TILLMAN REFUSED BAIL.

There is hope for the future of law and order in South Carolina. Ex-Lieut.-Governor James H. Tillman, of that State, who shot and mortally wounded N. G. Gonzales, editor ofthe State, published at Columbia, on the 15th of January, has been refused bail, after an exhaustive hearing before Chief Justice Pope. It is significant, too, that this action was taken by a judge who, in the political controversies in South Carolina, has been a friend of the Tillmans, who supported him for the judgeship. The decision was based upon affidavits of eye-witnesses of the shooting and others, and the prosecution made out a strong case of willful, premeditated murder. While Tillman, himself, made affidavit that the attitude of Gonzales towards him, when they met on the street, was threatening, and that he, Tillman, fully expected to be attacked and shot, and that he fired upon Gonzales in the belief that it was necessary to protect his own life, other witnesses of the most credible character testified that the victim of Tillman's pistol was quietly passing him without making the slightest hostile demonstration, and if he had taken another step before the weapon was discharged would have been shot in the back.

It is true that Tillman had been the object of relentless newspaper criticism by Gonzales for years, and that, in all probability, it was the influence of the State, Gonzales' newspaper, that defeated Tillman's effort to secure the nomination for Governor of South Carolina. But that was months ago, and there was no evidence adduced to show that the attacks of the State on Tillman's character had been renewed after his defeat in the primaries. The conclusion was inevitable that Tillman had been nursing his wrath and finally, as he was about to pass out of the public life of South Carolina, became so embittered that he determined to take the life of the man who was probably the main instrument in his downfall. This seems to have been the impression made upon the mind of Judge Pope by the evidence before him, as he said, in summing up the case:

"There are always two sides to a homicide, and even with the many that have taken place in this State in late years, there is in most of them some provocation—that is, there is a defendant's side to it. It seems from the testimony that the defendant has been the object of newspaper attacks for 11 years perhaps without a parallel in this State. The liberty of the press does not permit the license of the press. Dr. Franklin said the liberty of the press would often be followed by the liberty of the cudgel. In this case no cudgel, though, was used, but a deadly weapon. One could hardly believe that a man could bear the long continued ordeal of the abuse that the defendant underwent without having malice in his heart. * * * * The law is that the taking of human life with malice premeditated constitutes murder. Painful as it is, under my oath of office so recently fresh on my lips, I must do my duty and decline the application.

While the sympathy of Judge Pope with the accused is apparent in this statement, he also makes it clear that, in his opinion, Tillman's act under the laws of South Carolina, as it would be under the common law, or the law of any State, was murder. Gonzales may have been unnecessarily severe in his criticisms of Tillman's character and conduct. He may have gone beyond a just reprehension of acts on the part of the accused which deserved to be condemned, but there is no question about the honesty of his purpose to purify political conditions in South Carolina, and he became a martyr to his zeal in the effort to accomplish it. The prospect, under the action of Judge Pope, that his slayer must undergo a trial for willful and premeditated murder, as any common criminal, awakens the hope that the honor of South Carolina is to be maintained in the case and the State of the Rutledges, the Haynes and the Calhouns is not to be disgraced by a travesty of justice because the accused is the son of a Congressman, the nephew of a Senator and himself an Ex-Lieut.-Governor.

State G. A. R. Encampment.

The annual encampment of the Department of Maryland, Grand Army of the Republic, held at Hagerstown last week, adjourned on Friday after electing officers and transacting all the business brought before the body. The new officers elected, who were installed by Past Department Commander Frank M. Smith, of Baltimore, are:

Department Commander—Capt. William Stahl, Wilson Post, No. 1, Baltimore.

Mr. Charles P. Baile, of New Windsor, adjutant of Burns Post of this city, was elected one of the delegates to the National Encampment, which will meet in Baltimore in September next.

Among reports submitted were those of Assistant Adjutant General Hugh A. Manghlin, M. D., and Past Department Commander George W. Johnson, inspector, during the past year.

