SATURDAY, JUNE 22, 1901.

Some people affect to believe that, while not doubting President McKinley's sincerity in announcing that he would not accept a nomination for a third term of the Presidential office, the temptation would be irresistible and he would yield to a demand and again become a candidate for Chief Executive of the Nation. Such persons leave out of account the fact that the President's emphatic statement destroys all hope of a successful third term boom. The officeholding politicians, who might endeavor to work up a sentiment favorable to such a project, are too heavily handicapped by the refusal of Major McKinley to allow the use of his name in that connection, to warrant any prospect of success if they should attempt it. Apart from this, too, there is a deep-seated and proper sentiment of hostility in the minds of the people, generally, against a third term, which, we believe, could not be overcome even by President McKinley's popularity, unless circumstances of a most extraordinary nature should arise to make it desirable. The question may, therefore, be considered closed and the third term project as "dead as a door nail."

The employment of so many laborers on the improvements on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad through Howard, Carroll and Frederick counties, is said to be making farm labor scarce in the region ajdacent to the line of the road. Wages are $1 to $1.25, the hands boarding themselves. The work is hard, but the collection of large bodies of laborers makes it attractive, especially to the colored people. It is said that hundreds of them are coming from the South seeking employment. It is a little surprising that the Democratic newspapers have not denounced this as a scheme to colonize voters for the November election. Charging plans of such colonization is one of the methods by which these papers are seeking to frighten Democrats who have rebelled against Gorman tyranny back into the ranks. Intelligent Democrats, however, who are unwilling to assist in the restoration of Gormanism as the controlling political power in the State, should consider such intimations an insult, as those who make them well know that no immigrant into Maryland from another State, since November last, can be registered and vote at this year's election.

Through Partisan Spectacles.

Looking through partisan spectacles this is the way the Advocate sees the Republican administration of affairs in Maryland from 1896 till 1900:

> "From 1896 to 1900 its administration of affairs was so weak and vacillating; its legislation so corrupt; its violation of law so palpable; its greed for office so revolting," &c.

Yet it is a matter of history that an election law, which prevented false counting, closely restricted illegal registration and repeating and assured the fairest elections held in the State for thirty years; an assessment law, which largely equalized taxation; a free book school law, which placed every pupil in the public schools on an equality and provided the humblest child with the necessary text books, without increasing taxation, and other measures of importance were results of the administration of State affairs during the period mentioned.

It is also, further, a matter of history that the Third House at Annapolis, which sold legislation and levied tribute upon corporations and individuals, during the long years of Ring rule, ceased to have an existence when the Republicans obtained a majority in the House of Delegates. Fear of its revival and of the restoration to power of the Democratic element which, according to the testimony of a Democratic Carroll county convention and of the chairman of the Democratic Central Committee of the county, denied the people their rights, is the cause of the "ugly aspect of affairs in the Democratic party in Baltimore," which the Advocate bewails. The real Democrats of the State revolted against the corruptions, oppression and tyranny of this organization in 1895. Their opposition to these things now is not factionalism, as the Advocate supposes, but one of the strongest sentiments known to man—self-preservation.

Three of the census enumerators in Charles county, last year, who pleaded guilty in the United States District Court in Baltimore, to making fraudulent returns, were sentenced as follows: Charles J. Guyther, $100 fine and one day in jail; Daniel J. Bowles, $200 fine and sixty days in jail; D. Henry Mattingly, $200 fine and one day in jail. Jos. H. Ching, a Charles county attorney, was convicted of conspiracy and sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000 and to a long term in jail. Pending an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals he is out on bail. The charge of conspiracy against Philip T. Graves, another of the enumerators, was abandoned by the government and he will not be further prosecuted. Stephen A. Abell, one of the enumerators, was found not guilty of conspiracy, but is to be tried for making making fraudulent returns. His trial, and those of F. H. Borneman and Wm. F. Anderson, of Anne Arundel county, indicted for making fraudulent returns, are set for Monday next.

Ex-Gov. Hazen S. Pingree, of Michigan, died at 7.30 P. M., June 18th, in London, Eng., of malignant ulceration of the intestines. His son, Joseph Pingree, was with him when he died. Gov. Pingree had been traveling in Africa, where it is said he contracted the malady which caused his death. Gov. Pingree was born in Maine in 1840 and was nearly 61 years old. He began life as a poor boy, was a soldier for three years in the Union Army and was a prisoner at Andersonville, Salisbury and Millen. After the war he was employed in a shoe factory in Detroit, Mich., and in 1866, with a partner, started a small factory, which at this time is the largest in the West, and employs 700 hands. When mayor of Detroit he obtained the use of the unimproved ground in the city for cultivation in potatoes by the poor. He was a firm foe of all manner of political jobbery and in many respects a unique character.

