The SENTINEL has received from Miss Hattie Bollinger a postal dated Auckland Villa, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, December 23, 1903, in which she writes that she arrived in Australia December 5th, and between that and the date of the postal had visited Brisbane and also Sydney, New South Wales. She says that in that part of Australia the Christmas season is enjoyed in summer, the thermometer indicating a temperature of 75° to 85° Fahrenheit. The effect of the thawing weather prevalent when the SENTINEL was issued last week, with the rain accompanying it, was to break up the ice and swell the waters of the various streams in this county to almost a dangerous height. The running of trains on the Western Maryland Railroad, between Glen Falls and Linwood, was materially interrupted and through trains on Friday afternoon were sent around by way of the B. and H. Division and the Western Extension to Highfield, through Hanover and Gettysburg. Local trains were delayed many hours. Along the Patapsco, from Cranberry Station to Glen Falls, the meadows and in some places the railroad tracks were covered with immense blocks of ice from 14 to 18 inches thick. Near Glen Falls water from the Patapsco overflowed the tracks and carried quantities of ice over into the Hollingsworth meadow. Between New Windsor and Linwood ice was piled on the tracks and the first bridge east of Linwood was in danger of being carried away. It was held down by an engine which was run upon it for that purpose. It was reported that some of the bridges on the Patapsco were weakened. All obstructions, however, were removed during Friday night and trains were running regularly on Saturday.

A Delightful Social Function.

The spacious and beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Thomas, East Main street, this city, was last night the scene of one of the most delightful and enjoyable social functions in the history of the place. The occasion was an "at home," or reception, given to meet Mr. and Mrs. Thomas' son, Mr. W. Frank Thomas, and his bride, nee Miss Bennett, who were recently married at Grace Episcopal Church, Baltimore, and returned from their bridal trip a day or two ago. Many guests were present and were entertained with charming hospitality. Without the snow was falling rapidly, covering the earth with a mantle of white. Within all was brightness, warmth and beauty. Many of the ladies were beautifully gowned and numbers of the gentlemen were in evening dress. An orchestra rendered delightful music during the evening. An elegant and most tempting luncheon was served and the dining room was, after greetings to the host and hostess and the happy groom and bride, a center of attraction. The floral decorations were dark pink carnations, with red-shaded lights. Nothing was left undone to add to the comfort and pleasure of the guests, and all were charmed with the grace and beauty of the bride of our young fellow-townsmen. Those who were so fortunate as to be present will not soon forget the event, which will long be a green spot in memory.
