1785 Jan. 18 Acquainting Chas Chas. to [illegible]

SIDE TWO

instances in transacting his affairs of Business; I undertook yesterday for the first time to reason on the absurdity of his Conduct, & its consequences to you & him & represented the Insane State he has been in, & the injunctions I had from you, & I hope it has so far operated to advantage as to have given him a lucid temporary recollection, for he this Morning has told Shubey that he is sensible he has been out of his head & is going to cancel all that he has been doing; but in fact he has not been so far credited by any one as to have done much wrong as yet. He has a prodigious appetite & is recovering his flesh & I do not doubt but he will recover his Understanding again, for his State is like no Stationary Insanity I ever saw or heard of. When you think you can run no risque I think you should come up but perhaps Daniel may go to see you for he talked of it a day or two ago unless yours to Shubey makes him change his mind; I have seen him yet, for I have just as much time before the bearer goes as to write this Scrawl

Best Compts and Felicity

Hile

I am Dr Charlotte

Yours Obedt

A Ffleck

Tuesday Morning 18th Jany