My Dear Brother

Northend Sepr. 11th 1784

I embrace an opportunity Mr Clarke has kindly thrown in my way, of telling you I am perfectly reinstated in good Health & strength & spirits, & Mr Ben as well as the most Uncommon summer ever remembered would let him be, for his is a Constitution that has sensible feels every change of wind & weather - the wonderfully improved by living so much in the country in most other matters he remain with little variation just as you left us - now almost 4 years past - accept - that in future we shall pass the winter months in London - The fatigue of going backwards & forwards has too great for him, & being so much seperated Uncomfortable to both - We have therefore a very Excellent Lodging in Gerrard Street Soho. where you must direct for us all letters that are likely to arrive before April - at 8d 32 - is sufficient - With respect to our own worldly concerns we are very easy & comfortable & if please God preserve my Dear Mr Bens health. I still myself one of the happyest woman in the world - & one source among many others is, that I am partly less sanguine upon all occasions than I was a few
