Dr. John A. Shower, of York, Pa., who has been taking the SENTINEL since the 80's, missed last week's issue and wrote to express his disappointment at not receiving it. "I always look forward to its arrival," he writes, "with pleasure, as through its columns I keep pretty well posted about 'Old Carroll.' "

Mr. Frederick Walkling arrived at his home, near this city, last week, from his visit to the Fatherland. During his absence Mr. Walkling visited the scenes of his youth and met numbers of his relatives, causing him indescribable pleasure. But with the joy there was also a note of sadness, as some who were dear to him had passed away. He returns in excellent health and looking remarkably well.

Harvesting oats and making hay are employments which are keeping the farmers busy this week. The crop of timothy hay is unusually abundant and of excellent quality. In some localities the growing corn has had little plowing, the ground having been kept so wet by the frequent rains as to have made it impossible to cultivate it. As a consequence the corn fields are badly overrun with grass and weeds.

The attendance at the funeral of the late Mrs. Lydia (Woodward) Price, on Saturday last, was one of the largest ever witnessed at Meadow Branch. The services were held at the residence of the young wife's uncle, Samuel Roop, Esq., and were conducted by Rev. John D. Kinzer, D. D., and L. F. Warner, of the Methodist Protestant Church, and Chas. D. Bonsack, of the Brethren's Church.

The "Ys," of this city, visited the Alms House on Monday night, and participated in a song and religious service conducted by Rev. L. F. Warner, of the Methodist Protestant Church. They took quantities of flowers with them which were presented to the inmates, who were much pleased with the service and the kind attention of the young people. Mr. H. H. Herbaugh, proprietor of the Palace Livery Stables, provided teams and conveyances for the party gratuitously, a kindness which was much appreciated.

Beal Cook and Tobias Potts, colored, of Ridgeville, were held to bail in the sum of $500 each by Justice Frank I. Lewis, of Mount Airy, on Wednesday morning, for the action of the grand jury of this county, the charge against them being a felonious assault upon Mrs. Fanny Dorsey, wife of Samuel Dorsey, colored, also of Ridgeville. The hearing before Justice Lewis took place between 12 and 2 o'clock in the morning, soon after the arrival of State's Attorney Weant, who went to Mount Airy Tuesday night to be present at the investigation. Mrs. Dorsey testified that the assault occurred at her home about 12 o'clock last Saturday night.

John A. Shipley, of Tank Station, who was arrested last week by Detective Kratz, of Baltimore, who charged him with being the person who murderously assaulted Andrew J. Mummaugh at the residence of Miss Lizzie Armacost, near Patapsco, on the night of July 4, had a hearing on Tuesday afternoon before Justice Wm. Moore, of this city, and was discharged. The hearing was held in the courthouse in the presence of a large number of spectators, and continued from 1 till 7.30 P. M. Many witnesses testified, but the justice held that Shipley had not been identified as the assailant in the case. Mummaugh thought the voice of the man who assaulted him was Shipley's, but Miss Armacost, who grappled with the person and threw him to the floor, stated that it was so dark she was unable to say whether he was white or colored.

Ex-Judge Albert Schaeffer is critically ill, at his home a short distance north of this city, with no hope of his recovery.

At their meeting on Monday the County Commissioners appointed Messrs. John U. Leister, Richard F. Schaffer and Nicholas J. Walsh examiners of a road petitioned for by Benjamin Groft and others. The road petitioned for by David R. Geiman and others, in Westminster district, was accepted.

Mr. John H. Kelchner, of Rockville, for the last 20 years proprietor of the Montgomery Hotel at that place, died on Thursday, aged 65 years. He was an ex-sheriff of Montgomery county. One of his daughters is the wife of Mr. Ezra L. Royer, a son of Mr. John Royer, of Uniontown district, and formerly a resident of this city, but now of Rockville.

The attendance at the Lutheran reunion at Pen-Mar yesterday was far greater than on any previous similar occasion and, it is said, the number of persons present was the largest ever known at Pen-Mar Park. All trains on the Western Maryland Railroad, regular and special, were overcrowded. A conservative estimate of the number on the ground is 12,000. It may have been greater by several thousand.

The front and massive tower of St. John's Catholic Church, this city, are heavily draped in mourning for the deceased Pontiff, Leo XIII. The interior of the church, above the altar, is also similarly draped and the United States Flag and Papal Colors are crossed at half-mast. Among the other services in connection with the death of the honored and revered head of the Church will be a solemn requiem mass at 8.20 o'clock, Monday morning, the hour of burial of the Pontiff in Rome.

