1784 March 1 Robert Bentley to [illegible]

SIDE TWO

I shall take her to town in two or three days, in order to execute the commissions we have received from you, which we shall both do with the sincerest pleasure, & I hope with the punctuality of people of business. — When they are finish'd, they shall be shipp'd by the first good safe opportunity. — We shall then both write to you more fully, & send you, I have no doubt, the happy tidings of her complete restoration. — The letter from Mrs Chester, with the particulars of all your healths, welfares, &c could not fail giving us the truest pleasure. — I hope in about a Month from this time the articles you wrote for, with a long true & full account of ourselves, our healths &c &c, will be afloat. — In the mean time believe me (with best loves to Mrs Chester, Dan, & the children) Most truly & affectionately

Yours R. Bentley

Mr Rupel intends sending out a Planter to Mr Galloway by the first opportunity. — If we can complete your commissions by that time, they shall accompany it.
