CHARLES H. SMITH,
ALPHAEUS STANSBURY,

JESSE SMITH.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER,
ALFRED T. BUCKINGHAM.

FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR,
WILLIAM E. ROOP.

It is reported from Washington that Senator Wellington will withdraw his endorsement of Dr. Washington G. Tuck, of Annapolis, for the appointment of Interval Revenue Collector. Dr. Tuck opposed Mr. Wellington's views in relation to the Baltimore primaries.

It was announced that Mr. Newton S. Cook, of Washington county, a Republican recommended by Senator Wellington, was to have been Special Deputy Collector of Customs at Baltimore, vice Prof. James A. Diffenbaugh, transferred to the classified deputy collectorship, but the announcement appears to have been premature, Secretary Gage having concluded to leave the place vacant for the present and save the country $250 a month.

Mr. Malster is to have a walk over in the Republican primaries, for the mayorielty nomination in Baltimore, Mr. Marburg, who was the choice of the regulars, having withdrawn from the contest. Disagreements as to the personnel of candidates for other places on the ticket, as well as the great expense involved in conducting primaries under the law, are some of the causes named as impelling Mr. Marburg to take the action mentioned. Efforts are being made to harmonize the warring elements.

All signs point to healthy development in the business and trade of this country. There has been no sudden, rocket-like exhibition of prosperity, succeeded by collapse and the fall of the extinct stick. Gradually—sometimes slowly, but all the time surely—for months past, business has been reviving, mills have been resuming operations and employment of labor has been increasing. Even as these lines are being penned a letter comes to hand from a subscriber at Meredosia, Ills., who says: "Yes, prosperity is coming to stay. Farmers are shelling their corn to make room for the crop which is now about safe. This town is experiencing a sort of car famine and can't get cars to ship the corn as fast as it is sold." So farmers are prospering, labor is becoming more and more in demand, merchants are beginning to prosper and the good time is here to stay.

All authorities except country Democratic newspapers agree that a much more prosperous condition is prevalent in this country than existed at any time during the last four and a half years. All trade and mercantile journals announce a large increase in almost every branch of business throughout the country. At every business centre transactions have increased largely. Retail merchants are buying more freely than formerly and in turn the wholesale trade is increasing its demand upon the manufacturer and producer. Exports are much greater and imports less, showing a large balance of trade in favor of this country. Pessimistic Democratic newspapers still hunt around for and publish reports of business failures in support of their gloomy views, but the country goes on prospering and these knights of the pencil are sorely pressed for material upon which to base their assertions to their prosperous readers that they are still in the Slough of Despond.

The new Democratic County Central Committee met at the court house on Monday and organized by the election of Mr. B. F. Crouse, chairman, Mr. E. O. Weant, secretary, and Dr. Jos. T. Hering, treasurer. These were the officers of the retiring committee. The committee directed the chairman of the nominating convention, held in this city July 26th, to reconvene that body for the purpose of filling the vacancies caused by the declimation of Messrs Nathaniel Bay and Jno. Oliver Wadlow as candidates for the House of Delegates and Register of Wills, respectively. Previous to the meeting of the committee some curiosity was expressed as to the proper proceeding in the premises, and new primaries and a new convention were thought to be a possibility. It was known, however, to the chairman of the committee and others that the original convention did not adjourn, no formal motion to that effect having been made. It was therefore found unnecessary to proceed de novo in the matter. A sub-committee of one member in each district was appointed to manage the pending county campaign.

A bomb was exploded in the enclosure of a church in Paris, France, on Tuesday, about ten minutes after President Faure had passed the locality. It is supposed the explosion was designed to injure or destroy the President of the French Republic, this having been the third attempt in that direction.

While many seekers after fortune are flocking to the Klondyke gold fields, reports come from that inhospitable region that provisions are running short and miners are in danger of starving to death.

STILL FOR FREE SILVER.

The Pennsylvania Free Silver Democrats stand to their colors. At their State convention, held at Reading on Tuesday, they endorsed the Chicago platform by a vote of 290 to 134, and congratulated Mr. Wm. J. Bryan, the "glorious champion of a righteous cause," as they proclaimed it, "for his masterly leadership in support" of the principles therein enunciated. They demanded the removal of Mr. William F. Harrity, a Gold Democrat who voted for Bryan, from the National Democratic Committee, and the substitution of James M. Guffy, a free silverite, in his place. The convention was a wild and stormy assemblage, and at one period a crowd of delegates was on the platform fighting like tigers. They need a Gorman ever there to teach them how to express their principles less explicitly and yet maintain them.

