Mr. Chas. W. Moore, of this city, was severely injured by a bicycle accident, on Falls hill, between Finksburg and Reisterstown, on Sunday. Some portion of his wheel broke and he was thrown violently on his left side, his face striking the ground with much force. Numerous cuts and bruises were the result and his left arm was also badly abraded and he sustained other injuries. Dr. Gore, of Reisterstown, sewed up a cut in the region of Mr. Moore's eye and dressed his other wounds. He was bedridden at his home in this city, for several days this week, and was attended by Dr. Thos J. Coonan. He is now able to be out again.

Mrs. Annie Elizabeth McAllister, wife of Mr. W. Scott McAllister, whose sudden death on Wednesday morning is reported by our Uniontown correspondent, was an estimable lady and faithful member of the Lutheran Church at Union Bridge, where funeral services will be held this morning. Rev. Dr. J. J. Murray and the pastor, Rev. R. L. Patterson, will officiate. Mr. J. Frank Shriner will be the funeral director. Mrs. McAllister was about fifty two years old. Sergeant Adam Riley, who served during the Civil War, in the 130th Pennsylvania Regiment, died at his home in Gettysburg, on Sunday, in his sixty-fifth year. His death was caused by a cancer in the ear, the result of a wound made by a shell. At the battle of Antietam he also received a gunshot wound in the leg and carried the bullet in his limb for 25 years, when it was extracted. His remains were interred in the cemetery at Hanover on Wednesday, comrades of the G. A. R. at Gettysburg and Hanover burying him with the rites of the order and the honors of war. He leaves a widow, one son and two daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wolf, near Bloom, the latter of whom is his sister, attended the funeral.

Some persons estimated that between 8,000 and 12,000 persons visited Union Bridge, Sunday, en route to the scene of the annual meeting of the Old Order of German Baptists at Beaver Dam, Frederick county. The meeting began on Saturday last and the sacramental communion was celebrated on Sunday in the customary manner and was followed by the ordinance of feet washing as practiced by the denomination. The business meeting was held on Monday. The stone church at Beaver Dam, which remained with the Old Order of the denomination when the division occurred some years ago, is one of the oldest church edifices in this part of the State. A new house of worship has been erected by the other branch of the Church, which is largely dominant in this section, near the old Church building.

Frank Sherman, of Manchester district, was tried in the Circuit Court for Carroll county on Monday on two indictments, one charging him with assault with intent to kill Vincent McCullough and members of his family, of the same district, and the other with carrying concealed weapons. He elected to be tried by the court—Judge Jones—and on the first indictment was acquitted on the first count, but found guilty on the second—assault and battery. He was also found guilty on the other indictment, and sentenced to four months in the one case and one year in the other, in the House of Correction. Charles Fredericks, a witness in the case, created much amusement by testifying, in reply to a question concerning a certain distance, that it was "about a rooster's jump," which he explained was about two hundred yards.

The trial of the case of Nelson Warehime against the Western Maryland Railroad Company for damages received at the crossing of the county road and the railroad at Cranberry Station, November 5, 1898, which occupied the Circuit Court for this county several days last week, was without result. The jury, after lengthy deliberation, failed to agree, and so reported to the court. The case hinged upon the question whether the vehicle in which Warehime and his wife were riding was struck by a train of the defendant company. The testimony on the point was somewhat conflicting, but several witnesses testified that there was no collision. Others testified that Mrs. Warehime so informed them immediately after the accident, which she attributed to the horse becoming frightened and throwing them down an embankment. Judge Jones discharged the jury, but in doing so stated that the facts and law of the case were clear enough to have made an agreement easily possible. He did not question the conscientious judgment of the jurors, but regretted their failure to agree, as the trial of the case entailed considerable expense upon the county. Some of the jurors were ill, or he would have required them to have made further effort to reach an agreement.

Death of D. Howard Frizzell.

Mr. Dennis Howard Frizzell, a veteran of the Civil War and a well known resident of this county, died at his home, a short distance from the corporate limits of this city, at 1 o'clock last Saturday morning. He had been ill for a week with pneumonia. He served in the Federal Army for three years as a member of the First Regiment, Maryland Volunteer Infantry, P. H. B., commanded by the late Judge William P. Maulsby. Mr. Frizzell was about 57 years old. He was a member and ex-commander of Burns Post No. 13, G. A. R., of this city. Politically he was a Republican. He leaves a widow and two daughters. Funeral services were held in Centenary M. E. Church on Monday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Brown, assisted by Rev. Dr. Graham, of the M. P. Church, officiating, after which the remains of the deceased were interred in Westminster Cemetery, with the honors of war and the rites of the Grand Army of the Republic. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Isaac Ranull, Thos. Carter, Louis P. Manning, David D. Burns, Henry Gorsuch and John Wagner, all comrades of the deceased. The funeral was very largely attended.

