SATURDAY. DECEMBER 1, 1900.

The little island of Guahan or Guam, which was ceded to the United States by Spain by the treaty of Paris, was swept by a typhoon on the 13th of November. Thousands of dwellings were destroyed, including the residence of the Governor. Hundreds of natives lost their lives. The cocoanut crops for four or five years to come were destroyed. The auxiliary cruiser Yosemite was blown sixty miles to sea and wrecked. Guam lies in about 13 north latitude, 145 east longitude.

United States Senator Cushman Kellogg Davis, of Minnesota, died at his home in St. Paul, that State, on Tuesday evening, after an illness of two months, during which he suffered greatly. Senator Davis was in his sixty-third year. He was born in the State of New York, June 16, 1838. He was in his third term as Senator from Minnesota. Previous to his first election to that office he was Governor of the State and also held other important offices. In the Senate he was chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations. He was a man of great ability and personal worth and his death is a sad loss to the country.

NO EXTRA SESSION.

Recently there has been considerable talk about an extra session of the Maryland Legislature for the purpose of passing a bill to disfranchise the colored people. The matter has been pressed upon the attention of Governor Smith, and there seemed to be, at one time, an impression that the proceeding was seriously contemplated. It is now announced, however, that, for various reasons, such as the expense of calling the General Assembly together in extra session, as well as the uncertainty of its action in the matter, the project has been abandoned.

There really seems to be but one motive for considering such a question at this time, and that is purely partisan. Governor Smith and his advisers are by no means certain that the movement would result to the advantage of the Democratic party. Ring Democracy held control of this State for many long years through appeals to race prejudice and still, in every hotly contested campaign, when uncertain of the issue, cries out against negro equality, mixed schools, and the like. In fact the party has made use of this issue for so many years that it may be said to have been its principal stock in trade. About this time, too, it seems to have nothing else left. The people have condemned its false currency theories, its unpatriotic course upon the Philippines question, and every other policy to which it has turned in recent years, and this alone is left. Deprived of this, it will soon be in a hopeless minority in this State.

Since Governor Lowndes' administration there is, of course, less apprehenson on the part of the Democratic masses that the triumph of Republicanism in this State involves the consequences so graphically depicted by Democratic leaders in relation to the status of the colored people; but a measure of prejudice still lingers and forms a string upon which Democratic demagogues may continue to play as long as existing conditions shall remain unchanged.

There is also another serious obstacle in the way of the procedure suggested. It cannot be carried into effect without disfranchising a considerable number of Democratic voters. Under the provisions of the present constitution of the State all male citizens over twenty-one years of age, who are not insane and who have not served terms of imprisonment for infamous crimes, are entitled to the elective franchise. The Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibits disfranchisement on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Hence the only method left to the State, to limit suffrage, is by constitutional amendment providing restrictions applicable to both whites and blacks alike, such as educational and property qualifications. The adoption of these would not disfranchise all colored people and would deny the right of suffrage to a good many whites. The spectacle of a colored man voting where a white man was denied the right would have a tendency to create greater prejudice against the Democratic party, which would have made such a thing possible, than has ever been felt towards the Republican party on the race question.

These are some of the considerations which are likely to prevent a serious attempt to carry the Democratic scheme of the disfranchisement of voters into effect. Other obstacles might be suggested, but let these suffice for the present.

Census of Maryland.

By the census of 1900 the population of Maryland is 1,190,050, as against 1,042,390 in 1890, and 934,943 in 1880. These figures show an increase in the population of the state since 1890 of 147,660, or 14.1 per cent., and an increase over 1880 of 255,107, or 27.2 per cent. The percentage of increase from 1880 to 1890 was 11.4, as against 14.1 during the succeeding decade.

The following statement gives the population of the counties and of the city of Baltimore as announced by the last three federal censuses:

	1880.	1890.	1900.
Allegany	38,012	41,571	53,694
Anne Arundel	28,526	34,094	40,018
Baltimore	83,336	72,909	90,755
Calvert	10,538	9,860	10,223
Caroline	13,766	13,903	16,248
Carroll	30,992	32,376	33,860
Cecil	27,108	25,851	24,662
Charles	18,548	15,191	18,316
Dorchester	23,110	24,843	27,962
Frederick	50,482	49,512	51,920
Garrett	12,175	14,213	17,701
Harford	28,042	28,993	28,269
Howard	16,140	16,269	16,715
Kent	17,605	17,471	18,786
Montgomery	24,759	27,185	30,451
Prince Georges	26,451	26,080	29,898
Queen Annes	19,257	18,461	18,364
St. Marys	16,394	15,819	18,136
Somerset	21,668	24,155	25,923
Talbot	19,065	19,736	20,342
Washington	38,561	39,782	45,133
Wicomico	18,016	19,930	22,852
Worcester	19,539	19,747	20,865
Baltimore city	332,313	434,439	508,957

