GEORGE E. SHARRER,
Chairmam.

As no contests are contemplated, so far as we are advised, at the Republican primaries which are to be held this afternoon, not much interest is apparent concerning them. It is to be hoped, however, that all the districts will send some of their best representative Republicans to the convention to be held in this city on Monday.

The Second District Republican convention to nominate a candidate for Congress will meet in this city on Tuesday next, September 2nd. Hon. A. A. Blakeney will undoubtedly be renominated, probably without opposition. The Harford county delegates, it is said, may cast a complimentary vote for Ex-Secretary of State Richard Dallam.

The conditions caused by the strike in the anthracite mining region are becoming more and more alarming, not only because it has become necessary to call out the military to preserve order, and the fatal clashing which has already occurred between the troops and the strikers, but because of the threatened dearth of fuel which will bring suffering and misery to hundreds of thousands of people.

Charles E. Fink, Esq., of this city, made a strong and creditable fight for the support of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth wards of Baltimore, in the Second congressional district convention of the Democratic party, but the odds against him were too great to be overcome—meaning by "the odds" not the voters but the bosses. He had to fight the skilled managers of the national, state and local officeholding organization, but for all that polled over 40 per cent. of the votes cast. All things considered he has reason to be proud of his achievement.

Hon. J. Fred. C. Talbott was nominated for Congress by the Democratic convention at Havre de Grace, on Thursday. Mr. Talbott went into the convention with the delegates from Baltimore county and the Fifteenth and Sixteenth wards of Baltimore in his favor. The Carroll delegates stood by Mr. Fink. The Harford county delegates were instructed to vote as a unit and voted solidly for Judge Watters, of that county, for five ballots. On the sixth ballot six of the ten delegates representing the county announced their determination to vote for Mr. Talbott, thus insuring him the entire vote of the delegation. Carroll county then withdrew the name of Mr. Fink and made the nomination unanimous. The action of the convention was not unexpected. It was, undoubtedly, dictated by the party bosses, who have very little respect for the wishes of the people. They were made to hustle, however, as they have rarely been obliged to do, by the vigorous fight put up by Mr. Fink.

The Democratic convention of Frederick county, which met in Frederick on Saturday last, in passing a resolution demanding justice for Rear Admiral Schley, designated the destruction of the Spanish ships off Santiago, by the fleet under his command, as "the greatest naval victory in modern warfare." This sort of exaggeration isn't necessary to sustain Admiral Schley's right to be regarded as the hero of the achievement. Farragut's victories on the Mississippi river and in Mobile Bay, and Dewey's destruction of the Spanish fleet in the harbor of Manila must be forgotten when the battle of Santiago is classed first on the schedule of modern naval events. While demanding justice for Admiral Schley injustice should not be done to other heroes whom the people delight to honor. That sort of thing is sure to produce reaction. Withholding by official authority from Admiral Schley the meed of honor due him has done more to make his name honored, by a large body of the American people, than the magnitude of the victory achieved by the fleet which, at the time of the battle, was undoubtedly under his command.

GETTING READY FOR 1904.

Ex-U. S. Senator David B. Hill, of New York; U. S. Senator-Elect Arthur Pue Gorman, of Maryland, and other prominent Democrats were at Saratoga, N. Y., on Saturday last, where, it is alleged, Democratic national politics for 1904 was under consideration. Ostensibly, however, Mr. Hill was at Saratoga, with other New York Democratic politicians, considering the proper date for the meeting of the Democratic convention of that State for the nomination of candidates for Governor and other State officers. As the Republican convention is to be held September 25, Mr. Hill, who is in full control of the Democratic Machine in New York, decided that his convention should be held September 30.

The presence of Mr. Gorman and the fact that he and Mr. Hill exchanged visits and were in conference, gave the occasion much more than a local coloring. It is hinted that if Hill can wrest New York from the Republicans, at the State election in November, he will be the favorite of the Democrats in New York and other States in the eastern section of the country for the Presidential nomination in 1904, but if he fails in winning a Democratic victory, in the State campaign, Mr. Gorman is to be taken up and boomed for the Presidency.

It is said that Mr. Gorman and other prominent Democrats outside of New York believe that the national Democratic campaign for 1904 should be begun by nominating Chief Justice Alton B. Parker, of the State Court of Appeals of New York, for Governor, and it is intimated that, as he did not take a prominent part in politics in 1896 and 1900, he would be acceptable to the Bryan element as a candidate for the Presidency. Well informed Democrats say that the attitude of Messrs. Hill and Gorman toward Bryan, at the periods named, would undoubtedly insure the defeat of either one of them, and that other Presidential timber must be selected. That, in fact, somebody must be found that will be satisfactory to both Gold and Silver Democrats.

