The new academy or collegiate institute at Union Bridge, under the auspices of the German Baptist Brethren's Church, will be opened on or about the first of November. "A course of study, including the common branches, till fully mastered, will be offered for the choice of parents." Other studies, in the higher branches, will also be open to students, and the institution cannot fail to furnish valuable educational advantages to the people of Union Bridge and vicinity, as well as of a wider range of territory. The second floor of the new bank building is being fitted up for the accommodation of the school, which will be opened as the Maryland Collegiate Institute of Union Bridge, Md. The officers are: W. Bank of Westminster, before he left town. He was unknown to the bank officers, who declined to cash the check until he was identified by Mr. Chrest. The check was signed by a person named Fulton, was drawn on the Drovers and Mechanics National Bank of Baltimore in favor of Mary E. Stuller, and was certified by the bank upon which it was drawn. It was endorsed by Mary E. Stuller. All the names on the check and the certification were forged. Cocquerl, after leaving the horse and buggy of Mr. Chrest at Bell's stable, in South Baltimore, wrote to Sheriff Haines to tell that gentleman where he could find his team. Cocquerl is wanted in Baltimore as well as Carroll county, having been guilty of some crooked transactions in that city, among other things passing a forged check on A. F. Tournament at Hampstead.

A tournament, held at Hampstead, on Saturday last was the first event of that character in the history of the place, and was regarded with much interest by the citizens generally. The low temperature, however, prevented a very large, continuous attendance, though many persons visited the scene for short periods. W. Chester Stick was the projector of the affair, in which six professionals and six amateurs contended with each other in their respective classes.

Of the professional class, Grant Baseman, knight of Oakland, won first prize and the privilege of crowning the queen of love and beauty. He could not remain, however, and delegated the privilege to William H. Hollenberry, who crowned Mrs. Hollenberry. James Crook, knight of Roselawn, won second prize, $6, and crowned Miss May Sexton first maid. William E. Shirley, knight of Harrisonville, won third prize, $4, and crowned Miss Mary Slade second maid. Bernard Garver, knight of Locust Grove, won fourth prize, and crowned Miss Sadie A. Hobbs third maid. The unsuccessful professionals were Robert Mercier, knight of Pleasant Valley, and John Tracy, knight of Fairfield.

The knight of Pleasant Valley was accorded the privilege of crowning the queen of love and beauty in the amateur class, and selected Miss May Stansfield. Thomas Alban, knight of Hampstead, crowned Miss Mettie Hann first maid of honor. Roger Shipley, knight of Gamber, crowned Miss Lydia Wampler second maid, and Frank Bayer, knight of Mechanicsville, crowned Miss Lina Hobbs third maid. The unsuccessful amateurs were Frank Goodwin, knight of Reisterstown; John Stick, knight King of Hampstead, and A. T. Hunt, knight Lord of Hampstead. The tourney was followed by dancing.

The officers of the tournament were: Judges, J. W. Hitshue, Walter McCrea, Deputy Sheriff W. H. Wilson, William F. Bergman and Clinton Brandenburg; chief marshal, Caleb S. Hobbs; heralds, Judge Shipley and Claude Matthews. The Alesia Cornet Band furnished the music at the tournament and Joseph Mazziotte and Michael Fratantuono's Orchestra furnished the dance music.

In the Dewey Parade.

Battery O, Fifth U. S. Artillery, with which James G. Stoner, of this city, is connected, and six other batteries from Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., were in the Dewey parade in New York. Mr. Stoner, in a note to the manager of the Sentinel, says, among other things, that they left Fort Wadsworth 800 strong, on the boat called Glen Island, on Saturday morning, landed at 125th street, where they joined the parade and marched thence to Gen. Grant's tomb, where they took their first rest. Mr. Stoner says the Grant mausoleum is something he wishes everybody in Westminster could see, as it is a splendid monument to the great general. Whenever the command was halted, the men were kept busy dodging apples, pears and other fruits which were showered upon them from the houses on every side. Mr. Stoner says he got nearly a haversack full of fruit which he managed to catch in his hands. He saw a messenger from the Albermale Hotel present Dewey with a bunch of magnificent orchids, tied with purple ribbon. He was No. 4 in the second platoon, and marching close to the sidewalk could touch the people with his elbow. At some places the procession could hardly get through the throngs of people. At 18th street and 4th avenue he says there was a grand stand filled with little girls dressed in blue and purple, who sang "Maryland, My Maryland," as the Fifth Maryland marched by. Mr. Stoner represented old Carroll county in the parade and is proud to have had an opportunity to do honor to the great admiral.