Mr. Harrity thinks the time is not far distant when the Democracy of Pennsylvania will recede from its present position. Mr. Harrity may be right. It is only necessary to convince them and the Democracy throughout the country likewise, that free silver cannot win, to induce them to adopt some other heresy by which the people may be deceived into voting the Democratic ticket. Being yet unconvinced to that effect they are still for free silver.

CIVIL SERVICE AGAIN.

Events have recently occurred in connection with the existing civil service system of the country, not calculated to win it friends, or establish it firmly in the favor of the people. Nothing has taken place since the introduction of the system to attract to it as much public attention as the sweeping extension of the rules by President Cleveland, near the close of his term, and the subsequent practical confirmation of that extension by President McKinley. The masses of the people are giving the matter more and more consideration and it is, undoubtedly, not growing in public favor. In fact, it must be apparent that a spirit of downright hostility to it is being rapidly developed and it is probable that the time is not far distant when that spirit will take the form of organized opposition.

The projectors of the civil service movement are responsible for the growing antagonism to their hobby. They have forced it too rapidly, and they will find it like a hothouse plant—not able to endure the chill blasts of popular hostility. In fact, the kind of civil service reform projected by its inventors and accepted by the law-making and law-executing powers is not the kind desired by the people. It limits the public service to a favored class and bars the way of too many to official preferment. Its methods of examination are open to objection and its practical creation of life tenures in office is repugnant to the people, in a government of the people. Impracticable theorists may pass examination in the highest grade, while practical business men, amply competent to fill almost any public station, may fail in examination utterly, because they have not been students of school-books since their school or college days. Men capable of exercising sound judgment in cases where such judgment is important may be outclassed by callow school boys.

These are things to which the public attention is being aroused, and those who desire genuine civil service reform should begin to realize that a popular storm is brewing that will uproot and destroy the whole structure, invented by Dorman B. Eaton and his associates, and leave absolutely nothing in its place but the old spoils system, unless modifications are made in that structure. It would be a matter of keen regret, if that should come to pass without the erection of another and better one. We believe, however, there is wisdom enough among practical American statesmen, to devise a system that will be satisfactory to everybody except those who aspire to life tenures, and yet give a service more efficient than that at present in force.

SHALL IT BE THE OLD STORY OVER AGAIN?

If voters were not governed in large measure by party ties and partisan influences and, in the particular case of the Maryland election this year, would calmly consider the effect of their ballots, it is safe to say the majority would not be on the Democratic side. Let the citizen who has been voting the Democratic ticket in the past ask himself these questions: "In what manner have I benefitted my country, my State, my county, my home, myself and family by thus casting my ballot? What is to be gained by continuing to do so? What measure that has been of advantage nationally or locally can be credited to the Democratic party? When, during the last twenty years, has the country been most prosperous? under Democratic or Republican administration?" And, having given the political history of the country and state a careful review, he will be constrained to admit that, in the main, Democratic supremacy has been baneful and not beneficial; that when the Democrats were in power in the country the tendency was toward business depression; that when Democrats dominated the state, bossism was rampant and one-man power constantly in force; that fraudulent elections were part of the common history of the state; that, as the Democratic county convention of Carroll county in 1894 put it, the "right of the people to control their own affairs" was denied; that ringism flourished and the fruits of Democratic victories were gathered by a chosen few, while the masses were placated with promises and lived on unfulfilled expectations.

This indictment feebly portrays the effects of long years of Democratic control in state affairs, and the disastrous consequences of accidental Democratic victories in the nation.

And now comes the question: Shall there be a return to these things? Democratic victory in Maryland means the renewal of the lease of power so long potently wielded by the old regime. It means "Gormanism and Gorman methods" as surely as Gorman is still the potentate of Maryland Democracy. It means the absolute surrender of the party to his control and such experiences in the future as have besmirched the fair name of the state in the past the "plugging of corporations;" the debauching of the ballot; the submission of the people to the will of an autocrat who denies them their rights. But, if voters act without prejudice, there need be no fear that we shall have this old, old story over again. The good work begun two years ago will be fully consummated and bossism, with all its attendant evils, will be "relegated to the rear" to stay there.

