PUBLIC SALE.

The undersigned, administrators of David Rinehart, late of Frederick county, deceased, will offer at Public Sale, on the premises, on

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29th, 1903,

at 1 o'clock, P. M., that very desirable farm, situate 1½ miles south of Union Bridge, Md., lying between two turnpikes, (both of which lead to Union Bridge,) adjoining the lands of I. C. Rinehart, Samuel Diehl and others, containing 171 ACRES OF LAND, more or less.

The land consists of limestone and blue slate, about 15 acres being in Meadow Land, 15 or 16 acres in Wood Land, and the residue cleared. The place is well watered and in a fine state of cultivation. There is a thrifty young Orchard on the place. About 60 acres is heavily set in grass. The improvments are a large Brick Dwelling House, (cottage style), a large Bank Barn, 48x82, with plenty of Stabling; also all other necessary outbuildings. This is one of the finest farms that has been put on the market for a long while and well worthy the attention of any one desiring a fine country seat. It is convenient to churches, schools, mills, railroad, &c.

There is on the farm a range of fine blue slate which might prove profitable if developed.

Any one desiring further information can call on or address W. S. Rinehart, residing on the premises; P. O. Union Bridge, Md.

Terms of Sale.—One-third cash, balance in 6 and 12 months, deferred payments to be secured to the satisfaction of the undersigned, bearing interest from day of sale; or all cash, at option of purchaser.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

NO. 4079 EQUITY.

In the Circuit Court for Carroll County, in Equity.

Maranda Dorsey, Plaintiff, against Lydia Dorsey, Henrietta Williams and William Williams her husband, Elias Dorsey and Ellen Dorsey his wife, Charles Dorsey and Henrietta Dorsey his wife, John Dorsey and Lucy Dorsey his wife, Miranda Gazrey and Evan Gazrey her husband, Sophia Dorsey and Allen Dorsey her husband, Defendants.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Carroll county, Maryland. The bill states that on or about the 5th day of January, A. D. 1893, a certain Roderick Dorsey departed this life seized and possessed of small property in Carroll county, Maryland.

That the said Roderick Dorsey died intestate leaving no widow, child or children, but left the following brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews, viz: A brother, Elias Dorsey, whose wife's name is Ellen Dorsey, and who resides at or near Penn Postoffice, in Washington county, State of Texas. A sister Lydia Dorsey; a sister, Henrietta Williams, who married William Williams; a sister, Miranda Dorsey; a sister, Lydia Dorsey, and the following nieces and nephews, children of intestate's deceased sister, Caroline Dorsey, viz:

A nephew, Charles Dorsey, known as Charles Myers, a nephew, John Dorsey, known as John Myers; a niece, Miranda Gazrey, wife of Evan Gazrey, and Sophia Dorsey, who married Allen Dorsey, and all of whom reside in Carroll, Howard and Frederick counties, Maryland.

That the real estate of which the said Roderick Dorsey died seized and possessed cannot be divided among intestate's brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews, without material, great and irreparable loss, and injury to them. That the said property is worth about $250.00.

That the said Elias Dorsey and Ellen Dorsey his wife, are non residents of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon, this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1903, ordered by the Circuit Court for Carroll county, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Carroll county, once in each of four successive weeks before the 26th day of October, A. D. 1903, give notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this bill, warning them to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 16th day of November, next, to show cause if any they have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

DEFERRED EDITORIALS.

The following editorial articles were in type for insertion in last week's SENTINEL, but were omitted to give place to other matter:

The people of Maryland have heretofore realized that the Democratic Ring and its candidates are always prolific in promise but barren in performance. Great promises are being made now. The question for the people to decide is whether they will be fooled again?

The race racket was worked by Democratic politicians for all it was worth in the campaign of 1895, in this State. The bugaboo of mixed schools was trotted out and Democratic newspapers were embellished with pictures of colored and white children grouped together around school houses to give emphasis to the cry. The people, however, were not mislead by these misrepresentations. The Republicans triumphed and held the State government for four years; but the mixed schools did not materialize, nor was the colored man any more in evidence politically during that time than he had been when Ring Democracy was dominant in the State. The past, in this respect, is the best criterion for the future, and the present Democratic appeal to race prejudice should react with telling force against the bosses who, in their desperation, are seeking to mislead the people by false and senseless assertions that the State is in danger of negro domination.

