For the Sunday School.

A series of exceedingly interesting services was held last Sunday in the Methodist Protestant Church of this city in relation to the cause of the Sunday-school and the work it is performing in connection with the church. The services were planned by Dr. J. W. Hering, Comptroller of the State Treasury, who is superintendent of the Sunday-school of the church in which they were held, with which he has been identified as scholar, teacher and superintendent for nearly half a century, and who is deeply interested in the work and anxious to nullify the influences that operate against it.

The regular church service in the morning was devoted to the consideration of the subject, and an able sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. R. Graham, in that connection. Dr. Graham's text was: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it," and his theme was the "Home and the Church as Co-educators." The discourse was particularly well-timed in emphasizing the importance and necessity of home training for the children.

In the afternoon a service was held at which, in addition to singing and responsive readings, addresses were delivered by George R. Gehr, cashier of the First National Bank of Westminster, on the "Importance of the Sunday-school to the Church;" Benjamin F. Cronse, of the Westminster bar and chief clerk to the Comptroller, on "The Importance of the Sunday-school to the Individual;" George Mather, a prominent young merchant, on "The Responsibility of Sunday-school Officers and Teachers," and Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Lewis, president of Western Maryland College, on "Some Influences Which Prevent the Sunday-school From Doing What It Might Do." Dr. Lewis made a very able and, in some respects, remarkable address. He cited as one of the influences referred to in his subject the approval of the existence of the Sunday-school by all the people, whether they be Christians or not, and expressed the opinion that some healthy opposition would arouse Sunday-school workers to better and more efficient efforts in the cause. Worldliness, however, he characterized as the principal hindrance to the more successful work of the Sunday-school, and his contrasts of present worldly conditions and present Sunday-school work with the past were exceedingly graphic.

The service was closed with prayer by Rev. P. H. Miller, D. D., pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, this city, and the benediction by the pastor.

The evening's service consisted of singing and responsive readings, an introductory address by Dr. Hering, and interesting addresses by Prof. G. W. Ward, Ph. D., of Western Maryland College, on "The History and Work of the Sunday-school," and Rev. H. L. Elderdice, D. D., president of Westminster Theological Seminary, on "Child-Training, the Supreme Work of the Church." Dr. Elderdice's address was a very able discussion of the theme mentioned. The services were all well attended and the effect of the all-day consideration of Sunday-school interests can hardly fail to be beneficial.

To be Heard by the Orphans' Court.

In the reports of the proceedings of the Court of Appeals, in the Baltimore daily papers, the following appeared a few days ago:

By Judge Boyd: In Miller et al. vs. Gehr et al. There were four appeals in one record from orders of the Orphans' Court of Carroll county. Two of them were affirmed, one reversed, and the appeal from one dismissed. Judge Boyd delivering the opinion of the court, which held that, although the Orphans' Court had the power to allow counsel fees to executors who unsuccessfully defended a caveat to a will filed after letters testamentary had been granted, the parties in interest could contest the reasonableness of the amount allowed, and the appellants having filed a petition alleging that the amount was excessive within a few days after the order was passed, it was error to dismiss that petition without giving them a hearing.

As we understand this decision, it requires that the Orphans' Court shall grant a hearing in cases such as that under which the question arose under the proceedings mentioned, to parties in interest, who object to the amount of counsel fees allowed; but the hearing is to be before the Orphans' Court, if that tribunal shall so elect, and not before a jury.

The United Milk Producers' Association.

Mr. Fielder C. Slingluff was appointed a co-receiver for the United Milk Producers' Association on Monday by Judge Sharp in Circuit Court No. 2. This action, it is said, was agreeable to the attorneys representing the interests involved.

Mr. Slingluff represents the unsecured creditors, whose claims amount to $40,000. The other receivers are Messrs. William B. Crowther, president of the Association, and Theodore F. Wilcox, cashier of the Old Town Bank.

Attorney Edward S. Kines, who has been trying for some time to reorganize the Association on plans formulated by Mr. Alexander Y. Dolfield, is quoted as saying chances of success were brighter than ever before. The stockholders, he said, had agreed to pay the holders of unsecured claims 50 cents on the dollar, giving them notes for 30, 60, 90 and 120 days. For the remainder of the indebtedness second mortgage bonds will be given. Money necessary to put the Association on a sound basis has been promised, Mr. Kines said, on condition of change among the officers.

