TO TINKER THE ELECTION LAW.

The Baltimore Reform League is concerned about projected changes in the Maryland election law by the present Democratic Legislature. And well it may be. A law which makes fraud upon the ballot difficult is not to the minds of the bosses who have dominated the Democratic party for so many years and who are as thoroughly in control of the party machinery now as they were before the Democratic defeat in 1895. It will require great vigilance on the part of the friends of honest elections to detect and frustrate the schemes of the politicians to render the provisions of the present law for the protection of the ballot nugatory. The people of this State have had abundant opportunity to learn that nothing calculated to promote the purity of elections can be expected from a Legislature dominated by the old Democratic bosses. It is no secret that the present law was obnoxious to these bosses and to the Democratic press of the State from the moment of its passage, and the columns of Democratic papers teemed with assaults upon it during the campaign succeeding its enactment. During the campaign of 1899 these papers maintained a discreet silence concerning it, but can now scarcely restrain their jubilation over the prospect of its amendment or repeal and the substitution of a law more in harmony with the views of the old regime.

The people were warned that such legislation was involved in the result of the recent election; but Reform Democrats, who detest a polluted ballot, lulled their fears to sleep and went back to their old party affiliations with faith in the regeneration of the organization and its redemption from the domination of the bosses. Plots to undo the beneficent legislation for the protection of the ballot and other purposes may serve to give them a rude awakening from their misplaced confidence; but the struggle to regain what will be lost might have been avoided if the warning against such plots had been heeded in advance.

Nobody doubts that if the Republicans had been successful no danger of plots and schemes to defraud the people of their political rights would now exist. The Reform League would not have been driven at the very outset of the session to take action to guard the elective franchise against spoliation. The appended resolution, passed by the executive committee of the league, is an evidence that it now apprehends a fight to prevent the overthrow of the legislation for which it so long struggled, and which it only secured through a Republican victory at the polls. The resolution or announcement referred to is as follows:

"The Baltimore Reform League has noted with concern suggestions looking to changes in the present election law of the State, apparently designed not to protect, but to embarrass citizens, in the discharge of the constitutional duty imposed on each voter to cast his ballot according to the dictates of his own conscience. The standing committee on legislation of the league is hereby authorized and instructed to promptly and carefully scrutinize all bills dealing with this subject matter which may be introduced in either house of the present General Assembly, to the end that the public may have timely notice of any attempt, whether open or covert, to revive past abuses or to defeat the free and fair expression of the people's will at the polls."

THE PHARMACY BILL.

In another column of the SENTINEL will be found a communication in relation to a measure which will be pressed before the Maryland Legislature and its passage earnestly urged at the present session. This is a bill to regulate the practice of pharmacy in the State of Maryland.

This is not the first time that an effort has been made to procure legislation of this character in Maryland, and it is somewhat surprising that all previous efforts have been without other result than failure. We have seen and read, as carefully as limited time would permit, a copy of the bill as it has been or will be submitted to the Legislature, and can see no valid reason why it should not become a law.

We can readily see how such a law might be made objectionable by the incorporation of provisions calculated to make the drug business something of a monopoly; but the proposed law, as we understand it, contains no provision of that character. It does not in any manner interfere with any existing business It does not restrict the ownership or conduct of a pharmacy to graduates of the schools. It does not prevent unlicensed dealers from selling patented or proprietary remedies or certain designated drugs and chemicals. It simply requires that any one who, hereafter, shall undertake to deal in such articles as, if not carefully handled or compounded, may endanger human life, shall give a test of competency.

It was not within our knowledge that Maryland is the only State in the union without a law of that character on its statute books, until we read the communication above referred to. But the existence of such a fact indicates the general concurrence of public sentiment in all other sections of the country in favor of legislation to require competency in those whose business may involve danger to the lives and health of the people. The bill, we think, should be enacted into law.

