FORD'S.

The name of Henry W. Savage on a musical production has usually been synonymous with excellence of singing voices. The array of dancing talent promised in "Lollipop," Mr. Savage's new musical play which comes to the Ford's Theatre, Baltimore, next week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday, with enthusiastic New York and Boston reports, prompts inquiry as to whether Mr. Savage's taste has suddenly turned from the song to the dance.

He made the experiment in "Loll

Sunday. The intent of the title is a bit ironical as these occurrences are not the sort marked with the calm that is supposed to go with the day of rest.

"Of A Sunday" is being staged by Lester Lonergan, who directed "Abraham Lincoln" and "East is West" for Mr. Harris. The scenes are by Livingston Platt, designer of all Mr. Harris' sets for the past few years.

The new comedy will be seen here the week of November 3rd and will then go to New York for its metropolitan premiere.

LILLIAN SHAW AT MARYLAND.

Some learned professor delved into fun as a science and brought forth a volume of several hundred pages on the art of deriving comedy.

Clayton and Lennie have not read one word of the book nor have they spent one second of their time in analyzing fun as a science. To them they find it as natural as breathing and that is the only kind of comedy worth laughing at and it is only possible with natural comedians of different types. Clayton and Lennie are of the eccentric variety and the kind bordering on a class known in vaudeville as "nuts," that is, they are irrational and substitute nonsense for sense, but it is this sort of comicality that has made one of the laughing hits of vaudeville.

There is no more distinctive comedienne in vaudeville than Miss Lillian Shaw, and few acts are more certain to please an audience than does her offering. Her dialect ballads of the Italian-American have come to be vaudeville classics. She opens her act with a Hebrew character portrayal in song. In this she establishes herself as a comedienne. She sings with the necessary props a song of the woes and worries of a young mother and from this theme gets a wealth of fun. Among other songs is "I Gotta De Rock," sung with great gusto in Italian dialect. In cities where Miss Shaw has appeared she is always welcomed back and her first appearance is bound to win the favor of her audience.

PLAY AT SWEET AIR TONIGHT.

Tonight (Saturday) a play entitled "Twelve Old Maids" will be

THE GO-GETTER.

The Go-Getter goes till he gets what he goes for;
The go-getter works till he reaps what he sows for.
He fixes a goal and resolves when he sets it,
The way to a goal is to go till he gets it.

The country is crowded with weakling diminishers,
And plastered with want-ads for resolute finishers.
It's easy enough to start things with a roar,
But hard to keep pulling when biceps are sore.

The pushers are legion who push to begin,
But pushers are rare who will push till they win.
The booster we need is the one who will boost
Till the cattle come home and the hens go to roost.

There's many an auto equipped with a starter
That starts up the hill like the charge of a Tartar!
But soon it is found to have also a stopper;
The auto for us is the one with a topper.

The highway of life has a hundred who peter
To one who will stick and become a repeater.
To seer and dreamer the world is a debtor,
But passes its handsomer gifts to the better.

The go-getter goes till he gets what he goes for;
The go-getter works till he reaps what he sows for.
He fixes a goal, and resolves when he gets it,
The way to the prize is to go till he gets it.

TAKING A LITTLE CREDIT.

S. S. Teacher—Can you tell me who made you, Joseph?

Joe—God made part of me.

S. S. Teacher—Why, what do you mean by that?

Joe—He made me real little, and I just growed the rest myself.

THE WICKED CADDIE.

Among Mr. Carnegie's innumerable Scotch stories is one about a caddie of St. Andrews.

This caddie's wife—so Mr. Carnegie's story runs—was much troubled by her husband's loose way of life. He could never have a good day on the links but he must end it with a wet night at the tavern. So, to cure him, the woman lay in wait on the road one evening, dressed in a white sheet.

When her husband appeared she rose from behind a hedge, an awful white figure, with outspread arms.

"Who the de'll are you?" asked the intemperate caddie.

