather fruit and vegetables in the morning or not.

Numerous complaints have reached the police that autoists have been visiting farmers' barns during the night, milking cows and raiding orchards and vegetable patches.

POLICEMAN EXONERATED

Sergt. J. Wade Walter "Yanked" Before Board On Charges Made By Game Dept.

The County Commissioners exonerated Sergt. J. Wade Walter, who was "yanked" before the Board on charges of interfering with State Deputy Game Wardens.

The evidence showed that when the two shabby and insignificant specimens of deputies had arrested two men near Essex on charges of violating the game law, Sergt. Walter questioned their authority, taking them with their prisoners to the Essex Police Station until their identity could be established.

GAME SEASON OPENS

Wild Fowl May Be Shot Beginning Today—Pheasant Killing Banned.

Killing the Chinese ringnecked pheasants at any time in Maryland is unlawful, the game division of the State Conservation Department said in a bulletin indicating the approach of the open season for other kinds of game.

Wild water fowl, including ducks, geese and brant, may be shot from November 1 to January 31, with a bag limit of 25 a day for each person. Use of boats is forbidde except in certain localities sink boxes may be allowed.

The season for upland game runs from November 10 to January 1, inclusive. The daily bag limits are: Quail, 12; ruffed grouse, 2; doves, 25; woodcock, 6; rabbits, 10; squirrels, 25. Only four wild turkeys may be killed in one season by any one hunter.

Purchase or sale of upland fowl or water fowl is forbidden. Swan and summer ducks are not to be killed at all.

Approximately 15,000 rabbits will be imported from other States for distribution throughout the counties

FRUIT GROWERS WARNED TO GUARD ORCHARDS FROM MICE—MUCH INJURY LIABLE AFTER NOV. 1ST

Methods Of Precaution Vary According To Species Of Rodent And Cultural Practices Followed—General Information Given In Farmers' Bulletin 1397.

The all season is the time when the far-sighted orchardist makes preparations to guard against possible injury to his trees by hungry field mice, which gnaw the trunks and roots. Such injury is liable to occur at any ime after November 1, although most of it usually is inflicted in mid-winter of very early in spring under cover of heavy snow an dwhen the more favored food supply is running low, according to the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture.

That serious injury to orchard trees by mice occurs only at irregular intervals makes the menace the greater, for it usually catches the orchardist unprepared and wholly unaware of the damage being done until the melting snow in ing the hidden work of the mice on the roots.

PRAISES TYDINGS

Simpson Unconsciously Endorses Democratic Candidate's Stand In Congress.

In his personal platform Mr. Simpson, the Republican candidate for Congress against Millard E. Tydings Democratic candidate, comes out against publicity of income tax returns.

In so doing he endorses Mr. Tydings, his opponent, on the measure, for Congress. Tydings was the first member of Congress to take the floor in Washington and to denounce the publicity of tax returns as an unwarranted interference into the private business of the individual citizen.

Mr. Tydings spoke at length against this proposition as contrary to the provisions of the Constitution.

MAN DIES ON TRAIN

New Yorker Succumbs On Express Speeding Through County.

Hyman Feltenstein, fifty, a New York hat manufacturer, died of heart disease on a Pennsylvania Railroad train while it was speeding through Baltimore county to Baltimore city. He was a member of the firm of Feltenstein & Jeffe.

Relatives were notified. The body was taken from the train at Union Station. Dr. W. T. Riley, coroner of the Central district, gave a certificate of death due to natural causes.

WHAT REPUBLICAN AND INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPERS THINK OF JOHN W. DAVIS.

"The Democrats have an able candidate, one of which it should be proud."—Minneapolis Tribune (Republican).

"Mr. Davis stands high. His intellectual attainment are above dispute."—Indianapolis News (Republican).

"John W. Davis is a man in whose hands the welfare of the country will be safe. On controversical questions there is no doubt where he stands."—St. Paul Pioneer Press (Republican).

"In Mr. Davis the Democratic Party has a leader who commands the sincere respect of the country, whose record is without blemish, whose personal character is high and whose ability is exceptional."—Washington Star (Republican).

"Mr. Davis' ability and personality command not only his Party alone, but the American people to the belief that fitness, after all, need not be a bar to political preferment."—Kansas City Star (Rep.)

