1785 Oct. 24 Samuel Galloway to [illegible]

SIDE ONE

Dear Sir

I got home last night and found Mr Cook and his family here. they goe to Col. Stephensons in the Swallow and as Tom Ringgold tells me you are gone over to Chester to bring Nancy and the Children home. I order Tom to call at Rock Hill in his way and send this to you that you may either detain him till you come down or send him home as you think proper. I rode from Melwood yesterday after dinner home and was in the night by which imprudence I have got the severest Cold I ever had but dont doubt geting the better of it in a few days.

I expect to see John with you from his last letter to me. I wish Polly and the family may be well enough for him to leave them I am very sorry to hear Polly continues so much indisposed tell the girles I have received there letters but they must take this for an answer. am not well enough to write now

I am affect yours
