REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR CONGRESS,
WM. TYLER PAGE,
OF BALTIMORE COUNTY.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4TH.

Before the nomination of Hon. J. Fred. C. Talbott, by the Democratic convention of the Second congressional district, the Advocate fairly rang with declarations of his unpopularity and statements that hundreds of Democrats in every political division of the district would not vote for him. Now it says it was mistaken and turns its attention to mere assumptions about the nomination of Mr. Page, the Republican candidate, which it accepts and iterates as facts, at the same time indulging in vulgar slurs, bordering closely on the line of scurrility, concerning him. Remembering its tergiversation in regard to Mr. Talbott, its readers will know what estimate to place upon its utterances concerning Mr. Page.

SECRETARY MOODY TO BE HERE.

By referance to the advertising columns of the SENTINEL it will be seen that Hon. Wm. H. Moody, Secretary of the United States Navy, will speak with and for Mr. Wm. Tyler Page, the Republican candidate for Congress in this district, at Odd Fellows' Hall, this city, on Monday evening next. Mr. Moody is one of the strong men of this country intellectually and his coming here to address the people will be an event of mark in the political history of this county. It is hardly necessary to urge the Republicans to give him a rousing reception. Citizens of every political complexion will find interest in his discussion of the important questions of the day, and the doors will be open to all. Mr. Page will, as intimated, also speak on the occasion and demonstrate that he possesses excellent qualifications to represent the people of the Second district, with ability, in the next Congress.

It is said that Mr. J. Pierpoint Morgan has refused to subscribe to the Republican campaign fund in New York. That is complimentary to the Republicans. It demonstrates that the party is not under the domination of the capitalists of the country, as has been so persistently alleged by the Democrats. The fact is that the Republican party aims to pursue policies in the best interests of both the capitalist and the laborer—plain, straightforward, honest policies—and, unlike the Democratic party, is not continuously shifting its ground and trimming its sails to catch popular breezes. Mr. Morgan and other capitalists are not pleased with Governor Odell, of New York, and probably not with President Roosevelt, for urgently pressing them to make concessions to the coal miners in order to end the great strike which has prevailed for nearly six months. But these eminent officers have dared to do right without stopping to count the cost politically and ought to be sustained by the country.

MR. CLEVELAND WRITES A LETTER.

After probably weeks of cogitation Ex-President Cleveland has written a letter for the purpose of reviving his old free trade theories under the guise of "tariff reform." He appears to be greatly exercised by the fear that the Republicans will steal the Democratic thunder on the subject. He says: Our opponents may crowd us from our position on this subject, if we allow them to do so by our lukewarmness and indifference, and to occupy our ground, just as we permitted them to crowd us from the ground that belonged to us on the question of sound money."

Incidentally it may be pertinent to ask what the Republicans had to do with the Democratic party's abandonment of sound money? The truth on that point is that a large element in the Democratic party was and still is tainted with the free silver heresy.

As to "tariff reform," as Mr. Cleveland understands that phrase, he need have no apprehension that the Republican party will crowd him and his free trade associates off of that ground. The Republican party is not and never has been a free-trade organization. It believes in the principle of tariff protection just as the early fathers believed in it. This does not imply that it is opposed to the occasional readjustment of tariff duties. Conditions change and make changes in these duties necessary. Many Republicans feel that some changes might be made in the Dingley tariff law at this time, without detriment to American products and labor; but there is little or no sentiment among Republicans in favor of general tariff revision, and none for the kind of tariff reform advocated by Mr. Cleveland. Republican tariff policy has rescued the manufactures wrecked between 1893 and 1897 by a partial application of the Ex-President's theories, and has made the United States the greatest manufacturing nation in the world. It would be the extreme of folly to again imperil their prosperity by a return to the Wilson-Gorman law, or the something worse advocated by Mr. Cleveland at the time that was adopted.

THE DUTY ON COAL.