"Not since Grover Cleveland was a candidate for the Presidence have the Democrats had a stronger standardbearer than John W. Davis."—Portland, Me. Herald (Republican).

"Ability, character, sound judgment, general capacity, all considered, the Democrats have by far the best man."—Boston Herald (Republican).

"Democrats are to be congratulated in having a candidate of the John W. Davis type. He is clean and worthy."—Duluth News-Tribune (Republican).

"Let us say that we yield to nobody in admiration of John W. Davis. One would search the country in vain for a man with such qualifications."—Washington Post (Rep.)

"John W. Davis is an able man. He is a man to inspire confidence."—South Bend Tribune (Republican).

"Mr. Davis, if elected, may be trusted to put the Constitution of the United States and the good of the country first. His principles are sound, his record clean."—Connecticut Enquirer (Independent).

TASTE OF JURY DUTY MAKES SOME MEN CRAVE FOR MORE

"Jake" Wilhelm, Court Bailiff, Says Many Come For Extra Service, While Some Try To Dodge It.

"Jake" Wilhelm, who hails from up around Mt. Carmel, and who has been attached to the Court at Towson for years as bailiff, makes known the fact that many men after losing three or four weeks from their business to serve as jurors, are anxious to get back for more.

"Jake" presides over the single assembly room where the panels are "locked up," and is in a position to know.

"Some of them," he said, "ask to be permitted to serve again because they feel they are fulfilling duty and upholding the right of every citizen to trial by jury. Others, however, like sitting as jurors because it offers them an escape from the ordinary routine of life.

"They come into court and take part in an interesting spectacle. Each day there is something fresh and new to hold their interest. It is not the same old thing, day after day, that they have in their business life."

GHOST IS WALKING

At Least County Resident Claims One Is Collecting Bed Knobs.

Baltimore county police are on the trail of a ghost.

The critter has been reported stealing brass bed knobs.

An elderly couple, residing in the "upper end," has complained to Marshall Stansbury that "a terrible din, weird crashings and rumblings were heard one night after they retired."

A search failed to disclose the cause of the noises. All doors were locked and all windows fastened. Hardly had the husband retired to

SIXTY MADE HOMELESS

Fire Wrecks Ten Houses In St. Helena Section—Others Damaged.

Sixty persons were made homeless and many of them were forced to flee in their night clothing when fire swept 10 houses in the 300 block of Baltimore avenue, St. Helena. Eight of the houses were wrecked, while the other two were damaged badly by fire and water. A store in the block was damaged slightly.

Families living in the houses practically lost all their belongings, although a few of them managed to drag out some bed clothing and a small amount of furniture.

Although little wind was blowing, the blaze spread rapidly. An explosion occurred at 317 Baltimore avenue an hour after the fire was discovered in the same house.

X OPPOSITE NAME OF DAVIS AND BRYAN, CARRIES EIGHT ELECTORS

Ballot To Be Voted Tuesday Carries No Blank Spaces And Printed In Accordance With New Law Passed By Last Legislature.

The official ballot to be voted at Tuesday's general election has been delivered from the printer and packed in the ballot boxes ready for distribution among the election officials of the various precincts.

Since the new election law, passed at the last session of the Legislature, does not prescribe the order in which groups of names are to be arranged on the ballot the Democrats have placed Davis and Bryan at the head of the first column, with the names of the eight Democratic electoral candidates immediately following.

The Coolidge and Dawes group come next, with LaFollete and Wheeler following, and then Johns and Reynolds, Labor candidates, next. At the head of the second column are the names of candidates for the House of Representatives, followed by the School Loan, and at the bottom of the second column are two Constitutional Amendments.

No blank spaces appear on the ballot, which is in accordance with the new election law. Formerly voters could write in the spaces the

WATER IS RECEDING

Continued Drought Has Diminished Supply At Loch Raven.

Nearly the whole month of October has been dry, and wheat farmers are crying for rain.

Water has stopped flowing over the dam at Loch Raven; however, there is no danger of a water shortage, for there is a reserve supply of 18,000,000,000 gallons.

This, it was estimated, is enough to last five and one-half months if the Gunpowder River stops running. In other words, if there are no hard rains or snow during the next six months, a condition regarded as improbable, there is enough water on hand to last until spring.