The exhibition will constitute a school of instruction for visiting firemen.

A delegation of Westminster Firemen will attend the festivities at Hampstead to day and participate in the parade at that place. They will wear the new uniforms recently adopted by the department.

Miss Emma M. Kelly, daughter of Mr. Wm. Henry Kelly, of Glyndon, and Mr. Charles E. Eckenrode, son of Mr. John E. Eckenrode, of this city, were married at the home of the groom's parents, on Liberty street, on Sunday evening last. Miss Bessie Kelly, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Hanson Rutter, of Owings Mills, best man. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Cassidy, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, this city. The immediate relatives of the contracting parties and a few invited guests from among their most intimate friends were present. A wedding luncheon of an attractive and tempting character was served. Mr. and Mrs. Eckenrode will reside in this city.

License Cases Tried.

In the Circuit Court for this county Judge Jones was principally engaged on Saturday last in the consideration of protests against the issuance of licenses to sell liquor, under applications filed with the clerk of the court. Four cases were tried. The first was the protest of Rev. William H. Ehrhart and others against the granting of a license to Andrew Wisner to sell liquor in the village of Silver Run. The testimony disclosed the fact that one of the nine persons who recommended the issuance of the license was not a freeholder, as required by the law. The application was rejected, and Judge Jones stated that a strict compliance with all the provisions of the law would be required of all applicants. The second case was that of Sylvester P. Lewis and others, protestants, against the issuance of a license to Solomon Wollman to sell liquor at Woodbine, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. An interesting question arose in this case. Woodbine lies close to the dividing line between Carroll and Howard counties. Wollman's application was recommended by seven Carroll county and eight Howard county freeholders. The law requires that the applicant shall be recommended by nine reputable freeholders residing in the neighborhood of the place where the liquor is to be sold. But the law is local and applies only to Carroll county, and Judge Jones decided that only Carroll county freeholders can lawfully recommend the sale of liquor in the county. It was stated in argument by Wollman's counsel that licenses had previously been granted upon the recommendation of non residents of the county, but Judge Jones held that it had not been lawfully done, and that he would adhere to this rule in all future cases that may come before him. Wollman's application was, therefore, rejected. The other two cases were upon protests of Samuel S. Shoemaker and others against the issuance of licenses to Daniel D. Hesson and Samuel C. Burkheimer to sell liquor in the village of Harney. The protests were pressed by an anti-saloon league recently organized in that village and vicinity, but Judge Jones found that both applicants had complied with all the provisions of the law in relation to the form of application and the freeholders' recommendations, and held that he was, under that state of facts, without discretion to refuse the licenses. The clerk of the court was, therefore, directed to issue licenses to both the applicants. These cases excited unusual interest, and the hearings were attended by numerous citizens.

Manchester Items.

Manchester has had another Whit-Monday festival, although not gotten up on such an extensive scale, yet there was quite a crowd of persons in town and the consequence was that business places and festival were well patronized. The fire company, with apparatus, headed by the Alesia and followed by the Manchester Band, paraded the streets about 11 30. During the afternoon a large crowd witnessed a game of baseball between the home club, supported by a Hampstead battery, and the Westminster club. The home boys played good ball and the score ended with 18 to 4 in favor of the home club. Quite a large crowd stayed for the festival at night and witnessed the sending up of five balloons by Mr. John Houck, of Baltimore, all bearing N. E. with a successful ascent.

On Saturday a committee of the directors of the Manchester Savings and Banking Institution bought the home of Miss Emma Shower, corner of Main and York streets, for a banking house. They get possession in the near future and will at once begin remodeling it and fitting up a banking room on the north side, while the large storeroom will be fitted up for rent, or converted into apartments for two families, and be put under rent.

Mr. John H. Lamotte, son Harry and daughter Carrie were at York, on Monday, and attended the funeral of Mr. William Strevig, a brother of Mrs. Lamotte, who died at the advanced age of 75 years.