Until recently it was generally supposed that foreign anthracite coal was not dutiable, President Roosevelt, himself, it is said, having been under that impression. It was thought that the foreign coal, free of duty, could not be imported in competition with the Pennsylvania product, and, in reality, that was a fact until the coal famine, now upon us, so enhanced its price that it has been found possible to import the foreign article, pay duty on it and yet sell it at not over 25 per cent. in advance of the price of domestic coal previous to the existing strike. The provision of the Dingley law imposing a duty on coal is found in Section 415, under the head of Sundries, in Schedule N, and is as follows:

> "Coal, bituminous, and all coals containing less than ninety-two per centum of fixed carbon, and shale, sixty-seven cents per ton of twenty-eight bushels, eighty pounds to the bushel."

The framers of the law were probably unaware that there is very little coal that contains ninety-two per cent. of free carbon and hence did not know they were placing a duty on most of the anthracite that might be imported, and the fact might never have become known to them and to the public generally, if the present prolonged strike had not occurred. Now that it is known, however, there should be no delay in amending the law and putting all anthracite coals on the free list permanently. Foreign coal of this character can be imported duty paid to be sold at $8.50 per ton. The home product can be mined, and marketed under ordinary conditions, in the seaboard cities, for less than $6 per ton. Hence the duty is not required for the protection of either miners or operators.

It has been considered otherwise with bituminous coals, which can be landed in American seaports, from Nova Scotia, at a less figure than native coals, at the wages paid American miners, can be marketed with profit. The chief object of a duty on bituminous coal, therefore, is to protect the workman in his wages when brought into competition with cheap foreign labor.

As, however, the bituminous coal operators have taken advantage of present conditions to largely increase the price of their product to consumers, the duty on this species of coal should be suspended for a time, until an adjustment of values shall take place by by resumption of work in the mining region of Pennsylvania. An emergency has arisen which calls for extraordinary measures, and the most decided believer in the principle of protection must concede the propriety of adjusting the coal duties, for the time being, to meet existing conditions.

The Great Miners' Strike Apparently Approaching Its End.

Apparently the strike of the miners in the anthracite coal region is approaching its end, with a probability that work may be resumed on Thursday next. This condition of things has been brought about by various influences, chief of which, we believe, were the persistent efforts of President Roosevelt and the determined stand of Governor Odell, of New York, to induce the operators to make some concessions to the demands of the miners, and the latter to yield something on their side of the case. The strikers' representative, Mr. Mitchell, signified his willingness, last week, to accept a reasonable compromise, but the operators obstinately refused to "budge" from their position, which, practically, required the unconditional surrender of the miners. Later the operators reconsidered this action and agreed to the appointment of a commission upon certain conditions, the members of which are to be named by President Roosevelt. The conditions were objectionable to the miners and have been modified to an extent that, it is thought, will now make them acceptable. A convention of the United Mine Workers is to be held in Wilkesbarre, Pa., on Monday, to vote on the proposed strike settlement. Mitchell, their representative in the negotiations, has declared himself in favor of the commission. A single difficulty still bars the way to a certain and permanent settlement. That is the retention of the non-union workers, now employed, in their present places. The men of the union want their old places when they return to work. It is believed, however, that the difficulty will be surmounted and work resumed by the strikers.

It is to be hoped the adjustment of the trouble will be upon a permanent basis. Consumers do not desire a temporary, makeshift arrangement, with a shortage in fuel and exorbitant prices.

THEIR RECORDS CONTRASTED.

From correspondence of the Baltimore County Union.