Last year 214,736 white and 51,873 colored voters were registered in Maryland, yet Maryland Democratic politicians seem to be in mortal dread of negro domination. "We must maintain the supremacy of our race," is their campaign slogan. Now, every sensible citizen knows there is not the slightest possibility of the colored man supplanting the white man politically in this State. Even in Southern Maryland, where the colored population is numerically the greatest, and where the Republican party has been in the ascendency for many years, the local county governments always have been and always will be on a white basis without any doctoring of the election laws to make voting difficult. The race cry now being raised by the Democratic leaders is, therefore, a transparent fraud, employed only to frighten timid souls and induce the unwary voter to cast his ballot for the continuance of the corrupt Democratic Ring in control of the State government.

THE BANKERS' CONVENTION.

The convention of the Maryland and District of Columbia Bankers' Associations, held on board the steamer Norfolk, last week, was interesting in more ways than one. It gave an opportunity to the bankers and their friends to visit and inspect Fortress Monroe and to see the great shipyard at Newport News—where several large battleships are in course of erection—under the most favorable circumstances, an opportunity of which they not only took advantage, but thoroughly enjoyed. To the bankers themselves, however, this was not the chief pleasure. They were more bent on acquiring information and ideas concerning the banking business and in relation to the financial condition of the country, than in mere sight seeing, and they were not disappointed. Secretary Shaw and U. S. Treasurer Roberts were of the party and said and did much to interest them, especially in relation to the national finances.

Treasurer Roberts contrasted the monetary condition of the United States with that of the leading countries of Europe and demonstrated clearly the advantages we possess in that respect. He showed that the gold coin and gold certificates in circulation in the United States have increased $348,364,910 in five years, and now amount to $1,014,531,078, and that our stock of money is now $2,708,693,663. Of this less than one-sixth—$418,587,975—is in bank notes. The gold in the United States Treasury today amounts to $663,000,000—the largest amount ever recorded. This is nearly four times the amount held by the Bank of England, or the Imperial German Bank; nearly three times that of the Austro-Hungarian Bank and only $8,000,000 less than the combined holdings of the Banks of England and France, which are practically the sole bases of the finances of those nations.

Another interesting feature of the convention was the address of the retiring president, Mr. Charles T. Crane, of Baltimore. Mr. Crane referred to the immense shrinkage in the value of stocks in this country during the past two years, and said that the depreciation in securities dealt in at the Baltimore Stock Exchange has been in that time $77,000,000 and throughout the whole country the enormous sum of $3,000,000,000. Notwithstanding this there has been substantial increase in the wealth of the country because of the unprecedented prosperity which has marked the period since 1897, and the depreciation of stocks has caused but little if any disturbance to general business, and has occasioned little or no fear of financial panic.

The facts thus brought out should be deeply pondered by the people. Unshaken confidence in the stability and continuance of the existing prosperous conditions of business rests in the fixed purpose of the American people to continue the economic policy which has been in force in the Government under Republican administration. A change in that policy would as surely bring disaster upon the country again, as it did in 1892-1897, and the people should firmly oppose the specious schemes of the politicians who are seeking personal or party advantage by increasing agitation.

WHAT IT WILL MEAN.

"The continuance in power of the Democratic party in this State," says the platform adopted by the Democratic State convention recently held:

"Will result in such amendments to our present excellent (save the mark) election law, which has done so much to lessen the evils of bribery, to assure the secrecy of the ballot and to promote intelligent voting, as experience has shown may be necessary to preserve the purity of our elections, without which good government is impossible."

Under the present election law about 500 ballots which were not counted, were cast at the last State election in this county, and it can be plainly understood, from the plank of the platform quoted, that the Democrats propose, if successful at the election, to so amend this law as to make voting still more difficult, and thus to disfranchise a large number of citizens. The meaning of the declaration on the subject is too plain to be misunderstood.

In strong contrast to this purpose of the Democrats is the intention of the Republicans, on the same subject, as outlined in their platform. Here it is:

"We demand that the Legislature shall remedy the ascertained defects in our present election law, resulting solely from the changes made in the law by the Democratic managers at the special session in the interest of fraud and oppression.

