PEACHES! PEACHES!!

I hereby respectfully notify the public that I have a Peach Orchard on the road leading from Union Bridge to Uniontown, about 1½ miles from former place, and have a full crop of the best varieties, namely: Smock, Salway, Rivers' Comet, and White Heath Cling. These peaches will be marketable next week, and wagons will supply the citizens of Westminster. I will sell in the orchard by bushel measure, at prices to suit the times.

SEPTEMBER.

BY SARA GROENEVELT.

From Our Dumb Animals.

The gentians are awakened in the pastures,
  The goldenrod, so regal, and so tall,
Like a kingly sceptre, filigreed, is standing
  Beside the garden's mossy wall.
The birds have finished their croquetting,
  The katy-dids are piping up—"'Tis Fall."
And in the pleasant weather, along the upper ether,
  We can hear the immigrating songsters call,
As with wide and wary glances,
  They shoot like feathered lances,
Along the blue expanses,
  With watchword cry—"'Tis Fall."

The clouds, with rugged edges,
Trail their shadows o'er the sedges;
  There is a suggestive cadence in the breeze's plaintive voice;
But the grain-fields, golden glowing,
And the corn-bins, overflowing,
  Bid the sturdy husbandmen rejoice.
On all sides Nature's calling,
  She is calling to them, "Come,
In faith ye sowed and watered—
  Now shout, 'The Harvest Home.'"

Now come, come, come and wander
Into the forest yonder,
Where, 'neath the groined porches,
With oriflammes and torches,
  Stand Nature's Druid kings.
In gorgeous caps and tunics,
They chant their hymns and runics,
And take their tithes and offerings
  Of Nature's precious things.

Down, down amid the glories,
That tell the summer's stories,
  How softly I will kneel;
And at the twilight hour, there comes my richest dower,
For through the dusky portals, the bright, the bright immortals
  To my humble trysting steal.
They come, they come, they come, they come,
And softly tell of home, of home,
Where summer never wanes,
Where are no griefs nor pains,
No sin nor mortal strife,
To mar the Perfect Life.

A GREAT GRAIN AND CATTLE MARKET.

From Harper's Weekly.

In 1896 Kansas raised 30 million bushels of wheat, Nebraska 19 million, and Oklahoma 5 million. In 1897 Kansas has 50 million bushels of wheat, Nebraska 30 million, and Oklahoma 20 million. In 1896 the farmers sold their wheat for 40 cents a bushel. In 1897 the farmers are selling their wheat close to the dollar mark. In this territory alone the difference in crop and price means a difference of about 75 million dollars in the income of the farmers, or as much as the entire cotton crop brings to the Texas planters. In 1896 this same territory produced 555 million bushels of corn, and sold it for 12 cents a bushel. This year it will produce 600 million bushels, and will sell it for 17 cents or more. In 1896 5,471,246 head of live-stock, worth 104 million dollars, passd through the Kansas City stock-yards. In 1897 6 million head, worth 150 million dollars, will be handled there. Cattle are twenty per cent. higher this year, hogs thirty per cent. and sheep about the same. The great demand is for stock cattle to restock depleted ranges, and for thin cattle, or "feeders," to eat the great corn crop of this famed section. The price now being paid for feeders indicate a continuation of high prices for beef cattle for at least three years to come. Wheat, corn, and cattle are not the only things being sold at a handsome profit from this area. The Kansas Valley is noted for its potatoes. Potatoes are plenty in the Kansas Valley and scarce elsewhere, hence three times is much as being paid for them this year as last. August 2nd there stood in the railroad yards of Chicago 100 car-loads of potatoes from the Kansas Valley, for which 50 cents a bushel had been paid. Apples, peaches, and other fruits are likewise plentiful here and scarce elsewhere. One man near Atchison, Kansas, sold his apple crop from 135 acres for $14,000, the apples to be picked by the buyer. Just south ot Kansas City, Missouri, the owner of 600 acres of apple-trees has reckoned his net profits for the season at $35,000; and so on the story goes from farm to orchard and to cattle-ranch. Nowhere in all this immense area so favored by fortune can a man be found who does not feel the benefits and is not profiting thereby. It may be said without fear of dispute, that here exists an agricultural condition the like of which cannot be found elsewhere in the world. The high-priced grain is blockading railroad traffic, cattle-buyers are scouring the country for herds which they cannot find. The trees of the orchards are breaking to the ground with the weight of the fruit. In 1896, during the week ending August 20th, Kansas City paid the people of this section $2,016,000 for the produce they brought to town. In 1897, during the week ending August 20, Kansas City paid these same people $4,202,000 for the products of their farms which reached the Kansas City market in those six days. Of this amount $300,000 went to the railroads for freight, add $60,000 to the Kansas City brokers for commissions.

Hens must have lime in some shape before they can supply the eggs with shells. In most places there is lime enough in their feed or it can be found in the limestone pebbles they pick up, but where the supply is deficient it must be made up to them. Crushed bone or shells of some kind are excellent for this purpose.