Only three counties show a decrease in population—Cecil, Harford and Queen Annes. Cecil county, though regarded as one of the most prosperous counties in the state, has been steadily shrinking in population. In 1890 the population had decreased by 1,357 residents, and now the decrease amounts to 1,190. Harford, too, shows a decreasing vitality, its population now being only 227 more than it was 20 years ago, and 786 less than it was in 1890. Queen Annes, like Cecil, is steadily decreasing, although the decrease in the past ten years was only 97, as against 893 in the preceding decade. St. Marys, which 10 years ago had lost nearly 1,000, has made a handsome increase of over 3,000 in the past 10 years.

Based upon the figures of the census, in the next Legislature Anne Arundel, Charles, Kent, Montgomery, Prince Georges, St. Marys and Washington counties will each gain a member of the House of Delegates.

WANT EXTRA SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

At a meeting of the Fairmount Democratic Association of the Seventh Ward, 2119 Fairmount avenue, a few days ago, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, Recognizing that the presence of 60,000 negroes on the registration rolls of the State of Maryland is a constant menace to white supremacy, and realizing that this already overwhelming number is being increased daily by an influx of these undesirable people from adjoining states, and having before our eyes the pitiable condition of our white brethren in the counties of Somerset, Charles, St. Marys, Prince Georges and Calvert, together with the lively recollection of negro outrages in the city of Baltimore under the Republican administration, it is absolutely necessary that the State of Maryland should take her stand with her sister states of the South, and, by the passage of proper legislation, curb and check the dangerous and growing evil.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Fairmount Democratic Association of the Seventh Ward of Baltimore City, in regular meeting assembled, That we earnestly and urgently request the Hon. John Walter Smith, governor of the State of Maryland, to call the legislature in special session for the passage of an act which shall do away with the present existing conditions and assure the supremacy of the white people of the state."

The above resolutions are an index to the course which the Populistic Democracy in this state intends to take in the campaign to be waged next fall.

Having learned to their sorrow that a majority of the voters of Maryland were not to be humbugged, by the hue and cry of Imperialism and Militarism into the support of Bryanism; having discovered that their attempt to array the masses against the classes was a stupendous failure; that their persistent assault upon all trusts and combinations of capital only show distrust of the assailants, and learning by the crushing defeat which the party sustained, that their appeals to the supposed prejudice and ignorance of the workingmen and their ridicule of the full dinner pail, met a deserved resentment and rebuke, which was generously bestowed, they are now getting ready to launch forth again that old, stale and worn out scarecrow of negro domination as their shibboleth with which to try and gull voters into supporting their party. It is one of the hallucinations of the leaders of the Democracy here and elsewhere in the state, that all they have to do is to set up the negro and roundly abuse him, and the rank and file of the party will be convinced that they are forthwith to be put upon a footing of equality with Sambo, and vote accordingly.

It is not so long ago since gentlemen of the better than thou sort, whose profession of a christian walk in life found it quite in accordance with their conception of that high ideal to hurl their direst anathemas at the poor unfortunate negro and hold him up in every political stand, by public utterances as a ghost or scarecrow with which to frighten Democrats into voting their ticket straight. These gentlemen, whose Christian charity is of the tinkling symbol, and sounding brass kind, whose prayers at other times are eloquent for the uplifting of mankind, must do so with a mental reservation, so that the colored man may not be understood to be included, when invoking such blessings from the dispenser of all good gifts.

Hightoned honorable Democrats, with a just conception of their duty to their fellowmen, cannot but feel, when they hear such appeals from wouldbe saintly leaders, like the darkey who, by mistake, took a big bite into a piece of yellow axle greese for cheese, and declared it to be the ransomest stuff he ever got hold of.

So we think, like the "darkey," when such rot is again preached to the voters of this state, it will be too rancid from old age to be readily swallowed by them.

The Iri R. Hicks 1901 Almanac.

Whatever may be said of the scientific causes upon which the Rev. Iri R. Hicks bases his yearly forecasts of storm and weather, it is a remarkable fact that specific warnings of every great storm, flood, cold wave and drouth, have been plainly printed in his now famous Almanac for many years. The latest startling proof of this fact was the destruction of Galveston, Texas, on the very day named by Prof. Hicks in his 1900 Almanac as one of disaster by storm along the gulf coasts. The 1901 Almanac, by far the finest, most complete and beautiful yet published, is now ready. This remarkable book of nearly two hundred pages, splendidly illustrated with charts and half-tone engravings, goes as a premium to every subscriber who pays one dollar a year for Prof. Hicks' journal, WORD AND WORKS. The Almanac alone is sent prepaid for only 25c. Order from WORD AND WORKS Publishing Company, 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo.