UNITED AMERICAN MECHANICS.

The National Council of the Order of United American Mechanics will meet in annual session, in Baltimore, during the week commencing September 12th. Delegates will be present from thirty-eight States, and it is expected that the event will attract about 1500 visitors to Baltimore. Among the National Representatives from this county are Messrs. C. Harry Stein, Wm. H. Morningstar, and D. E. Little, of Union Bridge. A picture of Mr. Stein was published, among others, in the Baltimore American of Monday last, which gave the following sketch of his life:

National Council Representative C. Harry Stein was born in Baltimore July 23, 1871, and is an honor graduate of Baltimore City College. After leaving college he connected himself with the W. Md. Railroad and has been in the company's employ for the past eight years. He joined Rescue Council, No. 34, when he was eighteen years of age, and by his activity and energetic work was soon placed in various positions, and became an ex-councilor eighteen months after his admission as a member of the council. He was admitted as a member of the state council in February, 1892, and has served the body as its secretary from February, 1893, to April, 1896. He was elected a national council representative in 1893, for three years, and re-elected for three years April, 1896, without any opposition.

The councils in this state are located in Baltimore city, Frederick, Carroll, Cecil, Harford, Wicomico, Dorchester, Caroline and other counties. They have paid out during the past year for sick benefits $3,216.74; for death benefits, $3,145—a total of $6,361.74, leaving a balance in subordinate council treasuries of $18,260.94. The only council in this county is located at Union Bridge.

Joseph A. Seibert's barn, 80 by 50 feet, near Fairview, Washington county, was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning. About 1,200 bushels of wheat, a load of fertilizer, a new binder, hay-tedder, corn-planter and several mows of hay were burned up. One fourth of the wheat, all of the hay and implements were owned by the tenant, Andrew Forsythe, who had no insurance.

The grist mill of A. S. Zents, near Thurmont, Frederick, county, took fire from a spark from the smokestack on Friday evening of last week and was entirely consumed, together with 600 bushels of wheat. During the progress of the fire the boiler exploded. The property was insured for $3,000 and will not be rebuilt.

Prospects of a compromise between the operators and miners in the great coal mining strike in West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, lead to the hope that the trouble is nearly at an end, and that the miners will soon be at work again.

More horses have died of blind staggers in Dorchester county in the past six weeks than in the previous twenty-five years. It is estimated that over a hundred have been carried off by the disease, for which there seems to be no remedy.

An official report to Governor Atkinson, of West Virginia, states that of the 22,000 coal miners of the State 10,000 are now on strike.

DIED

In Manchester, August 24th, 1897, David Shultz, aged 77 years, 4 months and 24 days.

In fond remembrance of our dear brother, E. JEROME MYERS, who departed this life August 31st, 1896.

"Gone but not forgotten."

Oh! how many lonely hours
We have passed since thou art gone,
But the Lord has been our comfort,
And in him our faith is strong.

Just one year ago to-day,
We laid thee in thy silent house of clay,
Fondly hoping in our bosom,
We shall meet thee some sweet day.

By his brother, E. H. MYERS.

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, E. JEROME MYERS, who died one year ago, August 31st, 1896.

You are not forgotten husband dear,
Nor ever will you be;
For as long as life or memory lasts,
I will remember thee.

Father thou art gone but not forgotten.

When years ago we gathered
Joy was in our home,
But a golden chord is severed
And our hopes in ruin lie.

Home is sad and lonely too,
Lonely, dreary every spot;
Listening for his voice till weary,
Weary, for we hear it not.

BY HIS WIFE.

Our Mr. M. Schneeberger, formerly of Westminster, who is now connected with us, will be pleased to greet you and will make it his special study to advance your interests.

Having bought our Winter Goods before the new tariff went into effect we are now enabled to display the largest and most complete line of

Fancy and Black Dress Goods,

latest styles of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Cloaks, Ladies' and Gents' Underwear, Ladies' ready-made Skirts, Lace Curtains and Portieres, etc., etc., at the old low prices for which the Trade Palace is so well known.