Dr. Manghlin's report shows 55 posts in the department, with a membership of 2,443. There were 110 deaths during the past year, the largest number of deaths in any one year in the history of the department. Other losses include 5 by discharge, 14 by transfer and 175 by suspension for non payment of dues, a total loss of 304. The gain by muster in, by reinstatement, etc., amounted to 224, showing a net loss for the year in membership of 80.

Capt. Johnson's report shows as follows: Posts in excellent condition, 7; in good condition, 23; fair condition, 14; poor condition, 7; bad condition, 3. There are 15 posts having relief funds, 19 posts having women's relief corps attached and 5 posts having camps of sons of veterans. Twenty-three posts report officers and guard uniformed, and 21 posts whose members are uninformed. The amount of money in relief fund of posts is $1,896.36; expended for relief $1,977.55; general fund in hands of posts, $5,718.54; value of property owned by posts, $19,219.97.

The will of the late James Getty, of Baltimore, was admitted to probate in the Orphans' Court of that city, on Tuesday. It constitutes the Safe Deposit and Trust Company executor and directs that the estate be equally divided among the testator's five children, the share of any deceased son or daughter going to his or her descendants. The executor gave bond in the sum of $275,000, indicating personal assets of $137,500. The will was executed December 5, 1887.

MT. AIRY SWEPT BY FIRE.

A DESTRUCTIVE CONFLAGRATION.

About half-past 2 o'clock, Wednesday morning, fire broke out in the grocery store of Messrs. Clary & Clay, at Mt. Airy, in this county, and continued to rage until eleven or twelve buildings and much valuable personal property was destroyed, entailing a loss of $75,000 to $80,000. The property destroyed was as follows:

Clary & Clay, green grocers; loss, $700 in stock; insurance, $400. The building was owned by Morgan Clary, whose loss is $1,500; insurance $1,000.

H. O. Weber, butcher; loss, $600; insurance $250. This building was owned by Andrew Baker and valued at $1,200; loss partly covered by insurance.

Adam Ruland, baker; in the Morgan Clary building; loss, $500 in stock and fixtures; insurance, $325.

Simpson's Hotel, owned by J. W. Wilson; fixtures owned by C. E. Simpson; building was valued at $6,000 and insured for $3,500; fixtures valued at $6,000 and insured for $3,500.

Raymond Barnes, furniture; loss, $21,000, including stock and building; insurance $9,000.

Clifton Sponseller, dry goods; in the Raymond Barnes building; loss $4,500; insurance, $2,000.

Miss Mary McWilliams, millinery; in the Raymond Barnes building; loss, $900; partly covered by insurance.

Miss Mary Dyer, residence; loss, $3,000; partly covered by insurance.

Gilbert's Hotel, J. C. Gilbert, proprietor; loss, $8,000 on building and fixtures; insurance, $5,000.

Byron Dorsey, agricultural implements, two buildings; loss, $2,500; insurance $1,650. Stock in both valued at $6,000 and insured for $3,000.

W. R. Rudy, druggist and postmaster; loss, $9,000 on building and stock; insurance, $6,500. Mail and postoffice fixtures saved.

L. B. Norwood, general store and residence; loss, $5,000 on stock and fixtures, building and furniture. Not fully covered by insurance.

W. E. T. Smith, harness; loss, $2,100; insurance, $1,000.

R. Browning, barber; loss, $50.

John Kless, harness; loss, $800.

The insurance, as reported by Deputy Fire Marshal Chas. V. Wantz, of this city, who was promptly on the scene for the purpose of investigating the origin of the fire, was placed as follows:

German-American	$ 7,500
Royal	3,700
Home	10,200
Continental	6,800
North British	4,350
Carroll County Mutual	2,850
Baltimore County Mutual	2,000
Hanover	1,500
Citizens'	1,050
Anchor	1,450
Norwich Union	3,000
Caledonia	2,000
Farmers', of York	2,000
Phenix	2,000
Total	$50,400

About $7,000 of this insurance was placed by Mr. Charles E. Goodwin, insurance agent, this city, and the great bulk of the remainder by Mr. Morgan Clary, of Mt. Airy. Of course these figures, taken in the excitement of the moment, are subject to revision and change, but are approximately correct.