Messrs. Editors:—In an address delivered last week to the Republicans of the Fifteenth Ward of Baltimore, Mr. J. Griffin Hall, one of the speakers, said: "In speaking of Mr. Page our Democratic friends cry out, 'he is an unknown man in the district.' Well, if that is the only fault they can find in your candidate I am glad to say that it will soon disappear, as Mr. Page is making a personal canvass of the entire district and intends to keep it up until the day of election. And after all it is a question whether or not it is better for a man to be blessed in obscurity, or to be damned in notoriety. The voters of the Second district may not know Mr. Page so very well, but I have every reason to believe that they know Mr. Talbott (or his political record,) too well to send him back to Congress. They know that he stands indicted over the signatures of two reputable citizens of Baltimore county, members of his own political party, of being instrumental of having ward-heelers and roughs of this city sent to Towson and elsewhere in the county, to carry the Democratic primaries for himself and the ring.

"Mr. Page is an honest, upright, industrious young man, with a clear, clean record, who, by reason of his vast experience in the affairs of Congress, will make for the people of the Second district one of the most reliable and capable representatives that the State of Maryland has ever had. He will have an influence with a Republican Senate and a Republican President. Mr. Talbott will not have the sympathy or support of anyone save Senator Gorman, to whom he is indebted for the privilege of being a candidate 'just one more time.' There is nothing that Mr. Talbott could do for this district that Mr. Page could not do equally as well, if not better. Send a man to Congress who will be able to accomplish something for your district. Work and vote for Mr. William Tyler Page.

"Prosperity is one issue of this campaign. We are not living in cheap times. Protection does not breed cheapness. It has a tendency to make prices equitable to both producer and consumer, but the millenium has not yet come and so we find occasionally wrong and injustice and sometimes the price of a single commodity will be exorbitant for a period till the abnormal conditions are adjusted by the inexorable process of demand, supply and competition. Sometimes it is one thing, sometimes it is another. It may be coal or meat, or some other commodity, but whatever it is, or whatever the cause, it is only temporary.

"As has been said: 'Protection is the great leveler, but it levels up, not down.'

In speaking of the farmer and the tariff question Mr. Hall quoted Senator Gallinger as saying: "No one claims that the tariff has anything to do with the size of crops, but I do maintain that it has much to do with values. The 3,000,000 of idle men of 1896 could not buy much bread. They could not eat as many potatoes, tomatoes, corn, apples and other products of the farm, and as we consume 90 per cent. of our farm products at home, our farmers are dependent on the purchasing power of the people for both quantity disposed of and prices received.'

"A protective tariff insures the farmer against the disaster of crop failure, because fully employed, well paid people can afford to pay the advanced price. It is clearly not always the size of a man's crop, but the value of that crop which rewards his industry, and the value must and does depend on the tariff which gives good wages the year round to all consumers.

"Ask the truck farmer of Baltimore county today how the market values, both wholesale and retail, of his products compare with the prices of the same articles in 1896. Could he obtain from 60 to 80 cents per bushel, wholesale, for his tomatoes then, as he did this season? Why is this. Labor is employed. Labor has money to purchase these articles. Hence the demand? Hence the good prices. Protection scatters its benefits and blessings far and wide."

H.

The National Camp, Sons of Veterans, which met in Washington, D. C., while the G. A. R. Encampment was in session last week, elected the following officers: Commander-in-chief, Frank Martin, of Indianapolis; senior vice-commander, Frank B. Wilson, of San Francisco, Cal.; junior vice-commander, James B. Adams, of Atlantic City, N. J.; council in-chief, Dan. B. F. Goulding, Massachusetts; E. F. Buck, Illinois; Walter E. Smith, Pennsylvania. The next session of the organization will be held at San Francisco, Cal., at the time of the meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic in that place, which will probably be sometime in September, next year.

SERMON ON THE COAL STRIKE.