"I'm Auld Nickie," said the figure, in a hollow voice.

"Gie's a shake o' yer hand, then," said the tipsy caddie. "I'm married tae a sister o' yours. She'll be waitin' for us up at the hoose, an' tae doot she'll mak' ye welcom."

EIGHT POLES TO THE WILL.

"Speaking of railroad service in Georgia," said a traveling salesman of Baltimore, "one day I was waiting for a train in a small town of that State. One hour, two hours, three hours passed, but no train pulled in. I was about to negotiate for a vehicle to drive me to the place I wished to make, when the station agent said:

"I wouldn't go to that trouble, sir. The train'll be along soon now."

"What makes you think so?"

"Well," he answered, "I'm pretty certain of it. Here comes the conductor's dog now."

PUFFICKLY GOOD REASON.

Chloride, the colored maid, had announced her impending departure.

"What's the matter, Chloride?" asked her mistress. "Aren't your wages sufficient? Don't we treat you right?"

"Wellum, de wages is all right, an' mostly yo' treats me right, but de trouble is dis: Dere am too much liftin' of de dishes fo' de fewness of the victuals."

EXTREME EMERGENCIES.

"This bell," said the well-meaning sexton, when showing the bell at a certain church to a party of visitors, is only rung in case of a visit from the lord bishop, a fire, a flood, or some other such calamity."

CNSLATION.

Two sisters—apparently all in love to each other—had lived together for many years. Then, when the one was ninety-eight and the other ninety-six the elder died. The relative who undertook the task of breaking the painful news to the survivor feared the shock would be fatal to her. But the old lady bore it wonderfully. "Ah, well," she sighed, "now I suppose I shall be able to have my tea made as I like it."

A GRAVE MISTAKE.

"Hello! I want to order a box for tomorrow."

"What size?"

"There will be six of us in the party."

"But they come only in single sizes—we'll have to have it made special."

"Is this the Yyceum?"

"No, it is the undertaker."

FULL BENCH TO SIT

State's Attorney Requests All Three Judges To Hear Fedeli Case.

State's Attorney H. Courtenay Jenifer appeared before Judge Frank I. Duncan in the Circuit Court at Towson Thursday and requested that all the judges of the court, Chief Judge T. Scott Offutt and Associate Judges Frank I. Duncan and Walter W. Preston, sit during the trial of Mrs. Antoinette Fedeli, charged with the murder of her husband, which is scheduled to begin November 6. William Curran, counsel for Mrs. Fedeli, was with Mr. Jenifer at the time.

Judge Duncan, in reply, stated that it was unusual to ask for a full bench except in capital cases and intimated to the State's Attorney that the court would like to know, before acceding to his request, what decree of punishment the State would ask for. The State's Attorney thereupon replied that it was the intention of the State to ask for a conviction of murder in the first degree. A jury trial having been prayed by the accused, counsel asked the court to direct the Sheriff to summon a number of talismen on the day of trial, which request was granted.

FIVE RECORDS ESTABLISED AND TEN BROKEN IN BAY SORE AIR PAGEANT.

Ten records were broken and five established at Bay Shore in the greatest aerial pageant in history. Ten thousand persons banked the beach at Bay Shore and watched the airmen perform.

Speed, distance and weight-carrying records were broken. In addition Lieut. O. B. Hardison, piloting the PN-7 seaplane, established five new marks in one flight. His plane carried 4,040 pounds, the heaviest load ever borne by an airplane. His records are for various distances and weights.

George T. Cuddihy broke the world's maximum speed record for 300 kilometers straightaway, his course lying over the heads of the crowd. He attained the speed of 188.129 miles an hour. The old record was 174.07 miles an hour.

The Schneider Cup race was won by Lieut. Ralph A. Ofstie, whose plane was the only one to finish the flight of 500 kilometers. Lieutenant Cuddihy, who started, dropped out at the 300-kilometer mark. During the race Lieutenant Ofstie broke three world records.
