AT REST.

At rest—
Folded hands across his breast;
In the rest that was desired
By his murmured: "I am tired."
Not a shadow on his face
Where a smile had left its trace
As though Death his marble lips
Touched with tender fingertips.
And we wonder if the peace
Which his form encompasseth
Is the glory of his life,
Or the majesty of death.

And from all the land there comes,
As the requiems grandly surge,
With the lilt of muffled drums,
Sighing strains of Sorrow's dirge.
Aye! A nation's heart is rent
In the greatness of its throbs.
See the Gate of Grief unpent;
Hear a stricken Nation's sobs!

At rest—
With his hands prone on his breast,
Weary hands, that rest to-day
From their pointing out the way;
Weary hands, that wrought for peace.
Hands that bade the warfare cease;
Weary hands—as white and fair
As the waxen lilies there.
Though his soul has journeyed on,
Still—there is the coming dawn,
And the Sorrow of To-day
Bringeth Hope with her alway.

Who can sing a good man's deeds?
Who can sing a good man's worth,
When his wisdom planted seeds
That have bloomed o'er all the earth,
When his wondrous mind and hand
Have achieved results sublime?
They—a monument will stand
That endureth for all time.

At rest—
Quiet hands across his breast,
And the West shall bring her rose,
And the South her lilies white,
And the daises of the North
Be the stars of Sorrow's night.
Aye, the West shall bring her rose,
And the East her violet,
And the garland of them all
With a nation's tears be wet.

The Operation on President McKinley.

Scientific Description of Surgeon's Work on President.

(From the New York Medical Journal.)

A physician who was present at the operation on President McKinley in the Buffalo Emergency Hospital, writes:

"Before it seemed possible for sufficient time to have elapsed, the ambulance arrived at Music Temple. The President was promptly and gently placed in the ambulance, and at 4.18 P. M., 11 minutes after the shooting, he was placed upon the table, and the examination began at once.

"The hospital internes removed the President's clothing, ascertained the location of the wounds and made ready for the surgeons who had been summoned by telephone. Dr. Edward C. Mann administered one-fourth of a grain of morphine hypodermically, which served a good purpose in alleviating nerve strain. This was at 4.35 P. M.

"At Dr. Mann's request Dr. Wasdin assumed charge of the anaesthetic and began the administration of ether at 5.20—1 hour and 15 minutes after the wound was inflicted.

"It should be mentioned that the first or uppermost shot went through the President's clothing and made an abrasion about the centre of the sternum. The bullet was found inside the waistcoat and did no essential harm. The clothing was burned by the explosion of the powder at this point.

The President took the ether kindly and was well under its influence within the next 10 minutes. The abdomen having been aseptically prepared, an incision three inches long was made perpendicular to the body, and including the opening made by the ball—a 32 calibre—that was located four inches below the left nipple and an inch and a half to the left of the median line. The incision went through a deep layer of fat before the peritonaeum was reached, hence the incision was enlarged another inch.

"A piece of cloth—probably a bit of undershirt—was found in the track of the missile, which looked as if it had been 'punched out' by the bullet. Upon opening the peritonaeum a bullet hole was discovered in the anterior central portion of the stomach. This viscus was drawn up into the operation wound and the perforation, after examination, was closed with a double row of silk sutures. A little oozing of the stomach contents had occurred through the opening—all of which was wiped away.

"A further enlargement of the incision now became necessary in order to examine the posterior of the stomach, upon which another opening was found. This was sutured in manner like unto the first, and the sluggish hands on the clock marked 6.12.

"The intestines were examined for possible wounds, but happily none was found. A previous hypodermatic injection had been made, and now 25 drops of brandy were similarly administered. A further search for the missile failed to discover it, but it became apparent that it had done no other vital damage, with the strong probability that it lost itself in the thick lumbar muscles.

"Dr. Roswell Park arrived about this time—6.25—and joined the staff as consultant. The abdominal cavity was flushed with normal salt solution and the closure began. Several silkworm-gut sutures were employed and catgut was placed superficially between them. At about 6.50 the anaesthetic was discontinued and the abdominal bandages was applied. Thus, the operation on which so much of moment depended was finished. The President's pulse was now 122, respiration 32.

THE KISS

The lane had donned a silver veil,
The night-folk soft were singing,
And close o'er drowsy hill and dale
The warm, round moon was swinging,
Intent, there strolled two figures, slow,
(That walk—they oft review it!)
And all the crickets chanted low;
"She'll do it!—do it!—do it!"

About their feet the fireflies danced,
The moth before them drifted,
The bat athwart their pathway glanced,
The rose its face uplifted,
And in the grove a whip-poor-will
(I wonder how he knew it!)
Kept calling in a fluted trill:
"She'll do it! Yes, she'll do it!"

They've paused beneath the apple tree
That shades the garden wicket;
A nook where surely none can see—
Not bat, nor bird, nor cricket.
A silence—with some murmurs sweet
Like music trickling through it;
While earth and air and sky repeat:
"She'll do it! Oh! She'll do it!"

"Good-night"—quite innocent the word;
'T is merely a convention,
And nothing more than this was heard
To challenge the attention,
"Good-night!" But, fie! what spies were hid
Among those branches o'er us!
List—Katy did! Kate did! She did!"
Rings out a lusty chorus.

Edwin L. Sabin, in Puck.

Wall Paper!
Wall Paper!

I wish to call the attention of my friends and the public in general to the fact that I now am ready to show one of the ever exhibited in this county, bought direct from the factory, in full bundle lots, so you get it only from second hands, no two or three profits coming off it. Of course the consumer pays them all. Sam Jones says it takes a pointer pup nine days to get his eyes open. I have known some people to get their's open in fifteen minutes in a wall paper deal. They thought it was two pieces instead of one, and the border they did not understand, &c. That is always their plea. Remember I am the only paper hanger in the county that carries a stock and don't have the expense of running a store therefore I have no opposition. Is you think I can't save you money, come and see me and bring size of your room, or send size by mail and I will tell you what your job will cost, and send samples and convince you that Gladhill's is the place to save twenty-five cents on a dollar on all Wall Papers.

Finest and Cheapest Lines of
WALL PAPER

The paper of the people, for the people and with the people.

Honest in Motive, Fearless in Expression, Sound in Principle.

A newspaper is an educator: there are all kinds of educators, but the man who spends money judiciously and liberally is better able to impart his knowledge than the man who has little or nothing to spend.

THE SUN is the highest type of a newspaper. The Sun's Special Correspondents throughout the United States, as well as in Europe, South Africa, China, and, in fact, all over the world, make it an up-to-date newspaper.

The Market Reports and commercial features put the farmer, the merchant and the broker in close touch with the markets at Baltimore, Norfolk, Charleston, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other places which are prominent centers.

From now on the news of the world promises to be more interesting than ever before and national and political questions will arise, making probably the most eventful period in the country's history.

This, together with the corps of editors and reporters at Baltimore, Washington and New York, make The Sun invaluable to its readers.

Why Not Cure Your Cough or Cold?

WESTMINSTER, April 10th, 1890.

MR. JOS. B. BOYLE:

Dear Sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very troublesome cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but TEMPORARY RELIEF. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough, and through a friend was induced to try YOUR Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost INSTANT RELIEF, but a PERMANENT CURE. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am, Truly yours,

EDWARD LYNCH.