The Bureau of Immigration of this State desires to communicate with persons having farms to sell, for the purpose of giving information to desirable immigrants concerning them and thus facilitating their settlement on Maryland soil. The thrift and industry of this class of immigrants has been well illustrated in this county and persons having farms for sale likely to attract any of them here, may find purchasers and at the same time do a service to the county. Full information on the subject can be had by writing to Mr. Herman Badenhoop, secretary of the bureau, Baltimore.

S. Long was arrested in Chicago on Monday, charged by S. Ginsberg & Co., clothing manufacturers, Baltimore, with conspiracy and obtaining goods under false pretenses. The story is that Long and a man who gave the name of S. Morrison, represented themselves as the proprietors of a large store in this city, purchased quantities of goods which were shipped here and for which they gave checks on a Westminster bank in payment. The checks when presented were found worthless, but in the meantime the goods had been shipped back to Baltimore and thence to Chicago. Long has been indicted by the grand jury of Baltimore. Morrison escaped.

An interesting controversy has arisen over a small parcel of ground lying between the freight house of the Western Maryland Railroad and Main street, this city. Title to the property is claimed by Mrs. Mary Wilson. It is triangular in shape, with a base of about 40 feet and a length of 85 feet. It lies between the railroad track and the roadway owned by the company and has been unenclosed for many years. A few days ago Mrs. Wilson had a wire fence, with substantial posts, erected around it, but this morning the posts were taken up and the fence removed, presumably by employees of the railroad company. Various rumors are current in relation to alleged negotiations between the company and Mrs. Wilson for the disposition of the ground, but the parties to the transaction are reticent and nothing absolutely reliable in relation to it can be stated. The present status of the proceedings will probably lead to an interesting law suit. Chas. E. Fink, Esq., is Mrs. Wilson's legal adviser.

Mr. Edward M. Walker who lives on North Mount, near Mosher street, Baltimore, has in his possession a brass medal which he dug up in the yard of his former residence, at 1036 North Mount street. The medal, which was found at a depth of about three feet, is about the size of a half-dollar, and was apparently worn around the neck of a soldier in the Civil War, as it has a hole pierced near the top, evidently for that purpose. It bears the following inscription: "Andrew Yeakel, Company B, First Maryland Regiment P. H. B. Enlisted August 18, 1861. Manchester, Md." The obverse bears the following around the outer part: "The Union and the Constitution, War of 1861," and in the center, "Gettysburg." Mr. Walker has been much perplexed by the find, as there were no relics discovered with the medal. In the roster of the 1st Regiment P. H. B., as it appears in the history of Maryland Volunteers, the date of Mr. Yeakel's enlistment is set down as September 6, 1861. He was afterwards transferred to Company B, 13th Maryland Infantry, and was discharged May 29th, 1865. He was a resident of Manchester when he enlisted, and the record shows that he served till the end of the war. He was, we are informed, a shoemaker and worked at his trade in Manchester.

An Interesting Discussion.

An interesting meeting of the Methodist Protestant Ministerial Association of Baltimore, with a discussion of the question of a union between the Methodist Protestant, United Brethren and Congregational Churches, now under consideration by these denominations, was held at Baker Chapel, Western Maryland College, on Monday last. The meeting came about through a request from the association to President Lewis, of the college, who is a member of the committee on union on the part of the M. P. Church, to attend a meeting in Baltimore and present his understanding of and views concerning the proposed union. Instead of accepting the invitation, Dr. Lewis invited the members of the association and other Methodist Protestant ministers to spend a day in Westminster, as his guests, and tendered the use of Baker Chapel for the address and discussion suggested.

The invitation was accepted and most of the members of the association and several other ministers and a number of laymen were present. The venerable Rev. Dr. S. B. Southerland, president of the association, occupied the chair, and before entering upon the real object of the convention the regular business of the body was transacted.

Among the proceedings was the adoption of a resolution of sympathy and condolence with Rev. H. H. Price in his recent bereavement. The resolution was presented by Rev. Dr. F. T. Little, president of the Maryland Annual Conference, who prefaced it by remarks in which he paid a high tribute to the memory of the minister's deceased wife, Mrs. Lydia Woodward Price. Dr. Little characterized Mrs. Price as an ideal wife of a minister, and spoke with much feeling of her zeal, devotion and success in the performance of her delicate duties.

The real business of the meeting was then taken up and Dr. Lewis read a most interesting paper giving a resume of the conditions and present status of the union movement. We regret that we are unable to find room in the SENTINEL for a full synopsis of the paper, which presented the obstacles to and disadvantages of the proposed union on one hand and the advantages and benefits which would accrue to the churches concerned in the event of its consummation.

The point reached in the negotiations between the committees of the several denominations having the matter in charge does not determine the question of organic union. That is left for future action, and, until that time, if it shall ever come, each denomination is to retain its own name and organization.