The extent of ground burned over is about 500 by 300 yards. The fire spread rapidly, Mt. Airy being without fire apparatus and only a limited supply of water. In response to an appeal to Frederick a steam fire engine was sent to the scene and arrived about 6.30 A. M. The engine was left on the gondola car, which carried it to Mount Airy, as it was known the town's water supply was insufficient. Five Baltimore and Ohio Railroad freight engines were pressed into service to furnish water. The tender of each engine holds 7,000 gallons. One engine at a time was drawn up to the gondola, where the steamer got the supply and sent it through the hose to the burning houses. The engines obtained the water from Bartholows, some four miles west of Mount Airy, and each engine made five trips. By 10.30 A. M., the fire was extinguished and the firemen, after having worked incessantly for four hours, returned home.

An Important Letter.

The Maryland Geological Survey is preparing for an unusually active season of work for the improvement of highways throughout the State, and in order that the time of experts may be fully occupied for the most profitable results, the road engineer, Mr. A. N. Johnson, has recently addressed to the commissioners of all the counties of the State a circular letter requesting early communications from those who expect to apply for the Survey's assistance this year. The letter, which explains why it was written, is as follows:

"For the past few years the Highway Division of the Maryland Geological Survey has afforded the officials of the counties of the State material assistance in the improvement of the public roads. Estimates of cost, plans and specifications for improvements have been drawn up for more than half of the counties.

"This work has steadily increased so that during the past season it was necessary to delay some of the road construction until late in the season. This would not have occurred if the various Boards of Commissioners had sent their requests for examinations, surveys, estimates, etc., early in the season, so that everything could be ready for construction in time to finish the work before winter.

"The spring is the best to begin road work and in order for everything to be ready it is necessary that the surveys be made just as soon as the weather permits. Your board, therefore, is urged to communicate at as early a date as possible any proposed improvements about which you desire the aid of this office. If this is not done it may be found that, owing to previous requests received from other counties, it will be necessary to delay your work so as to seriously interfere with its completion before the beginning of another winter.

"All assistance furnished by the Highway Division of the Maryland Geological Survey is free of any charge to the counties save actual field expenses while making a survey. Usually this cost does not exceed $10 per mile of road."

Mrs. Mary E. Carroll, wife of Rev. D. H. Carroll and daughter of the late Andrew Boyd, of Frederick, died at her home, on Eutaw Place, Baltimore, on Thursday, aged 56 years. Mrs. Carroll was prominently identified with many of the benevolent enterprises of the M. E. Church.

County Commissioners Not Liable.

Judges Revell and Thomas have rendered a decision of much interest in a case in which the county commissioners of Carroll county were sued for damages for injuries sustained by Mrs. Harriet Vilton in falling from a footbridge into a trench or culvert in Sykesville in November last.

Suit was brought in the names of Mrs. Vilton and her husband, Ira Vilton, and the commissioners by their counsel, Charles E. Fink, Esq., demurred to the declaration upon the ground that the control of the roads and small bridges in this county is entirely in the hands of the road commissioners of the several districts, and the only function of the county commissioners is to levy such taxes as may be called for by said road commissioners. The contention of the county commissioners was approved by the court and the demurrer sustained. This leaves to persons injured by defects in public highways in the county recourse only to the road commissioners, if such recourse can be had, the commissioners not being incorporated. A test of that question may be made in the case of Mrs. Vilton, who was represented in the case against the county commissioners by Guy W. Steele, Esq. Suit has been instituted against said road commissioners, for the Viltons, by Mr. Steele.