Proceedings of the School Board.

October 4th, 1899.—The School Board met pursuant to adjournment, all members except Dr. Reindollar being present.

The secretary presented a communication from John S. Stricklin, of the Eighth district, declining to build the new school house at Eberg this fall as per contract, on the ground that he could get no assurance from the patrons that the hauling would be done promptly, but that he would perform the contract if building could be delayed till spring. The matter was referred to the Eberg committee with power to have the building erected this fall if another contractor can be secured.

Mr. Nicodemus reported that the work at Mt. Airy is progressing rapidly. He also reported that the party who broke up the outbuilding at Ridge school had agreed to replace same with a new one, which would be satisfactory to the Board.

The request of Rev. J. T. Moten for the reopening of the colored school in Pool Church, of the Fourth district, was again taken up and it was decided to grant the request, provided the parents would guarantee a sufficient number of pupils.

Messrs. John J. Reese and J. Milton Reifsnider, of the Board of Trustees of the Westminster High School, had an audience with the Board urging the appointment of another assistant teacher, the grading of the lot, and the necessity of putting a sink for water on the second floor. The Board promised to give the matter due consideration. After a visit to the school in a body it was voted to refer the requests to Messrs. Gehr and Grimes.

The Board directed Messrs. Gehr, Grimes and the Examiner to prepare and have printed blank building specifications.

Numerous applications for appointment as assistant teachers were read and deferred. Miss Mary H. Stonesifer was appointed assistant at Carroll Academy, said appointment to date from the time the Board may authorize her to begin work.

Mary Edna Frock's resignation of a scholarship in the State Normal School was read and accepted.

It was voted to continue the Board's arrangement with Rev. S. S. Henry as teacher of the German school in the Fourth district.

The Board decided to rent a building and open school at D. P. Creek.

Miss Blanche Phillips, of Union Bridge, was appointed to a scholarship at the State Normal School. The application of Grace Duddrear, of the Fifth district, for a scholarship at the same school was referred to the emergency committee with power to appoint her if she passes a satisfactory examination. Stella Aldridge, of the Ninth district, D. Royer Englar, of the Eleventh district, and Marie Senseney, of the Twelfth district, were appointed to county scholarships in Western Maryland College. The two remaining vacancies were referred to the emergency committee with power to appoint.

A large number of repair and fuel bills were passed and ordered paid.

The following teachers' contracts were confirmed: Robt. E. Barnes at Mt. Vernon, Clara H. Koontz at Slack, J. Irene Whitehill at Hood's Mill, Chas. Bittle at Meadow Branch, Louise Schultze at Brandenburg, Jeremiah Butler at Western Chapel, colored, Hannah J. Roberts at Priestland, colored, Mayme E. Scott at New Windsor, colored, and Madessa Winberry at Parrsville, colored.

The secretary presented his annual report of Receipts and Expenditures and Debt Statement for the year ending July 31st, in accordance with law, and same was ordered placed on file.

A communication from Dr. John S. Fulton, Sect'y. of the State Board of Health, sustaining the action of Miss Minta Shipley, teacher of Stoney Ridge School, in the Fifth district, in enforcing the Vaccination Law, was read and approved.

After action on a mass of routine business the Board adjourned to November 1st, prox.

Winfield Items.

We were surprised and amused on Saturday last to find the "Shipley" correspondent rushing into print with a matter that was purely personal and local. We shall accept his answer as given in Sentinel, believing that he prefers to remain "in statu quo."

