[1773?] James Chedon to Robert Bensley 1964

SIDE ONE

If I am not mistaken in the intuition I have had of Mr Bensley, He would much rather I would address him as an Old Acquaintance, than be making formal Professions, that often ~~[illegible]~~ Mean more than is meant, and seldom carry Belief with those, they are addressed to. I never was good at them in my Life, and therefore with! further preamble, ~~[illegible]~~ ~~it to you to guess~~ Proceed Principle from instinct, the Inclination I now feel, of cultivating with Mr Bensley what would Deserve to be Termed a a Brotherly Intercourse, ~~[illegible]~~ One thing However I will venture to say, That it shall not be my fault, if