Rev. Dr. T. H. Lewis' evening sermon at Baker Chapel to the students of Western Maryland College was upon the coal strike. His text was: "Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with my own?" He applied the principles involved in the incident, from which the text is a quotation, to the dispute between employer and laborer in the coal mines. He argued that the striking miners had the right to refuse to work, but not to prevent others from working who wanted to do so. The only reason, he said, why we have the prospect of a coal famine before us is that the right to employ labor is denied and defied by the striking miners. Let them stand aside if they don't want to work and give others the right they claim for themselves—the right to sell freely their labor to the highest bidder,

This is a logical and legitimate view of one side of the case. The right to combine and refuse to work cannot logically be denied the miners, but they have no right to prevent others from working who desire to do so. On the other hand the operators have no right to combine to prevent or obstruct individual mine owners in the employment of such labor as may be satisfactory. This, it is said, has been done by the refusal of railroad companies owning mines to haul coal mined for individual operators, who either employed union labor, or declined to increase the price demanded for their coal. In this respect the railroad mine operators transgressed individual rights as completely as did the striking miners who attempted by violence to prevent non-union laborers from accepting employment at less wages than the union demanded. The principle involved is the same in both cases.

Directors Elected.

At the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Western Maryland Railroad and its branch companies, held at Hillen Station, Baltimore, on Wednesday, directors were unanimously elected for the ensuing year, as follows:

Western Maryland Railroad—Winslow S. Pierce, F. S. Landstreet, A. H. Calef, H. C. Deming, John W. Gates, Edwin Gould, George J. Gould, Lawrence Greer, Henry B. Henson, and W. H. McIntyre, of New Zork; John M. Hood, Charles W. Slagle and S. Davies Warfield, Baltimore.

Western Maryland Tidewater Railroad—F. S. Landstreet, Lawrence Greer, and Winslow S. Pierce, of New York; B. H. Griswold, William Early, J. T. M. Barnes and George R. Gaither, of Baltimore.

Baltimore and Cumberland Valley Railway—Winslow S. Pierce, F. S. Landstreet and Lawrence Greer, of New York; A. O. Frick, of Waynesboro, Pa.; George R. Gaither, of Baltimore; H. A. McComas, of Hagerstown, and George R. Gehr, of Westminster.

Potomac Valley Railroad—Winslow S. Pierce, Lawrence Greer and F. S. Landstreet, of New York; George R. Gaither, of Baltimore; W. T. Hassett, of Four Locks, Maryland; Victor M. Cushwa and James L. Findlay, of Williamsport, Maryland.

Potomac Valley Railroad of West Virginia—Lawrence Greer, Winslow S. Pierce and F. S. Landstreet, of New York; John W. Cable, of Smithburg, Maryland; George R. Gaither, William A. Boyd and Alfred P. Burt, of Baltimore.

These boards, except the principal one, will meet at Hillen Station next week for organization. The directors of the western Maryland met in New York on Thursday and re-elected Winslow S. Pierce president, and F. S. Landstreet vice-president.

The Tidewater Company will now become active in carrying out the plan of extension to the harbor for which it was created. There are several other similar corporations connected with the system whose annual meetings are not held until January.

A special meeting of the stockholders on Tuesday was held for the purpose of authorizing an increase of the capital stock and an issue of bonds. The underwriters of the $25,000,000 of bonds to be sold at once have been called upon to pay 60 per cent. of their subscription on next Monday. This will amount to about $15,000,000 and the money will be used to partly carry out the plans of extension, etc. It will enable the management to settle down to the solid work of developing the property.

Maryland Congressional Candidates.

Following is a list of the candidates of the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition parties for Congress, to be voted for at the election in November:

First District—Republican, William H. Jackson; Democrat, James E. Ellegood; Prohibition, Robert J. McAllen.

Second District—Republican, William Tyler Page; Democrat, Joshua Frederick C. Talbott; Prohibition, Henry N. Hanna.

Third District—Republican, Frank C. Wachter; Democrat, Lee S. Meyer; Prohibition, Benjamin F. Lewis; Socialist, Frank Mareck.

Fourth District—Republican, Charles R. Schirm; Democrat, James W. Denny; Prohibition, Andrew J. Church.