Capt. Abdiel W. Eichelberger, a prominent citizen of Hanover, Pa., died in that place last week and funeral services were held in St. Mark's Lutheran Church. He was for nearly half a century president of the Hanover Branch Railroad, and was a liberal patron of education and other philanthropic interests in Hanover. President Hood, of the Western Maryland Railroad; C.W. Slagle, of Baltimore; C. C. Wooden, of Hampstead, and other directors of the B. and H. Railroad, paid earnest tribute to the memory and character of the deceased.

A Bigamy Case.

From a statement in the Baltimore Sunday American it appears that Miss Florence Selby, formerly of Uniontown, recently married a man who has another wife living. The American says:

Miss Florence Selby, 1512 East Fayette street, swore out a warrant at the Northern Police Station yesterday afternoon for the arrest of Frank Horner, 16 South Eden street, charging him with bigamy. According to a statement made by Miss Selby to a reporter for the American at her residence yesterday afternoon, she was married to Horner by Rev. Edward Huber, of St. Matthew's German Lutheran Church, on March 18. About eighteen months ago, she said, she engaged Horner as a driver for the dairy at 539 North Exeter street, of which she is part owner, upon the recommendation of his brother, Patrolman Lloyd Horner, who worked that post at the time. After being in Miss Selby's employ several months, according to the lady, he secured a better position with the Filston Farm Dairy. While in her employ, she said, he gained her confidence and soon won her love, and 7.30 o'clock on the evening of March 18 was the time set for the marriage.

About 1 o'clock on that day, says Miss Selby, Lloyd Horner called upon her and told her that the groom-elect, his brother, was a married man. When brought face to face with his brother, Frank Horner, according to Miss Selby, positively denied the accusation, and as she had no cause to doubt his word, after a couple of hours' postponement the wedding took place at 9.20 o'clock. Miss Selby says she noticed during the ceremony that the minister pronounced the name of the groom "Haner," but thinking the mispronunciation merely a mistake on the part of the minister, she gave it no concern. A few days later the bride's suspicions were aroused when she was told by friends that the license as published bore the name of Francis T. Haner. The groom explained, according to Miss Selby, that the mistake had been made by a friend who had secured the license, but when she was told that Horner had already been married by his sister, Miss Rachel Horner, who said she could show a picture of her brother's wife and child, Miss Selby decided to investigate the matter fully.

A visit to the license clerk at the Courthouse, says Miss Selby, proved, from the description given, that Horner had secured the license himself. Upon the advice of her attorney she immediately moved from 519 North Exeter street, where they had been living, to her present address. Through an outside agency, she says, she learned that the alleged Mrs. Horner No. 1 had been a Miss Jenny Adams and that she resided in a small village about 12 miles outside of Philadelphia. A correspondence between the two women brought out the statement from the former Miss Adams that she and Horner had been married in Camden, N. J., on August 7, 1896, and that after a short married life Horner had come to Baltimore alone, telling his wife that he would send for her as soon as he secured a good enough position. According to Miss Selby, Mrs. Horner wrote that he had only paid her one short visit during December, 1899.

The twelfth annual reunion of the Reformed Churches will be held at Pen Mar on July 18th. The eloquent young orators chosen to deliver addresses this year will amply repay the thousands who will gather on the mountain top. One comes from York, one from Baltimore and one from Pittsburg. Vice President Roosevelt has been invited to attend the reunion, but his acceptance has not been fully secured. The splendid new auditorium will be ready for this great reunion, which will be the first to convene in that park in the new century. This new building will seat over 3,000 people, and will afford shelter from rain or the heat of the sun.

Mr. Calvin S. Shriver, one of the founders of the Maryland Savings Bank, Baltimore, died at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in that city, on Thursday of last week, from general debility, resulting from a broken thigh. He was 65 years old. Mr. Shriver was born at Littlestown, Pa., and resided for a time at Hanover, Pa., before going to Baltimore upwards of forty years ago. His remains were taken to Hanover, on Saturday, where funeral services were held at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Louise Grove. Rev. C. S. Slagle, of this city, attended the funeral.

The Independent Order of Odd-Fellows of this state will hold a reunion at Tolchester, July 11. There will be special trains from Western Maryland, which have been chartered for the occasion. They will run from Williamsport, Md., making connections with other roads and stopping at all stations to Westminster. Every lodge in the state will be represented, and arrangements have been made with the Tolchester Company for the grounds for that day. The company will run three boats to and from the Beach.

