OUT ON THE FARM.

The finest sort o' pleasure
You'll find most anywhar—
Jest standin' here and watchin'
Them fellers over thar.

A plowin' in the bottoms,
An' sorter singin', too,
An' keerin' not fer nothin',
Jest like I ust to do.

Hit's fine to see the sunshine
Dance o'er the furrowed ground,
An' hear the bluebird singin'
That's somewhar hangin' roun'.

Jest like to watch the burnin'
O' the woods beyond the mill,
An' see the smoke a hangin'
Like a curtain cross the hill.

Pshaw! gimme that tin bucket,
An' lemme drap the corn,
Er chase along the furrow
With that guanter horn.

Er lemme cut the bushes
An' weeds an' briars down:
Hit beats hustlin' fur a livin'
In any rocky town.

The Value of Fruits.

Fruits are of great value in many forms of disease, says Modern Medicine, because of the acids which they contain. These acids, when taken into the blood, break up some of the compounds of waste substances which have been formed, and thus give rise to an increased exertion of these substances through the kidneys. In this way fruits are a great advantage in the treatment of rheumatism, gout, gravel and all the different morbid conditions which accompany the so-called uric acid diathesis. The observations of Haig respecting the relation of uric acid to neurasthenia give to fruit a great dietetic value in this disease. He has shown that neurasthenia is almost always the result of the accumulation within the system of tissue wastes largely in the form of uric acid. The free use of fruits aids in the elimination of these poisons, not only by breaking up the compounds which they form within the body, but by stimulating the kidneys to increased normal activity.

Remembering the interesting fact pointed out by Bouchard, that rheumatism is really a toxemia, resulting from the decomposition of food stuffs in a dilated or prolapsed stomach, we may also attribute the beneficial effects of a fruit diet in rheumatism and allied conditions to its value in suppressing the formation of poisonous substances in the alimentary canal in the manner already pointed out.

Obesity, which is, like rheumatism, a diathesis, may be successfully treated by a fruit dietary. This is due not only to the fact that fruit is a natural food, and thus aids the system to establish normal tissue metamorphosis and a normal balance between the processes of assimilation and dissimilation, but also because it affords a very comfortable means of reducing the amount of nutrient material received to a minimum quantity.

Fruit is chiefly water, the amount of nutrient material it contains varying from five to eight or ten per cent in most fruits, rising to a higher figure only in dried fruits, such as dried grapes, prunes, dates, etc. The writer has succeeded in reducing excessive weight in the most satisfactory manner, by prescribing a diet consisting almost exclusively of grapes or apples, allowing only a small bit of thoroughly dried bread or zwieback in connection with the fruit. In some cases the fruit may be allowed as often as three or four times a day, if necessary to relieve an uncomfortable sensation of emptiness.

In fevers, fruits, especially in the form of fruit juices, are a most convenient and certainly the most appropriate of all foods. It is now almost universally recognized that beef tea and meat preparations of all sorts should be wholly proscribed in cases of fever, as the patient is already suffering from the accumulation of waste matters to such a degree that the addition of even the small amount contained in beef tea or a small piece of meat may be sufficient to give rise to an exacerbation of the disease and lessen the patient's chances for recovery.

Famous Young Men.

Landseer began his study of dogs at six.

Handel had produced an opera before he was fifteen.

Il Perugino had finished an altar painting at fourteen.

Auber wrote an operetta for the stage before fourteen.

Claude Lorrain began landscape painting at twelve.

Corneille had planned a tragedy before he was ten.

Moliere finished a comedy, one of his best, at seventeen.

Wagner planned a series of German operas by the time he was twenty-three, although his design was not carried out for many years.

Lessing is said to have begun "Sarah Sampson" at eighteen, and to have finished it before twenty.

Paper makers have raised the price of print paper, "on account of sulphur being declared contraband of war." Very little sulphur is used in bleaching paper, and the excuse is somewhat lame. But paper makers have had the worst of it for several years, on account of overproduction, it is only natural that they should take advantage of the increased consumption due to the sale of "war extras."

America's New War Phrase.

Not one of all the tribe of railway porters who ever shouted "Twenty minutes for breakfast!" into the rear door of a Pullman sleeping car ever expected that his cry should be repeated on the deck of a warship in action. But, says the Colorado Springs Gazette, that is what seems to have actually happened in the record-breaking battle of Manila. At the time when the battle was the hottest, when the Spanish ships were yet undestroyed and the batteries on shore were still alive, the American ships ceased firing and withdrew. The first report had it that it was for the purpose of repairing the ships, to hold a council of war and to land the wounded from the American ships. The latter report states the truth with Anglo-Saxon frankness—it was to give the men a chance to get something to eat.

