The grand jurors concluded their labors on Saturday and were discharged after making the following report;

To the Honorable Judges of the Circuit Court for Carroll County.

The Grand Jurors of the November term, 1900, respectfully submit the following report: They have carefully and thoroughly examined into all matter brought to their consideration, without favor or malice toward any one. As a result of their deliberations they report the following: Total cases investigated 34, witnesses summoned 71, witnesses examined 58, constables examined 10, cases presented 21, cases dismissed 13, indictments found 21.

They visited the County Jail, which, under the official custodian, Sheriff Geo. W. Motter, was found in as good sanitary condition as the existing circumstances permit. The discipline appeared to be very good as order prevailed everywhere upon the premises. Improvements have been made upon the premises since the last (May) term of Court, viz: Water has been conducted to the washhouse, through pipes, also to the stable, both of which are necessary conveniences. The outbuildings have been renovated, a large carriage house has been added to the stable, the work of which was done by the prisoners. We have no recommendations to make, as the sheriff reported that everything has been done for the comfort of his family as well as the comfort of the prisoners; except, however, we would suggest that two closets be added to the prisoners' apartment, for female prisoners.

We also visited the Almshouse in a body. All the apartments are cleanly kept and were found to be in as good condition as circumstances permit. The inmates expressed themselves as being well cared for and comfortably situated. The barn is well filled with provender for the stock, and about five hundred bushels of wheat were found, threshed, in the granary. The steward, Mr. Edward Berwager, informed us that he had about that quantity to thresh yet. We recommend that the proper authorities be requested to place two closets in the female department.

In reviewing the work of the term we have been favorably impressed with the general good order prevailing throughout the county, and we believe that it will continue to improve under your honorable supervision. Having completed all the work which came under our observation we now most respectfully ask your honors to be discharged.

SIMON P. WEAVER, Foreman.

Dr. Lewis K. Woodward.

In another column will be found the professional card of our young townsman, Dr. Lewis K. Woodward. The doctor graduated from the Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, in May, 1899, at the head of a class of 70 and was one of the four assigned as resident physicians to the Hahnemann Hospital immediately thereafter. During his service—which lasted a year—at this institution, he obtained a wide experience in the following departments: The Accident and Emergency, Medical, Surgical, Diseases of Females, Children and Eye. The Hahnemann Hospital is one of the largest in Philadelphia and has, because of its location, the benefit of more Accident and Emergency practice than any other in the city. After leaving the Hahnemann the doctor took a three-months' special course in Obstetrics at the Philadelphia Lying-in and Charity Hospital.

The following from the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph of Oct. 31 is a fitting tribute to our young townsman and his professional associates:

> After serving a most thorough course in the wards of the Hahnemann Hospital, Drs. Robert A. Woodruff, of Hackettstown, N. J.; Lewis K. Woodward, of Westminster, Md., and Howard W. Taylor, of Pittsburg, Pa., leave that institution to-day to take up their life's work. Dr. Woodruff will remain in this city, where he has made many friends, while the other two will go to their homes.
> These young doctors graduated at the Hahnemann Medical College in 1899, and since that time they have had a most efficient schooling in their work in the accident ward and other wards of the hospital. They have been kept constantly busy, and the nature of the cases that have come under their notice embraces all forms of diseases and all classes of surgical operation, in the treatment of which, especially the latter, they have proved quite skillful. In the history of the Hahnemann it is safe to say that none have left the hospital with a better record than have these young men.

Jesse F. Dixon Guilty.

In the Circuit Court for this county, Jesse F. Dixon was found guilty by a jury, on Tuesday, of felonious assault upon Miss Lillie Belle Edmonson, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. John T. Edmonson, a worthy and reputable citizen of Woolery's district, on the 22nd day of October, 1900. The prosecution was conducted by State's Attorney E. O. Weant and the defense by Messrs. J. Milton Reifsnider and E. O. Grimes, Jr. Following were the jurors before whom the case was tried: John Bernstein, John D. Sellers, Henry N. Cassell, David S. Clousher, J. Jacob Basler, Jacob W. Warehime, Isaiah Nusbaum, James A. Barnes, Milton Chew, J. Webster Ebaugh, George E. Bowman and Charles L. Wampler.

