WESTMINSTER, - MARYLAND.

W. L. W. Seabrook, - Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1903.

In consequence of the failure of the Senate to act on several important measures the President has convened that body in extra session. It met on Thursday, with seventy-four Senators present.

The SENTINEL believes in home rule and cousequently has no preference for either of the aspirants for the nomination of the Republican party for the mayoralty of Baltimore. There is nothing to be urged against the personal fitness of either of them, and the selection rests with the Republican voters of Baltimore. The facts, however, that Hon. Frank C. Wachter is a member of the 58th Congress, which will not expire tell March 4th, 1905; that he was elected by a very narrow margin; that a vacancy will occur, if he shall be elected mayor, and that a Democrat might be chosen in his stead, form a weak spot in his canvass for the nomination.

DELAWARE ELECTS SENATORS.

At last Delaware is represented in the United States Senate, and this time by two Republicans. For the last two years she had no Senator in that august body and for the previous two years only one. The history of the long struggle between the Union and Regular Republicans of the State, which caused the condition named, is generally known throughout the country. It has been a war of factions, the leading figure in which was J. Edward Addicks, a man of large wealth, whose chief ambition in life seems to be to attain a seat in the National Senate. Mr. Addicks has a large following in the Republican party. He is the leader of the Union Republicans, who have been holding about four-fifths of the representative power of the party in the legislature. The other fifth, known as the Regulars, has persistently refused to coalesce or caucus with the Unionists and hence for months past there have been fruitless daily ballotings for Senators. In these ballotings Mr. Addicks fell short of a majority of the joint Senate and House of Delegates membership by five or six votes, and it has long been apparent that his election this year was impossible. Efforts at coalition between the Regular Republicans and Democrats, looking to the election of one Republican and one Democrat to the Senate, were made several times without result.

The outlook for a break in the deadlock appeared hopeless, but the unexpected has happened and now Delaware has two Senators; but Mr. Addicks is not one of them. It was through his action, however, that an agreement was finally reached and Senators chosen by the Legislature. He withdrew as a candidate and a proposition was made by his supporters in the legislature, to the Regulars, that one Unionist and one Regular be chosen, the former for four and the latter for two years. The sentiment of the leading Republicans of the country favored this proposition, and the regular faction finally accepted it. The result was the election, on Monday, of State Senator J. Frank Allee, of the Addicks faction, for the unexpired term of four years, and of Congressman L. Heisler Ball for the shorter term of two years. On the final ballot Allee received 30 votes to 21 for all other candidates and Ball 31 to 21.

Mr. Addicks publicly announced his intention to enter the lists as a candidate to succeed Mr. Ball, and the prospect is that the factional fight of the Republicans in Delaware will be renewed with increased bitterness. It is asserted by the Regulars that Mr. Addicks resorts to corrupt methods in politics to secure success and that they are determined to thwart his ambition for that reason. They hold that victory achieved by the corrupt use of money does no honor to the Republican party, and in this they are undoubtedly correct. Better a thousand times suffer defeat than achieve a political triumph by debauching voters. Of course this is said without concluding that the charge against Mr. Addicks is true. He has among his supporters men of clean reputation and doubtless is not as black as he is painted.

THE FIFTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

The closing session of the Fifty-Seventh Congress ended at noon on Wednesday. The record of its work includes a number of laws of national importance, particularly those designed to place restraints upon trusts or monopolies. It remains to be seen whether these measures will have the effect intended. They must operate by indirection, as the power of Congress to deal with the subject only exists by implication from its constitutional authority to regulate commerce between the States. It is probable that thoroughly effective national legislation to curb and restrict the trusts must wait for an amendment to the constitution conferring the power to legislate directly to that end. The measures adopted by the Fifty-Seventh Congress, however, will, without doubt, at least partially accomplish their purpose, and for this the people should commend their representatives. The series contains four laws which were summarized by the Baltimore American, some weeks ago, as follows:

"The appropriation of $500,000, to be used by the Attorney General in procuring evidence against, and in the employment of expert talent for the prosecution of, those trusts and monopolies which violate the various provisions for their regulation.

"The statute devised and enacted for the purpose of expediting the final disposition of cases instituted under the anti-trust laws by making them, upon motion of the Attorney General, preferred litigation, having the right of way through the courts.

"The Nelson amendment to the Department of Commerce Bill, by the provisions of which all industrial corporations engaged in interstate trade will be compelled to make full and explicit statements to the government regarding the details of the organization, management and conduct of their business, thereby facilitating the work of the law department in ferreting out violations of the anti-trust laws.

"The Elkins Anti-Rebate Bill, which applies specifically to transportation companies, and which penalizes the giving of rebates or special rates or the grant of discriminating favors to particular corporations; to stop a common practice which is one of the mainstays in the fabric of trust organization and which is one of the principal causes of their existence."

Mr. Charles W. Humrichouse, U. S. Senator Louis E. McComas' father-in-law, died at his home, Springfield Farm, near Williamsport, Md., on Sunday evening, aged about 79 years. Mr. Humrichouse was a man of large wealth amassed in the wholesale sugar trade in Baltimore. He was born in Frederick, March 13, 1824. He learned the printing business and worked as a compositor on the Hagerstown Mail and afterwards on the Baltimore Sun. His first business venture was in a small grocery store in Baltimore. In conversation with the writer concerning his career as a business man he stated that, while setting type in the Sun office, among the copy which on one occasion fell to him was an advertisement of a small grocery store for sale, at the price of $300. He was then married and had one child. He had $300 in cash, saved out of his earnings as a compositor, and when he had set up the ad. he put on his coat and hat, went immediately to the address of the advertiser and purchased his stock. He took charge of the store at once and was successful from the start. The business grew and led to larger and more important ventures which made him a wealthy man. Mr. Humrichouse was an upright, honorable and genial gentleman, a noble specimen of American manhood. Politically he was a Democrat and in religious faith a Lutheran. He was a trustee of Pennsylvania College and Gettysburg Theological Seminary. He leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter.