The vital feature of the present movement is the creation of a "General Council of the United Churches," composed of one representative for every 5,000 members in each of the churches, to meet every three or four years, and to have only advisory powers, all of its recommendations being submitted for the approval of the constituent bodies.

Incidentally the report of the committee is to be submitted first for the action of the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church in May, 1904; then to the general body of the United Brethren Church in October, 1904, and lastly to the Congregational General Council in May, 1905, this being the order in which the next meetings of these bodies will be held.

Dr. Lewis did not speak as a partisan of the report, but simply stated his view of the situation as it now exists, and stated that he has no opinion on the question that is not subject to change. An interesting feature of his paper was an historical sketch covering the origin of the several denominations concerned in the proposed union.

The business of the meeting and the reading of Dr. Lewis' paper consumed the morning session, and after adjournment the visitors were entertained at dinner, by Dr. Lewis, at his residence on the college grounds.

The afternoon session was devoted to a discussion of the proposed union by a number of the ministers present and by Dr. J. W. Hering. Dr. Hering opened the discussion and spoke favorably of the project. Rev. J. W. Kirk, Rev. Dr. F. T. Little and Rev. Dr. S. B. Southerland were very emphatic in their opposition and Rev. T. O. Crouse, while not committing himself to the movement, seemed to regard it favorably. Rev. G. W. Haddaway made a brief address the tone of which was also favorable to the consummation of the union.

Sams Creek Items.

Our farmers are pretty well through with their harvesting for this season. They are very much disappointed in the yield of their wheat which will not be half the usual crop. Those who have been threshing it find the yield to be about from 10 to 18 bushels per acre, and the quality not the best, except the bearded variety which will do a little better. Some of our farmers have a most excellent hay crop which will make up for the loss in wheat. Edgar Jenkins and John Haines have got some of the best corn in this section. In a general way the prospect for a full crop of corn is not very good as it could not get the proper attention. The prospect at present for a full crop of tomatoes is not very encouraging as the bloom is badly falling off.

The milldams washed out by the recent rains on Sams Creek are now being repaired.

On last Wednesday the sale of both the real estate and personal property of the late Isaac Kiler took place. The farm, containing 76 acres and 64 perches, was knocked down to Mr. John Baker for Mr. Frank Bond, at $53 per acre, and a lot of land containing 14 acres, to Mr. Jesse Lindsay, at $15 per acre. The sale was very largely attended and the personal property brought very fair prices. Sheriff Crawford was the auctioneer.

Mrs. Levi J. Motter, a good and noble woman, after an illness that extended over several months, died on the 17th inst., at her home, two miles north of Silver Run. She was in the 48th year of her age, and was a daughter of Mr. Amos Bowman. Her husband, Mr. Levi J. Motter, is one of the most popular men in our district and is Republican road commissioner. He was also until recently an elder in the Reformed Church, having declined a nomination at the last church election. Mrs. Motter is survived by the following named children: Mrs. Charles Crouse, of Littlestown, Pa.; Mrs. Wm. Rodkey, of Silver Run; John Motter, of Idaho; George, Herbert, Jane, Emma and Cora, at home. Deceased was a consistent member of the Lutheran Church and a faithful, earnest and devoted worker in Church and Sunday School, having united with the Church at an early age. By her kind, amiable and charitable disposition and her unaffected piety she had won the love and devotion of a large circle of friends. Her death occurred after a long and painful illness which she bore with christian fortitude and resignation. She selected the Scripture from which her funeral service was preached—II Timothy, 4th chapter, 6th, 7th and 8th verses. Her funeral, which took place on Sunday afternoon, was so largely attended that only about half those present were able to enter the church. Her pastor, Rev. W. H. Ehrhart, and Rev. J. Stewart Hartman, of the Reformed Church, officiated. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, a large wreath from her Sunday School class having been particularly noticeable. John Eline, of Littlestown, was the undertaker and the pallbearers were: John T. Messinger, John D. Feeser, Frank T. Brown, Augustus Weimert, Harvey Wantz, George Bankert.

A Pastor Surprised.

At the regular meeting of the Council of the Lutheran Church, they voted to give the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. H. Miller, his usual vacation which will be taken during the month of August. On Wednesday evening, just before the close of the prayer meeting service, Mr. S. C. Stoner presented to him, on behalf of the congregation, a check for a substantial amount as an evidence of the appreciation in which his untiring efforts are held by his members, the amount to be used to gratify a long-ing desire of Bro. Miller to attend the August term of the Bible class at Northfield, Mass. The incident was a complete surprise to the pastor, and he appreciated the spirit that prompted the gift more than words can express.