The remains of Mr. George Hoffman, aged 22 years, were brought here on Wednesday from Baltimore, to the home of his uncle, Mr. W. H. Wilson, where services, by Rev. S. M. Roeder, were held. The remains were then laid away to rest in a family lot. George was one of our boys and spent his younger years among us, but of late has been a resident of Baltimore at the home of his father, Mr. William Hoffman, of the police force. He was afflicted with pulmonary trouble and last summer spent some weeks here, much to his benefit. On Sunday last he was as bright and well as usual, and went to the home of his brother and took tea. He then returned home and retired about 10 o'clock. At 11 o'clock he was taken with a coughing spell, a hemorrhage followed and in a short time he was a corpse. Our deepest sympathies are with the parents in this sore bereavement.

Scarcely had this death been announced when another message arrived that Mr. King, of Hanover, Pa., an employee in the Gettler cigar factory, who finished his week's work and went to his home on Saturday morning, had some time during the evening been taken with a hemorrhage and died in a short time. Three weeks ago he married a daughter of Rev. Kohr, who several years ago was minister in charge of the Manchester Circuit U. B. Church. He had the esteem of his fellow workmen.

Mr. Jacob Gummel, who buried his wife on Friday last, has had another sorrow added to his great affliction in the death of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Shaffer, who we mentioned in our last as having been quite ill. She peacefully passed away on Monday, at her home adjoining that of her parents, on the farm near Brilhart's mill. She was Mr. Shaffer's second wife and a sister of his first wife, who died some 8 years ago. She was buried in a family lot on Wednesday, Rev. S. M. Roeder officiating.

Mr. Bauer, of the Geological Survey, took his station on the lot in the rear of the Methodist Church on Friday morning to make his observations, &c.

Mr. Geo. W. Greenholtz and daughter Helen, of Baltimore, spent Monday with Mr. G's parents.

Mrs. Clarence Jones and son, of Baltimore, are also visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greenholtz.

Mr. Geo. P. Everhart, of Hampden, Baltimore, spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Charles H. Everhart, and family.

Annual C. E. Convention in Carroll County.

The annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Union of Carroll County was held at Sandy Mount M. P. Church, on Thursday and Friday, May 18-19. The convention began at 9.30, and although the rain was coming down in torrents, we started our convention with "Let a Little Sunshine In," and this was not only in song but in spirit. Although the rain continued to pour down during the first day of the meeting it did not damp the zeal and enthusiasm of either those who were entertaining or those being entertained. The devotional exercise of the first session was conducted by the Supt. of Temperance, Mrs. Samuel Eppley. Miss Margie Hering, in a very pleasant and cordial manner, welcomed the convention to Sandy Mount Church, and the way in which the address was delivered made us feel that her message was from the heart. Miss Rinker, of Westminster, was well chosen to respond in behalf of our beloved Union. In the absence of Rev. Dr. W. R. Graham, (who was detained by illness) who was to have preached the convention sermon, we had the pleasure of having with us and hearing Rev. Edgar Read, from Baltimore. He gave us a very beautiful and inspiring discourse on "Cheerfulness." He seemed to wish us as Christian Endeavorers of Carroll to not only "let the sunshine in" but just as much to "let the sunshine out," for if we only let it in and keep it in, it would only be doing half its mission. Miss Leister here entertained us with a solo. The devotional exercise at the afternoon session was led by Miss Myrle Caple, of Sandyville. Our president, in a few encouraging words, wished to emphasize that the real object of our coming together was not enthusiasm alone, but how to better help each other and with enthusiasm along this very line would be force well applied. The secretary and treasurer, in her reports, was glad to note the same enthusiastic spirit, and systematic working and a steady all around co-operation between officers and societies. A special selection from the choir made a pleasant diversion in the monotony of reports. Mrs. Epply, the Temperance Supt., gave a very good and encouraging review of the work, notwithstanding the fact that she has had charge of this department only about six weeks. The vastness of this work and the hindrances that rise up in the path of those who are willing to work against this mighty enemy to humanity and God, are almost enough to frighten them, but it does not frighten them, thank God, and looking to him for aid, they hope, with Him on their side, that in time they must come off more than conquerors.

The report of the Supt. of Missions followed right on and with it the presentation of the banner given to the society in the Union contributing the most, for missions, per capita. The report read by Mrs. G. W. Baughman, in the absence of Mrs. Diehl, showed a careful study of the work in the county and a well worked field with many gratifying statistics. The banner was presented to the society at St. Benjamin's (Krider's) Church, near Westminster. This society was one of the baby societies last year, but it walks this year and "walks on stilts" for the stride it has made over every other record in our Union made us all open our eyes. The average brought in their work along this line was $2.75 per member, with Taneytown Reformed second, deserving honorable mention with its average of $1.35 per member. The highest average attained up to this time had been $1.14 by Taneytown Presbyterian in '97.

