INTERDENOMINATIONAL PASTORS' CONFERENCE

Two outstanding American preachers will be the headliners of a series of two "Conferences on Preachng" and "Laymen's Rallies on Cooperative Christianity" to be held in the Delmarva area under the auspices of the Council of Churches and Christian Education, May 25 and 26.

Dr. Gaius Glenn Atkins of Auburn Theological Seminary, Auburn, New York, will lead a forum on "The Purpose and Message of Preaching for Today." He will also speak in the vesper service on the theme, "From Love to Vision." Dr. Atkins is the author of eighteen volumes, including "Preaching and the Mind of Today," "The Procession of the Gods," and his latest, "Christianity and the Creative Quest." He has held pastorates in Burlington, Vermont; Detroit, Michigan; and Providence, Rhode Island; and is known as an outstanding national church leader and preacher.

Dr. Harold Bosley is the pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church in Baltimore, and is an outstanding younger scholar and church leader. He will give the Earl lectures in 1940 at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, California. His latest book is "The Quest for Religious Certainty." In the conference Dr. Bosley will speak on "Preaching as Related to Social Action," and will also preach a sermon entitled "The Patience of God." The schedule is a follows:

May 25th—Chestertown— The day's sessions in the Methodist Protestant Church and the evening sessions in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

May 26th—Salisbury—In the Wicomico Presbyterian Church

The day sessions will be primarily for the clergymen, although laymen and women are invited.

At noon the program will be in charge of the Delmarva Commission of the Council of Churches with Rev. Otis P. Jefferson, vice-president of the Council and chairman of the Delmarva Commission, presiding. Other participants on the luncheon program will be Rev. Joseph B. Dickerson, of Rising Sun, chairman of the Delmarva Department of Religious Developments for the Council; Rev. S. B. Bradley, Delmar, Delaware, chairman of the Delmarva Department of Church Relations and Administration. The Rev. John W. Harms, executive secretary of the Council of Churches and Christian Education, will also participate in this program.

LOOK FOR OPERATING PERMIT

If you are looking for a place for a picnic, with safe drinking water, or for a quick lunch, hot dogs and other refreshments, or, for an overnight stay, don't stop until you see the placard bearing the seal of the State of Maryland, showing that the place has been duly inspected and meets the necessary sanitary requirements of the State Department of Health, is the advice of Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the Department, to prospective motorists, cyclists and picnickers.

Dr. Riley explained that no camp or picnic ground in Maryland that is used for six days or longer and that accommodates ten or more persons may be operated without a permit from the State Department of Health. Applications are usually made in the early spring so that the required inspections may be made and any needed improvements may be gotten under way before the season opens.

To be duly certified, each camp must comply with the regulations prescribed by the State Board of Health with regard to the water supply, toilet facilities, disposal of sewage, garbage and other waste; protection of foods sold on the premises from pollution and from flies; sources of supply and methods of handling milk, cream and ice cream; and, the general cleanliness of buildings and grounds.

Claims of all kinds—original, continued and out-of-State—for the four benefit weeks ending May 6 aggregated 92,574, while the figure for the four weeks immediately preceding was 80,062.
