1992 NOV. 28 WILLIAM RANDOLPH TO [illegible]

carry on or conduct as much business as we now do without the assistance of a third Person, to this if I am right in opinion you could have no objection as it certainly must tend greatly to our advantage, however these are only my outward thoughts what may be the event or how far just in perception time only will discover, but this I am to observe to you as Cashier I have paid Mr & Co. pretty large sums lately whether it was to pay off your Sisters fortune who was lately married I am a stranger to.

Now Sir I have fully conveyed my sentiments on this head to you, nor should I think from what has past I had acted with that candour & integrity to you as I ought to have done had I been any longer silent in the affair, you will therefore as I have before requested turn the matter over in your mind and as freely give me your sentiments by the first opportunity; on the other hand if your Mr has communicated his intention to you which I solemnly declare he has not to me, but I think has acted with great reservedness I am far from desireing or endeavouring to make a family breach between you but in this case as I would in every other in life, desire to do as I would be done unto that no secret negotiations should be carried on in partnership bending in the least to disappoint or prejudice any of the parties —

My best wishes will ever attend you & that I am with great truth

Dr Sir

Your Affte hble Servant

William Randolph

my respects to your Mr D. G.