A fire occurred at No. 739 W. Mulberry street, Baltimore, early Monday morning, in which Lewis H. Lineweaver, aged 71 years, and Robert Birchett, aged 70 years, lost their lives. Birchett was gotten out of the building alive, but died at a hospital Monday night. It was at first thought that Mr. Lineweaver had escaped, but after the fire was extinglished he was found lying on his bed in a room on the third floor, dead. His face was blackened by the flames and smoke and his hair and mustache were burned off. He was a native of Manchester.

Rev. Charles W. Baldwin, presiding elder of the West Baltimore District, Methodist Episcopal Church, Mrs. Baldwin, her sister, Mrs. Thomas, and others will leave, June 29th, for Europe. They will visit England, France, Italy and Switzerland, and will return September 1st. Rev. Mr. Baldwin, however, will remain, as a delegate in London, to the Ecumenical Conference, which will be in session from September 4th to 17th.

It is stated that "Mr. Samuel L. Johns, the extensive cigar manufacturer of McSherrystown, Pa., has leased the immense cigar factory of Dilworth Brothers, at Lancaster, Pa., and will move his cigar manufacturing business to that place at an early date. This action on the part of Mr. Johns is the result of union labor troubles, and is taken to forestall the proposed increase of wages to be asked for by the cigarmakers on July 1."

Captain John W. Brechtol, a Union veteran who served through the War of the Rebellion, died on Saturday last at Berkeley Springs, W. Va. He was 62 years old, and death was the result of a stroke of paralysis last fall. He was a member of the famous Cole's Cavalry, and later volunteered in Company D, of the Twentieth Pennsylvania. He is survived by a widow, four grown daughters and a son.

Miss Katie V. Dorcus, of Woodsboro, Frederick county, was arrested on Thursday, and held in $200 bail by United States Commissioner Roscoe C. White, charged with using canceled postage stamps to send matter through the mails. She is 35 years of age and the daughter of Jacob Dorcus. When the United States Marshal placed her under arrest it created a great stir in the town.

Mr. J. Thomas Hooker Cole, 69 years old, a retired farmer, of the Fifth district, Baltimore county, was stricken with paralysis last week while at the home of his son, Mr. Edward W. Cole, of Priceville, eighth district, and died Tuesday. He married Miss Charlotte Fowble. A widow and seven children survive him.

The dwelling house occupied by John P. Kirchner, near St Denis, on the B. & O. Railroad, in Baltimore county, was destroyed by fire on Monday morning, and his little son Herman, aged four years, perished in the flames.

There have been heavy snowfalls in the Bavarian and Tyrolean Alps and railroad communications between Munich and Italy were interrupted.

The Democratic County Central Committee will meet at the Hotel Westminster on Monday next, 24th inst., to arrange for the coming campaign. As the members of the Legislature from this county voted solidly with the "Bosses" in the extra session for an election law which will disfranchise many white Democrats as well as Republicans, and as the passage of said law was dictated by Gorman, who had control of the party machinery, and by him forced through the extra session, it is presumed the committee at their meeting will recommend the renomination of these delegates. No more pliant set of Gorman tools can be found elsewhere in the State. Give the voters of the county a chance to say what they think of them. *

A cyclone of great force swept over a large area of territory in Delaware county, Ohio, on Monday night. While much damage was done no one was injured so far as known. Houses and barns were unroofed, trees uprooted and fences torn down. The cyclone covered a track 100 feet wide and about nine miles long.

Wheat harvesting will begin in Washington county, next week. Much of the wheat lies flat on the ground, caused by the recent heavy rains, and is ripening slowly. Nevertheless, a good crop is expected.

Rural free delivery will be established on July 1 at Woodensburg, Baltimore county. L. R. Clifton will serve the route, which will be twelve and a half miles long and will include 250 persons.

Mr. Charles M. Grow, who has been a member of the faculty of the Maryland School for Deaf and Dumb, in Frederick for 33 years, has resigned and will retire from active work.

A severe storm prevailed Thursday afternoon in Allegany and Washington counties, causing some damage.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Carrollton Items.