An agent of the Internal Revenue Service visited Ellicott City the other day to see if everything was properly covered with the war tax stamps. He found that magistrates' judgments had been recorded without their embellishments, which he is said to have declared to be necessary. The matter is worthy the attention of parties interested in such affairs in this county.

Pharmacy Legislation for Maryland.

One of the important matters to be brought up at the present session of the Maryland Legislature is the passage of a law to regulate the practice of pharmacy in the State. The State Pharmaceutical Association has for a number of years tried to have such legislation enacted, but their efforts have always been of no avail. The failure has generally been due to a misconception on the part of the legislators and the public generally as to the intention of the law.

It is not intended to legislate any one out of business, as a retroactive law can not be passed. It is not intended for the benefit of the druggist only, as he will have to pay for his privilege. It is not intended to operate against the country store keeper as there is ample provision made for him in the bill presented.

The true aim of the bill is the protection of the public. Every State in this great Union has such a law, except Maryland. That Maryland, one of the original thirteen States, should be the LAST to adopt measures for the protection of the lives and health of her people is a blot on her escutcheon. Are the lives of our people of no value, that any one can promiscuously vend medicines and poisons? The practice of medicine has for several years been regulated by law, but this regulation is largely nullified by the promiscuous vending of medicines and poisons. The law proposed by the State Association is not by any means a stringent one, not nearly so much so as in many other States. It does no injury to any one now in business, and is intended for the protection of our people. Our legislators should give it their hearty support and their votes and thus remove from our beloved State the stigma resting upon her of being so antiquated as to have no pharmacy law. Let every reader of this urge upon their representative in the General Assembly of Maryland the importance of supporting and voting for this bill when it comes up for action.

Dr. Wishard, Charles Stern, Abraham E. Albert and Gantz Howard have received from Tennessee a second lot of live partridges, making in all 510, which they will feed till spring and then liberate all over Washington county. They paid the cost of the birds and freight, about $50, out of their own pockets.

Our people, after the enjoyment and rest of the holiday season, have again buckled on the armor and are ready to battle with the arduous duties of life during 1900. There does not seem to be that dullness and inactivity in our industries that former years would bring following the holiday season, but all are on full time and are giving it the same push and grit that characterized their business for some months of the last year, and which, if it should receive the same increase it did last year will make 1900 the banner year of our industries. There is one great lack that has been, and still is a drawback, that of tenement houses. At least 12 or 15 could be let to good tenants, but unfortunately our investments do not flow in that direction but find their way into bank stocks, &c.

As a wind up to the holiday festivities we find the Dewey Social to the front with its report of the first entertainment it gave at the home of Miss Ella Betts, one of its members, which was a decided success and much enjoyed by all present. Many games were indulged in the early evening, when the tailless donkey was introduced, with its full complement of fun. Miss Alice Mathias, of Westminster, won the first prize, "a game," and Miss Annie Wink the booby prize, a bottle of cologne. Refreshments were served and heartily enjoyed. Those present were: Misses May, Ella and Florence Betts, Pearl Burns, Lizzie and Eva Masenheimer, Haze Maurath, Treva Eyster, Annie and Emma Wink, Emma and Helen Trout, Alice Mathias, Lina Leister, of Lauver, and Master Willie Masenhimer.

At the regular meeting of Lebanon Lodge No. 175, A. F. A. M., on Friday evening, the officers for the current term were installed.

On Saturday evening D. Dep. G. Master J. E. Musselman, assisted by P. G's. Sam'l Miller, S. J. Shultz, Geo. H. Trout, J. E. Masenhimer and Geo. S. After the business of the evening all took up the line of march to the lower hall, where a collation awaited them. Plates were laid for 40 persons who enjoyed oysters, fried, stewed and raw, with all their condiments. It proved quite a social event in the new century for the principles of F. L. and T.

The officers of Carroll Encampment No. 17, I. O. O. F., were installed on Monday evening, at a regular meeting of the camp.