Fifth District—Republican, Sydney E. Mudd; Democrat, B. Harris Camalier; Prohibition, Samuel R. Neave.

Sixth District—Republican, George A. Pearre; Democrat, Christian F. Kenneweg; Prohibition, James A. Hopkins.

Destructive Fire.

The paper mills at Beckleysville, Baltimore county, formerly owned by Daniel Beckley, were totally destroyed by fire on Sunday night, entailing a loss of $40,000 dollars. The buildings and plant of these mills were twice destroyed by fire while they were the property of Mr. Beckley—first sometime in the early seventies and again in 1888. Mr. Beckley rebuilt and operated them until they passed into the possession of the Shrewsbury (Pa.) Savings Association, some years ago which greatly improved them and has been manufacturing a fine grade of paper. The payroll of the association amounted to $2000 dollars a month, and the destruction of the mills throws many persons out of employment. The association, it is said, carried no outside insurance. Efforts will be made, it is said, to induce the association to rebuild the property again, either on the old site or at some other point in the neighborhood. It is rumored that special inducements will be offered the association to erect the mill at Hampstead, which is the nearest railroad station to the present site. By so doing they would get rid of the five-mile haul over very rough roads. Hampstead has the advantage of good water, cheap labor and excellent railroad facilities. Should the mill not be rebuilt the loss to Hampstead Depot in freight charges will be nearly $8,000 a year.

Mr. Daniel Stabler, of Merryman Mills, Baltimore county, is a brother-in-law of his own father, Mr. Robert F. Stabler. About a year ago the latter Mr. Stabler married Miss Annie Cain, of Warren, Baltimore county, and a month ago Daniel married Miss Mollie Cain, sister of his father's wife and youngest daughter of Mrs. Martha Cain. The wives of the Messrs. Stabler are sisters of Rev. Frank Shaw Cain, of Pocomoke circuit, Methodist Protestant Church.

A TYPICAL SOUTH AFRICAN STORE.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by all druggists.

NOTICE.—Intending to remove from Westminster, my accounts, after October 15th, will be in the hands of my attorney, Ivan L. Hoff, Esq., for collection.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of our mother, Catherine A. Williams, who died October 7th, 1901.

We miss thee from our home dear mother,
We miss thee from your place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.

We miss thy kind and willing hand
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is sad without thee,
We miss thee everywhere.

O mother, you are not forgotten,
Nor ever will you be,
For as long as life, or memory last
We will remember thee.

By her daughter, Mrs. Sarah J. Fossett.

Through the pearly gates of Heaven
Passed the one we loved so dear;
God thought best to take her from us
Though it made our home so drear.

Grandmother, dear, we miss you
Since to Heaven you have gone,
We mourn your loss dear grandmother
And will try and meet you there.

By her granddaughter, Mrs. H. W. Little.

CLOTHING.

Rapid changes in the method of manufacturing clothing have taken place within the past year. It has been a period of great progression. Ready-to-wear Clothing now takes precedence over tailor-made by virtue of style, fitting quality and workmanship, as well as in price. We have been at great pains to procure clothing that would satisfy the demands of most exacting customers, and have succeeded beyond our most sanguine expectations. We handle no inferior grades. Quality is the paramount consideration. When the price is too low the quality must suffer. We offer for sale only such goods as we know will give satisfactory service, and gain for us the good will and confidence of every customer. We can assure old customers or prospective ones a perfect fit, the most up-to-date and pleasing styles, and reliable quality. All men who are interested in high-grade clothing for themselves or children at reasonable prices will enjoy looking over our new Fall goods.

LADIES' SUITS AND JACKETS.

Our immense line of Fall and Winter Suits, Cloaks and Furs is complete in every way. The price range is from the lowest upwards. The styles comprise all the novelties as well as the staples. The qualities of the make and material are the very best to be had. Our Cloak room was never before so full of good, honest, low-priced garments. We earnestly invite inspection of these goods.