So a new war cry has been added to American history, and alongside of Lawrence's "Don't give up the ship!" and Perry's "We have met the enemy and they are ours!" will live Dewey's "Twenty minutes for breakfast!" It is a great commander, a commander of very much more than ordinary ability, who, in the midst of a great naval combat whose issue was still undecided, could remember that fighting is hungry work and that men are strongest and most intelligent when well fed. History records the deeds of heroes, who, in the excitement of battle, have forgotten fatigue and wounds and hunger and all other considerations. But history has no record of such a battle as that of Manila, and no record of a commander who stopped in the middle of a battle to get breakfast. The two facts are not unconnected.

Reasons Why We Underdrain

It is, explains The Drainage Journal:

To get the excess of water out of the soil.

To prevent the surface washing of the soil.

To save the humus of the soil.

To save the fine particles of the soil.

To save the fertility brought up by the capillary action of the soil.

To save the fertility brought down out of the air by rainfall to the soil.

A drained soil is ready for the plow several days in advance of the soil not drained.

A drained soil is eight or ten degrees warmer and is more easily made ready for the seed.

Is deeper, allowing the feeding roots to penetrate as deep as the tile are laid for food and moisture.

A drained soil is ready to cultivate sooner after a rainfall.

A drained soil is less injuriously affected by wet or dry weather.

Crops on a drained soil have a longer season for maturity.

A well underdrained soil will increase the crop productions from 10 to 50 per cent—sometimes more.

A drained soil is in the best possible condition to grow maximum crops with intelligent husbandry.

The Minister's Wife.

The minister's wife ought to be selected by a commitee of the church. She should be warranted never to have headache or neuralgia; she should have nerves of wire and sinews of iron; should never be tired nor sleepy, and should be everybody's cheerful drudge; she should be cheerful, intellectual, pious and domesticated; she should be able to keep her husband's house, darn his stockings, make his shirts, cook his dinner, light his fire, and copy his sermons; she should keep up the style of a lady on the wages of a day-laborer, and be always at leisure for "good works," and ready to receive morning calls; she should be secretary to Band of Hope, the Dorcas Society, and Home Mission; she should conduct Bible classes and mother's mee ings; should make clothing for the poor and gruel for the sick; and, finally, she should be pleased with everybody, and never desire any reward beyond the satisfaction of having done her own duty and other people's too.

Sunshine.

Did you ever notice what a different aspect everything wears in the sunshine from what it does in the shadow? and did you ever think what an analogy there was between the sunlight of the cloudless skies and the sunlight that gleams into the darkened chambers of the human soul? How bright and beautiful are the golden beams that break through the riven clouds to lighten up the world again, after a succession of dark and stormy days. How peaceful and happy are the blissful words of hope and cheer that touch the heart and fill the soul with emotions of peace and joy after a long period of sorrow. There are none living who do not, in a greater or less degree have an influence over the earthly happiness of others. The sense of contributing to the pleasure of others augments our own happiness. Unselfishness, christian charity and loving kindness are sunbeams of the soul.

What to Teach Boys.

From Parish Visitor.

A philosopher has said that true education of boys is to "teach them what they ought to know when they become men."

1. To be true and to be genuine. No education is worth anything that does not include this. A man had better not know how to read—he had better never learn a letter in the alphabet, and be true, genuine in intention and in action—rather than be learned in all sciences and all languages, to be at the same time false in heart and counterfeit in life. Above all things, teach boys that truth is more than earthly power or possessions.

2. To be pure in thought, language and life—pure in mind and in body.

3. To be unselfish. To care for the feelings and comfort of others. To be generous, noble and manly. This will include a genuine reverence for the aged and for things sacred.

4. To be self reliant and self helpful, even from childhood. To be industrious always and selfsupporting at the earliest proper age. Teach them that all honest work is honerable, that an idle life of dependence on others is di graceful.

When a boy has learned these four things, when he has made these ideas a part of his being—however poor or however rich—he has learned the most important things he ought to know when he becomes a man.

Getting Rid of Flies.