Melrose Items.

Our quiet neighborhood is more calm and serene than it was before the election.

On Saturday last as Mr. Charles Stoffle was in the act of transferring the goods of Rev. Flick from Greenmount to the Lutheran parsonage, Manchester, the horses became frightened, and ran away, damaging the wagon and seriously bruising and lacerating one of his best horses.

Mr. Theodore Myers, of Pleasant Valley, was in this neighborhood recently photographing the schools. By the number of pictures ordered, the pictures are a credit to the artist. The number of his school negatives is nearly 900, showing that he is a very popular photographer.

A word about our schools. Kreidlers numbers 46 pupils under the instruction of Mr. Geo. E. Horich. Tracey's school, which was closed on account of diphtheria, is now in session again, with Mr. H. T. Wentz at the helm; Wentz's school, under the supervision of Mr. D. J. Shivers and Miss Vadie Armacost, now numbers over 50 pupils with an average attendance of 45. Ebbvale school numbers 27, with a good daily attendance, under the supervision of J. Albert Zepp. If good attendance shows interest in school-work and undoubtedly it does, our schools are serving their purpose.

The Board ordered that Dr. Leonard Zepp be reappointed physician to the alms house, for the term of one year, at a salary of $100 per annum, the appointment to date from the 21st inst.

Manchester Items.

Since my last we have settled down to our usual quiet, the excitement of the campaign seemed to suddenly drop, and the social features again flowed into the channels of every day life leaving us without the heated debates and the clamors for excitement. Our industries are all in full blast and labor is having all it can handle, so that as an isolated town we have much to be thankful for. The fine weather is giving the farmer ample time to finish up his fall work and already much plowing has been done.

On Sunday evening the members of the Lutheran Sunday School held their Luther day exercises. The church was crowded to its full capacity, the songs and recitations were well given, and the decorations were appropriate. Rev. Flick, the new minister, was present and delivered an address. Mr. Clayton Turner superintended the exercises.

The members of the Trinity Reformed Church Mite Society will give an entertainment in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Thanksgiving evening, 29th inst. Miss Noonan, of Baltimore, will recite some fine selections, an orchestra will furnish the music, and the occasion will offer to our people a fine evening's amusement and should have a liberal patronage.

Mr. George H. Trout has sold the stock and fixtures of his cigar and confectionery store to Mr. Wm. H. Wilson, who has moved the same to his home in the bank building. Mr. Trout sold his personal effects at public sale on Saturday last and left for Baltimore, where he will engage in business.

Mr. William Hoffman, of the Baltimore police force, was here among friends several days this week, looking hale and hearty.

Mr. Bert Bubb, of Glen Rock, paid us a flying visit on Friday, jubilant over the successful torchlight procession and jollification over the election, on the night previous, in Glen Rock. For about three hours they painted the town red. There has been quite a change in the county, giving Lewis, the Republican candidate for Congress, a majority. For a number of years Codorus township had but one Republican voter, then followed a series of years with only three. At the last election they polled 55, thus we see the pebble of years ago, cast upon the waters in the election channels, is multiplying year after year.

For the Sentinel.

Wall Paper! Wall Paper!

I wish to call the attention of my friends and the public in general to the fact that I now am ready to show one of the ever exhibited in this county, bought direct from the factory, in full bundle lots, so you get it only from second hands, no two or three profits coming off it. Of course the consumer pays them all. Sam Jones says it takes a pointer pup nine days to get his eyes open. I have known some people to get their's open in fifteen minutes in a wall paper deal. They thought it was two pieces instead of one, and the border they did not understand, &c. That is always their plea. Remember I am the only paper hanger in the county that carries a stock and don't have the expense of running a store, therefore I have no opposition. Is you think I can't save you money, come and see me and bring size of your room, or send size by mail and I will tell you what your job will cost, and send samples and convince you that Gladhill's is the place to save twenty-five cents on a dollar on all Wall Papers.
