Samuel A. Brooks, Mt. Carmel—

They ought to be pulled down. They are bad things. It was bad enough when we had 20-mile speed limit signs through Hereford; now it's worse than ever.

Wm H. Green, Kingsville—

Signs should be put up to go slower instead of faster. The 35-mile speed limit signs may be alright in open country.

Mrs. J. F. H Gorsuch, Fork—

Just today I was watching children on the road; it is hard to keep youngsters from the road, and I think signs should be erected to go slower instead of faster.

Mrs. Edward Burton, Upper Falls—

I certainly do not approve of the 35-mile speed limit signs, especially when children living in the rural sections are compelled to use the roads going to and from school

Mrs. Benjamin D. Williams, Riderwood—

The signs are alright—the speed limit all wrong. Where children must walk the roads 20 miles is fast enough.

Mrs. Geo. M. Kimberly, Catonsville—

My electric coupe cannot make 35 miles an hour, so the speed limit does not worry me, but its entirely too fast on roads which pedestrians are compelled to use.

R. A. Duke, President Pikesville Improvement Association—

Speaking for the Pikesville Improvement Association, I might say that the Association has already forwarded a letter to the State Roads Commission requesting the removal of the 35-mile speed limit signs

John Henry White, Back River—

I ain't never been in er automobile yet, and don't expect ter git in one, but durn if I'm anxious ter git bumped off. Them 35-mile speed limit signs means a lot of us is going ter git bumped off.

Mrs. Wm H. Pearson, Butler—

There is entirely too much recklessness on good roads now, and for the State Roads Commission to tell all sorts of drivers to go to the limit is criminal.

Clayton Wisnom, Hydes—

No judgment whatsoever was [illegible] limit signs—whoever had charge of the work should have consulted local people as to danger points.

Isreal I. Berlin, Texas—

Very poor judgment has been used in placing the 35-mile speed limit signs.

NEW SECTION OF ARBUTUS TO BE DEVELOPED.

Nothing impresses the casual visitor to this community more than the wide extent of the suburban developments, according to J. W. Holloway. For many miles in every direction spreads the vista of picturesque homes of peace and contentment.

The public outcry against existing transportation facilities and the great difficulty of meeting the demand for trolley service in the constantly growing circle of suburban development emphasizes the value of developments within the service zones.

The tracts still available for development, above [illegible] transportation are getting scarce. One of the few remaining tracts is the Teige farm at Arbutus, which has recently passed into the hands of the J. W. Holloway Company, developers.

Twenty-five acres of this farm, fronting on the Halethorpe car line, were purchased last fall. Development work, including grading, drainage, streets and concrete gutters, has been in progress all winter. When completed the improvements will include water, gas and electricity.

TWO INJURED IN RACER-DIP MISHAPS.

Two men were injured, one critically, in falling from the racer dip at River View Park.

Melvin Rohrbach, twenty-seven, 3002 Brighton street, Baltimore, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured skull after having plunged 50 feet to the ground from a roller coaster car. The cause of the accident is uncertain.

Frank Sarsites, seventeen, 917 Burgundy street, fell from the same racer dip 20 minutes befofre Rohrbach's accident. He told police that a man unknown to him, seized his arm as the car sped by.

Sarsites was taken to his home after first-aid treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital.