This might avail if men and not measures were alone to be considered, but it must be an insult to Mr. Bryan's intelligence to suppose that he is to be caught by a gold hook hidden under a bait of neutral color. Mr. Bryan is rather a positive character and clings to his opinions with a dogged tenacity calculated to justify faith in his sincerity, whether he be right or wrong. He has a large following, which places implicit and unbounded confidence in his wisdom and greatness and cannot be cajoled into deserting his financial theories as long as he publicly maintains them. He is a power in the Democratic party to be reckoned with in any plan of campaign for 1904, but he seems to have been left out in the consultation at Saratoga.

There is another large element, however, which must also be considered in the schemes that, probably prematurely, are being cooked up by the New York leaders and those with whom he has been consulting. Populism will not be absorbed by Democracy in 1904 on any platform not satisfactory to Populist politicians and their followers. If Democrocy could not win in 1896 and 1900, with the sold support of Populists and Free Silver Republicans, what will be the chances with both these elements alienated in 1904? And neither Mr. Hill nor Mr. Gorman is shrewd enough to conceive a scheme that can bring into affiliation true Jeffersonian Democrats, Bryan Democrats, Populists and Fre Silver Republicans. The Republicans have no occasion to be alarmed by such conferences as that just held at Saratoga, or which may be held hereafter, for the purpose of misleading the people as to the real policy of the Democratic party.

HOW CANDIDATES ARE SELECTED IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Rev. Wm. L. Seabrook, of Newberry, S. C., in writing to his father, the editor of the SENTINEL, gives some interesting facts in relation to political conditions in that State and the method by which candidates for office are selected. In the first place he says there is absolutely only one party in South Carolina. "All this talk of the building up of a Republican party is absolute nonsense. There are, of course," he writes," many who are in sympathy with the Republican party on national ideas," but the paramount issue is the negro and next to that a determination to be let alone in relation to the party of the South in the Civil War. The existence of both these sentiments is, of course, generally known to the country at large, but the intensity of Southern feeling concerning them is not generally recognized or appreciated.

The method of selecting candidates for office, as described by Mr. Seabrook, must be something on the order of what is known as the Crawford county system. There are no nominating conventions, but candidates are chosen by direct vote of the white people and the choice is certain to be ratified at the polls. Every man who wants to make the race for office announces himself as a candidate through the public press. Then all the candidates present their claims to the people at public meetings, which are held for three groups of aspirants at different times—first, for Governor and other State officers; second, for United States Senators and members of the House of Representatives, and third, for county officers. At this time there are five aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination, ten for railroad commissioner, and several for other State offices. For United States Senator there are five or six running and several for Congress in each district. The people express their preferences for United States Senator by voting for candidates for the Legislature who are pledged to the support of their favorites.

The meetings for the gubernatorial candidates and for United States Senators and Congressmen have already been held in Newberry, the county seat of Newberry county, and that for local officers is yet to be held. The meetings are allday affairs. Mr. Seabrook was requested by the chairman of the Senators' and Congressmen's meeting to open it with prayer, and did so. The speeches, as a rule, he says, are generally of a personal character, the candidates lauding themselves and sometimes abusing the other fellows.

Daniel E. Murphy, who enlisted as a teamster for the United States Army, at Boston, Mass., on the 18th inst., committed suicide by throwing himself on the track of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, before a freight train, near Woodstock, on Sunday. He was struck by the engine and instantly killed. According to his enlistment paper he was on his way to join the 113th Company of Coast Artillery, at Fort Howard, below Baltimore. He had with him two discharges from the United States military service, one dated May 12, 1899, and the other June, 20, 1902. His name was ascertained from the papers in his possession. Nothing is known in relation to his past history, or about who he was, except as the papers referred to disclose it. His remains were interred in the National Cemetery, adjoining Loudoun Park, Baltimore.

The Western Maryland Railroad Company is erecting at Cherry Run, W. Va., an office building, which will, it is said, be ready for occupancy on Monday. The building is a frame structure with a slate roof and is two stories in height. the dimensions are 51x23 feet. It will be occupied jointly by the Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland Railroads, quarters being provided for the clerks and operators who have charge of the interchange of traffic between the two roads at that point. Offices are also provided for the yardmasters and there is, in addition, a waiting-room for train crews. These officers and clerks are now quartered in the pretty Western Maryland station at Cherry Run, and the new building will relieve the congested condition of that depot. The office building is located within 50 feet of the station.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TOUR.

President Roosevelt has been making a tour of the New England States for a week past, or longer, during which he has made many speeches in which he dealt with questions of national interest and importance. In the matter of dealing with trusts he expressed intense earnestness and a desire for the application of some means for their control. Reciprocity with Cuba was also discussed by him and a generous policy advocated. "We have done our duty by Cuba," he said, "but I want to ask this people to act further than under a sense of bare duty, to act in a spirit of generosity such as befits a great republic in dealing with a new and weaker republic which itself has started on the career of self-government. Cuba has got to be in a sense a part of our international political system, and I ask most earnestly that in return we make her part of our economic system by establishing reciprocal trade relations with her. [Applause and cries of "Right!"] I ask it in her interest, and I ask it in ours. There is a great market in Cuba, and I wish to see it controlled in the interest of our own people."