Most people who have traveled in the far east have seen orientals burning saddalwood in their houses for the purpose of driving flies away. It is odd that the plan is not more generally known in this country, where it meets with success wherever the experiment is tried. A recent arrival from London says that women there have discovered this agreeable method of ridding their homes of the pest. In London it is possible to get the wood prepared for this purpose, but here it is not so easy, as American women have not yet taken to the practice. Now that the festive fly and the merry mosquito are about to make their appearance, housewives might do as well to give the sandalwood a trial. Sandalwood can be bought at almost any Turkish or importing house. It is prepared for burning by first being cut into small pieces half an inch thick and three inches long. Then it is baked or dried out in a slow oven for 24 hours. A piece of the wood is put into a metal urn, lighted and allowed to burn until well aflame, when the flame is extinguished and the redhot ember left to smoulder until the wood is consumed and nothing is left but a heap of fine gray ashes. During the smoldering process the wood sends out a sweet and aromatic smoke.

Insects Stop a Train.

A peculiar incident occurred a short time ago to a Scotch express, which really caps the story of the mouse which got into the brake apparatus of a train and soon brought it to a complete standstill. While on a steep incline a mile or so from Inversbin the train suddenly slowed up and eventually stopped. After an examination it transpired that myriads of midges had been swarming near the ground, and, being crushed by the wheels of the train, had left the rails in a very slimy condition, preventing the engine from gripping the rails, and so stopping it. Although several dodges were tried, among them that of throwing earth along the line, the train was unable to proceed until it was divided into sections and drawn up the incline piecemeal. This incident caused a delay of nearly an hour.

Corn, wheat and plenty of grass will make young fowls grow as well as any thing that can be given them.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

A REMEDY FOR THE Effects of Tobacco.

THE excessive use of tobacco, especially by young men is always injurious and undoubtedly shortens life materially. Mr. Ed. C. Ebsen, compositor on the Contra-Costa News, Martinez, Cal., writes: "I have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and received much benefit from it. I was troubled with nervousness, dizzy spells and sleeplessness, caused by the use of tobacco and stimulants. I took Dr. Miles' Nervine with marvelously good results, allaying the dizziness, quieting the nerves, and enabling me to sleep and rest, proving in my case a very beneficial remedy." Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is especially adapted to restoring the nervous system to its normal condition under such circumstances. It soothes, heals and strengthens.

WALL PAPER!

Up to date Paper Hangers and Wall Paper Dealers. We don't claim to be the only firm in the county that carries a stock of

WALL PAPER,

but we are, as everybody knows, the largest dealers. We buy goods direct from the factory just as cheap as these New York Wall Paper Stores that say they give you Paper at 3 cts. per piece. We do the same and you DON'T pay any FREIGHT.

It costs more to do business in a large city and they don't give goods away and live at the same time. We as any of the Paper Hangers, when you take quality of goods into consideration, and have best facilities for doing so. We are prompt. We carry a line of Wall Paper! Wall Paper!

WORK AS CHEAP

I wish to call the attention of my friends and the public in general to the fact that I now am ready to show one of the ever exhibited in this county, bought direct from the factory, in full bundle lots, so you get it only from second hands, no two or three profits coming off it. Of corree the consumer pays them all. Sam Jones says it takes a pointer pup nine days to get his eyes open. I have known some people to get their's open in fifteen minutes in a wall paper deal. They thought it was two pieces instead of one, and the border they did not understand, &c. That is always their plea. Remember I am the only paper hanger in the county that carries a stock and don't have the expense of running a store, therefore I have no opposition. If you think I can't save you money, come and see me and bring size of your room, or send size by mail and I will tell you what your job will cost, and send samples and convince you that Gladhill's is the place to save twenty-five cents on a oa a dollar on all Wall Papers.

Finest and Cheapest Lines of WALL PAPER

IT

SEEMS A SMALL MATTER

whether you economize on the purchase of to-day, but if you persistently give the expensive places the "go-by" the final issue may be to make you rich. Take, for instance, the purchase of

SHOES AND HATS.

Cash bought it. Low prices will sell it. Never have better

Men's and Boys' Shoes

been shown than Rice & Hutchens' for the prices, from $1.25 to $3.50.

The Womens' Carlisle Shoes in style and prices you cannot resist.

Hats! Hats! Hats!

The latest styles, the finest in quality, the utmost in variety, ranging in prices from 25 cents up to $3.00 for a fine Stiff Hat. Soft Hats from 25 cents and up.

Our Store is a place all economical buyers should visit.