Dr. Charles H. Ohr, the oldest Past Grand Master of Masons in the United States, if not in the whole world, died at his home in Cumberland on Tuesday morning, in his 93rd year. Dr. Ohr was elected Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Maryland in 1840, and always maintained active relations with the Fraternity. Ohr Lodge No. 131, at Cumberland, which has a membership of 138, was named in his honor. He was not only eminent in Masonry, but held high rank in the medical profession and, before incapacited by age, was interested in politics as a Republican though not as an active politician. From 1864 till 1867 he was a member of the Maryland Senate. Dr. Ohr was a native of Washington county. He was married, but his wife died thirty years ago, leaving no children. In addition to his connection with the Maryland Grand Lodge of Masons he held high rank in the Royal Arch and Knights Templar branches of the Fraternity.

In the matter of the appropriation of $10,000 for a postoffice site at Hagerstown and $4,000 for a similar site in this city, the conference committee of the Senate and House of Representatives agreed to restore them to the bill and they were passed accordingly. This is a small beginning towards a government building here, to be sure; but it is a beginning and may eventually result in giving a satisfactory structure.

Mr. Isaac Turnbaugh died Sunday morning suddenly of paralysis, at his home, near Butler, Fifth district, Baltimore county. He was a farmer and attended to his usual duties the day before. He was about 65 years old and leaves a family.

Two barns belonging to John N. Clay, near Kemptown, Frederick county, with 500 bushels of wheat, 100 bushels of oats, hay, farming implements and eight head of cattle were destroyed by fire on Thursday morning; loss $3,000; no insurance.

Rev. Dr. H. W. McKnight, for the last 19 years President of Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, Pa., has tendered his resignation to the Board of Trustees, to take effect September 1st, 1903.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announces that examinations will be held in this city, April 21, 1903, for the positions of seamstress and librarian (female) in the Indian service. From the eligibles for the first position it is expected that certification will be made for seamstresses in the Indian Service at Seger School, Oklahoma, at a salary of $420 per annum; Round Valley School, California, at a salary of $500 per annum, and to other similar vacancies as they may occur; and from eligibles for the second position it is expected that appointment as librarian will be made to the Indian School, at Carlisle, Pa., at a salary of $480 per annum, and to other similar vacancies as they may occur. Persons desiring further information concerning these examinations can obtain it by addressing Mr. Horace G. Reese, secretary of the local board of examiners, this city.

Proceedings of School Board.

The Board of School Commissioners for Carroll county held the regular March meeting in their office, Monday, 2nd inst. President J. H. Blocker and Commissioners Theo. F. Englar, Fred D. Miller, John O. DeVries and Peter Buchman were present.

Whereas, the spring term of the public schools of this county will close on the 17th of April, it was ordered that Friday, the 24th of April, be Association day, on which the teachers will assemble in Westminster and receive their salaries for the spring term.

The school commissioners also set Wednesday and Thursday, 29th and 30th of April, and Friday, 1st of May, for the final examination of pupils. It is the order of the State Board that the examiner shall furnish the questions for this examination.

The commissioners are of opinion that holding the final examination before the end of the scholastic year would encourage idleness and be an inducement to pupils to leave the school or drop out for the remainder of the term.

For the sake of uniformity the board decided that wherever a permit is given for a private school after the public schools close, the principal of the school has the prior claim if he wishes the rooms, and that the first, second and third assistants likewise join him in case he may require assistants and these teachers will accept the position.

The board ordered that a copy of Nature Study and Life be presented to the principal of each public school in the county, provided such principal is in possession of a teachers' certificate, or is regularly authorized to teach. This action was taken with the view of widening the knowledge of the teachers and of increasing their fitness for school-room work. Nature Study is most profitable, and at present is receiving special attention in the State.

DIED.

Near Mayberry, February 21st, 1903, Jonas C. Myers, aged 28 years, 5 months and 24 days.

Dear Jonas, you were with us,
In the home we loved so well;
Of your presence death has robbed us,
And in sadness here we dwell.

We will miss you, oh, we'll miss you,
When we gather round the place
Where of old we used to see you,
With your bright and smiling face.

Our brother is gone, O, tears will start,
Nor can we stay their flow;
'Tis hard, 'tis hard from thee to part,
But God has willed it so.

By the Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, Wm. E. Prugh, who died suddenly, September 5th, 1902, six months ago to-day, March 5th, 1903.

"Gone but not Forgotten."

Before the night had come
Oh, how our hearts had bled,
My husband, whom I loved so well
Was brought home to us dead.

In Salem Cemetery the stars are shining
Upon a lone and silent grave,
Where he sleepeth without dreaming,
Kind friends could not save.

Loved in life, in death remembered,
Now that you are dead, my husband dear,
I miss thee from my home thou loved one
And a shadow falls o'er my life so drear.

I miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care;
My home is dark without thee,
I miss thee everywhere.

We miss thee from thy familiar place,
We do not hear thy footsteps,
We do not see thy cheerful face
Nor hear thy tender voice.

We miss thee at the table,
We see the vacant chair
And oh, what sorrow fills our hearts
To find thee absent there.

Out to the quiet graveyard
Oftimes my feet will go
Where sleeps the one I loved so well
In his lone grave so low.

Once we did a papa have,
Who was so good and true,
That we were always happy
Although earth's joys were few.

He sought out every pleasure
Cared for us night and day
And was to us a papa
In every word and way.

Down beneath the silent willows
Where the gentle winds do weep,
Resting in his bed of roses,
Lies our dear papa, fast asleep.