Referring to the Philippine question he said: "And now in the Philippines our soldiers have fought and won. To do what? To leave the country and establish the rule of civil authority under the American flag. And now we have brought peace to the islands. They are better off than ever before. Never in their history has each man had, as he has now, such a good chance for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. You have brought self-governing individual freedom to the Filipinos of a kind that they could have never known under an anarchic tyranny of their own.

"Now we will govern the islands well. We will govern them primarily in their own interest, but in our interests also."

At Haverhill, Mass., on Tuesday, the home of Secretary Moody, of the Navy Department, the President spoke of the navy and advocated an increase in the number of our warships and the maintenance of this branch of the service. He said, among other things, that "It is impossible after the outbreak of war to improvise either the ships or the men of a navy. The shipbuilders and gunmakers must keep ever on the alert so that no rivals pass them by; the officers and enlisted men on board the ships must in their turn, by the exercise of unflagging and intelligent zeal, keep themselves fit to get the best use out of the weapons of war intrusted to their care. The instrument is always important, but the man who uses it is more important still.

"We must constantly endeavor to perfect our navy in all its duties in time of peace, and above all in maneuvering in a sea way and in marksmanship with the great guns. In battle the only shots that count are those that hit, and marksmanship is a matter of long practice and of intelligent reasoning.

"Our navy is now efficient; but we must be content with no ordinary degree of efficiency. Every effort must be made to bring it ever near perfection."

Other topics of interest were also considered at various stopping points of the route followed by the President during the tour.

The Western Maryland Railroad has received from the Baldwin Locomotive Works at Philadelphia, the two passenger engines ordered last spring. The locomotives are similar to those now in use in the passenger service, except that they are heavier and more powerful. They weigh 100,000 pounds each. The Baldwins are building six consolidation freight engines for the Western Maryland. They will weigh 160,000 pounds each and will be delivered about November 1st. This motive power is for the present traffic of the Western Maryland which shows a steady increase. The extension of the road will necessitate the ordering additional engines.

Col. George R. Dennis, a well known and prominent citizen of Frederick county, died at his home at Urbana, on Saturday last, aged about 72 years, and his funeral took place at all Saints Episcopal Church, Frederick, on Tuesday. Col. Dennis was a native of Somerset county, but went to Frederick before the Civil War. He leaves a widow who was his second wife and a sister of his first wife, Miss McPherson. Col. Dennis was for a short time in the military service of the United States as an officer of the 1st Md. Regiment, P. H. B., commanded by the late Judge Maulsby, of this city.

Acting Postmaster General Wayne has notified postmasters that, while they may take part in politics, they must not be active. The qualification, it is understood, applies particularly to activity in manipulating primaries. The rule is not a new one, but seems to be regarded by many postmasters as without force or effect.

Peter S. Hoe, who was the last surviving member of the original firm of R. Hoe & Co., manufacturers of printing presses, died at his home at Montclair., N. J., of pneumonia, on Tuesday.

Governor Smith has appointed Mr. Ferdinand Williams, of Cumberland, Associate Judge of the Fourth circuit, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge David W. Sloan.

The surveys for the changes in the lines of the Western Maryland Railroad having been completed, it is said that the work of tunneling the South Mountain will soon be commenced.

The entries in the various departments of the State and County Fair at Timonium, September 2 to 6, are the most complete and satisfactory ever known.

The Republicans in the First district, at Ocean City, nominated Hon. William H. Jackson for Congress on Thursday.

The Presbyterian Church in Emmitsburg, Frederick county, was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire on Thursday.

The thirty-sixth national encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in Washington, D. C., October 6 to 11.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES AND PATRONS.

The district school trustees and patrons have a day this year on the program of institute work, Thursday, September 11th. Much of the work has been mapped out for the coming Institute by State Superintendent, Dr. Stephens, and one day he wishes set apart as trustees and patrons' day. Of course we would be glad to see the trustees and patrons present every day in our institute; yet we especially invite you to come and mingle with us on Thursday, September 11th; for it is arranged so that much of the work of that day will be of special interest to trustees, patrons and teachers conjointly.

It is becoming more and more evident that the best work in the public schools requires the trustees and patrons to take an active and an intelligent part in the education of the children. The teacher can not do the best work for the community, unless the trustees and patrons give their co-operation full, sympathetic and intelligent. They must have a sympathetic interest in the teacher's efforts to train their children. To do this properly, the trustees and patrons need to become imbued with the spirit of school work; they should acquaint themselves with the plans and understand the methods as well as the difficulty in carrying them out.

We cordially invite the trustees and patrons to attend the institute, especially on the day set apart for their benefit and pleasure. You will all receive a warm welcome, and we will do all in our power to make you feel at home among the teachers. We want to see a large number present on that day.

Last year we placed a globe in every school house in the county; and in addition in many schools maps and charts were put in also.

We will endeavor to do everything in our power to bring the schools up to the highest efficiency possible with the money at hand.