One of the best things on our program was a parliament on Christian Endeavor Ideals. The division of this subject was the Ideal Endeavorer, by our vice-president, Rev. R. L. Patterson, who certainly showed us some very good snap shot pictures of genuine Ideal Endeavorers. Mr. Charles R. Woods, our ex-president, at the earnest solicitation of the president took up the second and third divisions of the parliament, the speakers assigned on the program being absent. The topics under discussion by Mr. Woods were the Ideal Leader, and the Ideal Prayer-meeting. Rev. A. D. Bateman had the fourth and last topic, the Ideal Committee. This speaker as did those preceding handled his subject in a manner which cannot but be helpful to all Christian workers.

Mrs. Hatch, the State Missionary Supt., gave a short talk on the subject of missions. Rev. Edgar Read conducted the Quiet Hour service. This is the first time that the Quiet Hour has occupied a place on our county program, and perhaps for that reason, first, it was doubly impressive, and second, it was doubly helpful, because of the way in which it was conducted.

The opening service at the evening session was under the supervision of Mrs. Ellsworth Gardner. Our state president, Mr. W. O. Atwood, from Baltimore gave us an address on one of the great subjects occupying the minds of Christian Endeavorers and Christian Workers—the Christian Endeavorer and the Saloon. While we were disappointed because of the absence of Dr. Tagg, who was the other speaker for the evening, and was to have talked to us on an equally important subject to Christian Endeavorers, viz: the C. E. and the Sabbath, yet I feel that I do not go too far when I say that our state president filled up our program, and filled up our hearts, as well, with sympathy for the drunkard, and with a high sense of the Christian Endeavorer's duty against the enemy to humanity and God, as well as his duty to be his brother's keeper.

On Friday morning the rain had ceased and the sunshine, which we had let out the day before at Mr. Read's bidding, shone abroad in the heavens and in everybody's heart and face, giving us the prospect of a beautiful day and we had it in spirit and in truth. The attendance was of course very much increased, giving us a greater quantity of the same quality of enthusiasm as we had the day before. Mr. Houck opened the morning session with a short devotional exercise, and a parliament, taking the two phases of C. E. Work on Land and Sea, with a general discussion on the C. E. at home, followed. The two well prepared and well read papers of Miss Mollie Tagg and Mr. Archer Burgoon in the parliament brought out many interesting facts and statistics, and with the helpful suggestions of the delegates in the general discussion, we can carry home with us words of truly valuable information. Rev. R. S. Patterson, from Woodsboro, in his address on Individual Responsibility gave us a high and noble standard of the responsibility resting upon each of us. Mr. Patterson's address was full of feeling, reaching the hearts of the hearers, and after listening to such things as he so beautifully told us, I can hardly see how there could any doubt as to the individual responsibility.

A parliament—the Workers' Conference—was the next in the order of things. Miss Mary Shellman had charge of the first topic, Better Preparation; Mr. Reininger the second topic, Better Prayer Meetings; Mrs. Charles Ecker the third, Better Committee Meetings, and Mr. S. H. Little the fourth and last, More Generous Giving. This belonged more exclusively perhaps to the C. E. Workers, but all Christians are, or should be, workers and if so, certainly some seeds from this parliament must have fallen on good ground.

During the noon intermission at the meeting of the executive committee, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. George K. Mather, Westminster; V. Pres., Rev. A. D. Bateman, Taneytown; Sec. and Treas., Miss Nan Rinker, Westminster; junior Supt., Mrs. S. H. Little, Taneytown; temperance Supt., Mrs. Samuel Eppley, Union Bridge; missionary Supt., Mrs. G. W. Baughman, Uniontown; press correspondent, Miss Mary B. Shellman.