"We must put an end to the increasing disfranchisemant of many citizens, through accident or fraudulent marks on the ballots.

"We must insure the canvass of the vote by the supervisors without error or confusion due to any uncertainty or omission in the law.

"A Republican Governor and Legislature will bring back to the people fair election laws."

In another portion of the platform it is asserted that, in the words of our own Declaration of Rights, "the right of the people to participate in the Legislature is the best security of liberty and the foundation of all free government, and every male citizen having the qualifications prescribed by the Constitution ought to have the right of suffrage."

It will thus be seen that the Republicans have placed themselves squarely against the Democratic scheme to disfranchise a large body of citizens who are entitled by every consideration of justice to the right of suffrage. Many of these citizens are Democrats, who must depend upon the Republicans to protect them in these rights, and they should unite with the Republican party in its efforts to correct the complications of the ballot which now render it difficult for any citizen to vote with any certainty that his vote will be counted.

Mistaken Name.

"I want a copy of 'The Tender Passion,'" said the girl with pink cheeks and blue eyes, to the young man at the book counter.

"'Tender Passion,' certainly," the young man replied, smiling, but at the same time scouring his memory for some clue that would help him locate the book. Into the Publishers' Index, catalogues, pamphlets and announcements he dove—but no such title was there.

"'The Tender Passion,' I believe you wanted," he said with his most affable smile.

"Yes, I think that is the name," the girl with the pink cheeks and blue eyes replied. "It's by Ethel Watts."

"Oh!" said the man of books, "certainly!"—and when he returned beaming from the shelves he bore in his hand "True Love," by Edith Wyatt.

"You told me last week that you would try to raise my salary," said Briggs,

"Oh, yes," replied the employer. "Well, I did. I raised it after some trouble. Believe me, I had a very hard time raising it this week."

THE CREEK.

Th' crick? Why bless you, man it's good
To set an' watch it dream along
An' wish 't a feller understood
Th' words it's puttin' in its song.
Why, it comes playin' through th' farms,
A-whisperin' to all th' grass
An' calamus, 'at holds its arms
A-lettin' on 'at it can't pass.
An' then it sort o' hesitates
Before it turns to go through town,
As if th' water kind o' hates
To take th' path 'at hurries down
To where th' bridge spreads out a shade
'At makes th' ripples dark an' cool—
An' so it slips through there, afraid,
An' rests when it has reached th' pool.
Th' pool—you know where that is! Sho!
There where the ellum's biggest limb
Hangs out, a sign 'at down below
Is jest th' place for boys to swim.
An' then, th' crick, it travels on
An' fights th' rocks, an' seems to brawl
An' quarrel with 'em—when it's gone
It sends 'em back a partin' call.
Th' crick! Lord, bless you, man! Why, half
Th' fun o' life is jest to set
An' watch it run an' sing an' laugh
An' shake the sunshine till it's wet.
Th' crick is jest like human kind—
Or we're jest like it, as to that—
Fergettin' what we've left behind,
When we get where the big world's at.

Baseball at Springfield Hospital.

A very interesting game of baseball was played by the Sandyville team and the Springfield team, on the grounds of the latter on Saturday afternoon, September 26th. The visitors played a nice game, but the home-team held them down until Flater, of the Albany, N. Y., team, who was formerly with the Baltimore nine, but who was playing with the Sandyville boys, was put in the box. Then they did not have so much trouble, but still they did not have an easy thing. To Flater belongs the credit of winning the game for Sandyville. The score by innings were as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Totals
Sandyville,	4	0	0	0	1	2	3	1	0	11
Springfield,	2	2	3	0	0	0	1	0	0	8

This is the second game of these teams this season. The first went to Sandyville as well as this one. The batteries were: For Sandyville, Flater and Flater; for Springfield, Prugh and Welsh.

An American tourist who called on Robert Burns' widow, Jean Armour, a few years after his death had the audacity to ask her, "Can you show me any relics of the poet?" "Sir," answered the old lady, with majestic dignity, "I am the only relict of Robert Burns!"

"I admires de busy bee," said Uncle Eben, "but I dunno but what I'd rather be de man dat superinten's de hive an' hol's a fus' mortgage on de honey."

There is a woman at the beginning of all great things.