Mr. S. S. Foutz has been awarded the contract for painting the large home of Mr. Blunt, of Granite. There were several competitors. Success to Winfield.

During the month of August, Mr. H. M. Zile took in at his creamery 126,005 lbs. of milk, for which he paid 65cts. per cwt., and during the month of Sept. he took in 102,252 pounds, for which he paid 70 cts. per cwt.

While on his trip to New Haven, Conn., Mr. Zile got a number of snap shots which have developed into good pictures. In New York he took a sail around the harbor and saw Dewey.

Owing to the inclement weather on Friday last but few people were out to the lecture. There have been many expressions of regret at the inability to hear it. The trustees have decided to have the lecture repeated. This will be done on Saturday night of next week, Oct. 14th., at which time the trustees have decided to give an oyster supper at the Academy Hall. The supper will be 15cts., and ticket to the supper will grant admission to the lecture free. The proceeds of the supper are to meet the necessary running expenses of the Academy.

Mr. Solomon Foutz picked his pears last week and weighed five. These combined tipped the scales at 72 ounces.

The continued wet weather has made the farmers anxious about seeding. Such work is being rushed at this time. The fields of corn yet standing give unmistakable evidence of heavy frosts.

Our people have joined the ranks of gosips who say, "Dewey did it."

Rev. C. E. Dudrear gave the first lecture of his series on Ethics, before the academy students, on Monday afternoon. Rev. Dudrear is an ex-teacher, hence the students will have in this course a series of interesting discussions. Dr. E. D. Cronk will begin his course in anatomy, physiology and hygiene at an early date.

Mrs. Maggie Sayers, of Baltimore, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Zile.

Miss Nellie Zile is visiting friends in Baltimore.

Miss Hattie Roberts, of Mt. Airy, is visiting Miss Debbie Zile.

Mrs. Heapes is spending this week in Sykesville.

Mr. Ed. Williams, of Virginia, formerly of this place, was in town the first part of the week.

Rev. Dudrear hopes at an early date to have an Epworth League rally on the West Falls circuit. We understand that the protracted meeting is to be begun at Ebenezer on Sunday evening.

Work has been begun on the gold mine at Daniel, and the progress is being watched with considerable interest by our citizens.

Tickets admitting to the "lecture and oyster supper" will be placed in the hands of the students early next week. Price to all 25 cts.

One of the saddest occurrences that perhaps has ever transpired in the history of our village took place during the past week, the death of a mother and daughter. The daughter, Mrs. Amos Fowble, of Uniontown, was called on last Thursday evening to the bedside of her supposed dying mother and remained until Saturday night, about 9 o'clock, when she retired to rest in an arm chair to which she had been accustomed, apparently in good health. About 10 o'clock some one of the family had occasion to enter the room where she was quietly sleeping and appeared all right. Shortly afterwards the same member of the family again entered the room, and was horrified to find her dead. A pyhsician was hastily summoned and pronounced life extinct. Death was caused by heart failure. She died without a struggle. Her remains were taken to Uniontown on Sunday afternoon, and interred in the Church of God burial ground, at that place, Elder Craft officiating. The deceased leaves a husband and three small children to mourn her sudden departure. They have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. Her age was 34 years, 26 days.

On Wednesday night of this week her mother, Mrs. David Phillips, died about 12 o'clock. Her death was not unexpected, as she had been very ill for the past month and on last Friday suffered a slight paralytic stroke, from which she never rallied. Mrs. Phillips leaves a husband and nine children. Funeral services will be held this, Saturday, morning, at the house, after which the remains will be interred at the Church of God burial ground, Uniontown. The deceased was aged 58 years, 7 months, 6 days.

Next Tuesday, October 10th, is the last day upon which you can register this year.

Reunion.