The cherry season in these regions is at its height. Farmers bring their cherries to Mr. J. E. Evans, merchant, of Carrollton, who buys and ships them to Baltimore and New York, at prices ranging from two to two and a half cents per pound. On Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons farmers' wagons to the number of fifteen or more, were in line to deliver their cherries to Mr. Evans at two cents per pound. Mr. Evans had a car in which were a number of assistants with large platform scales to weigh the fruit. He received orders on Wednesday from Baltimore not to pay more than one cent a pound for cherries. Farmers pay a cent a pound for picking and by the order received they will lose all and gain nothing. Another matter is that many farmers would ship their cherries to Baltimore, but the exorbitant charge of expressing their fruit prevents them from so doing. A gentleman said yesterday it was a wonder to him why the W. M. R. R. Co. did not run a railroad express, charge lower prices and still make money by it, similar to the B. & O. expressage. However, several farmers took advantage of good prices for their cherries and sent them flying to Baltimore to commission merchants.

Between eighty and a hundred persons went to Westminster from Carrollton by railroad to see the firemen's parade and races on the two days of the event.

Mr. John Houck, of Carrollton, is building a very pretty frame dwelling in place of the old house he tore down. The stone foundation was put down by Bossom & Son and the carpenterwork is being done by Charles Arbaugh and Ezra Evans. The building, when completed, will be an ornament to Carrollton.

Mr. J. E. Evans has erected a very neat summer kitchen which is an ornament to his pretty cottage dwelling, which stands on an eminence overlooking Carrollton.

Mr. Geo. Houck lost fifty young chickens on Thursday night of last week. Mrs. Houck says the chicks were taken by two legged foxes.

Mr. Mules had 175 young chicks running about and his flock has dwindled down to about sixty. Real live foxes, with four legs, were seen running off with his chicks. Mr. Mules found the den and broke it up.

Mrs. Michael Walsh and Mrs. Joel Sykes have lost a good many turkeys and chickens by foxes, and other persons have suffered the same way by fox intruders.

Mr. E. E. Koons, general manager of the Carrollton Flouring Mills, will leave on Saturday morning for a two-week's outing, at Winchester, Va. He will spend the time with his son, George J. Koons, who is the head miller at the big flouring mill of Baker & Company, of Winchester.

Melrose Items.

Miss Edith Crumrine has returned from a visit to Westminster, having enjoyed the Western Maryland College commencement while there.

The Home Comfort Range agents were around last week and sold three in this immediate neighborhood, to Messrs. Geo. P. Wentz, John S. Wentz and Geo. Thieret.

Mr. Henry Black contemplates having a house erected here in town by autumn time.

Your correspondent requests citizens of this vicinity to give him personals and other news for his Melrose items. A correspondent cannot possibly know all that happens in a neighborhood unless others help him to gather news.

Mr. Geo. M. Zepp has added some improvement to his residence.

Your correspondent has had quite a varied experience in canvassing. Recently a Philadelphia firm wrote, offering him $3 per day and all expenses paid, and no ringing of doorbells. He applied for the position, and received reply that he was expected to sell so many each day, but wasn't to ring doorbells, as that irritated some people. The best plan, the letter said, was to gently knock at the door, and then politely state your business.

Bankert's Mill Items.

Hay making will be in full blast before another week. Wheat and rye are maturing rapidly and the harvest will, we believe, be an abundant one. Of one thing we are sure, it is destined at least to be a very troublesome one. One need but take a look at the fields of grain and all hopes of a pleasant harvest will be dispelled, for most of the grain in the fields is lodged and badly tangled since the recent rain storms.

Mr. Walter Bashoar, our popular miller, is on the sick list.

Mr. John Arthur is sinking a well at his farm. Mr. Shoemaker is doing the work.

SEVEN YEARS IN BED.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Mr. W. S. Whedon, Cashier of the First National Bank of Winterset, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work. For sale by W. Scott Zepp, Druggist, Westminster.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEREAS, It has seemed best in the wise providence of Almighty God to remove from us our friend and co-worker Edwin Griffith Gilbert, who from nearly the earliest history of this institution has been so closely identified with its highest interests, and William R. Zollickoffer, one of the most promising of the younger members of the Board of Directors, and being desirous to place upon our record some tribute to their memory, therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of the former, The Carroll County Savings' Bank of Uniontown has lost one of its most faithful officers, one whose sacrifices and interest for the bank's success have been constant. As Treasurer, he was diligent, conscientious and accommodating, and as a friend and associate in the Board genial and upright.

Resolved, That in the death of the latter we have lost a Director of highest promise. His quiet unobtrusive manner and his love of truth and right quickly won and held our hearts. We shall cherish the memory of these, our late associates.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be handed to their respective families, be entered upon the record of the Bank, and published in the newspapers of the county.