Lilie Belle Edmonson was the first witness for the prosecution. She testified that for 20 days before the assault, which was committed on October 22nd, 1900, she was employed in the family of her great-uncle, George H. Barnes, about three miles from her home. Previous to that she had been employed by Miss Susie Buckingham. It was her habit to go home on Sunday morning and return to her place of employment in the afternoon of the same day. She went home on October 21st. Dixon, who had married her older sister, Maggie, on the 19th of August previous, was there; in fact, he lived with his father-in-law. Some time during the day he asked her (the witness) when she was going back to Mr. Barnes', and she told him that afternoon. He told her if she would stay until Monday morning he would go with her that far, as he was going to work for Alfred Barnes, who lived farther away in the same direction. She did not wish to do so, but upon her sister joining in the request and Dixon urging that they could all go to church together that night she consented to stay. They went to Bethesda Methodist Church on Sunday night and on Monday morning she started soon after daybreak for George H. Barnes', Dixon accompanying her. She wanted to go by the public road, but he persuaded her to take a shorter though more lonely route. On the way he talked principally about his wife, with whom he expressed dissatisfaction, and said he intended to leave her. They did not get along well together. He asked witness if his wife had ever said anything to her about leaving him. Witness was carrying a bundle. When they came to a fence at a lonely spot, with a woods on one side and George H. Barnes' orchard on the other, he took the bundle from her and threw it over the fence. She began to climb the fence, but he seized her by the throat and threw her to the ground. She screamed and he said "—— —— you, I have a revolver and if you scream again I will shoot you." She screamed again and he caught her by the throat with both hands and choked her. She thought he would choke her to death. She struggled hard to prevent him from accomplishing his purpose, but was finally overpowered.

Witness said that after the assault she climbed over the fence and made her way to Mr. Barnes'. Before she started, Dixon asked if she meant to tell on him, and said that if she did he would kill her. She was afraid if she said "yes" he would shoot her at once, and so answered in the negative. He further said he intended to leave her sister a corpse and would kill her father, mother and several others.

Mrs. Lelia E. Barnes, wife of George H. Barnes, testified as to the girl's condition upon her arrival at their house. Witness was in the kitchen and saw Lilie stumble up the porch steps and fall on a table. She went to her and inquired what was wrong. The girl was weeping bitterly. Mrs. Barnes put her arms around her and found her trembling violently. She supported her into the house and finally learned from her the cause of her agitation. Lilie's face was scratched and swollen; her throat was also bruised and swollen, and her arms and back bruised. There were other evidences that she had been very roughly treated. Richard S. Barnes and his wife further corroborated these statements. George H. Barnes corroborated his wife's testimony.

The defence examined a number of witnesses as to the mental condition generally exhibited by Dixon. His own father, Frederick Dixon, testified that he was always unable to learn anything at school. He had gone to school seven or eight winters and never learned to read. Alfred T. Buckingham and Sheriff Motter testified as to his indifference when arrested.

Dr. S. C. Clarke, superintendent at Springfield Hospital, testified that he had examined Dixon in jail last Friday. He found only one physical sign of mental degeneracy, an arched palate. He thought Dixon below the average in mental capacity, but did not think him incapable of understanding right from wrong.

Dr. Abram T. Cronk said that in addition to the arched palate Dixon had an unusually diminished occipital protuberance, which was also a sign of degeneracy. He, however, testified that he thought the accused capable of discerning right from wrong. Several other witnesses testified to Dixon's peculiarities and low mental capacity.

The case was argued before the jury on Tuesday morning by the counsel named, and at one o'clock, P. M., a verdict of guilty was rendered. Judges Reifsnider and Revell were on the bench during the trial, which excited intense interest on account of the character of the crime.

Judge Reifsnider sentenced Dixon, yesterday morning, to twenty-one years confinement in the Maryland penitentiary. In passing sentence Judge Reifsnider commented upon the enormity of the crime perpetrated by Dixon, and, in substance, declared that the death penalty was only withheld upon the solicitation of the jurors before whom he was tried. The convicted man, the court declared, had had no mercy upon his young and innocent victim, but mercy was extended him because of the request of the jurors. Twenty-one years is the extreme limit of the law, short of the death penalty, in such cases.

Fatal Accident.

Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun, under date of the 27th ult., says: "The body of William Wilford Kurtz was taken from Washington, D. C., yesterday to Carrollton, Carroll county, Md., for interment. He was 19 years old and had been an employee of the lithographing department of the Government Printing Office. Last Friday he was injured accidentally in an elevator at the office and died in a few hours. He was a son of Mrs. Annie E. Smith, wife of Mr. T. Arthur Smith, of Carrollton. The father of Mr. Kurtz was the late William Kurtz, of Baltimore."

After the above was in type a detailed account of the accident, with an account of the funeral of the unfortunate young man, was received from our Carrollton correspondent, who writes in exceedingly complimentary terms of the character of the deceased. His back was crushed and his leg broken by the 2000-pound weight of the elevator, which fell on him. The accident occurred on Friday and he died on Monday. Funeral services were held at the Union Bethel, Church of God, on Wednesday, which was the twentieth anniversary of young Kurtz's birth. The pastor, Rev. L. F. Murry, and Rev. J. W. Evans officiated. The pall-bearers were six of the associates of the deceased in the Government printing office. Mrs. V. Brown, of Washington, D. C., grandmother of the unfortunate young man, and a number of friends from Washington and Baltimore attended the funeral. He was buried in a white casket. The floral tributes from Washington and elsewhere were profuse and beautiful.

Bankert's Mill Items.