The grandchildren of the late John Roop, Sr., met at "Meadow Brook," the residence of Mr. Samuel Roop, on the 5th inst., for social reunion and dinner. Mr. Roop's residence is the old Roop Homestead, having been built about 1805, and his farm is a part of the original tract which his grandfather, John Roop, bought in 1795, when he moved from Lancaster county, Pa., to this county. Of the twenty-six grandchildren now living twenty were present at the reunion and dinner, as follows: Mr. William Stoner, of Baltimore; Mr. John R. Stoner, of Thurmont; Mr. Daniel Stoner, of Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. Joseph Larew, of Latimore, Pa., and Messrs David Stoner, Samuel Stoner, Emanuel Stoner, Jacob Stoner, Mrs. Augustus Little, Mr. David J. Roop, Mr. John D. Roop, Mrs. Elizabeth Stoner, Mrs. Catharine Bonsack, Mrs. Ephraim Stouffer, Mrs. Elizabeth Roop, Mrs. Margaret Baile, Mrs. Elizabeth Cassell, Mrs. Theo. F. Englar, Mrs. M. J. Roop, Mr. Joseph Larew, Mr. Ephraim Stouffer, Mr. Theo. F. Englar, Mr. Edward Stoner, Misses Lillie and Irene Woodward and Dr. Lewis K. Woodward. The guests were entertained in the most hospitable manner and a pleasant and happy time was spent in the interchange of reminiscences and in social conversation. The dinner was superb and the event throughout a great success.

A Noted Family Reunion.

One of the largest family reunions ever witnessed in this county, was that which occurred on Thursday, the 28th ult., at the old Christian Royer homestead, in Cranberry Valley. The home, since the death of its former well known proprietor, which occurred in 1870, has been occupied by his widow, whose maiden name was Geiman. The management of the farm as well as the care of the aged mother has been performed by the son, Jonas, who for twenty-five years has filled the father's place, and who also was largely instrumental in making this gathering of the kinship a success. Everybody knows that the Royers and Geimans are prolific households. A reunion, therefore, of descendants of these families meant the assemblage of a small multitude, and when it is also stated that the aged matron of the old home, now in her 92nd year, is the mother of 8 living children, 65 grandchildren and 130 great-grandchildren, some idea therefore of the Carroll county descendants who gathered together can be readily imagined.

A sumptuous dinner was the principal feature of the occasion, which reminded many of the older persons present of the days when their deceased ancestor provided for the feeding of the large congregations that assembled at his home. In those days it was not uncommon for five hundred persons to be fed at his tables. This was on the occasion when the regular religious service of the Brethren was held, which happened four times a year.

The following named persons, all of them relatives, were present: Mrs. Mary Royer, the aged widow; Peter, the eldest son, of Bader's Ill., now in his 70th year; Christian, Maria, wife of Emanuel Stoner; John, Jonas, Mary, wife of Jeremiah Geiman; Mrs. Margaret Royer, sister-in-law of Mrs C. Royer, Miss Louisa Royer, Mrs. Jonas Royer; Abram Geiman and wife, of Pa.; Mrs. John Royer, Emanuel Stoner, Jeremiah Geiman, Jacob N. Dehoff and wife, Jno. Little and wife, Mrs. Martha J. Witter, Rebecca Bixler, Harry Royer, Jennie and Ida Royer, David W. Royer and wife, Charles Royer and wife, Ezra and Laura Royer, Guy Cookson and wife, Harry Young and wife, Lucretia, Annie and Cora Geiman, Mrs. David R. Geiman; C. A. Stoner and wife, of Pa.; George E. Stoner and wife, S. C. Stoner and wife, Daniel Royer and wife, Jesse, Chrissie and Mary Royer, John Garver and wife, Wm. Royer, of David, Jennie Dehoff, Elmer, Irwin and Harry Little, Anna and Mary Little, David Witter, David and Nellie Rover, Mildred Stoner, Letha and Reginald Stoner, Hazel and Rex Stoner, Russell and Willie Royer; Mrs. C. E. Klein and son Cyril, of Frederick, and Eugene E. Reese, in all seventy-three persons. It was an event that will long be remembered by every one of this extensive "frein-schauft," many of whom, as may be naturally supposed, on this occasion recalled the meetings and greetings that marked in other days and still marks the hospitality of the old Christian Royer homestead. Two sons, David and Jesse, residing in the West, were absent.
