They had delightful weather, pretty warm, to be sure, but no rain, and thoroughly enjoyed the trip. The bankers convention was largely attended and was addressed by able speakers. An invitation was extended to the association by California to hold its next meeting in that State. The invitation was presented on a solid gold plate about the size of an ordinary saucer and Mr. Baile thinks the next convention will be held in San Francisco.

Mr. D. L. Farrar, of this city, who recently went to Annapolis to take a position with the Maryland Glass Company of that place, has been elected secretary of the company, a very important trust, as preparations are being made to establish a plant large enough to employ 200 workmen, and for manufacturing glass on an extensive scale. The company has now nearing completion a building which will contain two large glass tanks, with capacity for 100 blowers. Two large steel tanks are being erected on the water front, with a capacity of 50,000 gals., which will be devoted to the storage of crude oil to be used as fuel, of which 1000 gallons will be required daily for that purpose. Mr. Farrar says his only regret in accepting his new position is that it will necessitate his permanent removal from Westminster.

The Tabard Inn Library has been introduced in this city, and is located at the drug store of Mr. John J. Rose, East Main street, who is the agent. Stated as briefly as possible the plan of this library system is as follows: The payment of $5 admits to life membership and the use of as many books from the library as the applicant desires, at a cost of five cents each, when single tickets are used. Twenty-five cents will purchase six tickets, or $1.00 twenty-five tickets. Whenever a book is taken from the library one of these tickets must be deposited. The books are the very best and cover a wide range of subjects. Full particulars will be given by Mr. Rose to those desiring such information. The number of members in this city is limited to fifty and twenty-five are already enrolled. The plan brings to all lovers of literature an opportunity to gratify their desire for reading, to an unlimited extent, at very moderate cost.

The general merchandise store of Mr. Horace L. Shipley, at Daniel, was the subject of a curious robbery, sometime between the closing hour last Saturday night and the opening hour on Monday morning. The robber gained an entrance to the cellar through a window and from the cellar to the store room above by boring out the fastening of the trapdoor in the floor. Before getting into the storeroom he opened the spigot of a can of astral oil and left its contents run out on the cellar floor. This was probably not done by design, as he evidently stepped in the oil and his movements could be traced by the tracks he made on the steps leading from the cellar to the storeroom and about the floor of the latter. From these tracks it was seen that he did not visit every portion of the storeroom and that he was probably looking for a particular article, which he found in a lot of gun shells, of which he carried away 18 or 20 boxes, valued at $8 or $10 at the retail price. What he wanted with this large lot of cartridges can scarcely be surmised. He may have taken some other articles of little value, but Mr. Shipley could not discover that anything else was missing. Mr. Shipley thinks the robbery was perpetrated sometime during Sunday night.

Mr. Wesley E. Linn, of Taneytown, has been granted a soldier's pension of $12 per month.

Rev. William Stanton, S. J., of New York, and Rev. P. H. Casey, of Boston, Mass., of the missionary band of the Society of Jesus, held largely attended special services at St. John's Catholic Church, this city, during the eight days ending on Sunday last. The services began at high mass on Sunday, 9th inst., and closed last Sunday night at the ceremony of the renewal of baptismal vows, with a sermon by Rev. Father Stanton to an immense congregation. St. John's church has a membership of about 1000, and though several services were held daily, the large church edifice was crowded at most of them, a number of Protestants having been present on nearly every occasion. It is expected that Father Stanton will soon return here and hold special devotions of the Sacred Heart League, an organization of the Society of Jesus.

The Firemen's Oyster Supper.

At a special meeting of the Westminster Fire Department, held on Thursday evening, it was decided to begin the oyster supper, heretofore announced, on Wednesday evening and continue it until Saturday evening of next week. On the afternoon of Thanksgiving day, at 3.30 o'clock, the department, headed by the Westminster Band, will parade the town, with all its apparatus in line and will make an attractive display. It should not need this action to remind the people of our little city of their obligations to the firemen and prompt them to liberal patronage of the oyster supper. Westminster owes much to the self-sacrificing efforts of these voluntary protectors of its property from fire and should respond promptly to this call. Most of the orders in the place have decided to attend the supper and contribute their efforts to make it successful, and every citizen should take an interest in the enterprise. Committees will wait on the people to solicit donations of provisions, &c., during the coming week and should meet with generous treatment.

WEDDING BELLS.

Gorsuch, one of the most prominent business men of this city, and Mr. John Alfred Caldwell, of Philadelphia, which was solemnized in the parlors of the bride's beautiful home on West Main street, at 6.30 o'clock Wednesday evening, was a very pretty nuptial event and was regarded with great interest by numbers of the residents of this city and friends of the contracting parties elsewhere. In a somewhat quiet way, on account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the handsome residence was made a scene of much enjoyment to the guests bidden to the wedding, who were only the relatives or very intimate friends of the families of the bride and groom. The floral decorations were modest and tasteful, the library having been a bower of green, the dining-room neat but bright with smilax and carnations, and the parlors especially attractive with the queen of autumn flowers, chrysanthemums.