Your correspondent was one of about one hundred persons who attended the Lutherday services at St. Benjamin's Lutheran Church, on Sunday morning, November 25th. The services were exceptionally fine, and the program was varied, yet every part of it was well rendered by all who took a part. The exercises were opened by the choir singing "Gloria in Excelsis." The music, which was well rendered, was under the direction of Mr. Geo. C. Harmon, of near Uniontown, with Miss Lydia Starner at the organ. The following program by the Sunday School was closely followed in its several parts: Invocation, by pastor; opening exercises, by congregation; singing, Lo ! aMighty Host; Scripture lesson, Psalm xlvi; singing, "Christ for This Land We Sing;" prayer; address, Why We Are Here, by Agnes Reese; recitation, "Luther," by Miss Ida Essich; responsive reading, "Luther a Model of True Christian Life," by Mr. Yeiser; recitation, by Master Robt. Leas; recitation, by Ida Petry; singing, "Forward Soldiers, Follow Jesus;" recitation, by Grace Stoner and Grover Hunter; recitations, by Nellie Ecker, Ruby Yeiser, and four happy little christian girls and boys; recitation, by Grace Schweigart and Helen Ecker; singing, Sound the Battle Cry; responsive reading; patriotic exercises, by 8 young Misses. This exercise, as well as the recitation by Miss Agnes Essich, which was the closing recitation, entitled "Jo the Boot Black," while all did well, received more than special attention from the audience, and certainly had our unstinted praise. During the collection a quartet was well rendered by Geo. C. Harmon, tenor; Mr. Yeiser, bass; Miss Shaeffer, alto, and Miss Lydia Starner, soprano. Then followed a prayer for home missions, by the pastor; singing, "Lord Send Thy Word and Let it Fly;" the Lord's Prayer, by congregation, doxology, and benediction, closed the exercises, of which the congregation can be justly proud. We must not forget to mention that Miss Lydia Starner, the efficient organist of the congregation which she serves, performed her part with credit to herself as well as to the congregation.

Uniontown Items.

We are very sorry to have to note the death of Minnie, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hahn, who died in her tenth year, on Wednesday evening. She was taken sick little over a week ago, with typhoid pneumonia, resulting in spinal meningitis, which caused her death. A trained nurse, sister Magdalena, from the Lutheran Deaconess' Home, Baltimore, and the careful attention of her physicians combined did all in their power to arrest the combination of diseases, but of no avail. Minnie was a very bright, interesting child. The vacancy in the home, day school and Sunday School will be noticeable. Her funeral services were held in the Church of God, Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. S. B. Craft, pastor, assisted by Revs. G. W. Bachman, of the Lutheran Church and B. W. Kindley, of the M. P. Church. Interment in Hill Cemetery.

On Sunday last Mr. and Mrs. Marshall G. Shaw entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Wright, Misses Jennie and Alice Wright, Mr. Ernest Wright, of near Mt. Union; Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Myers, Miss Nettie Myers, Mr. Howard Myers, Elwood Starr, of Trevanion; Miss May Routson, of town.

Surprise Party.

On the evening of November 22nd there was, perhaps, the most successful surprise event of the season, in honor of Mrs. Lucinda Lovall, at her home near Shiloh by her many friends. Upon reaching her home, they found her entertaining one of her neighbors, who was aware of the approaching event. After having been entertained by Messrs. Harris, Walker and Craft, who rendered some fine music suitable for the occasion, the party betook themselves to the yard, where they indulged in various games and sports. While all this was in progress, some of the older ladies took much pains in preparing a sumptuous supper which was served about 10.30 o'clock, and to which all did ample justice. Mrs. Loval, better known as "Aunt Lucinda," received some very handsome presents, consisting of a gilded water set, parlor lamp, etc. At a late hour all prepared to depart, but paused to express to the hostess their gratitude for the pleasure derived from the occasion. An Appeal.

We take this method of again calling the attention of the public to the annual Christmas treat given to the inmates of our County Alms House. We feel sure that those who have so kindly aided us in the past, will again respond to our request, and help us to carry a little of the brightness of the Christmas time to those into whose lives so little sunshine enters, remembering that Christ says: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, ye have done it unto Me." Any little thing which may add to their comfort, or money with which to supply their simple gifts, will be gratefully received and acknowledged.

Wall Paper!
Wall Paper!

I wish to call the attention of my friends and the public in general to the fact that I now am ready to show one of the ever exhibited in this county, bought direct from the factory, in full bundle lots, so you get it only from second hands, no two or three profits coming off it. Of course the consumer pays them all. Sam Jones says it takes a pointer pup nine days to get his eyes open. I have known some people to get their's open in fifteen minutes in a wall paper deal. They thought it was two pieces instead of one, and the border they did not understand, &c. That is always their plea, Remember I am the only paper hanger in the county that carries a stock and don't have the expense of running a store, therefore I have no opposition. Is you think I can't save you money, come and see me and bring size of your room, or send size by mail and I will tell you what your job will cost, and send samples and convince you that Gladhill's is the place to save twenty-five cents on a dollar on all Wall Papers.

Finest and Cheapest Lines of
WALL PAPER
