On the 1st of January, 1901, Mr. M. L. Main & Son, formerly of this city, started a furniture factory in Hagerstown and were employing about forty hands, with the expectation of soon increasing the number to seventy-five, as a Michigan firm had contracted to take all the quartered oak polished furniture the factory could turn out. Early Tuesday morning fire broke out in the establishment, which, with its contents was burned to the ground. The dwelling house of the watchman and the engine house, a short distance from the factory were also destroyed. The factory was a brick building, 100x40 feet and three stories high. It contained between 300 and 400 finished oak bedroom sets and material to make as many more. On Monday he was riding on a handwagon drawn by some boys, who lost control of the vehicle going down a steep hill at the bottom of which is a bridge over Patapsco Falls. Young Tracey was thrown from the wagon and fell over the side of the bridge to the rocks below, a distance of twenty feet. His left hip, which was the best one, was badly fractured and he was otherwise injured. Drs. Bott and Franklin, of this city, adjusted the fracture, but are apprehensive that the parts, on account of the condition of the fractured bone, may not unite. Mr. Tracey is a bright, intelligent young fellow, a graduate of Reisterstown High School and has been studying phonography, in which he has made considerable progress.

School Examiner Simpson has issued a circular to the teachers of the public schools of this county, requesting them to provide immediately for a proper observance of "Arbor and Bird Day." He expresses warm interest in the subject and says "it is difficult to estimate how much this country would be benefitted by increasing the number of trees and birds, and how much it is damaged by a wilful destruction of both." He urges the teachers to "let the exercises be such as will create sentiment on this subject and fix the attention of pupils and parents on the many advantages to be gained by taking care of our forests, shade trees and shrubbery, and also of our beautiful and useful birds, the merry songsters of our groves." He directs that, if weather or other other circumstances interfere with holding these exercises on the day designated, the 12th inst., the last day of the term shall be taken for the purpose. There are few thoughtful people who will not concur in Prof. Simpson's views on this subject.

Death of Hugo E. Fiddis.

Mr. Hugo E. Fiddis, one of the best known and highly esteemed residents of this city, died at the Hotel Westminster, about quarter past four o'clock, Monday afternoon, in his fifty-ninth year. He had not been in good health for a year or two, and succumbed to a sharp attack of pleurisy or pneumonia, which set in on Saturday night. Mr. Fiddis was born in Montevideo, Uruguay, where his father was United States Consul, in August, 1842. He came to this city in 1859 and a few years later entered the Union National Bank, where he remained continuously for 37 years, during much of the time as teller. He was a very faithful, trustworthy and efficient officer and was peculiarly skilled in the detection of counterfeit money. He was a most estimable gentleman. Politically he was an earnest Democrat, but numbered many Republicans among his hosts of friends. He was unmarried and his devotion to and love for his mother, who died a year or two ago, were beautiful to see. Her death caused him deep and abiding sorrow. He was a member and, at times, a vestryman of Ascension Episcopal Church. He was, we believe, a descendant of Governor Wright, of this State. Judge D. Giraud Wright, of Baltimore, is his cousin. The wife of Ex-Judge James A. C. Bond, of this city, is his only sister. His funeral takes place from Judge Bond's residence, at 1 o'clock, Friday afternoon, as the SENTINEL is going to press.

H. 13th Maryland Regiment, and was a member of Pickett Post, G. A. R., at Winfield. He was a member of the M. E. Church South. The boy's buggy struck a telephone pole, breaking the shafts and throwing him to the ground. The horse ran home without during further harm. The point where he frightened has become a dumping ground for any and everything in the shape of refuse, and it is getting of such proportions that it excites and alarms horses. No doubt it will cause a serious accident some of these days and somebody will have to pay for tolerating a nuisance along a public highway.

A driving rain on Monday night and Tuesdy morning made things quite disagreeable.

It has been decided to reorganize Wentz's Union Sunday School earlier than usual this year. On Sunday, April 14, at 2 p. m., an attempt will be made to re-organize, and every friend of the Sunday School is invited to be present.

Much interest is manifested by our young people who are struggling for a higher education in the High School, and especially the Normal Class, conducted by Prof. J. Frank McBee.

Mr. Samuel Sterner is having a building erected to be used as a carriage repository.

Mr. James P. Zepp, near Avondale, spent Saturday and Sunday in this neighborhood.

After a month's visit in Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dherit and two children have returned home, and will soon move to town.

Those who planted peas, etc., should have wrapped them in cotton before putting them in the ground, that is now frozen hard.

The addition to our creamery is nearly completed. We will then have a creamery here large enough to accommodate the products of both Cranberry and Pleasant Hill creameries and room left for more.

Mr. John E. Rhodes is now at the Wentz stand as merchant, and it will no longer be named "Schaeffer's store" as it has been for more than a score of years.

Entertainment at Medford.

The entertainment held at the Medford school house, March 27, proved quite a success, notwithstanding the threatening weather. The doors were opened shortly after 7 o'clock and people soon began to gather into the school-room from all parts of the surrounding country. Before the time arrived for the beginning of the exercises the house seemed to be crowded to its utmost capacity. At 8 o'clock the exercises commenced, and continued for about two hours. They consisted of dialogues, recitations, readings and songs, which were well rendered and greatly enjoyed by all the hearers. This was manifested by the loud and hearty applause throughout the room at different intervals in the program. The room was decorated with drawings, done by the pupils. As soon as the crowd dispersed and the tickets were counted it became evident that there were one hundred and eighty one present without the pupils, a greater number than was ever thought could get into the room. The money obtained, $18.10, is to be expended for a library. The entertainment was truly a success, which was largely due to the intense interest manifested by their teacher, Miss Hannah Shunk, and also to the energy and will force exerted by the pupils. The teacher deserves great praise and credit, in drilling the actors so thoroughly, and the audience should be thanked for their almost perfect order.

The heavy rain on Tuesday night caused the stream which passes Carrollton flouring mill to overflow much of the meadow land in the vicinity. Part of the foot bridge which crosses the stream at the residence of Mr. Jesse Magee, had to be taken down to save it from washing away, but no material damage was done, except the washing of some of the farm lands, and the county roads. The wheat in this vicinity is looking refreshed from the effects of the big rain.

Mr. John Koons, wife and daughter, and Miss Mary Koons, Messrs. Charles Mott and Daniel S. Koons, all of Baltimore, spent Sunday last as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koons, of Carrollton. Mr. James Carter, of Peoria, Illinois, is now paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Koons.