At 2 o'clock Mr. Jacob Lawyer took charge of the devotional service. Rev. Noah Yeiser, a lately returned missionary from India, gave a very entertaining talk on the work and customs in his late field of labor. Then came the Junior Rally with its inspiring songs and papers. The program this year was almost entirely along the line of Bands of Mercy work, and the work as carried out showed careful work on the part of the county junior Supt., and also on the part of the children. The papers were all splendid and I think our State junior Supt., Miss Lottie Carswell, would bear me out in this last statement. I think it not too much to say that Miss Carswell completely captured the hearts of the Carroll county juniors, for her talk to them was just what they needed. She also presented the banner given to the society having the best average attendance during the year. Westminster M. P. Society had the best average—67 per cent. of the whole membership; Taneytown Lutheran next, with an average of 61 per cent. of its membership. After the juniors had left the room and the people had gotten seated, Mr. George H. Birnie took charge of the "Quiet Hour" service, which was very impressive, it should be, every heart seeking the blessing that God is seeking to bestow. The devotional service of the last session was under the leadership of Miss Beulah Benson. The minutes of the convention were read by the secretary and adopted as read. The committee on resolutions reported through Miss M. Louise Shriver the following:

Realizing that no work for the Master can be accomplished without much labor, pains and self sacrifice, and appreciating the services of all who contributed to our entertainment and comfort, your committee begs to offer the following resolutions:

Be It Resolved, That we regret to record the death of Mrs. K. Louisa Shreeve, an active member of the C. E. Society of Sandy Mount M. P. Church, who has within the last two months passed away from the church militant to the church triumphant. While we are sorry for her loss on earth, we do not forget that her loss is heaven's gain.

Resolved, That the best thanks of Carroll Co. C. E. Union be extended to the people of Sandy Mount M. P. Church, for their kind invitation and most cordial welcome.

Resolved, That the best thanks be given to the ladies who so bountifully provided for the inner man; to the choir for their excellent music; to the sexton for his efficient services; to the Western Maryland Railroad for reduced rates; to the gentlemen who so kindly transferred various delegates from Finksburg to the church; to the Carroll county papers for giving the proceedings of the convention, and to all who in any way contributed to the success of the convention.

Resolved, That the best thanks be given to the various speakers for their able and excellent addresses.

Resolved, That the best thanks be given to the President and Secretary for their painstaking zeal in the getting up of a most excellent program.

Respectfully submitted,
REV. A. BATEMAN,
Chairman;
M. LOUISE SHRIVER,
MISS ANNA MOTTER,
MR. MAURICE ERB.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The secretary read the report of the nominating committee. Mr. Nixon gave a very fine address on missions. Rev. U. S. G. Rupp, of Baltimore, gave a beautiful and feeling discussion on "The Tenth Legion."

Our last session was full of good things, good things to hear and good things to take home and do and I trust that many have done just that thing. Among the good things was a poem composed by Miss Rinker and generously dedicated to the Sandy Mount convention. The poem was entitled "Blessed Quiet Hour." Miss Rinker had not only composed this beautiful heart poem but had also set it to music, and Mr. Charles R. Woods sang it in the Quiet Hour service. Such generosity has never befallen any convention, therefore, Sandy Mount stands first in having its own particular hymn. Mr. Mather led the consecration service closing the convention, and, while it is over, let us not, Christian Endeavorers of Carroll, forget the things we heard, saw and enjoyed at Sandy Mount. The people who entertained the assembly spared nothing to make it a success, and it was largely due to their untiring energy that we had such a good convention, and now we who attended this meeting and have returned to our homes let us remember to use the good suggestions given us and when trials come, as they do to all of us, and things are not as we would wish, I say remember that even Christ pleased not Himself.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF THOMAS PICKETT.

Farewell, dear wife and children,
I know you'd love to keep me here;
But Jesus calls, I must obey,
And angels welcome me away.

How sad, O yes, how very sad
To lose my husband dear;
How dreary is my home
My husband is not here.

Home is sad, O God, how dreary,
Lonesome, lonesome every spot.
I've listened for his voice till weary,
Weary for I hear it not.

BY HIS FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM OF BEULAH ESTELLA GROVE,
WHO DIED MAY 9TH, 1899.

Dear little babe, farewell, farewell,
From "Mamma" thou'rt gone away,
With the holy angels to dwell,
Throughout the eternal day.

Thy days on earth were very few,
Thy sufferings great and long,
But then our comforts we renew,
To know, thou'rt with the angel throng.

Oh, how we miss you, day by day,
And our sorrows are not few,
Because our Beulah is far away,
Our baby—adieu, adieu.

Amid our sorrow and our gloom,
A bright hope doth appear,
That we'll meet in the heavenly home,
To dwell with the Saviour dear.

And now we join a last good-by,
Our Beulah, our baby dear,
Till we meet in the land on high,
Free from sorrow, sin and fear.