Miss Mary Agnes Gorsuch, younger sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. William W. Foulkrod, Jr., of Philadelphia, best man. The ushers were Messrs. Warrington F. Caldwell, Arthur A. Singer, William Overington and Harry K. Fries, all of Philadelphia. The bride wore a gown of pure white satin, trimmed with embroidered chiffon and with a bertha of duchess and point lace. She wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses. The maid of honor wore a gown of Nile green crepe de chine, trimmed with appliqued pink roses, and carried La France roses. Miss Mary Test Buckingham, the bride's cousin, played the wedding march from Lohengrin, as the bridal party entered the parlors, where the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Durbin G. Miller, pastor of Centenary M. E. Church, of this city. After the ceremony a reception was held and the guests were most hospitably entertained. Prof. Brown's Orchestra, stationed on the landing in the hall, rendered charming music during the evening. The bridal trip of Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell, which is to the North, began by a drive to Reisterstown, where they boarded an electric car for Baltimore. They will reside in Philadelphia. For the Sentinel.

Death of Mrs. Hannah M. Plaine.

Mrs. Hannah M. Plaine died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Curt Ferree, near Panora, Guthrie county, Iowa, at 4 o'clock, Wednesday morning, 5th inst., aged 87 years, 8 months and 16 days. Mrs. Plaine was born near Gettysburg, Adams county, Pa. She was a daughter of Capt. John Myers, and outlived all her brothers and sisters, except Mrs. Lavina Koser, who resides at Newville, Pa. She was married to Benaiah E. Plaine January 15th, 1839, and removed to Carroll county, Md., where all her children were born.

In 1866 Mrs. Plaine, with her husband and family, left Maryland and settled on a farm 1½ miles north of Panora, Guthrie county, Iowa.

Mrs. Plaine's death resulted from old age, and while she suffered considerably during the last two years of her life from complications in consequence of physical decrepitude, yet she died without pain, or a struggle, just such an end as should be expected from the manner of her life. From girlhood, at home in Pennsylvania; from womanhood, at her own home in Maryland, and from middle life to old age at her last home in Iowa, she kept aloof from all associations which contaminate, and denied herself of all pleasures and enjoyments which sap the vitality, or taint the moral character.

Mrs. Plaine leaves a family of eight children, nine grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. Clinton Yeiser, clerk in the store of his brother, Mr. George W. Yeiser, says he was assaulted by a would be robber, on his return home from Hanover, last Sunday evening, about seven o'clock. Mr. Yeiser was traveling on his wheel, which had received a puncture, near the Conewago bridge, and he had to walk from there home. When passing along what is known as the Ridge road, at a point a few hundred yards from the Westminster and Littlestown turnpike, a man armed with a large club came out of the woods and commanded Mr. Yeiser to throw up his hands. The latter was not that kind of a man, and instead of complying with the demand, quickly drew his revolver and ordered his assailant to immediately drop the club and walk along the road in front of the bicycle. The highwayman meekly obeyed, making the unnecessary explanation that Mr. Yeiser was not the man he was looking for. After going a short distance, the prisoner was released and Mr. Yeiser continued his journey home without further molestation.

The large wooden arch and german inscription, which enclosed the pulpit window of the old church at Silver Run, was carefully removed when the building was taken down and has been placed in the Reformed Church at that place to be preserved as a relic of the historic old edifice in which it stood for so many years. In its present position it stands against the rear wall of the church, making a graceful arch above the altar, and is much admired.

John Cover Again in Trouble.

A communication from Hagerstown to the Baltimore Sun, under date of the 16th inst., says: "John Cover, aged about 45 years, formerly of Westminster, was arrested last night at the home of Luther Beckley, five miles from Hagerstown, on the charge of attempting to feloniously assault Mrs. Beckley. He is lodged in jail. He says he was shaving in his room and, afterward, in walking out of the house, passed through Mrs. Beckley's room, not knowing she was there. He denied that he attempted to assault her. The case will be investigated by the grand jury.

Cover was employed 10 days ago to husk corn and Mr. Beckley had paid him off and he was packing his trunk to leave. Mrs. Beckley was in the house with her son, aged about 10 years, and states that Cover came from his room, partly disrobed, and attempted to grab her. She ran from the house into the field, where her husband and the farm hands were working. Mrs. Beckley was hysterical over the fright."

The accused is eccentric in his habits and conduct to such an extent as to make it questionable whether he is mentally sound, and his escapades heretofore have caused him considerable trouble.

A Pleasant Social Function.

"Glendale Farm," the home of Mr Elwood E. Snader, near New Windsor, was the scene of an enjoyable social function on the evening of Saturday, 15th inst., it having been the occasion of the return of Mr. Snader and his bride, nee Miss Nusbaum, from their wedding tour. Cards of invitation which had been issued, naming the hour of six o'clock, P. M., met with a generous response from the many friends and relatives of the newly wedded couple. When the hour of seven arrived the guests were invited to the large dining room, where was served, in a bountiful manner, both the substantial and delicate provisions of the season. Social conversation engaged the attention of all present for several hours. When the time of departure arrived each one expressed in his or her own happy style best wishes for the host and hostess throughout their lives.

Converse, of New York State, on Silo Building and Filling, Winter Eggs and Winter Milk; by Mr. Todd, of Ohio, The Hog—foundation of animal indicates its purpose (illustrated.) Evening, a lecture by Mr. Converse on Education of Farmers' Children.

For Westminster, lecture by Mr. Todd, Should the Farmer Use Cross Bred or Pure Bred Stock? Poultry and Egg Basket; by Mr. Converse, Science in Cattle Feeding, Building up a Dairy Herd. There are no arrangements for an evening meeting at Westminster, but it can be had if desired.

Hon. L. P. Slingluff and Mr. Samuel Roop were elected corresponding secretaries for Westminster, and Jesse P. Weybright for Middleburg.
